Mrs. Geo. Schneider returned to Thief River Falls after spending a few days at the J. E. Maney home. —Grygla is to have a new high school by the verdict of the voters at the school meeting held last week. Seventy six votes in favor of the project with only seven objectors. Supt. Engen from Warren was here to explain the proposition and the masterful way in which he told of the plan etc., had a telling effect. The voters also by a large majority decided to change the school location from the present site and the new building will be constructed a little east of the ball diamond. Construction no doubt, will be started very shortly.

Christ Rinkle and Roy Brown were in the village on Monday.

High School News

On Friday afternoon, a Pep meeting was held in the assembly, previous to the game to be held that night at Plummer. The cheer leaders for this season are Beth McLeod, Dorothy Korstad and Lucille Felder. The score was 29 to 34 in favor of Plummer. The boys played a wonderful game considering the fact that they have had no gymnasium to practice in, and that Plummer is a much more experienced team. Those that went from Goodridge were well satisfied with the game.

After the game the Plummer High School invited the Goodridge team and visitors, to a party. Games and dancing were a part of the entertainment. A lunch was served following the entertainment. A good time was enjoyed by all.

The Junior play that has been chosen is "Dotty and Daffy".

ONE BITE LANDS TWO LARGE FISH

Bayport.—The latest fish story—and a plausible one—concerns a Hudson angler who last week caught a 13 pound, 13 ounce, Northern pike with a piscatorial Jonah, a two pound sucker, laying uneasily in the pike's stomach. M. L. Foote, the successful fisherman, landed the overgrown pike in the St. Croix. Noticing the fish' bulging stomach, he investigated and found the 2-pound sucker still alive. After being released from his unpleasant prison, the sucker statefully wiggled his tail a few times, lapsed into a coma, and died. A pathetic end for the poor fish.

OUTLINES RESULTS OF SAFE MOTORING CAMPAIGN IN SEPT.

Director of Safety Submits Report to Governor Floyd Olson

Responses by counties and municipalities to the proclamation issued by Governor Floyd B. Olson designating September as a month for intensive efforts for traffic accident reduction have been tabulated by the Minnesota Public Safety Committee and a report submitted to Governor Olson by C. H. Zealand, director of safety of the committee, today.

Detailed reports on traffic law violations, warnings issued, arrests made, and penalties imposed were furnished by chiefs of police and municipal court officials for 92 towns and cities and by sheriffs for 26 counties, and these were combined with the report of activities of the state highway patrol as submitted by Chief John P. Arnoldy.

The proclamation issued by Governor Olson urged that particular efforts be made to develop voluntary observation of traffic regulations by motorists and pedestrains, and that punitive measures be invoked only where warnings were disregarded or where the type of traffic law violation involved marked hazard to persons or property. Reports from the various enforcement officials indicate much safety educational work to have been done during the month, particularly by the newspapers and schools. Practically every newspaper in the state carried the Governors' proclamation one or more times, and in a number of instances supplementary proclamations were issued by mayors and sheriffs. Safety exhibit booths were maintained by local public safety committees at a majority of county fairs held during September.

A summary of the consolidated report submitted to Governor Olson shows the following as correctional activities by police and sheriffs' forces and the state highway patrol: reckless driving—warnings given 1165, arrests 291, drivers convicted 220, number fined 209, sent to Jail 17, released without penalty 64, drunken driving—warned 81, arrested 171, convicted 162, fined 90, sent to jail 57, released without penalty or put on probation 10; incorrect lights—warned 5476, arrested 617, convicted 296, fined 275, released without penalty 459; defective brakes—warned 2628, arrested 539, convicted 496, fined 425, released without penalty 126; vision illegally obstructed— warned 38, arrested 173, released without penalty 17; failing to give proper signal—warned 139, arrested 67, convicted 11, fined 7, released without penalty 42; failing to regard arterial stops—warned 916; arrested 432, convicted 321, fined 317, released without penalty 103; speed hazarding the safety of others—warned 1641, arrested 617, convicted 300, fined 290, sent to jail 14, released without penalty 20, miscellaneous other traffic law violations warned 20, arrested 24, convicted 18, fined 15, released 3. Totals: warned 12,085. arrested, 2,781, convicted 1,833, fined 1,639, sent to jail 88; released 836.

Girl Athletes to Get More Space for Sports at State University

While University of Minnesota athletic teams are winning national distinction, women students at the university are also showing an increasing interest in sports and in physical well-being, and the institution is fostering this interest by adding to the girls' athletic plant.

Financed in part by the PWA grant, a large addition to the women's gymnasium is being constructed which will help to provide more nearly adequate accommodations for the many women students who take part in sport.

A principal feature of the addition will be a new swimming pool, but there will also be an enclosed play space, in the nature of the men's field house, although much smaller, where games played outdoors in fair weather may be continued under a roof when Minnesota days grow cold.

The present women's gymnasium has stood for more than twenty years while the number of women to be provided for in gymnastic classes and women's sports, has tripled. Even with the present addition, the difference will be only about half made up.

No tax money will be used in building the addition, as the part not financed by PWA will be taken from athletic funds. Work has already been started and the enlarged gymnasium will be ready for use by spring.

Better Dairy Prices in Prospect for 1936, Says Farm Economist

"Higher net returns are in prospect for Minnesota dairymen in 1936," says J. B. McNulty, extension agricultural economist, University Farm, in commencing on the 1936 Agricultural Outlook. "Feed costs are lower and butter prices are likely to be slightly higher than the 23 to 29-cent level that prevailed from May to November, 1935," continues Mr. McNulty. "However, dairying will probably not be quite as profitable as the beef cattle, hog, and poultry enterprises for the coming year.

"The number of milk cows in the United States on January 1, 1936 is expected to be about 1,600,000 less than on January 1, 1934. Great reductions in cows have taken place owing to the drouth, to the federal tuberculosis and Bang's disease testing programs, and to relatively high prices for low grade beef in recent months. Still the number of milk cows per thousand of human population will be about the same as for the past 10 years. The recent reductions have merely tended to balance off the great increases that took place between 1928 and 1934.

"Industrial payrolls for the United States as a whole are expected to be somewhat greater than in 1935 and this is expected to strengthen the demand for butter. All in all, therefore, the outlook is for some improvement over 1935."

NOV. 30TH IS FINAL DATE TO SIGN 1936 WHEAT CONTRACTS

Farm Agency at Washington Announces Deadline for Signers

The farm administration at Washington Thursday fixed November 30 as the final date for signing applications for the 1936-39 wheat adjustment contracts and announced that reports indicate the amount of commercial wheat acreage under contract in great plains areas will be maintained or increased.

Under the new contracts, allotments of producers are being adjusted where necessary to correct allotments made under the first contract. As a part of this procedure, the average county yield method is being superseded by the estimated yield method. Under this plan farmers who do not have adequate records on their past production may have their average yield estimated by a local farmer committee.

Under the new contracts the farmers during 1936 will plant 95 per cent of the average acreage allotted to them compared with 90 per cent in 1935 and 85 per cent in 1934. The agriculture department estimated that approximately 66,000,000 acres will be planted in wheat next year and that production in an average basis would be 825,000,000 bushels.

Dr. W. A. Billings, Well Known Turkey Authority, Gives Thanksgiving Tips

Holiday-time turkey purchasers need not worry about whether to choose a young hen or a young tom, says Dr. W. A. Billings, University Farm, who is hailed all over the United States as the No. 1 turkey man. Owing to the modern way of growing turkeys in close confinement, sex makes no difference in tenderness or quality of young birds. The size of bird wanted will usually determine the sex one buys, as toms usually run much heavier than hens.

Billings says ten guests will require a 10 to 12 pounds, if there are to be big helpings and "seconds." Birds of grade No. 1 may cost a few cents more per pound, but make a roast that is perfect in appearance. No. 2 birds are cheaper, make nearly as good eating, but do not look as attractive.

In his dressing or stuffing recipe, Billings takes especial pride, because it makes a light, fluffy, airy dressing that "is a positive delight to put away," as he expresses it. Here's the recipe: Take "yesterday's" bread, trim off crusts and grate with coarse grater. About three loaves will make stuffing for a 16-pound bird. Stir one finely-chopped Bermuda onion into the bread; shake in salt to taste. Sprinkle on powdered sage—just enough to add a pleasing tang. Then add one pound of melted butter, stirring while you pour. This dressing should then be put inside the turkey, but not packed in tightly, as that would make the dressing soggy.

Billings dislikes putting giblets, chestnuts, sausage or other knickknacks into dressing. He says they make the dressing black, soggy and sticky. Ladies who scorn a mere man's recipe will miss something if they don't try this one, Billings says. It's so easy, too, that he can make it himself.

HEN IS STOWAWAY ON BUMPER OF CAR

Hastings.—There have been tall tales of stowaways in aeroplanes, ships and other conveyances but it took a Buff Arpington hen to add a new wrinkle to the sagas. The hen, who may be christened "Amelia Earhart" for its daring, rode down town on the bumper of an automobile, more than fifteen blocks, before being discovered. Mrs. Nettie Welland, owner of the hen, who resides on West Fourth Street drove her car out of its garage and went to the Hastings Hotel to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Radke. The hen was discovered perched on the rear fender, about half hour later by Floyd Lins. Mrs. Welland was certain the hen was not on the fender when she left home so it must have made the trip on the bumper. Taken home the hen, a good layer, will be guarded against any future stoway trips.

USED TRUCKS

We have some exceptional values in used trucks: One 1928, one 1929, one 1931, one 1932 and one 1933 International trucks. All of these International trucks are in first class condition and ready for any job.

Then we also have 1930 Dodge, 1934 Ford "V8" and 1934 Chevrolet.

You will be surprised at the outstanding truck values we can give you. Bring your trade-in truck and we will quote you our difference or straight sales, liberal discounts.

BETTER THAN TIRE CHAINS

A set of Goodyear nobby tread tires for the rear wheels on your car will take you through snow better than a set of tire chains and so much quieter, and your car performs better. Tire chains wear out in a short time, while a set of these Goodyear nobby tread tires will last for many winters. Use these tires one winter and you will always want them. Save your regular tires for summer wear. We sell Goodyear nobby tread tires at same price as the regular tires.

We have the most liberal payment plan on McCormick-Deering Cream Separators. Only 3½% and a small down payment. Butterfat is up. Feed is way down. The dairy cow is back in valuable farm property. The old poor cream separator is a much bigger thief than many realize. You cannot afford to use an old cream separator. ANOTHER FACT. We are notified of a substantial advance in prices on cream separators. BUT, the ones we have on hand will go at the old low price. There is no better cream separator than the McCormick-Deering. Let us demonstrate. Try it to your own satisfaction. Compare with all. Come in and let us give you full details of our liberal offer and come soon while our present stock lasts.

ANTI-F. L. MEN IN CONTROL OF LEGISLATURE

Take Charge of Organization of Special Session Monday

GOVERNOR DELIVERS MESSAGE TUESDAY

Reiterates Opposition to Sales Tax-to-Finance Program

The Minnesota state legislature organized for its special session Monday with the liberal-progressive forces opposed to Governor Olson firmly in the saddle in both houses.

With six members absent, the lower house re-elected George W. Johnson of Duluth as speaker by a vote of 84 to 41; while in the senate, the liberal-progressive forces had no difficulty in putting through their committee slates, at the expense of the Farmer-Labor minority.

Quick action also was taken in the house that was aimed at avoiding a long drawn out session. A rules committee resolution was pushed through which places the lower house on record as confining the special session to "social security legislation, financing the same, and emergency legislation of importance as appears should be taken care of."

Under the terms of this resolution, all bills submitted for consideration will be presented to the rules committee for study before introduction. This committee, in the lower house, has no Farmer-Labor members; thus allowing the liberal-progressives to keep a check rein on the number and scope of the bills to come up for action.

A similar resolution was jammed through in the senate, where the rules committee also is dominated by the liberal progressives.

Farmer-Laborites in the upper house objected strenuously; but got nowhere. Then they turned their attention toward demanding greater representation on the rules committee; but this move also was sidetracked.

The senate majority committee slates were pushed through to the accompaniment of mild protest from the Farmer-Laborites, who apparently realized the futility of changing the set-ups.

Proposing an old-age pension system with unlimited payments to its beneficiaries, Gov. Olson in his message to the special legislative session proposed a long series of tax increases to finance the program.

Gov. Olson flatly stated he opposed a sales tax to finance his program, urging instead taxes which would "redistribute wealth."

Departing from his prepared message, the governor warned the legislators that the time has come for them to yield to the people, who "feel somewhat insecure under the present economic system that produces an abundance but has failed to produce a decent standard of living for the many."

"I am no alarmist," Gov. Olson concluded, "but I warn you not to be niggardly in your giving of aid."

Blaze in C. C. Rooms in Auditorium Friday Causes Ceiling Damage

The fact that the new Auditorium is of almost completely fireproof construction prevented a fire that developed in the Civic and Commerce association rooms near midnight last Friday from reaching serious proportions. The blaze, originating in the ceiling apparently from a short circuit caused by a damaged lighting fixture switch, burned the sound-deadening material from a portion of the ceiling before it was extinguished with the use of chemicals. Halvor Olson, night man at the Auditorium, summoned the fire department when he smelled smoke coming from unidentified source, which was located on arrival of the firemen. Insurance company representatives were in the city yesterday to adjust the loss.

ENCLOSED RINK WORK MAY START NEXT WEDNESDAY

Tentative Date Set by Area Engineer In City Tuesday

While in the city Tuesday evening, Mearle Webb, area WPA engineer with headquarters at Crookston, stated that the present outlook was that the enclosed skating rink project would get under way next Wednesday, November 11.

What may be taken as a reason for the delay in starting operations is to be found in the announcement by the local office of the National Reemployment service that all eligible employables on relief in Pennington county have now been assigned to jobs on WPA projects, including those at the golf course, sanatorium, razing buildings on the site of the enclosed rink and brushing along county highways.

Following completion during the past week of the work of leveling buildings on the rink site, workers Tuesday began the construction of a large tool shed along the west edge of the proposed building.

The city council at an adjourned meeting Friday evening appointed August A. Johnson, local contractor, superintendent in charge of construction of the enclosed rink subject to approval by the district WPA office at Detroit Lakes.

ANNUAL MEETING OF FARM BUREAU NEXT WEDNESDAY

Session Will be Conducted in the Afternoon in C. & C. Rooms

The annual meeting of the Pennington County Farm Bureau, a unit of the national federation, will be conducted next Wednesday afternoon, December 11, at 2 o'clock in the Civic and Commerce association rooms, it was announced today at the farm bureau office.

The organization, which numbers more than 250 members in this county, will elect seven directors for the ensuing year, and will also name a delegate to the state convention to be held in the Twin Cities in January. Present officers include L. A. Nelson, president; S. E. Hunt, vice president; T. M. Thronson, secretary; and Mrs. Lee Beebe of St. Hilaire, home and community chairman.

Lunch will be served at the close of the meeting, and those present will have an opportunity to attend the Pennington county poultry show which will be in progress in the Auditorium at that time.

BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS
3 More Weeks To Shop

Only 16 Shopping Days Remain to Fill Christmas Requirements

The aspect of the Christmas season invaded the downtown district in Thief River Falls during the past week, and forward-looking holiday shoppers crowded the stores making an early selection of gifts and other needs for the winter season.

Local stores were never better prepared than this year to fill holiday wants, and during the next sixteen days remaining before Christmas patrons from thruout this section will visit the city, attracted by the most complete holiday shopping service in Northwestern Minnesota.

The advertisements of local stores published in this issue of the Times reveal that merchants are offering their varied stocks at prices that meet the keenest competition. To gladden the hearts of the little folks toy sections in a number of stores are showing the most complete collections of articles in their history, so that the most particular tastes can be satisfied.

Gift merchandise to meet every requirement of the grownups is now on display by local stores in their clothing, furniture, hardware, jewelry, radio and electrical appliance departments. Food stores, too, offering every staple item and delicacy needed to make the holiday table complete, are doing their bit to provide a satisfying and inexpensive Christmas season.

MEETING OF P. T. A. MONDAY DEVOTED TO T. B. CAMPAIGN

Sound Film "Contacts" Depicts War Being Made Against Ailment

The program at the December meeting of the Parent-Teacher association, held Tuesday evening in the Lincoln high school assembly room, was devoted to a talking movie and short talks dealing with the nation-wide campaign for the prevention and cure of tuberculosis.

The motion picture "Contacts", presented under the auspices of the Minnesota Public Health association, emphasized the fact that every case of tuberculosis originates from contact with some other case, and depicted modern methods of identifying and combating the disease.

Dr. O. F. Mellby, president of the board of Oakland Park sanatorium, briefly outlined the history of the founding of the institution and the difficulty experiences in finding a satisfactory location. This and other similar institutions, he said, are trying to save not only the patient but his family.

Miss Marguerite Breen of the public health association told the story of the origin of Christmas seals and of the work being accomplished thruout the country with funds raised in this manner. At the close of the meeting it was voted by the P. T. A. to buy a $5 Christmas seal bond.

The program, which was under the direction of President A. M. Senstad, opened with two well rendered piano selections by James Skarstad. Miss Esther Larson, secretary, reported that the silver tea held at the library early last week netted slightly more than $10, which will be used for the purchase of children's books.

"Mutiny on the Bounty", Classic of the Sea, to Open at Avalon Tonight

"Mutiny on the Bounty", based on the epic sea story written by Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall, will open a three-day run at the Avalon theatre this evening. The film is built around an episode in which a boatload of men are set adrift in the South Pacific, to land weeks later in one of the South Sea islands. Principal roles in the highly rated production are filled by Charles Laughton, Clark Gable and Franchot Tone. For next Sunday and Monday Manager A. M. Holte offers "Peter Ibbetson", based on George DuMaurier's famous love story of the same name. Co-starred in the production are Ann Harding and Gary Cooper, with Ida Lupino, Douglas Dumbrille and Dickie Moore in the supporting cast.

District Rotary Head Visitor Here Tuesday

Writes of Flow of Lava From Volcano in Hawaii

An interesting account of the recent huge lava flow from Mauna Loa volcano in the Hawaiian Islands is contained in a letter received this week by Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Rice from their daughter Mrs. M. L. Finkenbinder, who resides in Hilo 30 miles from Mauna Loa. The flow, she writes, is the first since 1926 and presented an awe-inspiring spectacle at night, the molten rock lighting up the heavens. The lava had flowed for a distance of nearly twenty miles at the time she wrote.

MORE WORK TO BE DONE ON HIGHWAY 59 NORTH OF HERE

Elsberg Calls for Bids on Grading Between Orleans and Lancaster

A call for bids on a group of state highway projects to be opened in St. Paul December 13 reveals that further progress is being made in the improvement of Highway 59 between Thief River Falls and Noyes.

N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, Monday announced that bids will be received on the grading of a section 8.5 miles in length on the highway between Orleans and Lancaster, involving 187,176 cubic yards of excavation. Two weeks ago bids were asked on the elimination of three grade crossings on the highway.

The projects to be considered December 13 are situated in 32 counties and involve an estimated expenditure of $930,000, Mr. Elsberg said. Included is a concrete deck girder bridge 45 feet long to be erected on Highway 1 sixteen miles west of Redby in Clearwater county.

1936-37 CORN-HOG CONTRACTS TO BE READY IN JANUARY

Details Will be Announced at Series of Local Meetings

The 1936-37 corn-hog adjustment contract has been approved and contract applications will be offered to Minnesota farmers in January, Andrew Boss, state director of production control programs, University Farm, St. Paul, has been notified by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The new contract follows closely the recommendations made by producer-representatives and State agricultural specialists in conference early last month in Washington, Mr. Boss said. Details of the contract soon will be discussed at a meeting of state corn-hog officials and will be fully explained at local meetings which will be held during the application sign-up campaign in January.

The two-year contract, effective as of December 1, 1935, requires that the signer produce for market in 1936 at least 50 per cent of his market hog base and not more than 100 per cent of his base if he is to receive the full hog adjustment payment. The cooperating producer also must plant to corn at least 25 per cent of his corn base next year but not more than a percentage which is within the permitted optional range of 70 to 90 per cent of his corn base.

Tax Settlement Mailed During Past Week-end

Township, school district, village and city treasuries in Pennington county were enriched over the week-end by the receipt of their share of the November tax settlement aggregating $145,175.55 which was sent out from the office of County Auditor A. M. Senstad. The city of Thief River Falls received $19,449.48 as its share.

Civic Group Views Yule Seal Movies Wednesday

BIG COMMUNITY CLUB PROGRAM FRIDAY, DEC. 13

Seven County Groups Will Participate in Event at Auditorium

80 PEOPLE INCLUDED AMONG CHARACTERS

Skits, Minstrel Numbers and Amateur Hour to be Features

Following several weeks of intensive practice, members of seven community clubs in the vicinity of Thief River Falls will display their histrionic ability in a varied entertainment program at the municipal Auditorium Friday evening, December 13.

A total of eighty people representing the various groups will participate in the program, each club sponsoring one number, with no two alike. The participating clubs are the Wyandotte, Steiner, Smiley, Kratka, Rocksbury and Silverton Community clubs and the St. Hilaire Parent-Teacher association. The Shell Old-Time orchestra will play a number of selections preceding the opening of the program and during intermissions. Members of the county 4-H clubs will serve as ushers.

The Wyandotte club will present a musical skit entitled "The Muff", and the St. Hilaire Parent-Teacher group will offer a one-act play, "The Dummy". The men of the Steiner club will present a mock wedding; the Smiley club will give a skit; "Family Jars"; while the Kratka Community club members will give their own version of the amateur hour which Major Bowes and his radio colleagues have made so popular throut the country.

The Rocksbury club will present a minstrel number entitled "Amos and Ruby's Wedding", and the Silverton club will complete the program with a Pennington county version of the WLS Barn Dance.

Sponsors of the entertainment announced that it is not a money-making affair, and that only a small fee will be charged those wishing to attend. They promise a full two and one-half hours of fun.

COMMUNITY RINK EXPECTED TO BE READY BY SUNDAY

Local Skaters Are Hoping Mercury Will Remain Near Zero Mark

Thief River Falls children and many of their elders will welcome the announcement today by Alex Campbell, chairman of the Legion skating rink committee, that if the weather remains cold the large outdoor community rink on Duluth av. will be ready for use not later than Sunday. Season tickets will go on sale as soon as the rink opens, with prices remaining the same as last year.

The sheet of ice is 172 by 86 feet in dimensions, virtually the same size as the rink operated in a different location last year. Gilbert Relersgaard, who is to serve as caretaker, has the fence and warming house in place, and lights and the amplifying system are to be installed before the end of the week.

Hockey practice will commence as soon as the ice is ready, and it is expected that the sessions will be held between the hours of 6 o'clock and 7:15, the same as last year. The sum of more than $50 was realized for the hockey equipment fund at the dance held Thanksgiving night in the Auditorium.

INDEPENDENT CAGE TEAM IS LINING UP HARD COMPETITION

Fifteen Experienced Players Listed as Candidates for Quintet

The recently organized independent basketball quintet, which is now practising regularly, will shortly appear before local fans in a series of outstanding contests, according to Alvin Christofferson, manager, who is in communication with a number of leading independent teams of the state and nation.

Among the tentative opponents are the House of David, Harlem Globe Trotters, Olson's Terrible Swedes from Missouri, the Harlem Clowns of New York City; and the Gopher Victory Five, made up of star players on the 1935 Minnesota football team including Beise, Smith, Bennebohm, Oech, Rennix and Dallera. Home-and-home games also will be arranged with teams from Crookston, Grand Forks, Bemidji and Grafton and Park River, N. D.

That there will be plenty of material from which to make up a first-class team to represent this city is revealed in Manager Christofferson's announcement that the field of candidates includes more than fifteen experienced players, among them being Merle Lindberg, Bob Booren, "Tus" Langlie, Paul Dahl, Carl Lee, Lawrence Nicholson, Tom Fuller, Dan Hermanson, Wayne Kielty, Ed Froseth, Scotty Cameron, Ingwald Hendrickson, Haakon Christianson, George Lee and Lloyd Bennes. Other experienced men of this community are invited to report to Mr. Christofferson.

TURKEYS FOR YULE MARKETS SOON TO REACH PEAK HERE

Land O'Lakes Pool Announces Final Settlement for Thanksgiving

With the turkey marketing period for the Christmas season opening last Monday, the movement of the birds is just getting under way today, two carloads having been shipped, while a half-dozen additional cars are in process of being loaded today.

That turkey producers in this section will get highly satisfactory returns on their 1935 crop is indicated in the announcement this week by Land O'Lakes Creameries that the final settlement for the Thanksgiving market was on the basis of 27½ cents a pound for top grade birds. This figure is approximately five cents a pound higher than that of a year ago.

Another encouraging feature reported by Manager B. O. Norby of the local cooperative is the marked improvement in the quality of turkeys marketed this year for Thanksgiving, 86 per cent of the birds being of Land O'Lakes grade, while seven per cent were classed as medium and only seven per cent ranked as No. 2.

Senator E. L. Tungseth Fares Well With Senate Committee Assignments

18th Annual Poultry Show to Open Monday

Will be in Progress for Four Days in Municipal Auditorium

TURKEY CLASSES TO BE SPECIAL FEATURE

Entries Must be in by Two P. M. Monday, Secretary Announces

Pennington county poultry and turkey breeders are this week-end grooming their choicest specimens in preparation for entering them in the eighteenth annual Pennington poultry show which opens in the municipal Auditorium Monday to continue thru next Thursday, December 12.

Utility and market classes of turkeys, both live and dressed, will be featured in the show this year, which is expected to attract one of the largest collections of choice birds to be seen in this section of the state. Those wishing to enter birds in the dressed classes will first show them in the live division, following which they will be dressed and judged on that basis.

Judging of the entries in all divisions will take place Tuesday and Wednesday, and this work will be in charge of Professor M. C. Herner of the Manitoba Agricultural college at Winnipeg, a widely recognized authority on poultry and turkeys. Bernhard Ranum will serve as superintendent of the show, Vernon Copp, secretary, announced.

Principal breeds of chickens to be exhibited include single comb White Leghorns, Buff Orpingtons, White Orpingtons, Barred Rocks, White Rocks, White Wyandottes and Rhode Island Reds. The awards will be graduated in accordance with the number of entries in each class, a total of $350 in premiums being offered.

Special attention will be paid to 4-H club entries in the show, and to encourage a large entry list no entry fees will be charged in this division, it was announced. Exhibits will be limited to birds hatched during the current year.

A tentative program of short talks on poultry problems followed by an open discussion is being arranged for Wednesday afternoon, Secretary Copp announced. He urged all exhibitors to make an effort to attend the Civic and Commerce association luncheon in the basement of the Auditorium Thursday noon.

New 1,000 Horsepower Diesel Engine Working at Half Its Capacity

When operating under full power it will, with the aid of the Old Busch Sulzer units, be able to carry the present peak load in the city, using the 750 horsepower McIntosh & Seymour unit as standby power, operators at the plant indicated yesterday.

97 MEN AND WOMEN HOLDING WPA JOBS IN PENNINGTON CO.

Payroll Was Approximately $1,400 Last Two Weeks in November

Pennington county has a total of 97 men and women working on five projects, according to the latest report sent in to the state administrator, Victor Christgau, by C. L. Berggren, director of the seventh district office at Detroit Lakes. This includes every employable relief worker in the county, who has been certified to the district office up to November 28th.

The payroll for the last two weeks period ending November 25, was approximately $1,400 for Pennington county, and was the largest single distribution made since the WPA program was started. With additional workers assigned during the past week, the next semi-monthly payroll, which comes on December 10th, is expected to be considerably increased.

The payroll for the district, comprising the 15 northwestern counties, was over $63,000 for the last semi-monthly period in November. A total of 148 projects are now operating and employing 3,578 men and women. With additional persons assigned, the total number, who will be working in the next week, will be 4,145.

"There is no doubt but what WPA projects are creating a new atmosphere among the unemployed men and women of the country," Director Berggren stated. "It is giving them renewed confidence in themselves, with the knowledge that they have a real job."

Local Woman's Recipe Wins the Endorsement of National Magazine

Mrs. Lloyd M. Bennes, St. Paul Av., has just been awarded a certificate of recipe endorsement by Better Homes and Gardens for her recipe, "Graham Meringue Pie."

This certificate, which brings national recognition to Mrs. Bennes is given only to distinguished recipes which pass its testing kitchen's tests for dependability, excellence of taste, and family usefulness.

Mrs. Bennes' recipe follows:

Graham Meringue Pie

14 medium Graham crackers, crushed (1 cup crumbs)
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
3 egg whites, beaten stiff
1 cup sugar
½ cup seeded and chopped dates
¾ cup chopped California walnuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine the cracker crumbs, baking powder and salt. Fold the sugar into the stiffly beaten egg whites and beat smooth. Fold the cracker mixture into the egg whites, then add the dates, nuts and vanilla. Turn into a buttered oven-proof pie pan and bake in a moderate oven (325 to 350 degrees) for 25 to 30 minutes or until delicately browned. Cool before serving. Cut into pie-shaped pieces and top with whipped cream.

Children Fight for Health

"Oh, let me hold the Christmas Seal doll!"

This plea was heard from all sides when youngsters at the Children's Preventorium near St. Paul had a visit recently from "Miss Christmas Seal", a doll dressed to represent the girl on the 1935 tuberculosis stamp.

To Peggy Lou, shown above with the doll, and the other boys and girls at the Preventorium, "Miss Christmas Seal" is much more than a doll. She is a symbol of their chance for life and health.

Every child at the Preventorium, which is a part of the tuberculosis fighting machinery brought about through the Christmas Seal educational campaign, is there because he or she is in danger of developing tuberculosis. Most of them have lived in homes where there is an active case. To build them up physically so that they will not break down later, the children have long hours of rest, nourishing food, sun and air baths, and supervised activity. They are kept under careful medical supervision and are x-rayed frequently.

Mistletoe, a Tree Parasite

Despite its popularity as a Christmas green, there is little worry about conserving the country's supply of mistletoe. For this attractive plant, with its shiny, dark leaves and waxy white berries, grows as a parasite high on the branches of trees and does considerable damage to its host trees. Science has revealed that the mistletoe seeds are carried from tree to tree by birds.

Decorations Don't Count

"Handsome decorations don't make life easier," said Uncle Eben. "A gold alarm clock wouldn't make it any mo' cheerful to git up dan one dat's nickel-plated."

Six Cylinder Sentences

By DR. JOHN W. HOLLAND

Open your eyes wide before marriage, and close them a trifle afterward.

Neither wealth nor beauty are enduring enough to make a successful marriage.

There is no thinking which pays so well as fore-thought before the wedding march.

Marriage, as an institution, is a success, but human failures cannot succeed at it.

The most foolish acts of our lives are committed when we talk of things which are none of our business.

Carbon Monoxide Cause of Added Fatalities During Winter Months

Each winter brings a large number of deaths from gas poisoning. There were 1,694 of these deaths in 1934. Most of them, according to the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association, are deaths from Carbon monoxide poisoning and could have been prevented with proper care.

Accordingly the following precautions are emphasized by the committee as worthy of especial attention as Minnesota's cold season begins.

1. Never run your motor in a closed garage. In spite of repeated warnings about that, an alarming number of deaths is still reported from this type of carelessness.

2. See that your motor is in good condition and that carbon monoxide gas is not seeping into the air of your closed car. Many accidents happen because the driver is dulled or sickened by a constant slight inhalation of carbon monoxide while he is driving.

3. See that the heating plant in your home, no matter what the type, has proper flues; that the pipes are in place and that you know how to run it to prevent escape of half burned gases into illventilated rooms. Accidents involving heating plants are not confined to stove heated homes. In 1934, nine Dartmouth college students lost their lives from carbon monoxide poisoning due to defective heating in their college dormitory.

FIND GLASSES IN MOUTH AFTER AUTO TIPS OVER

Minnesota Lake. — When the wreck was over, believe it or not, I. W. Jensen found his spectacles in his mouth—unbroken. That he had not swallowed them, or broken the glasses in his mouth, was one of the miracles of a crash near Minnesota Lake. Enroute to that village from Mankato, Jack Leibberman was driving a new car, with Jensen as the passenger. To test the highest speed of his new possession, Leibberman pushed the accelerator down to the floor board for a few minutes, and watched the needle climb. Jensen warned him of a curve at Mapleton, and Leibberman began to step on the brake, but it was too late. The automobile was still going too fast to get it under control quickly. It turned over, and in order to keep from going thru the windshield, both men had to hold on to fixtures in the car. When Jensen was ready to crawl out of the turned over car, he found his glasses in his mouth—unbroken.

No New Students Will be Taken in January at N. D. Science School

"Because of crowded conditions, we are forced to close registration at the State School of Science at Wahpeton, N. D. No new students can be admitted at the opening of the regular winter term and we are anxious to get this information to all prospects so as to prevent disappointment on the part of those who might come from long distances on January 6", states President E. F. Riley.

"There are now 520 students in attendance at the school and our buildings, shop space, and equipment are not adequate to take care of any additional people" explains Pres. Riley. "We realize that there are more than 200 prospective students who would plan to report on January 6 if they were permitted to do so and we regret very much that we do not have the facilities to take care of this group.

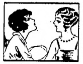
"Many students now in attendance will be completing their courses on March 27 and we will be able to take care of additional students at the opening of the spring term on March 30. Plans are being made to take adequate care of all students who want to pursue courses at the State School of Science at the opening of the fall term in September 1936."

Why Christmas Day Comes on the 25th of December

CHRISTMAS, which seems to have been first officially instituted a church feast day by a decree of Pope Telesphorus, between 142 A. D. and 154 A. D., was a movable feast. Indeed, it was the most movable of all the Christian festivals. It was usually celebrated by the eastern branches of the Christian church in April or May, while in the western part of Europe days in January or other months were observed as Christmas.

In A. D. 337 St. Cyril, bishop of Jerusalem, obtained from Pope Julius I authority to appoint a commission to determine, if possible, the precise day of Christ's nativity. From the chronological archives of the Roman censors, establishing the times of occurrence of certain events of the same period of the Roman government of Palestine, the theologians of the eastern and western divisions of the Christian church agreed upon December 25 as the date of the birth of Jesus, and thereupon this became the officially decreed and generally accepted Christmas day.

CHRISTMAS SMOKES



Alice—They say a woman can't select Christmas cigars.

May—Nonsense. I have been sounding my husband and he says he likes light cigars. All you have to do is to match the shade.

Canal Banks Used as Roads

In some sections of lower Egypt, near Cairo, the wide banks of canals over two thousand years old are used as automobile roads.

Capetown to Buenos Aires

The distance between Capetown and Buenos Aires by great circle sailing is 3,728 nautical miles, which is roughly 4,300 statute miles. This is the course taken going east. The course taken going west is by rhumb line and is 3,834 nautical miles, which is approximately 4,410 statute miles.

RYE ADJUSTMENT PROGRAM OFFERED TO U. S. FARMERS

Supply on Hand Held Double Requirements for Next Year

The United States has about twice as much rye on hand as it is likely to need during the coming year. That is the reason the government is offering a rye adjustment program to farmers, says R. M. Douglass, county agent.

After producing unusually small crops in 1933 and 1934, he points out, this country came back with a bang in 1935 and produced a crop estimated at 52,000,000 bushels—the largest of any since 1927, and one-third larger than the five-year average, 1928 to 1932. This production, added to the 11,000,000-bushel carryover of July 1, 1935, increased the nation's rye supply to about 63,000,000 bushels.

About 32,000,000 bushels is all the rye that this nation needs for home use, however, and the United States export market has practically disappeared. To keep the surplus from increasing further, the government is asking farmers to agree to a reduction of 25 per cent, from their base acreages, in the acreages they harvest for grain each year from 1936 to 1939. The Secretary of Agriculture may ease this restriction in any of these years, however, if it appears more rye will be needed.

For compliance with their contracts, growers will receive payments on 30 per cent of their base production. These payments will represent, in general, the difference between the average farm price and the "fair exchange value" of rye, providing this difference does not exceed 35 cents per bushel. Higher payments, in case the difference should exceed 35 cents per bushel, will depend on the returns obtained from the rye processing tax. The rate of this tax is 30 cents per bushel, but it is levied only on rye processed for human food and drink in the United States. About 30 per cent of the rye crop is used for these purposes in this country.

In addition to his adjustment payments, the grower will receive the benefit of any increase in price which may result from curtailment of production. In 1934-35, when the United States was on an import basis for rye, the average farm price per bushel was 71 cents per bushel, but this year, when the nation has a surplus to export, the average price (as of October 15) has fallen to 42 cents per bushel.

LYNX ATTACKS UNARMED MAN WITH NO PROVOCATION

Hill City.—Attacked by a lynx cat which jumped from a tree in front of him, Levi Sweeney put up a barehanded fight and emerged badly scratched and bitten with a serious wound on his left hand. Sweeney was returning from looking after his wood about 4:30 in the afternoon at Hill City, south of Grand Rapids. The cat leaped upon him without warning and without provocation, proceeding to put up a good imitation of a windmill with nails. Sweeney had no gun, and had to "put up his dukes" and fight it out with the enraged animal. The lynx has been seen in the vicinity of Hill City several times in the past three or four years.

It is always encouraging to note the advance of civilization. Arabs in Palestine are now planning a general strike.—Buffalo Courier-Express.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Working

Early Bohemian Settlers

Records in the writer's possession concerning Bohemian settlements in northern Minnesota show that Thief River Falls figured in the pioneer activities of these people. One account, telling of migrations from Bohemian colonies in southern Minnesota says, "Thief River Falls was but a struggling settlement then (in the 80's) and long trips with oxen were necessary to get the few supplies and plain materials the settlers needed.

Two settlements referred to were in the neighborhoods of Tabor and east of there. While there are a great many Bohemians in Mahnomen county, it appears that these more northerly settlements were not offshoots from that colony but were founded before the Mahnomen settlement had attained a permanent status.

Among the early arrivals were John and Vaclav Mikulecky, Frank Zavoral, John Havel, John Hrubes and Joseph Vavra. They came up from Hutchinson where there was a large Bohemian settlement and had intended to settle near Wadena. They reached Wadena early in the summer of 1880 but did not like the country and so moved on northward. John Mikulecky was the leader of the party and his story is an interesting one.

He seems to have been a sort of Daniel Boone and evidently knew the Thief River Falls country well, for he had been in the region as a trapper and hunter as early as the 70's. He trapped on Mud lake several seasons and earned a fair income as a trapper. His home was in a Bohemian settlement between Hutchinson and Silver Lake. He did not like farming, which was strange for a young Bohemian, and decided to try his hand at outdoor activities so dear to the heart of the average American boy. Mikulecky was little more than a boy when he began his frontier career, for we find that he was only 28 years old when he returned to Hutchinson to get married.

It is interesting to read that these homeseekers passed through many sections now well settled in their quest for lands and finally chose this part of the state. Of course, they encountered many hardships and many left the country but the majority persevered and eventually triumphed over all obstacles. The records show that they built comfortable log-cabin homes, churches and schools and that they laid the foundations for a vigorous community life in the earliest years.

Mikulecky, by the way, was a natural promoter and he managed to attract a great many of his countrymen to the region through articles he wrote for the Bohemian newspaper, "Slavia". Scores came from Hutchinson and from Minneapolis and Cleveland. There were also groups from New Prague and Silver Lake, still noted for their Bohemian residents. Of course, there were other Bohemian settlements in this part of the coutry but our notes refer only to these two.

Another interesting fact about these early colonists was their ability to transform the most forbidding region into a smiling countryside by their domestic talents. The men were able to adapt themselves readily and soon their transplanted customs and possessions seemed as much at home in the new land as in the home land. There were the pipes with long, crooked stems, for instance, and even wooden shoes. The women, noted as a race for their culinary arts, baked the delicacies for which the old land has been famed for centuries. Kolachies (or Kolace) are the best known of these perhaps. For the benefit of those not familiar with them, we shall explain that they are a sort of bun with a filling of poppy seed, prunes or other fruit. They still are eaten extensively in America by all racial groups.

Religion received early attention in these settlements. Both Catholics and Presbyterians being especially active. Both groups formed congregations and built churches. Priests and pastors came in to minister to the settlers and the records show that much of the materials used for building was purchased at Thief River Falls. Incidentally, one of the first pioneers, who came to the region in 1879, retired and moved to Thief River Falls in 1885. Others followed his example later.

The settlements sent out a number of sons and daughters to become prominently active in the affairs of the outside world. It is a well-known fact that the Bohemians, or Czech, or perhaps we should say Czechoslovakians, are highly intelligent and that those who have had the advantages of college and university training in America have been eminently successful, some of them being noted as leaders in their fields.

But the beginnings up here in the northern part of the state were hard and discouraging at times, proving the stamina and faith of these pioneers.

MAY CHARGE FOR PARKING ON DULUTH CITY STREETS

Duluth—Duluthians who have occasion to park their automobiles in the downtown business section may soon have to pay cash for that privilege. An ordinance to install 200 meters in the downtown blocks is now before the city council.—Under the meter system, blocks where cars can be parked are divided into 18 or 20 feet sections, each supplied with a meter. At the motorist parks the car, five cents is deposited in the meter slot. It then shows the car is entitled to the space for one hour, at the end of which it also indicates that time is up and the car is not authorized to be there any longer. The patrolman on the beat then tags the vehicle, the meter making it easy to keep tab on the cars. The company which installs the meters at no cost to the city collects the first $60 revenue each meter produces, after which all revenue goes to the city.

KIDS AND ICE MAN PRAY FOR ARRIVAL OF RIVER!

Marshall.—The youngsters of Marshall, and the local ice company, are patiently waiting the arrival of the Redwood river, hoping it will arrive before the cold weather freezes it up and leaves the town dry for a skating rink and minus a supply of ice for next summer. Dry since early July, the slowly advancing water, congealed with ice and barely moving, is slowly advancing on the town. Never before in the memory of man has the water been so late in reaching Marshall after a summer dry spell. Lack of fall rains kept the river from resuming its course along in September and October as it has done in past years. In case it fails to reach its destination of the "old mill pond", Marshall youngsters will be deprived of their skating rink this winter, and the supply of ice for next summer will have to be brought in from some other source.

TWO FAMILY BASEBALL TEAMS LIVE MILE APART

Kenyon.—A baseball team made up of members of one family is not unheard of, but two such baseball-team-families live only one mile apart, it's an item for Ripley. Such a situation existed only a few years ago, recalled this week by the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jacobson, parents of one of the teams. The Jacobson and Kjos families lived only a mile apart near Holden, and baseball was a much more important undertaking than milking cows or pitching hay! With one of the family for every position, the Jacobson and Kjos boys never had to worry about securing enough players to round out their lineups. Further adding to the strangeness of the situation is the fact that altho the families were such close neighbors and the two teams were quite active in baseball circles in that part of the country, they never met in a game to decide which family played the better brand of ball. At one time the two teams were scheduled to have played at a family reunion picnic, but with several members of the family absent, the game had to be called off.

MONEY THROWN FROM PURSE FOUND ON FENDER

Benson.—Money, it is said, has wings. But here seems to be the exception to the rule. While Mr. and Mrs. Larry Long of Benson were returning to this city from a visit at Morris, they swerved off the road to avoid a collision with another car and their own vehicle plunged into the ditch and rolled over. Mr. and Mrs. Long here both injured. The car was towed to a garage here. Mrs. Long, during the accident, lost her purse, and search at the scene and in the car failed to reveal a trace of it. But imagine the surprise of the garagemen the next day when they found $27 in bills, which the purse had contained, between the front fender and the radiator—and not a sign of the purse. The money had somehow stayed in that position without blowing away during towing. What became of the purse itself is still a mystery.

Dairymen Not Expected to Add to Herd Size

There will be no marked increase in number of milk cows on farms over the next two years, but milk production is expected to increase in response to better feed conditions, according to the annual outlook report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Stocks of dairy products are reported larger than a year ago, and with prospects for increased production during the late winter, the total supplies of dairy products will be larger than a year ago.

Farm prices of butterfat are reported higher now in relation to feed grains than a year ago, and a further increase is in prospect. Farm prices of butterfat are low in relation to meat animals, and are likely to continue relatively low during 1936, says the report.

This price relationship will tend to check dairy production in areas where shifts are most easily made from dairy to meat production.

CHAINED PET DOG STRANGLES CHILD

Zumbrota —A dog, playing around his small master, wound the chain from his collar around the neck of two year old LeRoy Buck and strangled him to death. The child had accompanied his mother while she brought lunch to men employed in hauling corn from the field. Returning home she left LeRoy outside and as she turned around saw him start for the barn where the dog was chained. A few minutes later she called the child, and when he did not answer she hurried to the barn. LeRoy was found on the floor, the dog chain tightly wound about his neck, and the dog playing around him. A doctor found death had been almost instantaneous through strangulation. The dog, a pet in the household, had run away a number of times of late and he had been kept chained for a few days. He was a playful pup, and it is believed to have jumped on the child in play and while running about the chain which held him it had been would around LeRoy's neck. The dog was shot.

TOY BALLOON FROM GAME TRAVELS A LONG WAY

St. Cloud—At least one of the thousand toy balloons released at the kick-off of the Minnesota-Northwestern football game in Minneapolis Oct. 26 has been accounted for, and it didn't come down before it had made quite a trip. Ed Anderson and Floyd Hamlin, St. Cloud, had little success in bagging any game recently, but came home with an unusual souvenir, one of the small rubber balloons. It was found frozen in the ice of the Mississippi river about 10 miles north of St. Cloud. Anderson thought is was a "puff-ball" when he first spied it, but after stamping it out of the ice it proved to be a maroon balloon with some of the gas still in it and a big "M" emblazoned in gold on the side. The first freeze up in the river occurred on the Thursday following the Northwestern encounter. The balloon may have come to earth some days previous and floated in the river until the water froze, or it might have remained aloft from the time it was released until dropping into the river in time to become imbedded in the ice.

Naming Galesburg, Ill.

Both Galesburg, Ill., the seat of Knox college, and that institution were founded by a colonization society, formed by the Rev. George Washington Gale, a Presbyterian minister of Whitestown, N. Y., to promote Christian education and to counteract the pro-slavery influence in Illinois.

Creates Life but No Food

Nature sometimes creates life without providing food to sustain it. The opossum has litters of 18 babies, yet only 12 of them can be reared, writes Elwell and Finlay, Kalamazoo, Mich., in Collier's Weekly. They are the youngsters who, in the race into the pouch, get one of the 12 nipples, which they do not relinquish for six weeks. The other third of the litter just looks on—and dies of starvation.

Nature Often Cures Bow Legs Trouble in Babies, Doctors Say

What about the bow-legged babies? Some of them have no need for splints or massage or any of the other medical aids to straight legs according to a bulletin issued by the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association.

Nature is kind to babies if she is given half a chance according to the doctors. There are cases, however, where the deformities will not take care of themselves and only special care and watching will show which of the bow-legged babies need special treatment and which do not.

Sometimes the trouble is rickets in which case additional Vitamin D in the baby's diet, together with sunshine or ultra violet ray treatment are necessary. Massage and proper binding often help in these cases.

Sometimes it is necessary to put the legs in casts for a time and afterwards to use braces for a little while. The kind of treatment chosen, or lack of treatment, will depend somewhat on whether bow legs are in the family too, and what the cause appeared to be; or whether the deformity is increasing or not and what the X-ray of the legs may show.

There is no doubt that nature can be helped a great deal if she proves to be laggard in correcting the condition.

TIME TO TRY NEW METHODS

While there probably is considerable difference of opinion as to the responsibility for the Minneapolis labor troubles that have resulted in the removal from the state of a large factory, all will agree that the result is a loss to everyone concerned. Minneapolis has lost an industry that gave employment to hundreds of workers. The workers lost their jobs. Through loss of business and the expense of moving to a new location, the company experiences a setback that will require years to overcome. These are the immediate and direct results. Perhaps even more serious are the indirect results. Instead of encouraging other Minnesota industries to expand and inviting outside industries to establish themselves within the state, such a condition as has prevailed in Minneapolis will retard the industrial development of the state for years to come.

No matter what the causes are or who is to blame for this situation, all will agree that things are not as they should be. There are two extreme views on the labor question. There are those who hold that labor should not be organized and that any attempts on the part of labor to assert itself collectively should be suppressed, by violence if necessary. This group takes the position that labor is always wrong. On the other extreme are those who hold that labor is always right and that whatever demands are made by organized labor are not to be questioned. This group believes that if an employer refuses to yield to the demands of labor then labor has a right to resort to violence if necessary in order to force the employer into submission.

We have now had plenty of experience with both of these extreme viewpoints to know that neither of them is proper. Somewhere between these two extremes there surely must be some middle ground upon which labor problems can be settled without violence and with justice to both employees and employers. There undoubtedly are unreasonable elements among both groups that must be suppressed. But it should be possible to write laws governing the settlement of labor controversies just as we now have laws providing for the settlement of individual differences. Special industrial courts should be established to settle disputes, with the same broad powers other courts now have to enforce their decisions. Such a system would have its shortcomings but it would be a long step forward from the present barbarian practices. The present method has proven itself to be a failure. The only people who have gained by it are the industrial and labor racketeers. And it is only the racketeers on both sides of the argument who will suffer by settlements based on an intelligent and sympathetic understanding of the problems of both employers and employees.

It is going to be interesting to see what kind of a response there will be to the offer of prize money for Christmas home decorations. In recent years there has been a steadily increasing interest in outdoor decorations among local residents during this festive season. Some of the lighting effects of past years have been beautiful. And while the contest will probably result in more elaborate decorations this year, it is to be hoped that it will also greatly increase the number of outdoor displays. It is an effective way of saying Merry Christmas.

Last week we ventured the opinion that our city is getting along with its improvement program to a point where we have nearly everything a city of this size should have. We now know that that was a mistake and that as a matter of fact we are just getting nicely started with the program. During the past week we have been reminded of no less than a half a dozen things we still need before we can start slacking our pace. We need a sewage disposal plant. This item seemed to head the list. Among the other things mentioned were more adequate storm sewers, an incinerator to take the place of our front yard dump south of town, a new junior high school building and a junior college, new worm proof trees on the boulevards, sidewalks that drain, a few more blocks of pavement, street markers and more fragrant drinking water. There were others too but the list is long enough as it is. We stand corrected.

Another Literary Digest poll is under way, this time checking public sentiment on the New Deal. Early tabulations indicate that the policies of the present administration are not nearly as popular as they were a year and two years ago. Whether or not the poll is an accurate measure of sentiment, it will have a very definite effect on the coming campaign. Politicians, courting public favor, will be less hesitant about criticizing the present administration if they feel the policies of that administration are no longer popular. If the poll continues its present trend it will definitely transfer the burden of proof to administration defenders.

Just how seriously this territory should consider the government's present revival of interest in the Red and Red Lake River development projects is decidedly questionable. The 1936 political campaign is now definitely under way. This is the stage of a campaign during which post office buildings and new rural routes are promised and candidates take a surprisingly keen interest in community problems. The fact that authorities have suddenly found a great deal of merit in our river development projects is, of course, very encouraging. Some day the program now being discussed may materialize.

Minnesota Republicans would make no mistake in sending a Christianson for President delegation to the national convention next year. Ted Christianson has received much favorable publicity thruout the country and he is recognized outside the state as a presidential possibility. Standing on his record as an advocate of economy and efficiency in the administration of public affairs, he would be well qualified to serve as his party's standard bearer in next year's national campaign. There probably will be many native son candidates in the next convention and the roll will be called many times before a candidate is finally selected. In that kind of a convention Ted Christianson, with solid support from Republicans of the Northwest, would have a good chance of being selected. Minnesota certainly would lose no prestige in backing this "native son."

CHEAP!

(Kansas City Star)

The sarcastic comment of Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, that "the state of Kansas has never put up a thin dime for unemployment relief" and that Gov. Landon had been enabled to balance the state budget by "taking it out of the hides of the people" is just the cheap sort of thing that is not at all surprising in view of its source.

When it comes to a process of taking it out of the hides of the people with a vengeance the job can safely be left to Spendthrift Hopkins. But if the lavish administrator was in a mood for frivolous castigation of any state or governor he could have found an abundance of other and far more suitable material at hand, especially in the Democratic south.

Relief money in Kansas has not been put up in the name of the state for the simple and quite sufficient reason that its constitution provides that relief work shall be done by the counties. And the counties of Kansas have responded fully, complying at once with every request of the national relief administration. In a period of three years ending with last June, 31 per cent of the money spent for relief in Kansas came from nonfederal sources. In contrast, twenty-seven of the states contributed less than 25 per cent of their own relief funds, and the contribution from fourteen states amounted to less than 10 per cent.

That is the record and the standing of Kansas. It is the merest quibbling, of course, as to whether the money is put up in the name of the state or of the local subdivisions. And for what peculiar reason should Mr. Hopkins feel called upon to single out Kansas and its governor when there were so many other states and governors—practically all of them within the New Deal party ranks—that were doing much less for relief of their unemployed?

And whose money is it that Mr. Hopkins is spending so freely and with such bombast? Whose, indeed, but that of the states and their taxpayers, including those of Kansas?

The real hides that are touched in this incident are those of the national administrator and his fellow spenders at Washington. It is perfectly understandable that those gentlemen should feel shamefully exposed by the economy and budget showing of Kansas and its governor. That is what really hurts.

THE SPLIT WIDENS

(Montevideo News)

One of the most significant political developments in Minnesota this fall is the open criticism aimed at the American Federation of Labor, biggest organization of working men in the country, by state leaders of the Farmer-Labor party. This attitude again is noted in the week's political comment from the governor's chief spokesman.

A union labor newspaper in St. Paul speaks a sharp warning to the state administration, but the attacks on the labor federation have been so open that it is hard to see how there can be any backing up now. The party leaders have decided to support the insurgent group in the Minneapolis war, and regular union members will have to like it or leave it.

Under the circumstances it is timely to recall the report made by E. G. Hall, then president of the state federation of labor, after the 1933 session of the Minnesota legislature. He said the Senate had passed fourteen labor bills that failed to pass in the House. In that session the Senate was "conservative" and the House was Farmer-Labor. Another labor leader said, "The Senate, which was called conservative, was more liberal on labor measures than the House."

Up in Duluth these things, and others, have brought on formation of a central labor political committee which is going back to the old policy so long and so smartly used under Samuel Gompers of being tied to no party but "supporting friends and opposing enemies" regardless of party.

THE GREAT PROMISER

(Grand Rapids Herald Review)

Upton Sinclair was a recent speaker in Minnesota.

Nearly everyone knows of Upton Sinclair. He comes from California. He ran for governor of that state. His platform was an income for everyone by some kind of readjustment. His plan was one of the many that has been recently proposed. It has similarity to plans which have been tried and proposed in the past. Maybe it has merit. That is not the question.

The thing that was interesting is that Sinclair makes promises. That is all right. After his promises were made the Townsend people came along. They are to get every person over a certain age an income of $200 a month and as years went on the age limit was to be reduced.

The Townsend promises have cut in on the Sinclair followers. Sinclair does not like that. He admits it. He has raised the ante to his followers. His plan will give $400 a month. That is twice what Townsend promises. He says that his followers will soon come back.

If you wish popularity promise something. The promiser is always popular until people ask mean questions or expect results.

In our craze to get to places quickly we lose sight of the fact that as we increase the speed of our automobile we also increase the cost per mile of our travel. The American Automobile Association has made some tests and is authority for the statement that on an average a car driven 80 miles an hour makes only 5.6 miles per gallon of gas; at a speed of 60 miles, 12.6 miles, and at 30 miles per hour, 18 miles per gallon. Think of these cost figures the next time you are tempted to step heavily upon the gas.—Waseca Journal.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

A special session of the Legislature is to assemble on December 2, and another election is in the offing. It is safe to say that the solons will forget the needs of the people long enough to indulge a little—maybe a lot—in the game of politics.

There is sharp division between the conservative and the liberal groups on the question of tax revision. Both are in agreement as to the necessity of revision to reduce the heavy load that real estate is forced to carry. But the former group is in favor of reducing the load on real property by broadening the tax base though imposition of a sales tax, and other like means. The liberal group takes the view that the standard of living of the masses is already too low, and to impose a "tax on poverty" is unjustified from a moral standpoint, and injurious to the average business. Their tax program calls for a tax on wealth instead of a tax on poverty.

In view of the fact that the people have a right to determine this most important question, here is a clear-cut issue upon which the next state campaign can be fought out. The liberals are willing to go before the people with this most vital issue, and stand or fall on the verdict of the electorate. Will the conservatives, perhaps sensing by this time that the sales tax is daily becoming more unpopular, have the courage and the honesty to go before the people with a clear, well-defined stand or will they again indulge in producing smokescreens and confusing the voters?

During the past few years beaver have staged a remarkable comeback in northern Minnesota to the point where a short open season may be beneficial this coming spring, according to A. C. Hanson, director of game and fish. In many localities beaver dams have caused damage to agricultural lands and highways. It is hoped that legislative action can eventually be secured which would permit the conservation commission to open seasons in emergency cases similar to this, Hanson says.

The Department of Insurance has received the approval of two WPA projects employing about 60 persons. One project is set up to work out a new filing and cataloguing system for the Insurance Department so that records for as far back as 20 years will be available on request in five minutes. Hitherto the records were uncatalogued and search for old records has taken as high as three days before traced.

The other project is known as the Fire Marshal Division Research project set up to collect, write and bulletin information for the 646 fire departments of Minnesota. Some of the bulletins to be prepared will furnish information about inspections, arson investigations, farm fire fighting methods, electrical and building code recommendations, suggested small town ordinances, hose layouts, and small town water systems.

This project is designed to aid the volunteer fire departments of Minnesota in collecting a small library of information which will fill a long standing need. In addition, the Fire Marshal division project will work out a key town fill-in system to fight farm fires modelled after the fill-in systems now used by the larger city departments of the state. The Federal Administration has allotted funds which will carry these projects at least four months. The insurance project is under the supervision of Thomas Barlean, actuary for the Insurance Department and the Fire Marshal division project is under the supervision of Dewey W. Johnson, Deputy Commissioner of Insurance and State Fire Marshal.

News and Comment

By R. W. Hitchcock

The Minnesota Legislature will meet in special session next Monday. It will (1) certainly enact a state-wide old age pension law to dovetail with the federal Social Security Act and will (2) probably enact an unemployment insurance measure. Any other conjectures at this time as to the law-making of the session would be pure guesswork except that it seems fairly certain that a comprehensive solution of Minnesota's tax problem must await the regular session a year and one month hence. In both House and Senate the organization set-up of last winter will prevail; the Rules Committees of both chambers will almost certainly be authorized to enforce regulations limiting the matters to be considered by the session.

The extra session of 1912 enacted 14 laws; in 1916 an extra session yielded only 3 laws, two of which were for the session expenses; the 1919 session enacted 65 laws; the 1933 session 85.

Minnesota was honored recently by having its chief justice, John P. Devaney, called in to act as the neutral referee in the settlement of a large number of matters by the Railway Arbitration Board at Chicago. This board consists of five representatives of railway employers and five representatives of railway employees. Since its institution it has been remarkably successful in settling hundreds of grievances and disputes which might otherwise have flared up into serious labor difficulties if not into devastating and deplorable strikes. Matters upon which the board cannot agree are laid aside until a considerable number are accumulated when a neutral referee is called in. Judge Devaney spent three weeks conferring with the board, listening to the various matters on which it was deadlocked and in rendering his decision. Every decision was unanimously accepted by the board. Judge Devaney is enthusiastic about the character and accomplishments of this board of arbitration and thinks that it is a set-up which all other lines of industry might most profitably imitate.

The appeal to prejudice, being the easiest argument to make, and often temporarily the most effective, is that most often made by the thoughtless and the unscrupulous.

Here is an example, appearing in some papers of the state and volubly voiced also by some politicians: "The mining companies of St. Louis County alone are now fighting a $7,500,000 delinquency in the courts. If these big boys would pay up what they can afford to pay the state deficit would drop to almost nothing." This argument is almost 100 per cent pure bunk. It is a grain of truth in a truck load of prejudice.

The delinquency named is inaccurate and excessive and if every cent of it were paid up it would not reduce the state deficit by one penny. The delinquency referred to is purely a delinquency in the range towns and solely concerns the local tax revenues of those towns. The mining industry contends that the range towns are levying excessive and wasteful taxes, taxes which are several times those levied in similar communities thruout the state. Every individual has the right to contest his taxes in the courts if he thinks they are unjust; the mining companies have that right; it is that they are doing. If they were to pay today all that they have withheld, the state's finances would not be improved by so much as a single farthing.

Big fellows undoubtedly are guilty of tax dodging. It's most reprehensible. More power to the Tax Commission if it can catch them at it and make them pay. But doesn't the little fellow dodge, too? And isn't that reprehensible? Chew on this: if all of us little fellows quit dodging and were absolutely on the level with the government in the payment of taxes, the public treasury would be gorged with cash and Dr. Townsend would not have to levy a sales tax to finance his old age pension scheme.

Argument has been made in Minnesota that the $25,000,000 rural credit bonds held by the state, with an average interest rate of 4.113 should be refunded at 3 per cent so that farmers who have rural credit loans may be benefitted. The scheme has looked attractive to many.

Who would benefit? The 7,945 rural credit loans would benefit. Farmers are not paying interest on all of these loans; bankers and mortgage companies would be the beneficiaries in many cases.

How much would they benefit? Inasmuch as the Rural Credit Bureau has $33,000,000 in bonds bearing interest at the average rate of 4.146 which cannot be refunded because they are in the hands of private investors, and only the state's $25,000,000 can be refunded, the net saving to the Rural Credit Bureau and to those farmers who would participate in the benefits would be only .556 per cent or one-half of one per cent.

Who would lose? There are 185,000 other farmers and more than that number of working men who would have to pay.

How much would they lose? They would lose 1.113 per cent interest on $25,000,000 rural credit bonds held by the state, which interest goes to the schools of the state.

If the $25,000,000 rural credit bonds now held by the state were refunded on the open market, the saving in interest to those who held the 7,945 rural credit loans might be slightly more than .556 per cent, but the money market is such (the most recent highway bonds yield only 2¼ per cent) that it would be impossible for the state investment board to invest the $25,000,000 as the state Constitution prohibits loaning at less than 3%, so all of it would lie idle in the treasury and the schools would lose the interest at 4.113 per cent on the entire amount.

Query by State Treasurer Schmahl who is responsible for these figures: Is it wise to extend a small benefit to less than 7,945 farmers at the expense of a much greater loss to the school children of the state?

In his New York speech Governor Olson courageously, robustly and forthrightly sounded the clarion call for a third party, thereby winning the enthusiastic plaudits of the promoters assembled in the aristocratic Astor ballroom, but the governor, with that discretion which is the better part of valor, diplomatically put the proffered crown of 1936 leadership from him, delicately hinting, however, that if the third party movement should develop to a point in 1940 where it really had the goods, he might then consent to ride triumphantly at the head of the procession.

The Minnesota Leader, whose purpose in publication seems to be to misrepresent facts, figures and conditions of the state government, wins new laurels in this endeavor in its issue of November 16th with a "story" about the Minnesota state debt—a bedtime story evidently designed to quiet the taxpayer's sorely frazzled nerves and lull him to slumber. In the Leader's long list of misrepresentations in this story it ignores, except for the bare mention of a portion of it, the huge state deficit that has been piled up since 1930. The state auditor announces that this deficit as of October 31, 1935 is $14,643,877.40 as follows: cash over draft $3,701,285.20, warrants outstanding $145,199.93, temporary borrowing $6,000,000, due University $2,100,000, and the following now temporarily in the general revenue fund but which must be paid out for various specific purposes—liquor license taxes $1,871,647.16, motor vehicle taxes $297,296.57, Minnesota General Hospital $26,901.74, cigarette licenses $155,000, indigent patients $16,209.40. There are now no funds available or in sight from which this huge deficit, totaling almost $15,000,000, not a thin dime of which existed in 1930, may be paid except tax delinquencies which are being realized upon very slowly in very small amounts.

Feed to Produce Good Steer

A steer placed in the feed lots will consume 50 bushels of corn, 1,000 pounds of hay and 200 pounds of meal or cottonseed cake before he goes to market as prime beef. He will do well to yield 60 per cent of his live weight in the form of beef.

His First Christmas

by
Earle Hooker Eaton

RING up the Pole and telephone
Without a moment's pause,
Or by the wireless make it known
To dear old Santa Claus,
That Papa's Boy and Mama's Joy,
And Sister's Precious Mite,
While glad bells clang will gaily hang
His stocking up tonight!

"Ting-ling! Ting-ling! Hello, hello!
Is that you Santa, dear?
Be sure your reindeer hear your 'Whoa'!
When you are passing here.
What's that? You'll come and bring a drum,
A jumping-jack and ball,
And other toys for little boys?
Dear Saint, you're best of all!"

'Tis Christmas morn, and to his shop
Old Santa hammered flies.
'Tis five o'clock, but open pop
The baby's roguish eyes.
We're dead for sleep, but out we creep,
And dress at once to get
What Santa kind, has left behind
For Toddlekins, our pet.

From Pole to Pole there's surely not
A babe more pleased than he.
And how he crows, the happy tot,
And gurgles in his glee.
The jumping-jack, the ducks that quack,
The drum, the horns, the ball,
The chicks that peep, the horse, the sheep,
He tries to eat them all!

On this his first glad Christmas lark,
The toys with blocks he pelts,
He makes old Noah wish the Ark
Had landed somewhere else!
A soldier blue he breaks in two,
A puncture gives the drum,
He fills the air with legs and hair,
And then—he sucks his thumb!

The Sand-Man's surely come to town,
And soft in mother's lap;
Clear up the wreck and snuggle down,
'Tis time to take a nap.
Then rock-a-bye, close each blue eye,
Rest, my darling, rest!
(He's fast asleep, with baby sheep Hugged tight against his breast!)

Mexico, D. F., Important

Mexico, D. F., is the center of the stage in Mexico. As the former Aztec capital it was situated on flower fringed islands in the midst of a lofty lake. Here Cortez found Montezuma in 1519, a proud native ruler, surrounded by a people and culture isolated from the rest of the world. Independently this race had developed schools and temples, a religion and a civilization. And back of the Aztecs were other great civilizations.

SEVERN BRANDON GETS BEST SCORE IN BOWLING LOOP

Makes 282 Count Last Week; Bratrud Clinics Still Lead League

Bowling last Wednesday evening in a series in which the Grain Belts won two out of three games from the Glucks, Severn Brandon of the former team set the high mark for the past week with a score in one game of 282.

The Land O'Lakes Friday evening won two out of three from the Borchert & Johnson team, Douglass Booren, 192, and Carl Olson, 207, making the best scores. Monday evening the Land O'Lakes team again won two out of three from the Hamms, Booren, 180, and Randall Noper, 188, leading in the scoring. The Grain Belts Tuesday evening made it three straight from the Bridgemans, scoring honors going to Emil Dostal, 200, and Francis Stilt, 161.

Playing at Crookston Sunday afternoon against the Vikings of this city, a five-man local team won a three-game series by a score of 2,566 to 2,148. Du-Champ was high for the locals with a total score of 580, while Simpson led for Crookston with 581.

Jobs for Unemployed Young People Supplied Thru Youth Movement

Unemployed young people, between the ages of 16 and 25 years and out of school, who wish to become eligible for work under the "Youth" movement, are urged to register at once with the nearest National Re-employment office, according to word received at the seventh district WPA office at Detroit Lakes, from George A. Selke, State "Youth" Director.

Mr. Selke reports that an additional $247,000 in federal funds have been made available for the employment of Minnesota youths, and that an expanded work program to include community development and community leadership, rural youth development, public service training projects and research projects is now being prepared and scheduled to begin about December the 15th. "It is imperative", Mr. Selke stated, "that young people should register at once if they are to be considered for work under the National Youth Administration Program."

The youth administration is now assisting 7,428 persons in the various educational institutions of the state. On the payroll are 4,100 high school students, 2,228 college students and 97 graduate students. The average earnings of college students is $15 a month, while high school students receive $6 a month.

Dr. Judd of Mayo Clinic Passes Away in Chicago

Dr. Edward Starr Judd, 57 years old, chief of the surgical staff of the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., died of pneumonia Saturday, at the Presbyterian hospital in Chicago. He was a former president of the American Medical association. Dr. Judd was stricken while enroute east to visit his sons. He was taken to the hospital Monday and for a time appeared to be recovering, physicians said, but then had a relapse.

JUDGING EVENTS FEATURE VALLEY WINTER SHOWS

Annual Event Gets Under Way in Crookston February 3, 1936

Final plans have been announced for the annual Red River Valley Winter Shows livestock judging contests which will be held on the opening day of the short course in Crookston, February 3, 1936. Separate contests will be held for sub-collegiate schools of agriculture, Smith-Hughes high schools, 4-H clubs, and farmers' clubs. According to R. J. Christgau, supervisor in charge, the outlook for increased entries in all divisions of the contest is very good, due in part to the marked improvement in livestock conditions.

As in the past, winning teams will receive awards in the form of silver loving cups, with ribbons for first, second, and third place groups. In addition, the various breed associations are offering special prizes to individual winners.

In the sub-collegiate contest, entries are expected from the Central School Agriculture, St. Paul; South Dakota State School of Agriculture, Brookings; West Central School of Agriculture, Morris; North Central School of Agriculture, Grand Rapids; Walsh County School of Agriculture, Park River, N. Dak.; Manitoba Agricultural School, Winnipeg, and the Northwest School team, coached by O. M. Kiser, animal husbandman. Members of the Northwest School squad who will make a strong bid to retain the cup this year include Leland Hanson, Twin Valley; Martin Hanson, Thief River Falls; Noel Hanson, Detroit Lakes; LeRoy Peterson, Thief River Falls; Harlan Pester, Crookston; Omer Neslund, Oklee; Earl Newhouse, Crookston; Glenn Tasa, Trail; and Clifford Sauer, Glyndon.

In the high school division, the Park Rapids high school has established a unique record of eight consecutive championships. This school is expected to enter again this year, with other entries expected from Bemidji, Fosston, McIntosh, Grand Rapids, Bagley, Ulen and Barnesville.

The Farmers' Club contest was won last year by the Beltrami Boosters, Polk County, and this club is working hard to duplicate last year's victory. Many farmers' clubs are expected to enter teams in this contest.

The 4-H branch of the contest has been growing steadily year by year. Representatives from all northwestern counties are expected to contest Hubbard County's right to possession of the cup for another year.

SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE OPENS ON MONDAY

Most drastic of his proposals for increased taxes with which to finance the social security program is one that $500,000,000 of realty mortgages, now paying merely a nominal mortgage registry tax, be classified as moneys and credits, and that the moneys and credits rate be doubled, to 6 mills. Inclusion of the mortgages would raise $3,000,000 at that rate.

The governor estimates his old-age pension plan will cost the state $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 annually, with the federal government contributing an additional $5,000,000 to $6,000,000.

He also urged appropriation of $3,000,000 additional school aid, to be raised partly by a sharp increase in income tax rates.

The chief executive also recommended:

Substantial increase in the inheritance tax, the state to take all income from it instead of returning part to the counties.

Substantial increases in the gross earnings taxes on telephone companies and railroads, in the iron mining royalty and occupational taxes, and in the chain store tax.

Repeal of the present corporate excess tax law, and substitution for it of a new law levying a 20-mill tax on corporate excesses of public utilities only.

Giving the state exclusive jurisdiction over the moneys and credits tax, and all returns from it.

That $2,500,000 additional be raised through the income tax, half to be given as school aid, the other half to go to reducing debts of school districts.

THIEVES LOOT STORE AS OWNER LOOKS ON

LeRoy—Four well-dressed men, apparently drunken hoodlums rather than holdup artists, stole several articles of clothing and walked out while the helpless owner looked on at LeRoy recently. The men entered the store of E. L. Corsen on a Saturday night about 11 p. m. when Mrs. Corsen was alone, about to close for the night. When they began to pick up gloves, shirts, socks and other articles, Mrs. Corsen protested. One of them replied with an oath, and the four walked to a large car and sped away. Mrs. Corsen said she saw no evidence for guns on the thieves, but detected a strong odor of liquor on them. The men made no effort to loot the cash register.

GAME WARDENS 'GET GOAT' AND STEAK FROM CITIZEN

Warroad.—Game wardens of the Warroad area certainly "got the goat" of a prominent local citizen. But 'sall right for—they did not keep it long. In fact it was right back where it belonged on a curing hook at the Warroader's home the next day, even though it was minus a steak cut off for a test. The citizen killed his goat for meat and hung it up to freeze in plain view of passersby. It might easily have been a small deer, and wardens, amazed at the open display promptly seized it as such, spurred by the fact that illegal hunting has been widespread here. Taken to headquarters, one warden discovered the mistake when he had a local hotel cook a sample steak. One bite told the story and the carcass was "unseized" as quickly as it had been confiscated.

ED WIDSETH FETED AT CROOKSTON FOR FOOTBALL RECORD

N. W. School Honors McIntosh Young Man, Gopher Co-Captain

Edwin Widseth, McIntosh, recently elected co-captain of the University of Minnesota Golden Gophers, was a Red River Valley visitor during the past week-end. He joined faculty and students of his alma mater at the Northwest School of Agriculture for the annual Thanksgiving dinner enroute to the home farm near McIntosh. Ed returned to the Northwest School campus Saturday where he received an ovation as he arose to address the students at the regular assembly. During the evening he was feted at a banquet by the Crookston Association of Public Affairs with the Northwest School and Crookston high school football teams and coaches as guests.

Widseth has had a most remarkable career, having led his teammates at the Northwest School to three state School of Agriculture championships and served as captain during his final year, following which he was voted the most valuable man on the squad. Coach R. J. Christgau considered Widseth the most promising football prospect that had ever come to his attention either as coach of undergraduate athletes or as a member of the University of Minnesota football team during his college days.

Widseth has the unusual combination of size, speed, punting and passing ability, together with a love for the game and the cooperative team spirit that is the joy of every coach. Under the tutelage of Bernie Bierman, Minnesota's great coach, Ed has had the honor of placing on two national championship teams, of being designated a member of the all "Big 10" team two years in succession, of being elected co-captain for the coming year, and has been prominently mentioned as an All American candidate this season.

KIDS SHOOT GIRL IN HEAD WHEN 'HOLD-UP' SCORNED

Perham—Shot by two 10-year old boys to whom she refused a penny in a mock hold-up, Elizabeth Schoeneberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Schoeneberger, Perham, was in serious condition when a round copper ball penetrated her scalp. With several companions of her own age, Elizabeth was on her way to the public library. William Hauch and Paul Preuss, two small boys, stopped them and demanded a penny for some candy. The girls refused to take the "hold-up" seriously, and laughingly continued on their way. The boys followed at a distance, and one of them raised a blank cartridge pistol and fired in the direction of the girls. The missle hit the Schoeneberger girl on the side of the head near the crown. The girls fled to the library, where the librarian summoned the marshal and the Schoenebergers. The child was taken to the hospital, where the bullet was extracted. It had not fractured the skull.

Founded the Circus

The circus was founded about 150 years ago by an Englishman, Philip Astley. On leaving the army, he married an expert horsewoman, and with his own ability plus a white charger given him by his general and with a horse that he bought, he set up business in an open field in London, and from his efforts the circus as known today grew.

Beef Cattle Promise to Give Good Returns Next Year, 'U' Farm Man Says

Favorable prices for beef cattle during 1936 appear almost certain, owing to reduced numbers, the short supply of meat in the country, and prospects of increased payrolls for industry. These are points stressed by J. B. McNulty, extension agricultural economist, University Farm, St. Paul, who has aided in preparing the 1936 Agricultural Outlook Report for Minnesota.

Beef cattle numbers in the United States were reduced much more than dairy cattle numbers as a result of the 1934 drouth and are now about the same as for 1929 and 1930, says Mr. McNulty. While beef cattle likely will increase substantially by 1937, not enough increase can take place in 1936 to affect the domestic beef supply materially. Imports of cattle and beef next year are not likely to be large enough to affect significantly the total supply or price of beef.

"Prices for grain-fed cattle are likely to decline somewhat after the first quarter of 1936," Mr. McNulty says, "because of increased supplies, but prices of low grade cattle may average as high in 1936 as in 1935, because of the short supply of all meat.

"Over a period of years, conditions on the larger farms in the surplus feed sections of Minnesota are favorable to an expansion of beef production as rapidly as large supplies of alfalfa hay and other roughages, and of sweet clover and other pasture become available at low cost. However persons who buy breeding herds at present prices may find that when they have cattle ready for market, the total meat supply of the country will be decidedly larger than at present."

Minnesota Ranks Fifth in Bang's Testing Work

Minnesota ranks fifth among the 48 states in the proportion of cattle enrolled in the Bang's disease (contagious abortion) eradication program.

A map recently issued by the United States Department of Agriculture shows that about 20.32 per cent of all Minnesota cows and heifers one year old or older are now under federal supervision for the control of Bang's disease. Wisconsin ranks fourth, with about 21.31 per cent of its female cattle one year old or older under such supervision. Oregon ranks first with a percentage of 40.96; Virginia, second, with 23.41, and Washington third, with 22.84. Every state is now participating in the program.

A total of 437,949 Minnesota cows and heifers one year old or older were under federal supervision for the control of this disease October 1.

GOOSE APPEARS AFTER TWO DAYS UNDER ICE

Rochester—There is a goose—a very silly goose residing on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. August Karau, six miles north of Rochester—that recently chose to live in icy water for two days. It all happened the other day when the pond on the Karau farm froze over while 16 geese slept on the pond's surface. As he was trying to extract the shivering geese from their plight the next morning, Herman Karau, father of August, saw one of the 16 dive under the ice. And under the ice he stayed for 44 hours, despite all the coaxing of Mr. Karau. Two days later, the tale doth go, Mr. Karau on one of his trips to the pond to find the goose, heard triumphant squawking. The goose appeared after being under the ice for almost 48 hours.

PHEASANT HIDES IN STORE

Hutchinson—On the Tuesday which marked the close of the pheasant hunting season at Hutchinson, one hen was taking no chances on falling prey to hunters at the last minute. A pheasant hen was discovered on Tuesday morning trying to find grass under the cars along the main street in which to hide. The hen then crossed the street and entered a department store, where the partners caught the frightened bird and turned it over to the game warden for release.

PRESIDENT URGES CITIZENS TO BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS

Asks Support for Campaign to Wipe out Tuberculosis

The cooperation of every man, woman and child in the twenty-ninth annual Christmas Seal campaign to raise funds to continue the fight against tuberculosis is urged by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in an appeal just issued. He says of the Christmas Seal:

"The appeal deserves the serious consideration of everyone, for tuberculosis continues to be the Nation's foremost public health problem—especially among the young. It is imperative that protective measures which have been found effective in preventing further spread of the disease shall be continued unabated.

"Leadership in the work of carrying out these protective measures is given by the National Tuberculosis Association and its two thousand affiliated units throughout the country. Their work has been of special value during the past five years when Federal, State and Municipal administrations were extended to the limit in caring for those who turned to them for aid.

"The cooperation of every man, woman and child, every organized group and every governmental official is needed in order to bring this dread disease under control. It is properly the duty of each local community to raise the funds for its own protection. Christmas Seals give everyone an opportunity to do his part. The funds are spent in all communities in which they are raised for the protection of all. The need is great."

Christmas Seals are now on sale in every town and rural school district in Minnesota.

Red Lake Refuge Caribou May Fall Prey to Wolves

The last few caribou remaining in the United States, a group of about eight in the Red Lake Game refuge, may fall prey to wolves, says Gustav Swanson, biologist of the division of game and fish.

"Canada still has many caribou" said Mr. Swanson, "but so far as we know the animals on our refuge are the only ones remaining in the United States

"Wolves have destroyed a considerable number of our caribou in the past few years. We are trying to save those that remain by employing a trapper to trap wolves on the refuge. If the wolves are not destroyed, our caribou will be completely extinct within a very few years."

Earnings of Soo Line Improve During October

Improved business conditions in the northwest were reflected in the Soo Line statement for October, it was announced last week in Minneapolis. Total revenues for month were $1,709,339.01, compared with $1,287,290.42 for October, 1934. Net operating income was $581,449.02, compared with $311,808.98, and net for month showed an income of $60,027.33, compared with deficit of $192,890.91 in October last year. For first 10 months of 1935 total revenues were $11,208,987.53, compared with $10,653,307.59 in corresponding period last year. Net operating income was $663,007.12, compared with $756,795.37, and net deficit was $4,370,743.81, compared with $4,241,259.84.

PORKER BITES OFF THUMB OF WOULD-BE BUTCHER

Clarkfield — Edwin Anthony is minus a thumb as a result of helping a neighbor to get some fresh chops for Armistice Day. The animal had been shot and Anthony was getting ready to bleed it when Mr. Pig made one last lunge and snapped the butcher's thumb off slick and clean at the first joint.

TAX DELINQUENCY BIG PROBLEM FOR SPECIAL SESSION

Taxpayers Group Says State Is Facing Critical Situation

With important tax decisions to make, the special session of the Minnesota legislature is faced with one of the most urgent problems in tax delinquency. Delinquency solutions call for "must" legislation, according to a statement issued today by the Minnesota Taxpayers Association.

Never before in Minnesota history has there been such a high percentage of tax delinquency as in the past few years. So serious is the problem that accumulated delinquencies in the state now reach the all-time record of $90,000,000. Tax penalties and interest amount to another $50,000,000. Delinquency and penalties together reach $140,000,000, the State Association reveals.

Comparative growth in tax delinquency in the state is as follows:

Year	Percentage Delinquency
1927	6.77
1928	6.77
1929	7.74
1930	9.52
1931	15.79
1934	20.18
1935	19.60

It is obvious that when taxes become 20 per cent delinquent, the deficiency is made up by increasing tax levies 20 per cent as an offset.

If the special session is to make new appropriations, delinquent collections offer one way to get the money.

A serious and growing menace is tax delinquency which calls for a major operation. The situation has not been improved by previous emergency legislation and "shots-in-the-arm" because it did not get at the sales or settlements which merely penalize the prompt taxpayer and do not eliminate the delinquency peril.

A systematic plan of payments over a period of years would make it possible to clear up titles to land, would dispose of present uncertainties, would bring in accounts long past due, and would stir the dormant and repressed taxpayer to action, because he could see his way out, and because the easy-payment play would give him hope of eventually getting the old bill out of the way.

Action on this problem is needed at the special session. Delay will make the situation more serious. "It is idle to step-up tax levies when we have such difficulty in collecting the present levies," James P. McDonnell, president of the association stated in commenting on the urgent need for results in the special session.

"More taxes and we will have more delinquency. More delinquency will be followed by higher levies and more penalties. Tax delinquency is like creeping paralysis: it paralyzes both the government and the taxpayer. More paralysis will not effect a cure; it may kill the patient. If delinquency is the trouble, why not deal with delinquency? Give the taxpayer a chance to pay up his old bills and he will get in shape to pay his current bills regularly. Every dollar of old taxes that comes in ought to reduce the new levies by that amount. Collecting old taxes is one way to reduce new levies." Mr. McDonnell pointed out.

It is said that Finland's payment of her war debts has resulted in increasing American tourist travel by 50 per cent. American travelers naturally want to see one of the wonders of the world.—Arkansas Gazette.

Good King Wenceslas

Good King Wenceslas, immortalized in the well-known carol, was really a Bohemian prince who died in A. D. 935. His name should properly be spelt "Wenceslaus." He was famous for his great kindness to the poor and needy. When, in September, A. D. 935, he was killed by his brother, Boleslav, the people of the country were heartbroken. He is still regarded as their patron saint.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Cough Loses Band Job for Clarinet Player

"At our big concert I was playing a difficult cadenza when, without warning, a cough forced me to break down in the middle of the passage. As a result I was dismissed from the band after the concert. If I had only known of Thoxine before this happened!" Druggists everywhere recommend Thoxine for coughs due to colds and for ordinary sore throat. It now contains an expectorant which helps to loosen germ-carrying phlegm while sore tissues are soothed. No harmful drugs. Safe for children or adults. Insist on Thoxine—only 35c. J. & B. Children's Colds Should Have This Safe Treatment

IT AVOIDS CONSTANT "DOSING"

There's nothing like a child's cold to upset a young mother. And mothers of two generations, anxious to help end colds, have depended on Vicks VapoRub. It is effective—external—and safe. It avoids the risks of constant "dosing," so often upsetting to children's delicate digestions.

Just rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime, VapoRub acts two ways at once:

1. By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster—
2. By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapors, released by body heat and breathed in direct to inflamed air-passages.

Continuing through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion.

A Practical Guide for Mothers

Each year, more and more families are being helped to fewer colds and shorter colds by Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Vicks Plan has been clinically tested by practicing physicians, and further proved in everyday home use by millions. Full details of the Plan in each package of Vicks VapoRub.

PROWLERS DOWN GREENBUSH BY 34-18 SCORE

Mickleson Stars for Local Quint by Scoring Twelve of Total Counters

In the season's opener on Friday the Prowlers came out victorious over a fighting Greenbush team by a score of 34-18. The Prowlers motored to Greenbush to engage in their first basketball combat of the season.

The Greenbush five played hard throughout the entire game, and they showed considerable more pep and fight than did the Prowlers. The Prowler's victory was gained mainly by Captain Mickleson's deadly aim. The game was characterized by poor ball handling, which was due mostly to early season nervousness.

The Prowlers ran the score up to ten to two soon after the game started but were held to four points while Greenbush made five the remainder of the half. The score at half time stood 14-7. In the second half the Prowlers started strong and kept an eight point lead throughout the third quarter, after which they ran it up to 14, then 16, and the game ended 34-18.

The man who gave the Prowlers the most trouble were Swanstrom, the big center, and Tranogarude, a flashy forward. For the Prowlers Captain Mickleson was easily the best, and he stood out as the best player on either team.

AMONG THE 600

Thanksgiving is over! Almost everybody who is back at school has a contented look on his face, although there are some who have a twisted countenance—probably from overeating. Even though the students and faculty have been eating a great deal, they are looking forward to Christmas with a great deal of enthusiasm. By Monday morning school was again in full swing.

Half of the junior class is now working on library lessons. The lessons were handed out last Tuesday by Miss Leavitt for one week's work.

For the past month the English IV classes have been doing preparatory work for orations. Thirty references are necessary in order to give a complete ten-minute oration. The seniors are already giving their speeches, commencing last Monday.

Tickets for the forthcoming basketball games went on sale Tuesday. These tickets may be purchased in Mr. Claffy's office for 75 cents each. This sale price is also offered to the Junior High School. There will be eight games, all of which are double headers. Mr. Claffy urges the purchasing of the tickets, otherwise the student price will be twenty cents for each game.

Let's get behind this movement and buy our basketball tickets now. The Prowlers need our support.

FAUBELL DUO GIVE PROGRAM

Fourth Assembly Program to be Presented Thursday

The fourth in a series of Northwest Assembly programs will be presented Thursday evening, Dec. 5, at eight o'clock in the City Auditorium. It is called the "Faubell Novelty Hour." This program consists of singing, impersonations, selections played on a musical saw, a one woman band, ventriloquism, and selections on a guitar. Their are two people in this company, Gladys Faubell and Frances Davis. Miss Faubell, who is the manager, is the impersonater. Miss Davis sings and plays guitar accompaniment. They are rated very highly and will provide an evening of laughs and enjoyment.

Admission is 20 cents for adults and 10 cents for students. High school students will be admitted upon presentation of their assembly tickets.

ETIQUETTE

I recently received what one would call the "lowdown" on what a boy likes to find out about a girl.

These points all go to make up the kind of girl a boy likes to pal around with.

First: A rather attractive girl, not painted, but natural looking with a warm, congenial smile and nice teeth.

Second: Neat in appearance and graceful.

Third: A fairly good dancer, not fancy, but one who can follow.

Fourth: A good sport. One who is ready for anything that might come up.

Fifth: Not a clinging vine; that is, not one who is afraid to go for a walk, for example, without taking cold.

Sixth: One who is a good conversationalist, but that can listen, also.

Seventh: One who is ready on time when a boy calls for her.

Eighth: One who has a good reputation and who goes with a reputable crowd.

Ninth: One who is quiet and reserved, rather than loud and vulgar.

Tenth: One who has a sense of humor and who makes use of it at the right time.

Those are characteristics which every girl is expected to possess, if she intends to be well-liked and respected.

PROWLERS TO PLAY PLUMMER HERE THIS FRIDAY EVE

St. Hilaire to Oppose Second Team in First Home Game of 35-36 Season

Tomorrow evening at the auditorium the Prowlers will play their first home game of the season against the Plummer High School cage team.

So far this year Plummer has been very successful against the smaller teams in this vicinity while the locals won their first game of the year with Greenbush by a score of 34-18.

The second team will play St. Hilaire as an opener.

To raise money for purchasing athletic equipment the school has put on sale brass basketballs to put on car licenses. They are colored gold with the words "Boost Thief River Falls Prowlers" in blue. They are being sold for twenty-five cents and everyone is urged to help out by buying at least one.

SENIORS WILL SPONSOR SALES

Seniors Will Sell Cold Snaps at B. B. Games

Beginning this Friday night and continuing throughout the entire basketball season, the seniors will sponsor a sale of ice-cream bars at all basketball games played in town. Victor Jung, senior class president, will be in charge of all sales. He will be assisted by a group of seniors and members of the pep squad.

The ice-cream bars will be sold at a cost of five cents apiece. This should enable everyone to purchase at least one, so save your pennies and nickles and bring them out of their boarding place on Friday night. You'll be helping a worthy cause.

The profit that is secured from these sales will be placed in the senior class treasury. Together with other profits, this money is intended to provide a bigger and better Prowler for the present school year. The seniors need the support of every student. You'll be doing your part by purchasing ice-cream bars.

Presenting: 1935-1936 Prowlers

The Lincoln High Prowlers, through their opening game with Greenbush, are now aware of their faults. Despite the expected nervousness of the green material, the Gold and Blue played good ball through parts of last Friday's game. At times they handled themselves like champions; more often they were erratic.

Tomorrow evening the Prowlers display their ability before the local sports fans. Will they get a "square deal" from the crowd? Criticize if you will; it is your privilege; but in your criticism, remember the team on the floor before you is not being hailed as State Champs after the first practice. They are a team that is taking each hurdle as it comes.

Formerly, with the abundance of "naturals" on our high school team, it was just a matter of waiting for State Tournament time. This year it will take lots of work and careful training, both on and off the basketball floor. Give them your support; they need it this year more than ever.

Keeping up with our opponents: Bemidji upset by Cass Lake 26-27! There is a pair of tough opponents for us! We play Cass Lake here December 20. Don't miss one!

More next week!

GYM GEMS

Tramp, tramp, tramp, the puppets are marching—not pupets, but gals in their clean starched gym suits. This stiffness was soon gone because Miss Helquist thinks that pounds accumulated during "Turkey Day" vacation should not remain. (Girls, you must keep your figures.)

Those gals striving for the "gold L" goal will be thrilled when they hear one point an hour is gained by ice skating.

Ah, and don't forget you people that this Tuesday freshmen and sophomores start the volleyball tournament (this is written before the tournament), so we'll let you hear the outcome next week. So—until next week this is your reporter signing off. I'll be seeing you!

Denmark Has Many Islands

Surrounded as it is by the sea on nearly all sides, Denmark possesses a wealth of islands and peninsulas, verdure-clad islets and woodclad points and promontories. It is a fair and fertile land composed of the islands, Zealand and Funen, and the peninsula of Jutland.

SENIOR'S WHO'S WHO

Name: Helen Granum
Nickname: Granny.
Age: 17.
Hobby: Picking things up (sounds like some criminal offense but it's really quite innocent)
Favorite popular song: "A Little Bit Independent".
Favorite popular orchestra: Glenn Gray.
Favorite sport: Tennis
Favorite subject: English
Favorite pastime: Playing popular music.
Favorite actor and actress: Robert Taylor, Claudette Colbert.
Favorite movie: "Naughty Marietta".
Pet peeve: Being locked out.
Best-liked book and author: "Lighted Windows" by Temple Bailey.
Choice dessert: Pineapple sherbert
Future ambition: Learn to swim.
Inspiration: Stevens college

Helen was born September 10, 1918. She has participated in several extra-curricular activities such as the Junior class play '34, operetta '34, chorus and as accompanist for chorus, glee clubs, etc. She enjoys "In the Corner" found in the Minneapolis Star.

Name: Douglass Hess
Nickname: "Bugs"
Age: 17
Hobby: Radio
Favorite popular song: "I'm On a See Saw"
Favorite popular orchestra: Ina Mae Hutton (if he goes to Minneapolis in the near future we all know why.)
Favorite sport: Boxing
Farovite subject: American History.
Favorite pastime: Bowling

Pet peeve: Arguing.
Best liked author and book: "Why We Behave Like Human Beings" by Dorsey.
Choice Dessert: Little dicks.
Future ambition: To eat one hundred hamburgers.
Inspiration: Wimpy.

Douglass has taken part in football and interclass basketball. He certainly must enjoy Popeye and Wimpy because of the fact that he hopes to accomplish the feat of consuming one hundred hamburgers.

Name: Lucille Holmgren
Nickname: Lucy
Age: 17
Hobby: Collecting articles on football and basketball (I wonder why)
Favorite popular song: "Red Sails in the Sunset".
Favorite popular orchestra: Eddie Duchin
Favorite sport: Skating
Favorite subject: Not partial (that's what I would consider "good tact")
Favorite pastime: Reading
Favorite actor and actress: Robert Taylor and Claudette Colbert.
Favorite movie: "She Married Her Boss"
Pet peeve: State exams.
Best liked book and author: "Saturday's Child" by Kathleen Norris.
Choice dessert: cocoanut cream pie.
Future ambition: To gain confidence in myself.
Inspiration: Mr. Montague.

Lucille was born on May 17, 1918. Her birthstone is an emerald. She has taken part in several activities such as chorus, girls' glee club, pep squad, and operetta '34. She favors Dagwood and Blondie in the Tribune (who doesn't?) Her pet expression is, "Don't Kid Yourself."

Santa Claus Is Popular

"Dat gen'l'man Mistah Santa Claus," said Uncle Eben, "is sho' popular. Nobody else could carry around so much valuables wifout sooner or later bein' hijacked."

The Genuine Christmas

Poets write beautiful Christmas carols, but a child's laugh is Christmas itself.

SECOND PERIOD HONOR ROLL ANNOUNCED

Total of 105 Students Make Honor Roll; Freshmen and Sophomores Top List

The second period report cards were distributed to the students on November 27, the day before Thanksgiving vacation. A grand total of 105 Lincoln High School students made the honor roll. 26 freshmen, 26 sophomores, 23 juniors and 20 seniors are included in this list.

Uses Christmas Seal Doll In Tuberculosis Talks

The march of tuberculosis events since the days of 1860, represented by the girl of this year's Christmas Seal, is being reviewed in a series of lectures throughout the state by Dr. Kathleen Jordan, speaker for the Minnesota Public Health Association. The doll pictured above was dressed by Doctor Jordan and is being used in all her talks.

"The girl of the 1860's never heard of tuberculosis," says Doctor Jordan, "but she knew about Consumption. She knew that it was a hopeless disease that sometimes took entire families and that no one knew its cause. Today we have sufficient knowledge to completely control the disease, and only one person is dying to three who died at the beginning of this century."

Dates of important events in the battle against tuberculosis since 1860 include: 1882, discovery of the germ that causes tuberculosis; 1885, establishment of the first sanatorium in the United States; 1895, discovery of the x-ray; 1904, Christmas Seal idea originated and the National Tuberculosis Association organized; 1920-25, tuberculin skin tests perfected; 1903, first preventorium established for children.

"Mutiny on the Bounty" is a dramatic moving picture which is being shown at the Avalon theater December 5, 6, and 7. All high school students are advised to see this picture because of its historical value.

In the cast, which includes many players, Clark Gable, Charles Laughton, and Franchot Tone are outstanding.

TEACHERS SPEND RECESS AT HOME

Most of Faculty Members Observe Holiday Here

Now that school has been resumed we all want to know what the teachers did during their Thanksgiving vacation.

Miss Greenland stayed in Thief River Falls and "enjoyed herself".

Mr. Johnson went to Minot and visited his wife's relatives.

Mr. Mayer-Oakes stayed here and rested and did many odd jobs.

Miss Parsons spent Thanksgiving at her home in Northfield, where she had a "very nice time."

Miss Olson spent her vacation at her home in Warroad.

Miss Dahlen "just stayed at home and ate and slept."

Mr. Lanning spent his vacation in North Dakota, where he was kept busy eating turkey and sleeping.

Mr. Pope, Mr. Orwell and Mr. Claffy all stayed in Thief River Falls.

Miss Tandberg "just stayed home."

Miss Steenerson spent Thanksgiving Day with her sister at Halstad. The rest of her vacation was spent at her home in Moorhead.

Miss Deibel spent her vacation in Duluth.

Miss Wise spent her vacation in Hibbing, visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Carlson.

"Reading a stack of magazines and eating two turkeys" was how Miss Helquist spent her vacation.

Miss Leavitt stayed here and did "some forty dozen things" she wanted to get done.

Mr. Montague spent his vacation at his home in Willmar.

BOY SCOUTS OF THIS DISTRICT TO PRESENT CONCERT

H. C. Rowland of N. Dak., Will Direct Chorus of Two Hundred Boys Dec. 8

Under the direction of Mr. H. C. Rowland, director of the University of North Dakota Music Department, a chorus of 200 boy scouts from the Lake Agassiz District will sing in a concert to be held in Grand Forks on Sunday afternoon, at two-thirty. They will be presented as a feature of the District Scoutmaster's Council. The concert will take place in the Woodworth auditorium.

Mr. Rowland has asked the support of each supervisor in towns of this district to select a balanced group. Miss Springen has chosed the following boys to represent Thief River Falls: Lawrence Swanson, Clifford Olson, Charles Orme, Donald Pederson, Billy Claffy, Gordon Holte, Russell Williams, Dalwen Hovie, Dennis Urdahl and Iver Aaseby.

The rehearsals for the concert will be held on Friday, December sixth, at four p. m. in the Junior High School. On Saturday, Dec. 7, rehearsals will be held in the Woodworth Auditorium at nine-thirty p. m. and one-thirty a. m.

LINCOLN HIGH TIMES

During Thanksgiving vacation a certain Progress reporter has been eavesdropping and has found out some "true confessions" that the junior stars have admitted.

Brunell's eyes are blue, not brown.

Bob. W. isn't as bad looking as he said he was.

Marjorie M. would still like to wrap Milt N. around her little finger.

Milt is very, very glad that he isn't the hen-pecked husband.

"Tat" M. loves to listen to J. Peterson's stories.

Aside from the "Seven Chances"—Roger W. and Pomeroy H. were arguing whose reputation was the most talked of!

It seems that the teachers like it when a janitor has a birthday, because one of the janitors had a birthday last Monday and all the teachers went to his birthday party.

Since Art N. went to Greenbush for basketball Friday night we hear that he thinks Greenbush girls are more attractive than T. R. F., (Come, come Art, where's your patriotism?)

And the Alice F.—Aloysius R. romance seems to be weathering the storm at this writing.

A new romance seems to have originated from the Masonic-Eastern Star party, namely Phil P. and Vivian W.

Also it appears Bennie D. likes the way Ralph N. dances.

And our high school Romeo, Dayton S. certainly falls. (Especially for Peggy P.)

We bet Yvonne A. enjoyed Thanksgiving vacation with Art D. home.

We wonder if Harriet O'H thinks Warren is the same after her fight with Bob S. Thursday.

And so on far into the night——

Benjamin Kass, of Newark, N. J., 43 years old, has undergone 65 operations.

It Happens Every 30 Seconds

There are half minutes without marriages—and others with several—but on the average such ceremonies take place about every 30 seconds in the United States. Weddings mean new homes—and new homes increase the demand for telephone service.

In proportion to population, Americans telephone nine times as much as Europeans. The United States has more than half of the world's telephones and the best and cheapest telephone service in the world.

The telephone needs of our customers are met better and at less cost because of the Bell System organization, which includes the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Bell Telephone Laboratories, the Western Electric Company, and 24 associated operating companies of which this Company is one.

As a part of the Bell System, this Company receives from the American Telephone and Telegraph Company expert advice and assistance in every phase of the telephone business, including research work, the design and manufacture of equipment and the right to use more than 15,000 telephone patents. For all this, it pays only 1½ cents out of each dollar received from the sale of its service.

Through the advice, assistance and services obtained from the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, at a nominal cost, this Company and other Bell operating companies are able to make constant improvements in telephone service and at the same time keep down its cost to telephone users.

FARM TO MARKET ROADS INCLUDED IN WPA PROJECTS

Carrying Out of Plan Depends on Available Supply of Funds

Minnesota farmers who live along more than 24,000 miles of highways will be "pulled out of the mud" by the WPA providing the program continues long enough to allow work to be accomplished on farm-to-market road projects which already have received Washington's approval.

According to Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator, transportation is the key to the Minnesota WPA program. Highway, road and street projects lead all other classifications of work, although development of facilities for travel by air and water also has an important place in the program.

In digging through the "reservoir" of more than 3,600 projects upon which he may draw to keep needy unemployed at work during the duration of the WPA program, Mr. Christgau found that farm-to-market road projects in Minnesota which have been given Presidential approval are sufficient to stretch almost around the world. The total for seventy-seven of the state's eighty-seven counties on which figures are available was 22,280 miles to cost approximately $17,156,752. Included are 400 miles in Pennington county involving an estimated expenditure of $43,650.

COUNCIL TAKES STEP TO LOWER LIGHTING RATE

New Rate Would Benefit Both Small and Large Consumers in City

DOG PROBLEM BOBS UP AGAIN TUESDAY

Council Buys Snow Plow for Street Department at Cost of $292

The city council at its December meeting Tuesday evening took preliminary action to lower the present electric lighting rates when it instructed City Attorney Theodore Quale to draw up an amendment to the rate ordinance embodying a revised schedule agreed upon at the meeting. The new rates will not be effective until the amendment has been given three readings and is finally approved.

The proposed schedule calls for a rate of eight cents a kilowatt hour for the first 25 kilowatts, seven cents a kilowatt hour for the next 200 and six cents a kilowatt hour for the excess over that amount. The present ordinance provides for nine cents a kilowatt for the first 300 and eight cents a kilowatt for current used in excess of that amount. Members of the council agreed that present power and heating rates are now not out of line with rates in other communities of comparable size.

After considering bids from three companies on a snow plow to be operated on the city streets by the street department truck, the council accepted the bid of the American Hoist & Derrick company on a Borchert-Ingersoll plow with nine-foot blade to cost $292.

A representative of the group promoting the Goodridge rural electrification project informed the council that the group had been advised by Washington headquarters that the city's tentative offer of a rate of 2½ cents a kilowatt hour for current was too high. He added that a lower rate had been offered by the high line. Council members expressed the view that the city plant could not afford to supply current at a lower rate than that quoted.

Attorney Paul Lundgren appeared in behalf of Carlie Johnson and other first ward residents to ask why Dr. H. B. Newell has not removed his collection of dogs from his premises as he had agreed to do early in the year, at the time a hearing on the matter was held. The council instructed City Attorney Quale to issue an order to abate the nuisance within forty days.

Payment to Charles Piterman of $2,260 was authorized on delivery of a deed to the Northern Trading company on Main av. in the block under condemnation proceedings. The barbershop ordinance was given its second reading over the protest of C. D. Bradley who contended it was unconstitutional.

A petition signed by a group of property owners along Third st. east of Main av. was presented asking the council to take steps to secure reimbursement from the state for the cost of paving Third st., recently made a part of Trunk Highway 50. It was agreed to take up the matter with representatives of the highway department to ascertain the prospects of securing a refund.

SANATORIUM WILL ADD AN ELEVATOR TO ITS EQUIPMENT

Minneapolis Firm Making Installation at Cost of $3,300

Following approval of the purchase by commissioners of the counties contributing to the support of the institution, Dr. Baldwin Borreson, superintendent of Oakland Park sanatorium, this week announced that Lagerquist & Sons of Minneapolis have been awarded the contract to install an automatic elevator at the sanatorium at a cost slightly in excess of $3,300.

No structural changes in the building will be involved, as a shaft for the elevator was installed at the time the sanatorium was erected.

Installation of the elevator, which will fill a longfelt want in facilitating moving the bedridden patients from one floor to another, is expected to be completed by the end of the year. Four bids were submitted on the equipment.

Christmas Seals Bring Many Services to Pennington Co.

What does the penny Christmas Seal bring to our county?

This is a universal question at Christmas time when the little health stamp goes on sale, according to the president of the Pennington County Public Health association, who points out that every county, including Pennington, has specific health projects made possible through the annual sale of Christmas Seals and also shares in the statewide health educational program and other activities.

Among the projects made possible during the past five years by Christmas Seals was an orthopedic clinic held in Thief River Falls last fall when 62 crippled children and adults were examined.

Christmas Seal funds amounting to $186 were used to pay for x-rays of positive reactors to the tuberculin test in a survey conducted in the schools of Thief River Falls last year.

Dr. E. M. deBerry of the University of Minnesota, a member of the Christmas Seal Speakers' Bureau, gave a health talk at the district meeting of the Minnesota Education association in Thief River Falls this fall. A number of other talks have been given during this period in the county by members of the speakers' bureau including several during the past week given by Miss Margaret Breen of the Minnesota Public Health association. The new tuberculosis film "Contacts" was also shown.

Each year "Everybody's Health" magazine is sent to all the schools in the county.

In 1934 a portable scale was provided for the CWS nursing service in the county. Included in the health education material sent all county schools have been health diaries, health books, thermometers, paper cups and cup dispensers, first aid kits, paper towels and towel cabinets, and playground equipment.

In addition to the local work, every county shares in the benefits of the state and national program.

Investors Place Nearly $900,000 in Postoffice Here, Anderson Reports

That the Thief River Falls postoffice is developing into an important financial institution in addition to its other functions is indicated in the announcement by Postmaster Andrew Anderson that a total of $89,700 of United States savings bonds have been sold locally since the bonds went on sale March 1. The bonds mature in ten years and bear interest at the rate of approximately three per cent a year. In addition the local postoffice Saturday had a total of $803,112 deposits in its postal savings department, Mr. Anderson stated.

L. A. NELSON AGAIN NAMED PRESIDENT OF FARM BUREAU

Seven Directors Elected at Annual Meeting Held Wednesday

More than 100 members of the Pennington county farm bureau attended the annual meeting of the organization Wednesday afternoon in the Civic and Commerce association rooms, and participated in the election of officers for the ensuing year.

Named to the board of directors were L. L. Nelson, S. E. Hunt, Mrs. Owen Weckwerth of Hazel; Mrs. Victor Brink, St. Hilaire; Anton Johnson, Highlanding; and John Stieger and Nick Schals, Wylie. At the organization meeting of the board Mr. Nelson was re-elected president, while Nick Schals was named vice president and Mr. Hunt, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Nelson was appointed to represent the organization at the state convention in January, and it was arranged that monthly meetings will be held the second Monday of each month in the farm bureau office. County Agent R. M. Douglass gave a report on the past year's work in his office and suggested projects for the coming year.

OPEN COMMUNITY RINK ON DULUTH AVENUE TUESDAY

Schedule for Hockey Practice Is Announced by Alex Campbell

DELINQUENCY IN TAXES IS LESS, SAYS SUPT. BYE

Balance of Unpaid Current Taxes Less This Year Than in 1934

AUDIT SHOWS SCHOOL DISTRICT BOOKS O. K.

Enrollment Is Reported at Nearly Same Figure as Year Ago

The situation in the local school district, No. 18 in respect to delinquency on current taxes showed a notable improvement this year as compared to a year ago, it is revealed in a statement submitted by Supt. Morris Bye to the board of education at its session Monday evening. Mr. Bye stated that the current delinquency on 1934 school taxes is 18.7 per cent, while the corresponding figure for last year was 22 per cent.

"Taking into account the delinquent taxes distributed", said Mr. Bye, "we find that the net delinquency on taxes payable this year is 4.8 per cent, while the figure last year was 8.1 per cent. It appears from this that tax delinquency is decreasing, which is surely an encouraging sign."

The board at its meeting received a report on an audit of the school district books for the fiscal year ending Jury 17, 1935, completed last week by Glen C. Anderson, public accountant. The report verified the treasurer's cash balance as well as balances in the local banks and records pertaining to the school district in the offices of the county treasurer and county auditor. The report included the comment that records of the clerk and treasurer of the district were carefully and neatly maintained and complete as to detail.

Mr. Bye informed the board that he had inquired of W. H. Lamson, secretary of the state board of investment, if the state would permit the school district to refund on a three per cent interest basis the remainder of its bonds held by the state. He said Mr. Lamson had advised him that this cannot be done under the constitution until the bonds mature.

The board was supplied with figures on enrollment for the first three months of school this fall, showing a total of 1,478 pupils, eight less than last year at the corresponding time. There were 16 more enrolled in the grades, two fewer in the kindergarten and 22 fewer in Lincoln high school than a year ago.

The purchase of shrubbery to the amount of $75 was authorized by the board, and the plants will be set out on the Northrop school grounds in the spring by the Northwest Nurseries of Valley City, N. Dak.

LEGISLATURE MOVES SLOWLY IN EARLY STAGE

Social Security Matters Side-tracked for Other Bills

VARIETY OF PENSION BILLS IN COMMITTEE

New Bill Provides Heavy Tax on Dealers and Users of Oleomargarine

Matters unrelated to social security continued to occupy the legislature Wednesday, the seventh working day of the special session called for adoption of old age pensions and unemployment insurance laws.

While bills for various pension and insurance plans remained in committee, representatives and senators, in brief sessions, saw introduction of numerous bills pertaining to entirely different subjects.

Bills introduced included proposals for:

An expenditure-control bill which would establish a division of the state tax commission to cooperate with governmental sub-divisions in the preparation of budgets and the issuing of bonds, for purposes of putting the sub-divisions on a cash basis and to reduce expenses.

The validation of the state hospital committee's selection of Moose Lake as the site for the new $1,200,000 state insane hospital.

The imposition of a heavy licensing bill for manufactures, dealers and users of oleomargarine and other butter substitutes and a 15 cents per pound tax on the product. This would substitute for the present tax law, regarded as ineffective because of exemptions.

Appropriation of $6,500 to the commerce department to continue its prosecution of Northwest Banco officials.

Appropriation of $61,000 for the remainder of the biennium expense of the state oil inspection division, including an annual salary increase of $20,400.

Establishment of an 8-hour working day for all municipal employes, to coincide with the law for state employes.

Nine bills, including four plans for collection of delinquent taxes on installments, one for old-age pensions, one for unemployment insurance and three corrective measures were reported out.

Clifford Elde, whose car collided Saturday evening on Main av. with a car driven by Archie Lull of Warren, was fined $20, and Arthur Sorenson of Newfolden was fined $10 as a result of a collision at LaBree av. and Fourth st. with a car driven by Leonard Simpson of Crookston.

Rotary Club Installs Community Yule Tree

Contributing its full share to the creation of the Christmas spirit in Thief River Falls, the Rotary club, thru its community service committee, this week installed a well-proportioned thirty-foot Christmas tree on the vacant lots at the intersection of Main av. and Second st. Decorating and lighting of the tree will be completed in a few days.

County Agent Lists Activities in Report

Federal Farm Program Calls for Much Attention During Year

The anual report of County Agent R. M. Douglass and Assistant Agent E. B. Norum, completed during the past week, reveals that much of their time this year was occupied in carrying out details of the government's farm relief program, in addition to which the office cooperated with many county organizations and further developed 4-H club work. Much time also was devoted to the Bang's disease test being conducted among Pennington county herds.

That the crop production control program of the federal government met with approval of county farmers is indicated by figures included in the report showing that of 125 signers of wheat control contracts last spring 111 voted May 25 in favor of continuing the program, while the vote October 28 on the corn-hog program was 192 in favor of its continuance to 8 against.

A total of 470 boys and girls in 18 4-H clubs carried out 563 projects during the year, the report reveals, and 49 workers were awarded free trips for outstanding work, including twelve trips to the state fair. From this county 125 boys and girls attended a short course at Crookston and 211 workers exhibited at the county fair.

The Bangs disease test in the county was started in October, 1934, under the direction of Dr. Twete, and it is expected that by next spring testing of 80 per cent of the cattle will have been tested. A total of 15,281 cattle in 652 herds were included in the first test.

Pointing out that turkey production in the county is not more than 60 per cent of that of a few years ago owing to low prices and high feed costs, Mr. Douglass said that turkey breeding will receive additional attention from his office in 1936. This year 27 turkey raisers using the confinement method were given special assistance.

Other work carried out thru the office included holding a ram exchange day last fall, arranged feed loans for 84 farmers and seed loans for 126 and arranging for local seed treating facilities.

NATIONAL TEA CO. OPENING GROCERY STORE ON FRIDAY

New Food Shop Occupies Attractive Quarters on Main Avenue

The National Tea company, operators of more than 1,250 food stores in the north central states, Friday and Saturday will hold the formal opening of a new grocery store in Thief River Falls, located in the Sheldon building on Main av., immediately south of the the Penney store.

The new store, which has been entirely remodeled for its new tenants, provides room for a large stock and presents a highly attractive appearance with its fixtures of the latest design and its color scheme of yellow and green. The stock includes standard brands of merchandise as well as the company's own lines. The building has an attractive front of plate glass with green vitrolite base.

C. A. Nelson, district manager of the company at Fargo, is in charge of the opening of the store. He has been associated with the National Tea company since leaving St. Hilaire twelve years ago.

26 Carloads of Turkeys Leave City This Month

With several days yet to go before the movement is completed, turkey shipments from this city for the Christmas market already are well above the total for the Thanksgiving marketing period, bearing out earlier predictions. Up to this morning 26 carloads have left Thief River Falls in December, compared to a total of 20 carloads in November. The Christmas turkey movement, however, will be considerably below the 1934 total of nearly fifty carloads.

Prowlers Play Grand Forks Central Tonight

Winning their first home game of the season last Friday against Plummer by a score of 34 to 16, the Lincoln high school basketball team this evening will go to Grand Forks to play the Central high school team of that city. Cass Lake will furnish the opposition in the next home game, scheduled for Friday, December 20. The Prowler second team last Friday won from St. Hilaire, 24 to 15.

Stores of City to Stay Open Until Nine O'clock Commencing Thursday

For the benefit of holiday shoppers, local stores will remain open evenings until 9 o'clock starting next Thursday, December 19, and continuing thru Monday evening, December 23, it was announced today by A. M. Magnuson, chairman of the merchants committee of the Civic and Commerce association. On Christmas Eve, Tuesday, December 24, the stores will close at 6 o'clock, he stated.

POSTOFFICE READY FOR BIG INFLUX OF CHRISTMAS MAIL

To Handle Overflow Parcels in Portion of New Postoffice Building

With early Christmas mailing getting under way this week-end, the local postoffice has completed arrangements for handling the heavy influx of mail before the holiday, Postmaster Andrew Anderson announced today.

He stated that it is planned to use a portion of the unfinished new postoffice building for surplus space to handle parcels post matter. Walter Evenson and Minion Hoard will assist in delivering parcels post, while John Chommie and Bud Webskowski will help take care of the inside duties.

Mr. Anderson said that the general delivery and parcels post windows at the postoffice will be kept open until six o'clock Saturday, December 21, and that there will be no service Christmas day with the exception of delivery of Christmas parcels.

LUND & SONS GET 2 OF FIRST JOBS ON HIGHWAY 59

Local Road Contractors to Construct New Sections of Highway

Two of the first three grade crossing elimination projects on Highway 59 north of this city on which bids were asked recently by the state highway department were awarded last week to H. P. Lund & Sons of Thief River Falls, while the third contract went to Herbert Reese of Greenbush.

One job awarded to the local contractors on their bid of $18,272 calls for 3.4 miles of grading, 60,806 cubic yards of excavation and elimination of one grade crossing over the Soo Line on that section of the highway extending three miles southeast from the north Marshall county line.

The second job, let at $14,577, is between Karlstad and the south Kittson county line and involves 2.3 miles of grading, 45,620 cubic yards of excavation and elimination of two crossings over the Soo Line. The Reese contract calls for four miles of grading between Halma and one mile south of Bronson and elimination of two railroad crossings at a total cost of $10,587.

The firm of M. E. Souther, Inc., of St. Paul was awarded the contract for constructing two monolithic culverts on Highway 59 near the north Marshall county line on its bids of $7,081 and $3,928.

Numerous Residents of City Will Enter Yule Home Decorating Event

Numerous local home owners are planning to excel last year's efforts in the direction of home decoration for the holidays following the recent announcement of the prize contest sponsored by the Civic and Commerce association, in which four prizes aggregating $25 will be awarded to the most attractively decorated homes thru the First Federal Savings & Loan association, of which Stanton R. Dahlen is manager. The prizes will range in value from $10 to $2.50. The exterior effect will be the basis for judging and originality of design will be an important factor, said Morris Bye, chairman of the association committee in charge, which also includes Dr. A. E. Jacobson and N. A. Nelson.

FINE BIRDS AT POULTRY SHOW ENDING TODAY

Nearly 400 Entries Including 140 Turkeys on Display

J. ALLEN OF RADIUM WINS TURKEY HONORS

Prize Winners in Various Classes of Show Are Listed

With nearly 400 entries in the various classes, including 140 outstanding turkeys, the eighteenth annual Pennington county poultry show comes to a close this afternoon after having been under way since Monday. Bernhard Ranum of Rosewood, superintendent of the show, expressed particular gratification with the large increase in number of turkeys exhibited as compared to former years.

To the Allen Turkey Farm of Radium was awarded the double distinction of supplying a yearling turkey tom that was declared grand champion male and an adult hen crowned as the grand champion female. Professor M. C. Herner of Manitoba Agricultural college, Winnipeg, was in charge of the judging.

Much interest was aroused by the dressed class of turkeys which was a feature of this year's show. Results of the judging completed late Wednesday evening revealed that in the cockerel class Mrs. R. F. Hayes won first place; John Norman second, fourth and fifth; and R. M. Douglass, third. Hans Jersted of Goodridge won all four places in the pullet class.

An exceptionally fine group of birds was shown in the market turkey class. Winners of the ten places in the cockerel division were in order, Mrs. R. F. Hayes, Freeman Allen, Chester Dyrud, John Norman, Mrs. Hayes, R. M. Douglass, John Norman, Leonard Yonke, Freeman Allen and Norman.

In the market pullet class the Allen turkey farm won the first three places and Mrs. Hayes the next two, while Hans Jersted won sixth, eight and tenth places, and E. M. Janda seventh and ninth.

In the show class of turkeys, the Allen turkey farm won first in the bronze division with their yearling tom, adult hen and pullet. E. M. Janda won second and fourth with his yearling toms and Ward Claney of Stephen, third. In the adult hen class Claney won second, Chester Dyrud of Newfolden third and Allen fourth, while in the pullet class Claney won second and Dyrud third and fourth.

Allen also won first and third with his cockerels, first, second and fourth with his yearling hens and first with his adult tom. Dyrud won second in the cockerel class and Claney fourth, the latter also

Historical Society Lists Church Records

The Minnesota Historical society is making an effort to enlarge its collection of church records and to bring together information about materials preserved in local church archieves. To further this purpose, a questionnaire asking for information about such archieves has been sent to every Congregational pastor in Minnesota. Plans are under way for sending similar questionnaires to ministers of all other denominations. Each Congregational pastor has been asked to make a list of church registers, minute books, treasurers' ledgers, Sunday school records, and other manuscripts in the archives of his church; to supply a list of pastors; and to list historical sketches, programs, and other printed material about the church.

Bees and Spiders

Bees are insects—but spiders, surprisingly enough, are not, for insects have six legs, and the spider boasts of eight. In the spider world the male sex is the weaker one; its members are very much smaller than the ladies of the species, who are so ferocious that they will eat up any poor male who fails to please them.

Santa Claus Should Give Safe Toys for Children, State Physicians Advise

You may make the precious present of life or good eyesight to some child, if you buy only safe toys for him this Christmas. The above admonition is contained in today's bulletin from the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association issued on the eve of the 1935 Christmas shopping season.

An appalling number of deaths and blinded eyes are recorded each year as the result of tragically ill-advised Christmas gifts according to the physicians who quote their figures from a recent bulletin of the National Association for the Prevention of Blindness to show the great need for care in the selection of toys.

Among children from five to nine years old, accidents take two and a half times as many lives as pneumonia. In the last year alone, 15,400 under 15 died as a result of accidents and not a few of them were accidents from toys that had been listed as safe in the manufacturers catalogues.

Air rifles, for instance, are often listed as safe toys for eight year olds. In the opinion of the physicians—and of parents of the children who have been blinded by chance shots from them — air rifles are not toys at all. They should never be put into the hands of so young a child and never at any age unless the child is out in the country where there is room to shoot with safety.

Pop guns and shooting games are also mistakenly recommended for the children under four. So are miniature motor-cycles with real motors for eight year olds.

MEAT THEFT REPORTED

F. O. Jarshaw of the Newfolden community, while in the city Saturday, stated that thieves had entered his garage the night of December 3 and made away with sixty pounds of dressed pork.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

A couple of weeks ago the head of the Anti-saloon League, Dr. F. Scott McBride, of Washington, D. C., stated that repeal is such a complete failure that the return of the old saloon would be a step towards sobriety and decency. He pointed out that the facts of repeal reveal nothing but broken promises: the saloon came back, the bootlegger stayed.

He said in part: "Conditions now are far worse than in the old wide-open days. Control has collapsed, and the nation is a bootlegger's paradise. More than half of the hard liquor consumed in the country is of illicit manufacture.

"You don't have to take my word for the bootleggers liquor total. The wets admit it. A big distiller, speaking recently to the Millionaires club in Boston, said that unless the administration can curb the bootlegger, the legal distiller will be driven out of business.

"By promoting the cocktail hour, the wets are pushing a program of habitual drinking among women and girls.

"The cocktail hour is proving a greater menace among women and girls than the old time saloon ever was to men and boys."

STUDENT HEALTH IS FOUND GOOD AT 'U' OF MINNESOTA

Health Service Head Says Fall Quarter Has Been Above Average

Health of University of Minnesota students averages well above that of a group of the same size selected at random from either city or country districts and also above the average of the state's population at large according to Dr. Ruth E. Boynton, associate director of the students health service.

The occurrence of specific diseases among the students is also materially less than the public average, she believes, although colds are so great a cause of lost time that the Health Service at Minnesota works continually on means of preventing or curing the common cold. Student health has been somewhat above average at Minnesota this fall, Dr. Boynton finds, with almost a minimum of quarantinable disease.

Every student who enters the University of Minnesota must be given a physical examination, from which careful records of weight, height, measurements and health history are kept. Particular attention is given to those students who have a history of any important disease. Furthermore, an effort is now being made to give every student, new or otherwise, a physical examination during the course of the college year.

A slight increase in registration at the health service dispensary this year is attributed by Dr. Boynton to the material gain in general enrollment.

Experiments in the control of colds, which have brought national fame to Dr. Harold S. Diehl, former director of the Health Service and now dean of medical science, are being continued by several techniques, including remedies taken by mouth and injected remedies and a report will be made when the work has progressed further.

State Asks Figures on First Large Group of Farm-Market-Highways

Bids on the first large group of "farm to market" roads to be improved by the state highway department with special federal funds have been called for December 20. Bids on 21 such projects in 12 counties are included in a general department letting aggregating approximately $490,000 on jobs in 18 counties, including grading, monolithic culverts and bridges. Of the $490,000, approximately $170,000 will be spent on the "farm to market" projects, all of which are on county roads. The farm-market work will be in Blue Earth, Clay, Crow Wing, Isanti, Lake, LacQui Parle, McLeod, Ottertail, Renville, Rock, Todd and Yellow Medicine counties. Other projects are in Wilkin, Stevens, Cottonwood, Mower, Windom and Becker counties.

Municipal Christmas Trees in Busy Streets Dangerous, Is Warning

Communities which set up municipal Christmas trees should not place the tree in a trunk highway, according to a warning issued by the state highway department. Often a community plans to place a large tree in the center of one of the main streets during the holiday season, as this is a conspicuous location. However, highway department officials report, this is also a dangerous location and may bring serious accidents to children and others who stop in the street to admire the tree. The department urges that no trunk highway be used for such purposes, and recommends that trees be placed in some location away from heavy traffic.

Artificial Lake to be Established in Red Lake River Near Crookston

A 500-acre artificial lake with a perfect bathing beach practically at Crookston's door step was assured for next summer as the result of WPA approval of the project which was received last week by county authorities. The lake will be established in the Red Lake River at the new Dam five miles east of Crookston, with work scheduled to get under way Wednesday. The WPA grant will amount to $20,375, with an additional $3,782 charged to Polk county. The county's share of the cost, however, will not be a cash outlay but is figured as rental for county equipment and the cost of building the road leading to the lake site from the Gentilly road. This road has already been established, although it will be improved and graveled so as to establish a good driveway to the new lake resort.

WATCH LOST 15 YEARS AGO TICKS WHEN FOUND

Northfield.—A watch lost fifteen years ago in the fields of the Joe Kalina farm in Lonsdale, near Northfield, was returned to George Jirik recently. It was still in good mechanical condition, and started to tick as soon as it was picked up. The watch was uncovered by Joe Kalina, Jr., in the fall plowing on the farm. Its silver was badly tarnished, but the crystal was clear. Jirik had one complaint, however, to make this week. The time-piece is losing twenty minutes a day, and will have to be taken to a jeweler for repair.

A new breed of dairy cattle, developed within the last 50 years is to be used in breeding experiments by the Waseca branch of the Minnesota Experiment station, in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture. The cattle came originally from Denmark, but the 22 heifers and 3 bulls to be used in the Waseca experiments were imported from the Virgin Islands, West Indies. They are known as "Red Danish," and rose from a foundation of native Scandinavian red cattle, improved with selections from the leading breeds of continental Europe.

TABBY ADOPTS RATS WHEN KITTENS DIE

Rochester.—When mother instinct is in question, even a feline's innate desire to lunch on any and all rodents must give way. Two months ago, Billy, a cat owned by Robert Mertz, proprietor of Bob's Bakery, had two kittens. The kittens died in a few weeks, and the forlorn mother was left alone. But Mr. Mertz had two young white rats in his basement, and after half an hour of stern but kindly instruction, Billy adopted them. During their milk diet infancy, the cat suckled the rats, and while they have now graduated to a bread bill of fare, they still come to Billy for their daily rub down and wash and sleep with her in a box of excelsior. Playful as any kitten, the rats crawl all over Billy, and almost drive her to distraction by inserting their pointed noses into her mouth, sometimes their whole heads. Mr. Mertz is conducting a feeding experiment with the two rats at present.

WALTER LIGGETT, FORMER BEMIDJI EDITOR, IS SLAIN

Political Storm Center Is Killed Monday at Home in Minneapolis

Walter Liggett of Minneapolis, publisher of the Midwest American, who served in 1923 as editor of the Northland Times at Bemidji, was slain by two gunmen Monday night at the rear of his apartment as he returned with his wife and daughter from a shopping trip.

Liggett had been a storm center in political controversy since he entered the publishing field in Minnesota about five years ago. Recently he was acquitted of a statutory charge in Ramsey county district court which he insisted in his defense was a political frame-up.

He was born in 1886 in Benson, the son of the late Col. William M. Liggett, who was a regent of the University of Minnesota and dean of its college of agriculture for 26 years. After leaving school he filled positions on newspapers thruout the United States and in Alaska.

Prize Steer at Chicago Fetches 4-H Boy $3,150

Three-dollars a pound, which would make ordering a sirloin a big business deal, was the price paid Thursday for Pat's Blue Ribbon, grand champion steer of 1935. The steer, auctioned at the International Livestock exposition at Chicago, brought Cleo E. Yoder, 19, of Wellman, Iowa, a check for $3,150. He also received $750 cash prize awards. The official weight was 1,069 pounds. The purchase was made for Nathan Schweitzer Meat Products Co., New York. The price was the same as paid for the 1934 king.

Depositors in Viking Bank to Receive $1,749

Elmer A. Benson, state commissioner of banks, is sending a "Christmas present" totaling nearly $200,000 to 10,192 depositors in closed Minnesota banks. It is in the form of dividend checks being mailed out before Christmas.

This month's payments will go to depositors of 23 banks being liquidated by the state banking division. These dividends bring the total paid out this year to depositors in some 200 Minnesota banks to $3,353,973.

Included in the distribution is $1,749 to depositors in the State Bank of Viking, and $16,210 for depositors in the Scandia American bank of Crookston. All dividend checks will be in the depositors' hands by December 20, Mr. Benson said.

Miss Rebecca Levy of London forfeited $50,000 inherited from her father to marry a man not of her religion.

A. Van Buren, state vice president of the Farm Union organization with temporary headquarters in the Citizens bank block, announced today that meetings will be held during the coming week as follows: Friday evening, School District 60, Mayfield; Monday, School District 53, Silverton; Wednesday, School District 178, River Falls; and Thursday, Fore school east of Plummer.

Christmas Programs in Public Schools Next Week

Grade school Christmas programs will be held next Wednesday and Thursday under the direction of Miss Erma Springen, music supervisor. A program will be held at Northrop school Wednesday afternoon at 2:15, followed by one Thursday at the same hour at the Knox school. Pupils of the Lincoln and Central schools will present a program in the municipal Auditorium Friday afternoon, December 20, at 2:30.

Warroad Priest Goes to Parish at Gentilly

The Rev. John T. Philippe, for more than 13 years priest at St. Mary's Catholic church at Warroad, has been transferred to the Gentilly parish, near Crookston. He delivered his farewell sermon Sunday and will take up his duties in the new post next Sunday. Ordained 37 years ago in France at Chezal Benoit, department of Cher, Father Philippe served a Bemidji parish for 10 years and spent many years in the South Sea islands, Australia, China and Japan before coming here.

STATE GENERAL REVENUE FUND IS FAR OVERDRAWN

State Auditor King Reports Overdraft Totaling $15,000,000

Minnesota's general revenue fund is nearly $15,000,000 in the red, it was disclosed Wednesday from records of the state auditor. The deficit in funds drawn upon for running state departments and institutions has been growing steadily for several years, and officials fear the peak has not been reached.

The legislature in special session two years ago authorized borrowing up to $8,000,000 on certificates of indebtedness. That amount has been borrowed and the certificates must be taken care of by tax levies. The legislature last winter raised the limit to $9,000,000.

In addition to the $8,000,000 loan, the revenue fund November 30 had a cash overdraft of $3,482,195.40, and outstanding warrants for $516,596.50. In addition, money from other funds has been used for meeting ordinary appropriations. An item of $2,030,000, for principal and interest on relief certificates, must be met Janutry 1. Funds belonging to the University of Minnesota which are being used and must be repaid totaled $2,279,840.79, and the motor vehicle license division has $278,651.34 coming. There is $130,000 of cigaret license money collected and used by the state, due to municipalities.

The funded debt of the state, not counting any of the foregoing items, is $117,615,831.69.

E. M. Bennes Talks on Social Security Plans

At the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club Tuesday E. M. Bennes briefly outlined details of the national social security legislation, which furnishes one of the principal matters to be acted on in the current special session of the legislature. For next Tuesday's program a debate has been arranged between four students of Lincoln high school under the supervision of Kyle Montague, coach.

Local Car Dealer Sees Big Christmas Demand

Santa Claus is going in for bigger and better gifts this Christmas. At least that's the revelation made by F. A. Rinkel, president of the Northern Chevrolet Company, who says that he has the evidence to back up his statement.

The evidence, according to Mr. Rinkel at a large number of orders for new automobiles with "strictly confidential" instructions as to their destination, with delivery to be effected at certain Thief River Falls homes on Christmas Day.

"The new six per cent time payment plan that is now available to our car buyers", he added, "is unusually attractive to those who want to give a car for Christmas and this seems to be quite a factor in the decision on the part of many buyers to get them now at this time."

It doesn't seem to make much difference when the poultry show is held, it always brings with it a siege of cold weather.

Minnesota is a beautiful name but the abbreviation Minn. has always been a pain in the neck to us. And now every time we look across the street the ghastly thing leers at us from the front of the new post office building. Of course an administration that is pledged to cut government costs twenty-five per cent must reduce expenses some place, and it is possible too that the letters are needed in Washington for some of the alphabetical combinations that are still in the making, but if it is a case of economy we would gladly throw in our two bits toward the cost of the remaining letters.

Either the law makers or the Governor will have to yield ground if anything is going to be accomplished by the special session of the Legislature now in progress. And it being doubtful that either of them will yield, it is not to be expected that much will be accomplished. Under the circumstances, it is well to remember that the legislature is representative of a majority of the voters while the Governor received a minority of all the votes cast in the last election.

People hereabouts will welcome a reorganization of the Game and Fish Department if such a reorganization will result in more efficient enforcement of game laws. A few less game wardens on Wabasha Street and a few more out in the field where game laws need enforcement would be considered by many observers as a step in the right direction.

With tax delinquency in the state mounting by leaps and bounds it would seem that a program of economy in the administration of the state's affairs would be very timely. Up to the present time, however, we have listened in vain for any words of encouragement from the state capitol. The only answer to this critical situation from that source is ideas on how to extract new taxes.

Many farmers who last spring contracted with the federal government for seed loans now find themselves confronted with a situation which they are generally protesting. With the time to pay at hand, farmers are being asked to honor in poor grain and at low prices, loans based on high prices and top grade of grain. Some farmers want the government to accept "bushel for bushel" payment while others in the southwestern part of the state are demanding an outright cancellation of the entire indebtedness. With seed wheat at $1.25 per bushel being repaid in shrunken kernels bringing less than 50c, the differentiation is surely great—a disparity that exemplifies one of the elements of chance with which the farmer has to contend.—Detroit Lakes Record.

HOW NOT TO HELP THE FARMER

(Long Prairie Leader)

Faced with steadily increased imports of pork and beef, the farmers and citizens of the northwest are more or less dazed over the action of the Roosevelt administration in negotiating a trade pact with Canada to encourage still more imports. The glib assurance of the brain trusters who engineered the deal that "it is going to make the farmers more prosperous," does not lighten the worries of the farmers who are praying for a market.

During the first eight months of this year, the imports of meat and meat products totaled 258,062,877 pounds. This was eight times the importations in the same period of 1934 and shows that rising meat prices in this country with the hope they hold for better markets for the farmers, unfortunately provide also the encouragement for foreigners to dump their surpluses here.

It would seem that what the administration ought to do in view of this situation and the danger it holds for farm prosperity, is to take what steps it can to make it harder for foreign farmers to seize our markets. Hence the Canadian pact which aims to make it easier for beef and other farm products to reach our markets is a bewildering action and a cause for despair.

The heartless disregard of farmer interest and welfare evidenced by this most incomprehensible course is accented by the administration explanation that "although Canadian farm products are to be imported in greater quantity than before, the increased importations are limited and will be small in comparison with American market demands."

In view of our farm product surpluses and the hundreds of millions of dollars of taxpayers money that is being spent to cut down production, why should there be encouragement for a single pound of imports?

It might be that after prosperity returns and farm markets are stabilized so that a farmer can raise what he wants to raise and be sure of a fair price, that we could start cultivating friendly relations abroad by encouraging farm imports, but most certainly that time is not the present when farmers are being paid not to grow or produce the products their cultivated acres are ready to grow and produce and which the farmers must market if they are ever to become self supporting again. Clearly, the welfare of our farmers is being sacrificed in order to try out another experiment of the brain trusters who are running the government.

LOGGING OFF THE TAXPAYERS

Forty years ago Minnesota was busy logging off its forests. With simpleness that now seems unbelievable, people of the period declared there would always be forests to log off, new timber would grow to replace that taken, and the merry-go-round would revolve forever. The slightest application of reason would show this could not be, but who wanted to do any reasoning? Today, on state and national scale, we are just as recklessly "logging off" the national resources represented by the tax yield. Any who will, can see that the crop of taxpayers is steadily going down, down, down. Each year sees fewer taxpayers than the one preceding. What do we do? Adopt policies that will make more, not fewer taxpayers? No indeed. We continue the war of attrition, swell the casualty lists, gain no recruits. The inevitable result of this "logging off" will result in wiping out the entire army of taxpayers—more speedily, too, than you think.

Under the New Deal the cost of government has risen in this country until it takes about $31 out of every $100 which the worker earns. He is meeting this expense by paying about $20 to $25 in cash, and giving a note for about $10. Eventually these notes will become due, and then taxes will have to be boosted to take nearly one-half of the earnings to pay the notes and keep up the current taxes. When that time comes, will the notes (government bonds) be worth anything, or will the next generation refuse to pay the debts which this generation has contracted? There's the problem which the New Deal is bequeathing to youth.—Morris Tribune.

PUBLIC OPINION

Expressions of opinion on timely subjects are invited and welcomed to this department of The Times. Letters should be of reasonable length, and the name should be signed, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Letters duplicated to other local newspapers are not desired.

Dear Folks:

No doubt you people have been much entertained by the controversy between Melby and Wahlal on who is who. It seems to me that the most sensible, logical and charitable thing to say is that nothing from nothing leaves nothing.

It reminds me that in after years the question might arise as to who saved our creamery, but in our great joy in having the finest creamery in the Northwest, the best up and coming manager, a board of directors that there are no flies on, let us forget our old differences and work together for even greater progress.

I note with great joy that my old friend Andrew Trovaten has come to life and after his long sleep he now speaks a language that we can all understand. When he gets to raving about international bankers and a third party I can't understand and I don't believe he does either.

I have been watching the editorial columns for a little lamby bleat about the Senatorial contest. When he gets down to choosing between Olson and Schall, boy oh boy won't he get it.

As I near the age limit I become very much interested in social security or pensions. Don't think fifty dollars would be much of a temptation but two hundred might soothe my conscience. But just now I think it smells bad. I am sometimes led to wonder what will happen when all these props are taken away from the people, and what really is the effect of the government helping folks, farmers included. More tax delinquencies, more money that ought to be in business put into tax exempt bonds, and more unemployment. The hope of every thinking middle aged man is to have something to carry him through old age. Perhaps half of the people with that thought in mind have insurance which they make a personal sacrifice to pay for. Would the thought that they will be taken care of by some sort of a pension be in incentive in their productive years? What about the young people who are struggling to get a toe hold in life. Would the added taxes which are bound to come encourage them to struggle on? No. A thousand times no. People like Dr. Townsend, Father Coughlin and Floyd Olson (and I call myself a pretty good Farmer-Laborite) are dangerous people. They capitalize on the suffering of people. Take from people who have been prudent and thrifty and give to those who have not—that is their song.

I once heard a judge, who don't live more than a thousand miles from here, talk on human rights and property rights. Not one word did he utter in defense of property rights. I have always had the idea that the right to acquire and own property was a very great human right. Most of these fellows who talk the loudest about human rights have got both feet pretty firmly planted in the public trough and they always seem perfectly willing to take a raise in salary at the expense of the taxpayers who are struggling against heavy odds to enjoy the human right of owning a home. I've noticed too that these fellows always seem to be glad to get hold of a little property of their own.

Well I can't think of any more lovely things to write about so I will ring off and wish you all a Merry Christmas. And please send me a bottle of ink. Oh yes, don't forget the Community Club fandango. Kratka, Smiley, Silverton, Rockabury, Steiner, St. Hilaire and Wyandotte are going to strut their stuff.

Disease Is Held Cause of Scarcity of Grouse

Grouse population in Pine county and Douglas county dropped from 72 to 32 per section within three weeks, a census undertaken by the division of game and fish indicates, According to Gustav Swanson, game and fish biologist, the decrease was expected in view of earlier surveys which showed that the grouse were diseased. Causes of the disease are being investigated by the University of Minnesota, in cooperation with the U. S. Biological Survey and the state division of game and fish.

NOTICE OF EXPIRATION OF TIME OF REDEMPTION

Office of County Auditor,
County of Pennington,
State of Minnesota—ss.

TO JOHN SCHIBES:

(1) You are hereby notified that the following piece or parcel of land situated in the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, and known and described as follows, to-wit:

Lots 23 and 24, Block 26 in Knox Addition to Thief River Falls

IS NOW ASSESSED IN YOUR NAME.

(2) That on the 10th day of May, 1929, at a sale of land pursuant to the real estate tax judgment duly given and made in and by the District Court in said County of Pennington on the 21st day of March, 1929, in proceedings to enforce the payment of taxes delinquent upon real estate for the year 1926, for said County of Pennington, the above described piece or parcel of land was offered for sale, and no one bidding upon said offer, said piece or parcel, was bid in for the State of Minnesota for the sum of ($34.26), Thirty-four and 26-100 Dollars.

(3) That thereafter, and on the 5th day of December, 1933, the said piece or parcel not then having been redeemed from said sale, was sold and conveyed at public sale by the County Auditor of said County, pursuant to the statute, to an actual purchaser for the sum of One Hundred Fourteen and 70-100 Dollars and seventy cents.

(4) That the amount required to redeem said piece or parcel of land from said sale, exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice, is the sum of ($114.70), One Hundred Fourteen Dollars and seventy cents, and interest at the rate of 8 per cent per annum on ($114.70), One Hundred Fourteen and 70-100 Dollars from said 5th day of December, 1933, to the day such redemption is made. That the tax certificate of sale issued to said purchaser has been presented to me by the holder thereof and this notice requested.

(5) That the time for the redemption of said piece or parcel of land from said tax sale will expire 12 months after the service of this notice, and the filing of proof of such service in my office.

WITNESS my hand and official seal this 9th day of December, 1935.

A. M. SENSTAD,
Auditor Pennington County, Minn.

Approved by Attorney General.

Herbs Always Popular

The history of herbs is a record of the race itself. History, song, poetry and even art cluster around their use. Interest in them on the part of American women is a sign they are remembering some of the sturdy, simple enduring ways and pursuits of their grandmothers, whose herb gardens, still rooms and street-smelling bundles of dried herbs in winter time were pieces of the mosaic of American life.

In the State Senate

By Sen. E. L. Tungseth

The special session of the State Legislature recently called by the Governor to consider and enact social insurance legislation is now fully organized and at work.

There are few changes in the committee appointments for this session. Most of the committee assignments of the former regular session were continued. There being in the Senate two new members some re-assignments, of course, became necessary. Some committees which during this session will deal with major bills were increased in membership. Your Senator retains all former committee assignments and was given the Chairmanship of the Committee of Rural Credit and State Developments.

General legislation will not be given much consideration at this session. Such general legislation will necessarily cause a serious delay for the issues as are most vital at this time and for which the special session has been called. The time for any special session must be necessarily be limited and therefore is cannot accept for consideration the hundreds of bills dealing with every angle of legislation. All legislation which deals in principle with matters pertaining to relief have therefore become privileged at this session. These vital matters are worthy of the full time of any special session.

The Governor gave his message on Tuesday, December 3rd. His message was clear and concise. It dealt with the scope of legislation for which the Legislature had been called into extraordinary session. He did not, however, suggest any limitations of the legislation to be considered as that would be infringement on the sessions own authority. The means he suggested from where additional revenue might be raised for pension purposes were fully in accord with taxation principles which he formerly has been the spokesman for. Except for the suggestion of pensions with no fixed maximum and his suggestion of depriving counties of their present revenue from cash and credit taxations and that of diverting these revenues into the State Treasury the result of which would be an additional county levy on real estate, his message is much worthy of consideration. Taxes must be levied where there actually are sources of revenue. While all who have citizenship privileges should pay some taxes in return for the services they receive from their government the bulk of the load must be made to rest where returns are available. It would be futile to sink any well where there was no vein from which to draw water.

The Welfare Committee which will deal with pension legislation will begin its work next week by conducting public hearings after which it will immediately begin work on such pension legislation as has been introduced. It is also planned to have a public hearing concerning rural credit legislation in order to discover any weaknesses there actually may be in present rural credit legislation. The Rural Credit Department reports a doubled amount of liquidation activities since the legislation of the last regular session. That indicates very forcefully that the legislation which was enacted in the last regular session has been beneficial. There are, however, yet several phases of the rural credit problem that must be solved. Our effort at the last session to lower the rate of interest on rural credit loan without cost to the Rural Credit Department and therefore also without cost to the taxpayers has failed by the refusal of the State Executive Council to accept payment of such rural credit bonds as comprise investment of state trust funds. In their recent explanation of this refusal given to me and the other members of the Rural Credit Committee and which explanation was also released to the press the Executive Committee maintains that it would be poor business for it to withdraw the state trust funds from this investment since there is no other place where such safe and profitable investment of these funds can be made. We can readily grant the truth of this statement realizing that nowhere else can our State Executive Committee at this time invest state trust funds and receive over four per cent (4%) interest, but when this has been said it must also be noted that the farmers of our state who have rural credit loans are asked to pay the State of Minnesota a higher rate of interest for its trust funds than anybody else will pay for them and not only that but at the same time this investment of state trust funds in the Rural Credit Department is considered one of the safest investments that can be made.

Lest this column becomes too lengthy we shall close here for this week. May I express my appreciation to all of the papers who accept these columns, which quite regularly will appear while the Senate is in session. We believe that these columns are of importance to all of the people of our district and that the newspapers who accept these columns are giving a valuable public service.

Sincerely,
Senator E. L. Tungseth

WOLF POLO BECOMES POPULAR UP NORTH

Two Harbors—Polo, played with an axe for a mallet and a wolf for a ball, is becoming a popular sport in the northern section of the state, and Albert Erickson, Two Harbors garageman, brings a story which seems nigh incredible, altho he vouches for the veracity of the same. Erickson was fishing through the ice on Fish lake when his attention was attracted to what he thought was a dog on the ice half a mile distant. Suddenly from the shore, a model T Ford darted and a chase was begun. Finally, on nearing the animal, one of the occupants of the car stepped out on the running board, axe in hand and as the car came abreast of the wolf, polo-like, the axe was swished in a semi circle and the wolf was knocked for a "goal." Erickson failed to get the names of the huntsmen, but he was amazed at their daring, as it was necessary to drive the car on ice which in places was not more than two inches thick.

KILLS BOBCAT WITH AUTO, OFFERED $25 FOR PELT

Two Harbors.—According to the law of averages, Allen Brown did something recently he will be unlikely to repeat in the next million years. Driving toward Two Harbors at Silver Creek, he slowed up momentarily thinking he was going to hit a dog. He struck the animal and was urged by his companion to back up and make an investigation. He found a beautiful bobcat, which weighed 78 pounds. He has been offered $25 for the pelt for mounting. The animal was evidently engrossed in tracking a deer, for it paid no attention whatever to the approach of the car, not even turning its head until a moment before it was struck down.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agriculture, Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 9, 1935 (U.S.D.A.): Hogs showed some strength on this week's opening, better 140-200 lb. weights making $9.40-9.45, 200-280 lb. $9.25-9.40, heavier weights $9.00-9.25, most good sows $8.70-8.80, a few $8.90, and desirable feeding pigs $10.00-10.50.

Most classes of cattle found a slow outlet today, but prices showed little change. Common to medium slaughter steers and yearlings brought $5.50-7.50, best short-feds up to $9.00, and some medium weight beeves were held around $10.00 unsold. Slaughter heifers turned at $5.00-6.50, fed kinds $6.50-8.50 or above, cutter grade cows $3.50-4.25, most beef cows $4.50-5.50, few up to $6.00 or better, sausage bulls $5.00-5.50, and best heavy bulls at $5.60-5.85. Better grade vealers earned $8.50-9.50, selects $10.00, lower grades $4.50-6.50, medium to good stock steers $5.75-7.25, and rather plain stockers $4.50-5.50.

Pair of Former Lincoln High Athletes on Teams at Macalester College

William Korstad, former Lincoln high school student and son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Korstad of this city, has been given a berth on the Macalester college basketball squad. According to Coach Al Gowans he has been showing much improvement during practice sessions playing the forward position, and is now one of fourteen men on the varsity squad. Among the group of freshman football players receiving letters at Macalester is Ernie Helquist, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Helquist. He has seen much action this season as a ball carrier, and is expected to be of much service next year.

Workman's Group Will Meet Monday Evening

The Workman's Protective association will hold its next meeting in the court room at the court house Monday evening December 16. "We invite all unemployed persons not receiving relief to register with us at that time," said William J. Douville, president, "so that we can secure work for them as well as for those on relief."

TWO MEETINGS TO BE HELD LOCALLY ON RYE CONTRACT

First Adjustment Payment Will be at Rate of 20 Cents a Bushel

Two meetings will be held shortly in the county to discuss the federal rye adjustment program, County Agent R. M. Douglass announced today, adding that applications for contracts will be taken at that time.

The first meeting will be held Monday afternoon, December 23, at the Hawkinson school in Bray township, while the second will be held at the farm bureau office in this city Thursday afternoon, Dec. 26.

The first installment of the 1936 adjustment payment under the new four-year rye program will be 20 cents a bushel on each farmers allotment. It will be paid to producers as soon as possible after contracts have been signed and the acreage seeded or to be seeded for harvest as grain for 1936 has been certified by the grower, Mr. Douglass said.

The second instalment of the 1936 payment will be paid next summer after compliance with the contract has been approved. The combined installments will total at least 35 cents per bushel.

The allotment on which this payment will be based will be 30 per cent of the grower's base production. This 30 per cent is about the proportion of the rye crop which enters into domestic human consumption and which is subject to the processing tax of 30 cents.

Rail Pension Speaker Coming December 22nd

PERFECT RECORD OF CLINICS ENDED BY THREE LOSSES

Bowling League Continues in Full Swing During Past Week

Losing three games during the past week the Bratrud Clinics were deprived of their perfect standing in the local bowling league. The Clinics lost two out of three games to the Borchert & Johnson team Wednesday of last week, high scores being made by Lyle Lanning, 189, and Norman Johnson, 199. Monday evening the Clinics dropped one out of three to the Glueks, scoring honors going to Allen Ulrich, 214, and Carl Wennberg, 201.

The Glueks Thursday made it two out of three against the Times team, Wallace DuChamp, 203, and Art Lufkin, 174, making the top scores. Tuesday evening the Land O'Lakes won two out of three from the Bridgemans, high scorers being Oscar Cerny, 196 and John Langseth, 181.

In a special event Friday evening Homme's All-Stars won three straight from the Grain Belt All-Stars, Wallace DuChamp, 245, and John Jarvinson, 189, being high men.

Magazine Story Recalls Former Captain Here of the Steamer Dan Patch

Martin Swanson, resident of Thief River Falls a quarter century ago and now located in Crookston, was the subject of a sketch in the November issue of "Tires", National trade magazines which states he is Crookston's oldest tire dealer in point of service.

When in 1902 the lumber industry was booming in Thief River Falls, he started working as an extra man on a Red Lake river steamboat, handling lumber, freight and passengers. In two years he became captain of the steamer Dan Patch, retaining that position for nine years.

When the campaign was on to divide Red Lake county and form the present Pennington county, he made a house-to-house canvass, working with Professor J. H. Hay, the late Chris Porter and others. Later on he was one of the pioneer local automobile dealers before moving to Crooksotn in 1917.

CHRISTGAU LISTS TEN PER CENT RISE IN PWA PAY CHECKS

Pay Increase in Line With Increased Winter Cost of Living

Ten per cent raises in the monthly wages of more than 23,000 WPA workers in rural communities, in line with increased winter living costs, was announced this week by Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator.

The wage increase will affect two general groups—the first embracing workers in all Minnesota cities between 5,000 and 25,000 population and the second including those in rural areas and towns of less than 5,000 population.

Salaries for workers in cities of from 5,000 to 25,000 population, including Albert Lea, Austin, Bemidji, Brainerd, Cloquet, Crookston, Fairmont, Faribault, Fergus Falls, Hastings, International Falls, Little Falls, Mankato, Moorhead, New Ulm, Owatonna, Red Wing, Rochester, Saint Cloud, Stillwater, Willmar and Winona are—for unskilled work from $44.00 to $48.40; for intermediate work from $50.00 to $55.00; for skilled work from $63.00 to $69.30 and for professional and technical work from $69.00 to $75.90.

In cities of less than 5,000 and rural areas, the wages are increased from $40.00 to $44.00 for unskilled work, from $45.00 to $49.50 for intermediate work, from $55.00 to $60.50 for skilled work and from $61.00 to $67.10 for professional and technical work.

Workers in the metropolitan areas of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth received 10 per cent increases over the original scale in October.

It will also mean, officials said, that, due to the insufficiency of projects calling for skilled and semi-skilled labor, reassignments of skilled workers to unskilled jobs at the completion of a project may be necessary at times. The reduction in the length of the program, formerly set up on a 12-month basis, will in no way interfere with the availability of labor for seasonable work in private industry, officials believe.

DUNHAM OUTLINES CROP PROGRAM AT THE WINTER SHOW

Rust Problem to be Discussed at Valley Event in February

R. S. Dunham, Northwest School and Station agronomist, has announced an outstanding crop program for the Winter Shows this year. Heading the list of speakers are Dr. H. K. Hayes and Dr. E. C. Stakman, plant breeder and plant pathologist of the University of Minnesota respectively. A wider interest in the crops judging contests already has been demonstrated. Exhibits will center around new rust resistant varieties of grain, potatoes and corn.

With the widespread interest in Thatcher wheat and in the rust problem in general, the Winter Show management feels particularly fortunate in obtaining Dr. Hayes and Dr. Stakman for the crops program on Tuesday, February 4. Both of the speakers are foremost authorities on the subject of plant breeding for disease resistance and Thatcher is a production of their combined efforts. The story of its origin and the probable future for the variety will be a topic of interest to everyone in this territory.

Letters of inquiry concerning the crops judging contest have come in from high schools as well as schools of agriculture, and District Club Leader H. A. Pflughoeft is giving special attention to this feature of the 4-H club program. Although a high school contest will not be held this year, efforts will be made to secure necessary funds if interest continues.

With the awakened interest in seed of all kinds and in rust resistant varieties especially, it seems probable that pure seed growers throughout the Red River Valley will display their samples in the crops show. Every effort will be made this year to acquaint all visitors with the new varieties. Samples may be seen and records of performance will be available. Both grower and buyer will find the crops show room a valuable headquarters during Winter Shows week.

The farm crops show and program are being sponsored by the Red River Valley Development association, of which W. E. Dahlquist, Thief River Falls, is president; T. M. McCall, Northwest School, 1st vice president; Wm. Ash, St. Vincent, 2nd vice president; E. W. Spring, Crookston, secretary, and S. M. Sivertson, Crookston, Treasurer, and the Red River Valley Crops and Soils association, with Herman Skyberg, Fisher, president; Theodore Mellum, Ulen, vice president; R. S. Dunham, secretary, and S. M. Sivertson, treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Smith, of White Plains, N. Y., have agreed to pay their son's alimony of $15 a week to his estranged wife.

National Farm Bureau Upholds Processing Tax in U. S. Supreme Court

The American Farm Bureau Federation's brief in the Hoosac Mills case, involving the constitutional validity of the cotton processing taxes, argued December 9, was filed November 30, with the United States Supreme Court, according to an announcement by the president of the Federation, Edward A. O'Neal.

Appearing as "a friend of the Court," the Farm Bureau brief supports the position of the government in sustaining the validity of the cotton processing taxes. President O'Neal said the nationwide membership of the American Farm Bureau Federation includes a large number of farmers who are contractors with the government in crop adjustment programs under the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

He added that the prices received by this membership for cotton, wheat, corn, hogs, and other farm products are directly affected by the operations of the act and the processing taxes which finance these operations.

The American Farm Bureau Federation's brief was prepared by its special counsel, Frederic P. Lee, of Washington, on collaboration with its general counsel, Donald Kirkpatrick of Chicago. Mr. Lee's appointment was particularly appropriate as he drafted the Agricultural Adjustment Act at the behest of the Farm Bureau and allied farm groups.

The Farm Bureau brief urges upon the Court the close analogy between the protective tariff tax and the processing tax. It is argued that the protective tariff tax, which has been held constitutional by the Court, obtains for industry a higher price for its products which are consumed domestically; and that the processing tax has the same objective with respect to those surplus agricultural commodities regarding which the protective tariff system is wholly ineffective.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

TOURNAMENT IS WON BY LINCOLN HIGH DEBATERS

Bickley and Engelstad Duo Survive Competition at Warren

The annual invitational debate tournament was held in the Warren High School on Saturday. By virtue of a three to two decision a two-man team composed of Oscar Bickley and Morris Engelstad placed first, thus awarding Lincoln High School the decision. This team upheld the negative against Karlstad, Warren, Red Lake Falls, and Oklee. The same two boys debated against Crookston and Warren on the affirmative side. Jean Hanson and Arlyne Shaldal, two debaters representing Warren, were awarded second place in the finals.

Nine northern Minnesota towns represented by thirty teams competed in the Warren tournament. The following schools were represented by selected teams: Hallock, Oklee, Warren, Roseau, Karlstad, Crookston, Kennedy, Red Lake Falls, and Thief River Falls. The tournament was based on the elimination method, only those teams which had won two debates being allowed to continue after the third round. The question debated was "Resolved, That the several states should enact legislation providing for a system of complete medical service available to all citizens at public expense."

The entire Lincoln High School debate squad made the trip to Warren. Four two-man teams were active in the tournament. In addition to the winers the following students debated: Philip Prichard and Victor Jung, Flora Schroeder and Malcolm Magnuson, the Margaret Jane McKechnie and Fae Belcher. Of these Philip Prichard and Victor Jung survived the first round. Out of the seventeen debates in which the Lincoln teams participated, twelve were won.

This type of debate tournament has stimulated a new interest in debate work. The entire student body extends congratulations to Oscar Bickley and Morris Engelstad, debators, and Mr. Montague, debate coach.

PEP FEST HELD PRIOR TO GAME

Magnuson Presides at Pep Fest Before Plummer Game

A pep fest, in honor of the first home basketball game of the season, Plummer versus Prowlers, was given in the high school assembly, Friday.

Malcolm Magnuson, master of ceremonies, introduced the "pep" band, which played a series of selections. One of them, "Stepping Out", showed a marked improvement on the part of the student body. After the band had left the stage, Captain Gilbert Mickleson was called to the stage to speak. He stated that he didn't have much to say, but that everyone should come and see the results of the game. The members of the basketball squad were called to the stage in order of two, each group given a yell, led by Lois Coren and Ida Lee. When the team was all excused to leave the stage, they made a rush for the stairs, but were blocked by Bob Woodbury, who ordered them back on the stage for a yell.

At the end of the pep fest everyone was overflowing with pep and was ready to support the Gold and Blue in the coming encounter.

MISS FAUBELL IS INTERVIEWED

Reporter Probes Life of Travelling Entertainer

Editor's Note—After the assembly program last Thursday evening our inquiring reporter interviewed Miss Faubell, the manager of the "Faubell Hour." She presented the following interview: [illegible]

Name? Gladys Faubell.

Where is your home? Lincoln, Nebraska.

How long have you traveled? About ten years.

Where have you traveled? All over the United States and Canada.

Do you travel all year? We travel all the school year. In summer we appear in vaudeville and theaters.

Do you visit towns more than once? Oh, yes.

How many times do you [illegible] a day? Two or three.

How did you start to travel? I had studied the violin, [illegible]. After appearing in Chautauqua and vaudeville, I just decided to travel.

Have there ever been [illegible] in your company? Yes. [illegible]

Would you rather perform at night or during the day? Night, of course, because of the lighting.

Have you had any interesting experiences? They happen every day.

NEXT GAME IS AT GRAND FORKS

Prowlers Will Meet Grand Forks Team on Their Floor

This Friday the Prowlers travel to Grand Forks where they meet the strong Marauders. The Prowlers are [illegible] the game the underdogs and will meet their strongest foe so far this season.

The Prowlers were weakened somewhat by the loss of their star center, Nelson, but they still have four lettermen, who are headed by Dye.

The Prowlers will be handicapped by the fact that they have been forced to practice the entire week in the small high school gym. Captain Mickleson, who played an outstanding game against Plummer despite his handicap of skin infections, is expected to be up to par for the game. Besides Mickleson, Jung, Art Nelson and Bud Nelson are the starters with the left forward position yet to be filled. Art Nelson may be moved up to forward for this game, and if this is done, Nesse will probably hold the fifth starting position.

SELECTIONS FOR DECLAM CHOSEN

Selections in All Three Classes Being Memorized

Have you purchased your gold basketball? These attractive gold and blue signs with "Boost Thief River Falls Prowlers" on them are being sold by Coach Lee and members of the basket ball squad.

More than half of the basketballs have been sold; but there are still a hundred left. For twenty-five cents, there isn't a student in Lincoln High, more—any person with a cent who cannot afford to have one of these gold basketballs.

The money received from the sale of these signs will be used to purchase much needed football equipment. Your support in this drive will not be wasted; the football player will be grateful every time the tackling pad, instead of his tender chest, receives an elbow or knee. With the better equipment, you will see a better brand of football played on the local field.

"Boost Thief River Falls Prowlers."

Last Saturday, debating almost continuously from sunup until sundown, a local two-man debate team (Morris Engelstad and Oscar Bickley) verbally conquered six of the best debate teams in the Warren Tournament to emerge the champions! Congratulations! It took a lot of hard work, but you made the grade.

Three other teams from Lincoln High also competed, with varying success. Two local teams survived the preliminary rounds with unblemished records, one finally winning the tournament.

We have a debating organization of which we can be proud. They had the best school record in the tournament, with twelve wins and only five losses.

Why are debate tournaments conducted? The purpose is to acquaint the "green" debaters with real debating and to create a livelier interest in the topic for debate. The ultimate end of these tournaments is giving the debaters a whole day in which to test their preliminary cases with others. We have yet to hear a discrediting phrase against this type of tournament. Keep them as an active part of Northwestern Minnesota's extra-curricular activities!

Keeping up with our B. B. opponents:

The Crookston Pirates swamped the Twin Valley quint 29-5. They look strong again this year. By the way, the Prowlers play the Greater Grand Forks "five" tomorrow evening. Better go over and see them! Then see the teams clash before the District Tournament in March!

PROWLERS WIN DOUBLE-HEADER

Reserves Down St. Hilaire; Regulars Win From Plummer

Last Friday the Prowlers chalked up their second victory of the season when they came out on the long end of the score of 26 to 11 against the Plummer quint.

Although the final score was somewhat decisive in the Prowler's favor, the game was a thriller from the opening whistle till the final minute of play. It was especially exciting in the first part of the second quarter when Plummer trailed behind the locals by just a single point. The score, however, did not remain that long when the Prowlers again built up a safe lead.

Mickleson and Bud Nelson tied for the honor of high scorer, with Mickleson getting eleven points and Nelson ten. Milt Nesse was next with seven.

There was also a tie on the Plummer side, Langlie and Schroeder each scoring four points.

The local second team also was victorious when they tripped St. Hilaire by a score of 25 to 16.

Below are a few facts on the Plummer game:

SCHOOLS PLAN XMAS PROGRAM

Springen and Tandberg Are in Charge of Festivities

The Junior and Senior High Schools will present a combined Christmas program on Friday afternoon, December 20. The program is scheduled to be held in the City Auditorium at 2:00. Under the direction of Miss Springen, Christmas music will be sung by the Junior and Senior High School choruses, girls' trio, boys' double quartette, and girls' chorus. Miss Tandberg will be in charge of a one-act Christmas play entitled "Why the Chimes Rang."

This annual program is being given at the City Auditorium to enable the public to attend.

The grade schools will present programs also, but these will be held at the respective schools. The grade school schedule is as follows: Knox, Thursday afternoon at two-thirty; Washington, Friday afternoon at two-thirty; and Northrop, Wednesday afternoon at two-thirty.

The following committees have been appointed to assist in preparations for the program: Scenery, Mr. Pope and Mr. Johnson; costumes, Miss Lunder; chairs, Earl Burrell, Robert DuChamp, Wendell Olson, Vernon Weiod, and Irving Wilson; candelabra, John Foster and Milton Poppenhagen; trees, Harold Holmen and LeRoy Hall; lights, Ardith Larson, Ardith Melby, Vivian Havel, Solveig Fjelstad, and Adeline Nabben; and candles, Vivian Ward and Barbara Reep.

AMONG THE 600

Basketball season is here! Tickets are on sale. In fact, they have been on sale since last Friday. If you buy a season basketball ticket now, it will result in a marked saving on your own account. Don't wait until it's too late to buy one.

The 1935-36 "Prowler" is on a teeter-totter balance. The school annual is on one side of the balance scale, the money to support it on the other. At the present time the "Prowler" entirely outweighs the money to support it. There isn't half enough money to print the annual. It's gradually sinking into oblivion. If you want a "Prowler" pay your class dues! Otherwise there will be no printed remembrance of this school year.

Miss Leavitt will complete the library instructions for juniors this coming Thursday evening. The senior library lessons will not be given until after Christmas.

Aard-Vark Eats Insects

The aardvark is a curious insect-eating, burrowing mammal of South Africa. It attains a length of five feet, including the tail, and feeds entirely on ants, which it catches with its long, sticky tongue. [illegible]

ASSEMBLY HELD TO END SEASON

Coach Lee Honors Football Lettermen in Assembly

A surprise assembly planned by Coach Lee was held on Thursday. The purpose of the assembly, Coach said, was to officially close the 1935 football season. The football players that will receive letters at the annual Lettermen's Banquet next spring were announced. These exponents of the Gold and Blue tradition include the following: Seniors— Gunderson, Art Nelson, Jung, G. Mickleson, Hatland, J. Nesse, Gibson, J. Boorsen, and A. Lorentson. Juniors— Adkins, M. Nesse, D. Olson, B. Nelson and Peterson; Sophomores —Dicken and Hill; and Freshmen —L. Stadum.

The initial purpose of the program was then disclosed. At the beginning of the football season Coach Lee had announced that whoever possessed the fundamentals of good tackling and blocking would receive some recognition of his effort. All football players voted on the most valuable individual member of the team. Their choice, coinciding with the Coach, was Gilbert Mickleson. In addition to being a "regular fellow" in sports Gilbert is a high ranking honor student.

Gilbert Mickleson was presented with a football in recognition of his accomplishment. Previously Coach Lee had forwarded the football to a friend, who was a member of the Chicago Bear's professional football team. Thirty-one famous football players signed it. Included among them were such well-known names as "Red" Grange, Jack Manders, and Bronko Nagurski.

Mr. Clafly then dismissed the assembly.

MAKING THE ROUNDS

Miss Helquist's biology classes are finishing the unit on the classification of plants and animals. While they were studying this unity, they classified everything from buttons to members of the class.

The English I classes, taught by Miss Olson, are beginning to study lyric poetry. They are also writing themes on Christmas Seals and the fighting of tuberculosis by modern methods.

Miss Stenerson's English II classes have begun to read the novel, "Silas Marner."

The Home Economics I classes are preparing rolls and cakes this week.

The Home Economic II classes are endeavoring to finish their silk dresses before Christmas.

Miss Lunder's general science classes are beginning the unit on magnetism and work on electricity.

Silent Tribute Spoiled by Cough

"During the funeral service we were asked to give silent prayer in tribute to the memory of my uncle. At that moment I was suddenly seized with a coughing completely destroying the impressiveness of the occasion. I could have been spared this humiliation if I had known of Thoxine, which I now use at the first sign of throat irritation." Use Thoxine for coughs due to colds and for common sore throat. The new expectorant quickly helps to loosen phlegm while irritated membranes are soothed. Insist on Thoxine—only 35c. J. & B. Drug Store.

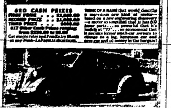
THINK OF A NAME that would describe a marvelous new kind of motor—based on a new engineering discovery—a motor so simplified that it has 600 fewer parts... so powerful that it's [illegible] at "70"... so economical that it permits former small-car owners to change to a big, luxurious car and save gas and oil money in the bargain!



An amazing new kind of motor in an amazing new kind of car! A bigger, safer, more luxurious car built for former small-car owners. Yet, because of its motor, one that they can afford to own and run! It's lower—and wider between the rear wheels in relation to height and length than other cars! It has big, super-hydraulic brakes! And the world's first complete, seamless, one-piece all-steel body! See it! Drive it. Then tell us what words would describe its new kind of motor. The Nash Motors Company, Kenosha, Wis.

IMPROVED!

When coal is Chemacol Processed it is dustless. But more than that, it gives you more heat for your money because Chemacol is a catalytic agent which helps the gases in coal to burn and thus makes use of a valuable part of coal which is usually wasted as soot or smoke.

CHEMACOL PROCESSED COAL

CAVALIER COAL

Here's a coal that defies imitation. Coal mined a few miles away from where it comes from looks like it, but burns in an absolutely different manner. A Cavalier Coal fire is easy to take care of because it requires so little attention. And you'll be pleased with the small amount of ash, too. We're positive you'll like Cavalier Coal.

Askov.—Mrs. George Yocum, farm wife living near Sandstone, narrowly escaped death while preparing the noonday meal. Mrs. Yocum had fired the range with green birch wood and while it is not definitely known what caused the accident, investigation showed that she might have picked up a stick of old wood which could have contained powder. Investigation of some of the pieces blown out of the stove faintly indicated that this might have been the case. The flying pieces of stove tore Mrs. Yocum's dress but did not harm her, although the kitchen was somewhat damaged.

Miss Caroline Blakkstead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arne Blakkstead and Orrin Drangsvedt were united in marriage Sunday evening at the parsonage in Mavie by Rev. Sabo. The bride wore a blue velvet dress with accessories to match. The groom was dressed in a blue suit. They were attended by Alma Blakkstead, sister of the bride and Melvin Hansen. The bride has always lived in this community and has a host of friends. The groom has been employed at the Henry Clausen farm the last [illegible]s. Their many friends extend to them congratulations and much happiness.

MARSHMALLOW, LODGED IN THROAT, CAUSES NEAR DEATH

Gray Eagle.—A narrow escape from death was had by a three and one half year old boy when a marshmallow he had attempted to swallow became lodged in his windpipe. The little fellow was the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Daves, who have been residing with his grandmother, Mrs. P. H. Davis of Sauk Center. The boy was rushed to a doctors office in serious condition. Life was almost extinct and fast work was necessary to prevent death. Assisted by another doctor, the physician cut a slit in the windpipe, thus enabling the child to breathe until he could be taken to the St. Cloud hospital. The marshmallow dissolved and ran into one of the lungs, and the syrup had to be removed at the hospital. He is recovering.

"Big Butter and Egg Man"

"Big butter and egg man" means a wealthy, small town man who comes to a large city, and is willing to spend freely. It is a term familiar to chorus girls.

Plummer School Notes—Mr. Rippie, Mr. Grimerud, Mr. Adrian and Mr. Ohnstad drove to Thief River Falls Wednesday evening to attend the meeting of the Schoolmen's club at the Evelyn hotel. Mr. England, the traveling secretary of the Minnesota Educational Association, was the speaker of the evening. —Plummer dropped its first basket ball game on the home floor last Friday, Crookston took the hard-fought and rather rough game.

Thief River Falls last Friday night defeated Plummer by a decisive score. Plummer's eye for the basket wasn't what it usually is and, due to this fact, enough baskets were missed to give Thief River Falls the game on its home floor. —Plummer plays St. Hilaire at Plummer Thursday, Dec. 12 at the municipal auditorium. A hard-fought and very close game is expected. —Miss Swedseid has been ill the last two days of this week She is much improved and was back in school Monday.

The high school program has been rearranged and changed. More activities and more time for existing activities have been added, thus making it possible for all to participate in the activity or activities they are interested in. Due to conflicts this wasn't possible before.

Physical education which had to be dropped when inclement weather set in will again be resumed and all enrolled in grades seven to ten will participate. The basket ball practice has been shifted to a later time so that the basket ball floor is available for this work.

Under this new arrangement an assembly period every week is also provided for. Heretofore an assembly period was possible only every other week. This change will please the student body, because they enjoy them so much.

Monday afternoon the entire school enjoyed a sight seeing trip to the Philippine and Hawaiian Islands. Part of the movies were in color and showed very vividly the bubbling lava in the crater of Kilauea. We now also understand much better the hemp, sugar cane and pineapple industry of the islands. The smaller boys and girls voiced their approval of an "Our Gang Comedy" in no uncertain terms.

Monday, December 16 Plummer takes on Warren whom they eliminated last year at the district tournament. Warren is out for revenge. Don't miss a good game.

BIG GATHERING AT COMMUNITY CLUB PROGRAM

More Than 1,000 at Event Friday Sponsored by Seven Groups

KRATKA CLUB OFFERS AMATEUR HOUR STUNT

Smiley, Steiner, Wyandotte, Rocksbury, Silverton and St. Hilaire in Show

More than 1,000 residents from throout Pennington county assembled at the Auditorium Friday evening and thoroly enjoyed the entertainment staged by groups representing seven community clubs in this section, including the Smiley, Steiner, Wyandotte, Kratka, Rocksbury, and Silverton clubs and the St. Hilaire Parent-Teacher association. Each of the varied offerings won hearty applause from the audience.

The Kratka club supplied an exact reproduction of Major Bowes' amateur hour, popular Sunday evening radio feature, with Harold P. Harrison of this city ably acting the part of Major Bowes. He announced that St. Hilaire was the guest city and acknowledged telegrams extending good wishes from the mayor and civic organizations of the village.

Elmer Zacnar, yodeler, was announced as the winner of the amateur contest and was accorded the privilege of performing on the WLS barn dance number later in the program. Other offerings introduced by "Major Bowes" included Ruth and Ruby Angell, vocal duet; Emmet Landro, impersonator of Bing Crosby; Peter Breznay, Albert Ptacek and Roland Utacek, masked fiddlers; and the Silverton quartet composed of Arnold and Gust Gunderson and Herman and Chester Rude, the last two numbers being interrupted by the gong.

A large group of members of the Rocksbury club appeared in "Amos and Ruby's Wedding", written and directed by Mrs. Otto Nettaland and Mrs. C. H. Toomey. Included in the cast were Perry Borgie, Mrs. Borgie, Thomas Yatesund, Edwin Hanson, Arnold Gunderson, Louise Anderson, Lawrence Best, Violet Anderson, Kenneth Finstad, Mrs. Mons Engelstad, Jennie Arne, Mrs. Ted Markus, Omer Lian, Earl Engelstad, Mrs. Engelstad, Dennis Hansen, Cleo Engelstad, Beverly Nettaland, Norma Toomey, Vivian Engelstad and Fern Hanson.

Another popular offering was the "WLS Barn Dance", sponsored by the Silverton club, and presenting square dances, waltzes and schottisches. John Peterson called the turns in the square dances, while music was provided by Herman and Chester Rude. The cast included Severin Barstad, Verna Becker, Gust Gunderson, Madeline Gunderson, Fern Flattum, Silas Hanson, Raca Woolson, Arnold Gunderson, Ellen Berggren, Otto Meyer, Louis Meyer, Bernice Woolson, Wilhelm Hanson, Dorothy Woolson, Alphen Berggren and Alda Gunderson.

The Smiley club number, "Family Jars", was cleverly presented by Mr. and Mrs. Owen Weckwerth, while the St. Hilaire group appeared in "The Dummy", the cast including Mr. and Mrs. Myles Jackson, Mrs. Earl Jenson, Klemens Gigstad and Marvin Olness.

Much laughter was called forth by "The Mock Wedding", presented by an all-male cast from the Steiner club, including Alfred Selum as the groom; Vernon Malberg as the bride; Ray Muzzy, bridesmaid; Melvin Saugen, groomsman; Otto Saugen, bride's mother; Cyrus Malberg, bride's father. Fillmore Malberg and Renie Werner played the wedding march.

"The Muff", a musical comedy, was sponsored by the Wyandotte club, principal roles being taken by Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Noper, daughter Dorothy and son Randall, assisted by a group of singers, members of the club.

Delegation of Grygla Residents Request New Road North Thru Reiner

A delegation from the Grygla community appeared before the county board Tuesday to ask that a road be constructed in Reiner township to the north county line to connect with a proposed new road in Marshall county extending straight south from Grygla, thus affording a better outlet for the inland community. It was indicated that the board favored first holding a joint meeting with the Marshall county commissioners before taking any definite action on the project.

Babson's 1936 Summary in the Times Next Week

Roger Babson, noted economist, will publish in the next issue of the Times his annual forecast of developments that may be expected in 1936 in the business and political fields. He will discuss such questions as business and election, stocks and bonds, jobs and wages, sales and prices and rents and real estate. His summary will appear exclusively in the Times in this section.

EXCAVATION FOR BASEMENT OF RINK NEARLY FINISHED

Michalsky New Superintendent With Hostvet as Foreman

Dirt began to move at a rapid pace Tuesday afternoon on the site of the municipal enclosed skating rink when a Lund & Sons dragline was moved in to complete the work of excavating for the basement under the front part of the huge structure.

Digging was made more difficult by the fact that a large number of burned automobiles remaining after the Northern Chevrolet company fire several years ago were buried in a portion of the ground being excavated. The hole had assumed large proportions by late Wednesday.

Stanley Michalsky, superintendent in charge of construction of the community hall being erected in Red Lake Falls under WPA auspices, late last week was instructed to assume the same position in connection with the local project, while H. J. Hostvet has been designated as foreman.

GOODRIDGE POWER GROUP SATURDAY NAMES OFFICERS

Lloyd Nelson Heads Proposed Rural Electrification Association

Officers were elected Saturday in Goodridge by the Pennington County Cooperative Power association, sponsor of the Goodridge rural electrificatin project which it is planned to carry out under federal auspices.

Those named include Lloyd Nelson, president; Edward Korstad, Jr., vice president; and R. H. McDonald, secretary and treasurer. On the board of directors are Mr. Korstad, L. E. Nelson, Mr. McDonald, Frank Hanlisty, J. G. Newland, Palmer Wold and Alfred Longren.

J. B. Hay of St. Paul and Mr. Brown of the Midland Wholesale Oil company were present and explained various features of the project. Also present was a delegation from northeast of Thief River Falls headed by Alfred Longren, who arranged for a meeting to be held at the court house Saturday afternoon to consider the possibility of farmers in this section joining the association.

Hans Hanson, Newfolden, Takes Charge as Manager of National Tea Co. Store

Hans Hanson, formerly connected with the Sanitary Meat & Grocery store at Newfolden, last Thursday took charge as manager of the National Tea company, which that day opened for business in Thief River Falls. He is a native of Marshall county and has been in the grocery business the past 19 years. Mr. Hanson announced that regular employes of the store include Alice Kerr, Earl Engelstad and Eugene Thompson of this community, and that the staff will be augumented to take care of the week-end rush of business.

35 Cars of Christmas Turkeys Shipped; Nearly Double November Total

A total of 35 carloads of turkeys, in addition to a considerable quantity shipped by truck, left Thief River Falls during the December marketing period which came to a close Saturday. This aggregate, while approximately 15 carloads below shipments in December, 1934, is nearly twice as large as shipments for the recent Thanksgiving market, when 20 carloads left this city. In 1932, the peak year in respect to turkey movement, a total of more than 150 carloads were shipped out during November and December. Further shipments will be made next month when the January movement gets under way.

Budget of $200 Is Required to Finance Winter's Operations

The outdoor community skating rink on Duluth av. was closed Wednesday evening for an indefinite period to speed up the sale of season tickets and thus provide funds for its maintenance.

Altho a large number of skaters have been using the rink the sale of tickets has been negligible, according to Alex Campbell, chairman of the Legion rink committee, who added that while the shutdown is not desired by the management, it is on the basis of past years' experience the most effective method of raising the necessary funds.

"The budget to cover this winter's operations", Mr. Campbell said, "is low by comparison with other years. About $200 is needed to cover the expense of maintenance, fuel and miscellaneous items. The general management of the rink and supervision of junior and intermediate hockey and skating are handled by the rink committee appointed by the Legion post, all of whom donate their services."

During the next few days, it was announced, tickets will be for sale at the rink office and may also be obtained from Mr. Campbell at his office in the music store, while family tickets will be sent out to those who have purchased them the past few years. Thru donations received each year from various sources arrangements have been made to issue tickets to boys and girls whose families are unable to finance their purchase.

C. AND C. DEBATES ON MUD LAKE GAME REFUGE PROPOSAL

Berve Requests Civic Group to Go on Record as Opposing Project

Members of the Civic and Commerce association, following their luncheon last Thursday, engaged in a protracted discussion of the merits of the Mud lake game refuge project sponsored by the federal government and the state conservation commission.

The matter was brought up by H. O. Berve, owner of land in the vicinity of the proposed refuge, who spoke in behalf of settlers opposed to the project and asked that the civic group go on record as opposed to carrying out the plan. He pointed out that the project, if carried out, would tend to reduce the local trade territory.

After a lengthy discussion the matter was referred to a committee for investigation with instructions to report at today's meeting. On the committee were named C. H. Jung, W. E. Dahlquist, W. H. Quist, Dr. O. F. Mellby and B. O. Norby.

A delegation of Middle River citizens appeared late last week before the state conservation commission in St. Paul and objected to carrying out the game refuge plans, contending that ousting of residents would be injurious to other sections of the county. No action was taken at the session by the commission.

County Farmers Asked to Sign Certificates of Corn-Hog Compliance

The final corn-hog compliance check has been completed in Pennington county, says R. M. Douglass, County agent, and the farmers cooperating in the 1935 corn-hog program are urged to stop in at the county agent's office to sign the final compliance certificates so that the final payment on the 1935 contract can be made as soon as possible. In order to prevent unnecessary delay in making final payments all compliance certificates should be completed by December 31, at which time all completed forms will be forwarded for payment. Any not completed by that time will have to be submitted at a later date, resulting in delayed certifications.

Two Rye Meetings to be Conducted Coming Week

Two meetings will be held in the county next week to present the federal rye adjustment contract to Pennington farmers, County Agent R. M. Douglass said today. The first meeting will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Hawkinson school house in Bray township, and the second in the court house in this city Friday afternoon, December 27, at 2 o'clock.

Michalsky in Charge of Red Lake Falls WPA Job

The work of completing the community hall in Red Lake Falls as a W P A project got under way last week, calling for federal contributions totaling $13,375 and local contribution of $10,242.75. Stanley Michalsky of this city is in charge as superintendent of construction.

C. M. EVENSON NAMED RELIEF HEAD FOR CITY

Council Votes to Centralize Authority and Seek to Reduce Costs

BUY MATERIALS FOR SKATING RINK JOB

Most of Supplies to be Furnished by Robertson and Central Yards

In an effort to curb mounting relief costs in Thief River Falls, the major portion of which is borne by taxpayers of the city, the city council at an adjourned meeting last Friday evening took action to centralize responsibility for the disbursement of relief in the hands of one man instead of leaving the matter in the hands of the four ward alderman as at present.

C. M. Evenson, longtime resident, was appointed poor overseer and given full authority over the distribution of relief funds, his duties including the receiving of applications and the investigation of each case. He took over his new duties Monday, and will maintain an office in the front part of the Auditorium basement. It was pointed out at the meeting that poor fund bills allowed at the last regular session of the council aggregated $1,859.37 for a period of approximately a month.

A delegation of members of the Woman's club headed by Mrs. T. C. Orme appeared at the meeting and again asked that the council designate a room in the basement of the Auditorium for the exclusive use of the club. The request was granted by setting aside the room adjoining the municipal court room.

Bids on various materials to be used in the construction of the enclosed skating rink were received, the most of the supplies were purchased from the Central Lumber company and Robertson Lumber company of this city. Details of the purchases are published in the council proceedings elsewhere in this issue.

Meeting again Tuesday evening, action on the purchase of sand and gravel for the rink structure was deferred until after a consultation with Area WPA Engineer Webb to learn if the city will be permitted to give anyone indebted to the city a chance to share in the work of hauling the gravel.

A resolution was approved authorizing the hiring of the Lund & Sons drag line with two or three trucks and six or seven men at a rate of $9 an hour for the purpose of making the excavation for the basement in the front portion of the rink building. A boiler to heat material for concrete work will be obtained later from the Minneapolis Bridge company.

George C. Larson's bid of $31 for repairing the ceiling in the Civic and Commerce association rooms recently damaged by fire was accepted at the meeting.

Elks Hosts to Children at Movie Party Monday

In accordance with its custom of past years the local Elks lodge is sponsoring a Christmas movie program for children of this community to be given at the Avalon theatre next Monday afternoon, Dec. 23, at 2 o'clock, it was announced today. Included in the program will be a group of films which will offer a special appeal to the little folks.

COUNTY BOARD PROTESTS WPA RULES ON JOBS

Asks That Board be Given a Voice in Ruling on Eligibility

NEW COUNTY AID ROAD DESIGNATED

Board Appropriates $1,500 to Maintain County Agent Office

Meeting in its December session Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, the county board adopted a resolution directed to Harry L. Hopkins, federal WPA director, and R. J. Christgau, state administrator, protesting against the regulation limiting eligible WPA workers to those on relief during the period from May 1 to November 1. The board asked the question of eligibility be left to the county board and the WPA certifying officer.

The board voted to contribute the sum of $1,500 to the maintenance of the county agent's office during the coming year, the amount being the same as that voted last December. L. A. Nelson, president of the county farm bureau, was present to request the appropriation. The board also formally approved payment of its share of the cost of installing a passenger elevator in Oakland park sanatorium.

A new county aid road was designated, running between Sections 35 and 36 in Silverton and Sections 2 and 3 and 11 and 12 in Smiley. A few tax abatements were acted on and several old-age pensions were allowed to county residents.

SCHOOL LIBRARY AID IS EXPLAINED BY MRS. HALGRIM

Lists Rural Schools Having Contracts With Local Institution

In reply to an inquiry made by Mrs. Hazel Halgrim, Carnegie librarian, regarding the payment of library aid for the year 1934-35 the following communication was received from Clara F. Baldwin, director of Libraries:

"Your letter of Dec. 5 was turned over to Miss Kori to check up on the library aid. This year the aid was paid to the district in a lump sum. (That is, all aids). I enclose a statement which Miss Kori has figured out. The total was 76.1 per cent this year so that there was no separate check for the school library aid."

The following districts have contracts with the Thief River Falls Public Library but the aid goes to the district, Mrs. Halgrim announced: Districts 2, 6, 9, 12, 14, 15, 29, 34, 35, 37, 42, 44, 54, 55, 57, 58, 59, 60, 64, 66, 67, 138Jt, 94, 99, 310S, 125, 127, 147, 178, 321D. The aid to each district amounted to $3.60. It was sent from St. Paul in September.

A fresh shipment of 78 books from the latest school list has recently been added to the rural department. Some teachers are exchanging libraries this week so that new books may be read during the holidays.

Don't Let Fire Spoil Your Christmas, Public is Told

Fire is probably the most serious hazard associated with Christmas celebrations, because of the presence in the home at the holiday season of so much combustible material and the numerous potential sources of ignition, says a bulletin from the fire prevention department maintained by insurance companies. The suggestions have the endorsement of the local fire department.

The Christmas tree itself, as well as the inflammable material with which it is so frequently decorated, together with the large quantities of tissue paper and ordinary wrapping paper, that are usually strewn about the home after opening the presents, furnish the fuel for a sudden and intense blaze. Matches and smoking materials, lighted candles, electrical short circuits, and sparks from an open fire place are some of the chief causes of fire.

Firmly secured in a stand so that it will not topple over, the Christmas tree should be set up well away from the fire place or other heating device, and should be so located as not to block an exit. The tree and all evergreens used in decorating the home should be removed and carefully disposed of, when they have served their purpose, as they are highly inflammable when they become withered and are a most serious fire hazard, if allowed to remain on the premises.

Inflammable decorations should be avoided on the Christmas tree. The use of lighted candles on it is most dangerous. If miniature electric lights are substituted, they should be of approved quality. If additional wiring is necessary, it should be done by a competent electrician.

There should be one or more approved fire extinguishers in easily accessible locations in every home. Should these appliances be not available, buckets filled with water should be so placed as to be ready for any emergency during the holiday season. A heavy woolen blanket, a rug, or an overcoat should be at hand with which to wrap a person whose clothing becomes ignited in any way.

Public celebrations of Christmas should be only in buildings (preferably on the ground floor) with adequate, unobstructed and unlocked exits. A sufficient number of approved fire extinguishing appliances should be provided, and, wherever possible, one or more trained firemen, in uniform, should be present.

A tremendous responsibility—the safety of the audience—rests on those having charge of Christmas celebrations in the home and in public places, and it behooves them to do their best to provide a safe, as well as a merry Christmas.

School Yule Program at Auditorium Friday

Lincoln and Junior High Join in Event at 2:30 in Afternoon

The Christmas season will be ushered in Friday afternoon at 2:30 when pupils of the city's junior and senior high schools join in an elaborate program in the Auditorium. Supt. Morris Bye extended an invitation to the public to attend the event, the only city-wide Christmas program scheduled for the holiday season.

The first number includes the singing by the choirs and the audience of three favorite Christmas hymns, "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing", "It Came upon the Midnight Clear" and "The First Noel". L. R. Lanning will serve as director and Helen Granum as accompanist.

The high school boy's double quartet will render "Winter Song" followed by the singing of Cantique de Noel" by the eighth grade choir. "Lo, a Midnight Strain" will be sung by the high school girls choir directed by Miss Erma Springen and accompanied by Robert Douville.

The seventh grade choir will sing "Allelulia", while the high school girls trio will render "Silver Sleigh Bells", and Mona Mosleth, Milton Nesse and James Nesse will serve as soloists in "Shepherds Story". The high school choir, with Jack Booren as soloist and Helen Granum as accompanist, will render "Night of Dreams" and "The Birthday of a King".

A dramatization of the story "Why the Chimes Rang" will be presented under the direction of Miss Agnes Tandberg by a cast of high school students including Morris Engelstad, Earl Burrell, James Peterson, Flora Schroeder, Herbert Schroeder, Leonard Helquist, Oscar Bickley, Edna Lee, Walter Gibson, Ardella Gjernes, Archie Monson and Mary Margaret Cosgrove. Music will be provided by the high school mixed quartet.

The hymn "Joy to the World" will be depicted by students in the teachers training department and the high school including Ethel Kivle as Mary; Anna Ose as Joseph; and Beatrice Ostmoe, Marion Harvey and Ethel Doran as Wise Men. Shepherds will be represented by Ines Warhan, Judith Wold, Eleanor Larson, Agnes Sandland, Ila Moe, Clarice Flymire and Norma Anderson. The roles of trumpeters will be enacted by Edna Gilchrist, Silvy Hanson, Harriet O'Hara, Peggy Gustafson, Helen Anderson, Marjorie Ose, Edla Erickson, Celia Halland, Marion Dillon, Jean Gustafson and Peggy Faupel.

The program will close with the singing of "Silent Night" by the choir and audience under the direction of L. R. Lanning and accompanied by Helen Granum.

MARSHALL BOARD ASKS COMPROMISE IN MUD LAKE CASES

Only One Case Disposed of in District Court During Week

Urging that all appeals in the condemnation proceedings for the Mud Lake Wild Life refuge be compromised without putting Marshall county to further expense in litigation, the Marshall county board of commissioners unanimously adopted pointed resolutions for immediate settlement or abandonment of the project at a special meeting held in Warren Tuesday, says the Warren Sheaf.

Only one case in the Mud Lake appeals was disposed of in district court last week when the jury awarded a verdict of $480 for a quarter section of land last Saturday morning after three days of trial, according to A. C. Swanby, clerk of court. This verdict was awarded in favor of the Deposit Bank and Trust company of Minnesota.

The jury resumed its work for the second case Monday morning, this case being Parcel 335 with title held by Josephine Nichols and A. M. Schanke & Company represented by W. O. Braggans. The jury has made two trips to the Mud Lake area to inspect the lands involved in this action. Testimony was still being taken at noon Wednesday on the action.

Judge James E. Montague of Crookston, who is presiding at the term, dismissed the jurors who were not called for this particular case yesterday afternoon and when this case is completed those hearing this trial will also be dismissed. Court will then be adjourned until after January 1, when a new jury venire will be called into service for the cases, according to Mr Swanby.

Yesterday a large delegation of residents of the Holt and Middle River communities appeared before the county board in opposition to the Mud Lake project. This delegation presented strong arguments to the board showing why the project should not be allowed. Some of the settlers also testified before the board that they were not anxious to move from their homes, but were willing if given reasonable remuneration for their farms.

Judge Brattland Host to Council and County Board

District Judge M. A. Brattland and Court Reporter Harley Swenson were hosts Tuesday to members of the city council and the county board at an informal housewarming in their new quarters in the Auditorium provided and equipped thru the cooperation of the two official bodies. Judge Brattland expressed satisfaction with the convenience and comfort provided by the rooms.

POULTRY GROUP RENAMES FOUR OF ITS DIRECTORS

Yonke, Woolson, Brahs and Oen Are Re-elected Thursday

Four directors of the Pennington County Poultry association were re-elected for a two-year term last Thursday on the closing day of the poultry show at the Auditorium sponsored by the organization.

Those elected were William Yonke of St. Hilaire, H. C. Woolson, Henry Oen and Carl Brahs. Directors holding over include Benhard Ranum of Rosewood, C. H. Toomey, B. O. Norby, Vernon Copp and W. H. Quist.

An agreement was reached at the meeting to hold the 1936 show during the second full week in December. It was also decided that all turkeys entered in the market class in next year's event must then be dressed and judged in the dressed class.

An admission fee of 50 cents will be charged.

Officers of the alumni association include Don Snyder, president; John Arnold, vice president; Miss Agnes Tandberg, secretary; and C. W. Pope, treasurer.

"Thanks a Million" at the Avalon Next Sunday; Matinee Christmas Day

Numerous stage, screen and radio stars appear in "Thanks a Million", the offering at the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday. Among those appearing in the large cast are Dick Powell, Ann Dvorak, Fred Allen, Paul Whiteman and his band, Patsy Kelly and Rubinoff. Next Wednesday and Thursday Manager A. M. Holte will present "So Red the Rose", based on the popular Civil War story by Stark Young. In the cast are Walter Connolly, Randolph Scott, Elizabeth Patterson and Janet Beecher. A special matinee performance will be given Christmas day.

Lincoln Debaters Supply Rotary Program Tuesday

The program for the Rotary club luncheon Tuesday noon was supplied by four Lincoln high school students who participated in a debate on the advantages and disadvantages of socialized medical service. The affirmative was upheld by Van Belcher and Margaret McKechnie, and the negative by Morris Engelstad and Oscar Bickley. Next week's meeting of the club will be held Monday noon instead of Tuesday, it was announced.

Local Residents Got Safely by Friday 13th

Superstitious residents of this community breathed easier after getting safely by last Friday, which was also the 13th day of December. Police Chief A. B. Stenberg said that the day was uneventful, no mishaps of any kind being reported to his office. This was the second Friday the 13th of 1935, the first having come in September.

General Meeting of Woman's Club Held Monday Night

The second general meeting of the Woman's Club was held in the Woman's club room of the Municipal auditorium Monday evening, under the direction of the Current Events group. After the business meeting, Mrs. T. C. Orme, president of the club presiding, during which the club was informed that the room in which the meeting was taking place was to be their permanent room by consent of the council, a very interesting and instructive parliamentary drill was given led by Mrs. H. A. Brumund and Mrs. F. A. Lundgren, parliamentarians of the club. Following the drill, Mrs. C. W. Vorachek gave her report on the Woman's Club state convention held at Winona in October. This interesting report covered all the important phases of the convention. The Woman's Club Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Harold F. Harrison who is to be the director for the remaining club year, furnished the music by singing two selections, "The Angel" by Rubinstein and "Christmas Lullaby" by Charles Gabriel. The solo in the latter selection was taken by Miss Helen Margaret Olson. They were accompanied at the piano by Miss Erma Springen.

After the music, the playlet, Mrs. Rushington's Rest Cure, was presented by members of the Current Events group. Those included in the cast were Mrs. Andrew Bottleson, Mrs. J. McKechnie, Mrs. Glen Anderson, Mrs. O. Mayer-Oakes, Mrs. T. C. Orme, Mrs. Abbie Wasgren, Mrs. G. W. Booren, Mrs. E. O. Peterson and Mrs. M. T. McFarland.

At the conclusion of the meeting each member present laid her gift for the Christmas baskets under the lighted and beautifully decorated Christmas tree while the group as a whole sang Christmas carols. After the meeting lunch was served by the Current Events group at a table decorated in keeping with the season.

125 BUSHELS CORN LAST FOUR DAYS FEEDING DUCKS

Lamberton.—Boarding thousands of migrating ducks, the Martin County Game and Fish League avers, reflects the contemporary higher costs of living. The League put out $55 worth of corn—about 125 bushels. It lasted four days, as the ducks went in for corn in a big way and filled their gullets.

Growing With Your Child

Is the Bright Child Always a Problem

(By the Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota)

It is commonly remarked that a bright child is a problem child. Over and over again one hears it said that he who is superior in ability is difficult to handle, temperamental, more or less freakish in behavior, and almost certain not to live up to the bright promise given in his early years. While many investigations can be cited which show that superior children show many desirable traits of character and temperament, in a high degree, we may well search for the grain of truth which is often to be found in widely believed sayings. What observations have given rise to the often expressed opinion that bright children are unstable?

Among the small children brought to a behavior clinic was a case in which high intelligence was coupled with irritability, restlessness, and "naughtiness" in the opinion of the parent. Inquiry into the home situation showed that understanding of the child's needs was lacking. A very bright little girl was being intellectually starved. Her parents did not realize that she had needs quite different from those of the children of her own age with whom she played; that she had the tastes and capacities of an older child, but no way of turning them to advantage. She needed companionship at the right level, conversation, books, pictures, and materials to work with, for which other children of her chronological age were not ready. Small wonder her irritable restlessness annoyed her parents and made her a problem. She was in a thoroughly unsuitable setting, and had it not been for the early discovery of her ability, might easily have become, largely on account of it, a "problem child."

Sometimes the idea of the difficult personality of the unusually bright child is merited. It may happen that the parent, finding out that his child is something of a prodigy, spoils that child's chances for success and happiness by badgering him and always expecting too much in the way of accomplishment. He may be too anxious for the child to excel, because it is his child and the credit will rebound to him. Or, parents may make a child obnoxious by always talking of his brightness, and making him feel that virtually any peculiarity of behavior is excusable in an individual so highly endowed.

Investigators agree that bright children show more initiative than other children, that they are more imaginative, have more curiosity, can work better by themselves than the average child, and can also cooperate well. They have unusual powers of attention and of perseverance, as well as strong ambition. Some of the faults that are noticeable are carelessness and inaccuracy in detail, and indolence, or failure to accomplish in keeping with their ability. Superior children are popular socially, say their teachers, their ability as leader is marked, and, in keeping with their ability to get on well with others, their sense of humor is unusually keen.

It would appear probable that these children are "good" because they are intelligent. They can more easily see the results of conduct, the reflection of behavior in the attitudes of others. They appreciate more keenly the advantages of working and playing well with others, of taking responsibilities seriously.

The idea that a bright child is always a problem child is a mistaken one, but it is easy to see that it probably originated from observations of the striking cases in which the child was poorly handled by doting or over-ambitious parents.

SANTA CLAUS

THERE is a Santa Claus. His real name is Spirit of Charity. He is the symbol of benevolence, compassion and altruism. He is the ideal of that small legion of really human humans who pave unselfishly numerous paths to happiness with kindness, sympathy and charity.

He Was a Dutch Boy

Christmas was celebrated long before Santa Claus was ever thought of. His prototype was the Dutch boy bishop, St. Nicholas, who on December 6 used to go round punishing little children who did not say their prayers and rewarding those who did. Gradually he was changed from a boy into a jovial old man, while the sledge and reindeer are modern additions. Actually, Santa Claus was unknown in England a hundred years ago. The Dutch founders of New York introduced him to America, and England borrowed him from the States.—London Tit-Bits Magazine.

Believe in Yuletide for Dead

Kitzbuhel, Austria, is one of the few places in the world which believe that the dead should share in the Yuletide celebration. On Christmas eve, this picturesque little village in the Tyrol has, for many years, decorated each grave in its cemetery with a tree lighted by candles and other small lights.—Collier's Weekly.

Oen's

W. C. T. U. News Notes

In one of his recent reports to the people of his state, Gov. Frank D. Fritzgerald, of Michigan, reviewed the evils of the liquor traffic. The governor said in part:

"We have permitted conditions to grow up that demand drastic treatment. Government does not serve its full purpose if it fails to guard jealously and with all its power the moral well-being of the people.

"The evils of intemperate drinking remain with us whether we have prohibition or the legalized sale of liquor. Alcohol, improperly used, will kill, and it makes no difference whether it be the product of a bootlegger's plant or of a modern distillery. The suffering, disgrace, and the heartache are there, no matter who fills the bottle.

"In prohibition days we battled against the illicit maker and distributor. Today our battle is against the licensed distributor whose greed blinds him to his social responsibilities.

"The situation today with respect to the legalized liquor traffic is worse than it was in the dark days of the saloon. We have permitted conditions to grow up that demand drastic treatment—and drastic treatment is what I have prescribed with all the force at my command."

STUDENTS ENACT BURGLAR PLAY AS THIEVES GET CASH

Breckenridge.—While Junior high school students enacted a play, "Catch That Thief," last week at Breckenridge, a double for the villain did an even more real piece of acting backstage, rifling the building offices and escaping with the proceeds of the play. While the performers were showing a large audience how to catch that thief, a real thief was operating in the school building. The thief, or thieves, broke into every teacher's desk Friday evening. Monday morning it was discovered that thieves broke the vault door in the office of Superintendent Gilbertson and escaped with the proceeds of the play. The Juniors would like to catch the thief, and if they do, there will be no comedy or humor in the situation, such as filled their successful class drama. The real villain backstage must have gotten a bigger chuckle as he heard the laughs of the audience than those in the audience, as he considered the satiric humor of the situation.

VIKING

Rev. C. Edwin Anderson, who has for five and one-half years faithfully served four congregations, Viking, Rosewood, Foldahl and Strandquist, accepted a call to Dassel. He read his resignation about two months ago. A farewell reception was held for Rev. and Mrs. Anderson and little son Carroll Stewart by the Viking and Strandquist congregations at the Mission church last Friday evening. A program was rendered, short talks were given. They were handed a purse of money as a remembrance. Mrs. Anderson was presented a bouquet from the Ladies Aid and young people. They will be greatly missed in our circuits. Rev. Anderson has more than doubled the number of members in the church while he has been here and has been a good labour in his vineyard. We wish them God's blessing in the new place. They left for Dassel Tuesday, where Rev. Anderson will commence his ministry on Sunday.

The Zion Lutheran Congregation held their annual meeting and officers elected are the following. John Halvorson, president; Emil Gustafson, vice president; Henry Store, treasurer; J. O. 11 CHIROPRACTORS IN SAME FAMILY

Detroit Lakes.—W. R. Whittenberg of Detroit Lakes has the unique distinction of belonging to the second largest chiropractic family in the United States. In this family there are four brothers, two sisters, one son-in-law, two brothers-in-law, one niece and her husband, chiropractors everyone, making a total of eleven relatives following the profession. Something more than an accident happening years ago, but which has lost little vividness or reality with the passage of time, was the common stimulus that caused these people to turn to chiropractic for their life's work. More specifically, it was the Detroit Lakes practitioner himself who caused just about every member of the family to become a chiropractor.

O. Grinde and daughters Jeanette and Ileen were supper guests Sunday evening at the A. M. Barstad home. —Mr. and Mrs. Ole Lerol and family were visitors Sunday at the O. T. Gilbertson home.

Miss Altha Holthusen and brother Carl were brief callers on Saturday at the H. C. Woolson home. They presented the Woolson family with a beautiful Christmas tree which will also be enjoyed by Miss Holthusen's former pupils at Elwell school on Thursday evening. The day was spent shopping in Thief River and they returned to their home at Thorhult Saturday evening. —Everyone in this vicinity attended the community entertainment in Thief River Falls Friday and enjoyed it all. Much favorable comment has been heard concerning the old fashioned square dance by the Silverton group.

A farewell surprise party was given in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Anderson Wednesday evening at the church. A program of singing and testimonies served as the entertainment of the evening after which a delicious lunch was served. A purse of money was given for remembrance of the evening. —Mr. and Mrs. Emil Anderson and Miss Alice Mellem shopped in Thief River Falls Saturday.

IS VILLAGE TREASURER FOR HALF A CENTURY

Forest Lake—Altho he doesn't know exactly how many years he has served as Village Treasurer in Forest Lake, J. L. Simmons, veteran merchant, has served for at least half a century in that capacity, making one of the longest terms of service for a village officer in the state, if not the longest. No records as to when the village was established are available, since some years ago the records of the town were destroyed by fire. Mr. Simmons was chosen treasurer again at the elections of recent date. He was first elected to that position when the village was organized, and has held the office ever since, being reelected at the expiration of every term and having opposition only once during the 50 years or more.

A Gift for Santa

By Frances Grinstead

"FELICIA, I forgot to bring anything for your Uncle Hurry!"

Father, mother, and daughter—halfway through high school were in a huddle in the pantry, with the kid brother Ripley ("Rip" for short) hovering curiously beyond the door.

"He won't care, Dad." The pretty brunette girl relieved her father of his bundles. "With his radio act going over in a big way he can buy anything he likes. I hope he remembers a wrist watch with a little diamond is nicer than a wrist watch with none."

"Whatever he gives you, Felicia, act as if it's what you want most," her mother warned. "Horrigan would rather be appreciated than anything else in the world. He knows I like pretty negligees. I let him know how I enjoy his presents."

"Did you get the new ornaments?" Mother asked.

"Here, don't bother that. It's this one." Father tried to take off his muffler while watching the parcels, with eight-year-old Rip calling, "Aren't you ever going to say 'Hello, Dad?'"

"Sure, son! I was helping Santa with his pack, that's all."

"Santa, humph! Did you get my bicycle?"

"We'll see! We'll see!" As he went upstairs, trailed by boyish impatience, the words floated back, "I simply forgot Hurry. There'd have been time if I'd—"

His Arms Were Full of Holly-Papered Parcels.

"Felicia can go to the haberdasher's right here," his wife solved the matter. "The important thing is to get the tree finished and the gifts spread under it before Hurry comes. He always admires my tree, Felicia, buy him one gift from your father and me and one from you and your brother."

"What would Uncle Hurry like mother?"

"M-mm. He has everything he needs, and he never mentions anything he wants. Ask the clerk to suggest something."

The silver star was aglow, the last fat Santa Claus clinging to a limb, Felicia's purchases had been hastily wrapped in golden and green tissue, when the door burst open admitting Horrigan Carter of "Hurry and Haste" radio comedy team. His arms were full of red, green and holly-papered parcels, and behind him came the cheery chauffeur, his arms full, too.

"Drop 'em, James, my lad. Now hurry to that girl of yours and make hay while the snow falls. Come for me at eleven. Here, don't you need a little extra? It's Christmas." Uncle Hurry put a bill in the man's hand and clapped the door shut.

"Ri-i-pley!" called Felicia, flinging open the dining room door.

In the midst of discarded outer wrappings, a red-faced small boy was struggling with tissue and ribbons.

"Aw, gee, F'lice, I wanted to tie it myself. Aw, gee! Why'd you have to go open the door? I spent all the money I earned cuttin' lawns last summer and shovelin' snow this week, an'— Aw, gee, it's a fine gift. If I could get it fixed, it would look swell."

Uncle Hurry jumped to close the door. "Go ahead, old fellow. We won't look."

"It's no use. Everybody's saw." Rip came toward them with the gift protruding from its wrappings. It was a salad bowl with a wooden mixing spoon.

"Who's it for, Ripley?" mother asked.

"Uncle Hurry."

Felicia began to laugh. "What a gift for Uncle Hurry! Why, Rip, you give salad bowls to ladies, not men."

Rip looked disconsolate. "He said he wanted it. We were passing that shop where they sell old things and he said—you did, Uncle Hurry, you said, 'Jove, what a quaint salad bowl. I'd like that.'"

"Of course I did. Next day when I went to buy it for my kitchenette they said it had been put aside for someone. It's great to get it this way!"

"I guess even Santa Claus would rather what he wanted was given to him than to buy it for himself," said Rip wisely.

Carver's Language

Few people are aware that such a pleasant Yuletide task as carving has a language of its own, which has nothing to do with exasperation. Forgetting for a moment the ubiquitous turkey, which apparently is only "carved," an expert cites the following terms as appropriate to the occasion: Allay a pheasant, Chine a salmon, Mince a plover, Barb a lobster, Lift a swan, Spoil a hen, Unbrace a duck, Disfigure a peacock, Dismember a heron, Thigh a woodcock, and Tame a crab. In the Middle ages, when most of these picturesque terms were evolved, herons, being as common as starlings today, were a favorite Christmas dish amongst the poor; while the rich granted the peacock the place of honor at their banquets.—London Tit-Bits Magazine.

Shipped Adulterated Lard

Between the years 1880 and 1890 a large fraudulent trade in adulterated lard was carried on from the United States. A great proportion of the American lard imported into England was found to consist of a mixture of lard with cottonseed oil and beef-stearin.

Physicians Applaud National Campaign to Sell Christmas Seals

Deaths from tuberculosis have constantly decreased in the United States in the last 28 years. This decrease does not mean that tuberculosis is no longer dangerous.

Members of the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association endorse the continuous fight against tuberculosis financed by the Christmas Seals in their regular bulletin issued today because they believe the Minnesota death rate from this dread disease would rise swiftly if the fight campaign against the disease were allowed to lapse.

"Tuberculosis is the same menace it always was, only our defences against it have improved," the doctors say in this bulletin.

"These defenses have not been allowed to fall down even during the hard depression years, thanks largely to the energetic campaign waged continuously by the Christmas Seal organizations. Thanks to this campaign our Minnesota death rate is 35.4 for each 100,000 this year as compared to about 110 per 100,000 in 1907."

Recent interesting figures from Puerto Rico are cited to bear out the statement. In pre-depression years the tuberculosis death rate in the island was about 100 per 100,000 population. Health and sanitary measures were neglected during the depression years and the rate promptly sky rocketed. Last year's death rate was three times as high as a result of this neglect and in spite of the fact that life is a little easier on the tuberculous in a tropical island where food and shelter and sunshine are not difficult to secure.

There is no doubt in the minds of the physicians that the same thing would happen in Minnesota if the fight against tuberculosis is relaxed in any of its phases here.

12,000-POUND LOOT TAKEN FROM FARM

Canby—Robbers in the vicinity of Canby go in for things in a big way, and are not satisfied with thefts of less than a dozen or more tons. A daring robbery which must have required at least two large trucks to carry was perpetrated recently at the barns of Peter Lanners. Lanners spent the night away and discovered the theft the following morning. Included in the loot was over 200 bushels of Marquis No. 1 wheat, raised in 1931; six Poland China brood sows, weighing from 300 to 400 pounds; 23 spring pigs weighing between 50 and 75 pounds; 60 old Rhode Island Red hens and 40 springs. The total weight of the stolen goods is estimated at about 12,000 pounds, and should be enough to set someone up in the farming business. Traces were found to two heavy trucks, neither of the trailer type, which must have been needed to carry away the load. No trace has yet been found of the goods, altho markets are being watched.

MANY PERMANENT EDIFICES BEING BUILT UNDER WPA

7th District Administrator Lists Projects in His Area

"Permanent Public Works" is the slogan of the 7th District Works Progress Administration, and also the answer to the request of Victor Christgau, State Administrator, that projects of permanency and lasting benefit be erected in the state, which will serve as monuments to the effectiveness of the WPA program.

As a result of this effort, the fifteen counties that comprise the Seventh District, are dotted with projects such as community halls, school houses and public buildings. One of the most outstanding projects of this kind is the Sports' Arena at Bemidji. This building is being erected at a cost of $22,00, and covers a space of 195x166 feet. The frame structure is divided into three parts, providing space for curling hockey and general skating. Across the front is a warming room and other facilities for the comfort of the patrons. Other buildings at Bemidji, are the forest ranger station, costing $9,500 and a county highway garage of masonry and wood materials at an estimated cost of $23,500.

An enclosed Skating Rink is being erected of lazed tile at Thief River Falls, at a cost of $25,000. A $6,000 Bath-house is contemplated on the shore of the artificial lake at Hawley and grandstands are being constructed in several towns.

Red Lake Falls will have a $24,000 Community building, a one story brick structure with a full basement. This building is 59x116 feet, and will house the fire department and provide a large auditorium. Other community buildings include: a $24,800 stone structure at the park in Moorhead, a $21,300 building at Perley, a $13,500 Hall at Flom, a $12,000 pavilion at the fair grounds at Ada, and a beautiful $5,300 chapel of mottled stone in the cemetery near Bagley.

A fire hall is now under construction at Frazee, at a cost of $6,000. County highway garages are being constructed at Pelican Rapids and Roseau, of concrete blocks and monolithic concrete. Two school houses are under construction; one a $14,000 School at Alida, Clear water County, and the other a $6,700 building in Holmesville, Becker county.

Detroit Lakes will have an excellent municipal golf course with water fairways. The course will be completely reconstructed and the club house repaired, and the entire project will cost approximately $40,000. Work has also been started on a municipal golf course at Mahnomen.

GOVERNOR OLSON'S PENSION BILL TO BE INTRODUCED TODAY

Payments to Aged Would Not be Based on Need, Plan Provides

Governor Floyd Olson's recommendation to the special session of the legislature for submission to the people of a constitutional amendment empowering the state to pay pensions to the aged will be introduced in the form of a bill in the Minnesota house today.

The measure, drafted by members of the liberal faction of the house, headed by Rep. Harold H. Barker of Elbow Lake, provides for submission of an amendment giving to the legislature "authority to grant old age pensions to all residents of the state who have attained the age of 65 years".

"Taxes levied for the purpose of providing funds to pay such pensions," it states, "shall be deemed to be levied for a public purpose."

The governor, who favors pensions based on "reward for service," rather than "need", said in his special message that under the state constitution, "no state moneys can be paid to any person except for services rendered the state, or for relief on the basis of need."

The Barker bill would comply with his suggestion that a constitutional amendment be submitted to the people at the next general election.

Lagging behind the senate, which has its committee old age pension bill ready for introduction on the floor Thursday, the house public welfare committee is still withholding action on its measure.

Observations on Trip to California

By Joel E. Shoberg

Following is another in the series of articles written by Joel E. Shoberg, Rosewood correspondent of the Times, who is spending the winter in California.

Just west of Redwood Falls is located the beautiful Ramsey county state park. Anybody who enjoys the merry-go-round and the crazy house at the county fairs would be delighted to drive in this park where the road is one continuous curve and up one hill and down another. The scenery is the most beautiful, the gardens and pathways well kept and trimmed in accordance with the surroundings. Perhaps the chief attraction especially in the fall of the year is the Zoo. Eight buffaloes graze here in the majestic surroundings and seem well contented with their captivity. In a long netting enclosure we see a variety of animals, wolves, wildcats, badgers, porcupine, racoons, foxes and other species.

From Redwood Falls we went to Slayton where two former Rosewood families, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Furan and Mr. and Mrs. Peder Sagmoen reside. We spent the night here and also visited the government transient camp where unemployed are given care and feed by the government in cases of need. At Slayton corn picking was on the order and the typical three double box with high backboards were seen in numerous fields. There were only few mechanical pickers, and the farmers told us these costing from $600 to $800, were too high priced to be popular. Much hired help is used for corn picking and much of the corn also here is sold commercially.

Stopping for a few hours in Pipestone we viewed some of the moulding work done at the large Indian Industrial school located there from the claylike pipestone. This clay of dark red color is rather soft as it is taken from the ground but becomes exceedingly hard when exposed to the sun, and all imaginable articles is made therefrom and sold for souvenirs and also useful articles. It has great value also for larger commercial articles. An Indian legend we were told held that the red color of the pipestone on this particular hill was caused from a huge Indian massacre here hundreds of years ago, and when the bloodshed was so great that it penetrated the [illegible] tically all western states however has it from one to three per cent.

At Sioux City we spent half a day going thru the huge Morrell packing plant operating night and day, employing from 1200 to 1600 men, shipping out from 20 to 30 carloads of meat products every day and rendering daily up to 50,000 pounds of lard. Visitors are shown every courtesy here and it is indeed a pleasure to view the huge machinery and the accurateness and cleanliness by which all meats are handled, from the moment the animal is almost painlessly rendered unconscious, and until the finished product is carted in neat cartons and boxes into the waiting railroad box car, even that owned and carrying the name of the packing manufacturer.

Yankton, South Dakota famous up north for its original and string band programs over WNAX radio station is a very nice city and has wider streets than I believe of any city of its size that we passed thru. We had planned on visiting WNAX too to send a radio message back home, but as we reached town very late and were scheduled to meet a family in Nebraska that same day we had to pass this up. Just south of Yankton is an almost mile long bridge over the Missouri river which also is the boundary between South Dakota and Nebraska. This is a toll bridge and every automobile is taxed 50 cents and every pedestrian 10 cents. Not much danger of Nebraska farm trade flowing into South Dakota at this point.

In practically every town and village in Nebraska there is speed limit signs of 12 miles per hour. This seems rather old fashioned and we do not believe many motorists lived up to the letter of the law in this respect. As a whole Nebraska has poor motor roads, practically all sand roads and on many places very rough and washboardy.

In Nebraska hogs and watermellons flourish and the eastern half is a great corn country. Dairying is also at its height here, and even straw is taken great care of.

We are now heading for Wausau, Nebraska where we have an invitation to spend a day at Rev. C. E. Anderson's parental home.

Soybeans Are Used to Make Automobile Parts

Yes, they are using soybeans in the manufacture of automobiles; and, apparently, a lot of them. Information received at University Farm, St. Paul, says that at the Ford River Rouge plant, a huge mill for making molded automobile parts from soybeans is now nearing completion, and when completed will have cost about $5,000,000. It is said that the plastic mill will be the largest factory in the world devoted to processing farm products for industrial use. The announcement is good news for soybean growers, but it is also good news for farmers generally, for it shows how science is finding new markets for farm products by finding new uses for them. That is just another way in which science is helping to solve the big economic problems of American farmers.

Rehearings Possible

The Supreme court of the United States will allow rehearings under certain circumstances. The petition for rehearing, under the Supreme court rules, must be filed within 25 days of the rendering of judgment.

Birds' Nests for Soup

Birds' nests used by Chinese for making into soup are about the size of an oyster shell, and it takes 32 to weigh a pound. The soup costs about ten shillings a bowl.

GRYGLA

Guests at the R. F. Sandberg home last Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Bjorkman and son, Leo Duffield and Miss Gertrude Engelbert and Anna O. Brown. Mrs. Brown will remain at her home here until after the holidays.

Ethel Moquin now teaching school in the Erie vicinity was a Saturday evening guest of Gertrude Engelbert. —Cliff Lunde just returned from Ada where he has been employed and will remain here until after the holidays.

Swan Larson and Jacob Anderson of the Jelle community were shoppers in the village this week.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Johnson were holiday shoppers at Thief River on Tuesday. Wednesday O. J. went to Warren to attend to his official duties.—Ed Geving, a former resident of the village was a pleasant visitor last Saturday. Somehow Ed just cannot stay away from the old place. —The construction on the power line continues at a rapid pace altho due to delay in some of the materials it is doubtful if Grygla will have its own electricity by Christmas. Tho maybe somewhat late in coming it shall be very welcome when it does.

Due to poor drainage, the sight voted for the new school at the first election had to be abandoned and another meeting was called and held last week. Another new site was chosen, where Rush's barn now stands, just north of Grandpa Nygaard's residence. This should make a suitable place and with some landscaping will present a beautiful and useful addition to our town.

Combination Livestock Sale Will be Conducted at Winter Shows Feb. 6

Prominent livestock breeders of the Red River Valley have decided to hold a combination sale on Thursday of Winter Shows Week, February 6, 1936. For many years, livestock sales featured the Winter Shows program but these were discontinued during the past few years due to the severity of the depression and consequent lack of demand for purebred breeding stock. The marked recovery in market and purebred livestock which has now taken place resulted in the appointment of special sales committee by the directors of the Red River Valley Livestock Breeders' association at their regular fall meeting. The response from breeders indicated a desire to re-establish the sale feature.

According to O. M. Kiser, secretary of the Red River Valley Livestock Breeders' association, the following are contributing breeding animals for the forthcoming sale: Holstein cattle: E. E. Carman, Ada; M. L. Enright, East Grand Forks; W. W. Sugden, Hallock; J. H. Sargent, Crookston; Northwest Experiment Station, Crookston. Jersey cattle: Arwin Lippert, Bertha. Shorthorn cattle: Ingvald Hanson, Twin Valley; Emil Lerud, Twin Valley; M. E. Dahle, Twin Valley, Aaron Legg, Forest River, N. D.; and Northwest Experiment Station. Aberdeen Angus cattle: Onstad & Co., Ada; Lofgren-McGregor, Ada. Hereford Cattle: Schermerhorn Farms, Mahnomen.

Poland China swine: J. H. Sargent; Arthur Ladwig, Rothsay, Northwest Experiment station. Duroc Jersey swine: Harry Marsden, Hendrum; Henry Leyh, Bertha. Shropshire Sheep: Johnstad & Sons, Beltrami, Arwin Lippert; Anderson Bros., Wild Rice, N. D. Southdown sheep: Anderson Bros.

Bristol Depot Huge

Temple Meads station at Bristol, England, is the largest covered freight depot in the world.

Use Sleigh Bells for Jolly Christmas Game

HERE is a new and exciting game to play at a Christmas party. First borrow a set of sleigh bells. They are not as easy to find as in the old days. Find a string with tuneful, varying notes if you wish the game to jingle to the full measure of holiday fun.

The idea is simply this: It is possible to suggest, then control the action of a person who does not know what is in your mind, but must find out through the sound of the bells. Here is the way to do it:

Send one of the guests from the room. The remainder decide what he must do. For instance—go to a certain table, pick up a book, take it to another table and place it near the lamp. Here are four separate acts in succession.

The person outside is called back. Somebody has been chosen to be manipulator of the bells. He must use a nice judgment in using them, ringing softly when the act approaches what is in the minds of all; ringing loudly as the perplexed player moves away. Try it. Use subtle gradations of sound to guide your experiment. Without a word being spoken he will at last be guided to do what has been secretly agreed upon. Loud ringing when he is far away from his goal or going from it, soft, soft, barely audible when he is near the doing of what is required.—Martha Banning Thomas.

Christmas Bells! and Joyous Wedding Bells!

CEDARVILLE! Ce—dar—ville! With a jerk the great Christmas train came to a stop and the next moment Sylvia and Bob were filing their way through the happy, smiling Christmas passengers laden with parcels, boxes, suitcases and good will! Christmas! Christmas everywhere!

Off they hopped and hurried through the blinding snow storm to the house on the side of the hill, the old familiar homestead of Sylvia Bronson. There it stood in its snowy coat and Christmas welcome—much the same as when she had left it but a year before.

"Just think, to be married on Christmas, Bob. The grandest day in the whole year. Isn't it wonderful? Let's hurry, I can hardly wait to see Mother!"

Bob acquiesced by a tighter grip of Sylvia's arm and a genial smile of understanding.

Stamping and brushing the feathery flakes from them, they opened the door and were almost smothered with greetings and shouts of "Merry Christmas" from the whole family.

What a sight! Christmas bells! Wedding bells!

The tree itself was one glittering mass of lights and miniature bells—bells of gold and bells of silver. Even beneath its branches stood a huge bell-shaped container simply loaded down with Christmas gifts—wedding gifts—all for this one night of nights!—Alice B. Palmer.

Piccard, Stratosphere Expert, to Teach at U

The University of Minnesota will have the first chair of instruction in the stratosphere yet established in America, and to fill it during the spring quarter, beginning in April, has appointed Professor Jean F. Piccard, famous the world over as one of the two brothers who made the first stratosphere flight in Belgium and who subsequently has made stratosphere flights that have added tremendously to the scientific world's knowledge of the upper area. Announcement of his appointment for a quarter of three months was made at a meeting of the Board of Regents on December 12.

CHRISTMAS
(Washington Irving)

There is something in the very season of the year that gives a charm to the festivity of Christmas. At other times we derive a great portion of our pleasures from the mere beauties of nature. Our feelings sally forth and dissipate themselves over the sunny landscape and we "live abroad and everywhere." The song of the bird, the murmur of the stream, the breathing fragrance of spring, the soft voluptuousness of summer, the golden pomp of autumn; earth with its mantle of refreshing green, and heaven with its deep, delicious blue and its cloudy magnificence,—all fill us with mute but exquisite delight, and we revel in the luxury of mere sensation. But in the depth of winter, when nature lies despoiled of every charm, and wrapped in her shroud of sheeted snow, we turn for our gratifications to moral sources. The dreariness and desolation of our landscape, the short gloomy days and darksome nights, while they circumscribe our wanderings, shut in our feelings also from rambling abroad, and make us more keenly disposed for the pleasures of the social circle. Our thoughts are more concentrated; our friendly sympathies are aroused. We feel more sensibly the charm of each other's society, and are brought more closely together by dependence on each other for enjoyment. Heart calleth unto heart, and we draw our pleasures from the deep wells of living kindness which lie in the quiet recesses of our bosoms; and which, when resorted to, furnish forth the pure element of domestic felicity.

IGNORE THE ONE GREAT DEFECT

In taking the first step toward a revision of light and power rates the council apparently is ignoring the one great defect in the present schedules that should be remedied if the results of the rate changes are to have any value in guiding future revision. This necessary change is the adoption of a one-meter system.

The two-meter system was adopted a few years ago to encourage the installation of electric ranges and incidentally increase the day load. In theory the low cooking rate was to apply only to heating equipment. In many homes, however, the privileges of a low cooking rate are being abused and not only are all household appliances plugged in on the cooking rate line but in some instances floor lamps and other lighting equipment are also connected to the low rate lines. This practice would not be so improper if all consumers took advantage of it but it is obviously unfair to the large group of consumers who have only a one-meter installation or those who have the two meters but who use the low rate current only as it is intended that it should be used.

There are consumers in the city who would have to pay more money for the current they are using under a one meter system even if rates were substantially reduced. That situation is so unfair to the majority of consumers that for this reason alone it should receive first consideration in the revision of schedules. And as long as this condition continues it will be impossible to properly estimate the result of further rate revisions that should follow from time to time until our rates get down to where they will compare favorably with schedules of other cities of this size.

LOCAL RELIEF ADMINISTRATION

For the first eleven months of this year relief expenditures by the city of Thief River Falls total approximately $8,500, indicating that the total for the year will be over $10,000. In addition to these expenditures, a considerable portion of the relief burden in the city was carried by the FERA which was functioning to some extent up to the first of August. On the basis of the experience of the last four months it is not unreasonable to assume that on the present scale the city's relief costs will total at least $15,000 a year.

Considering the amount of money involved, we believe the council acted wisely in hiring a full time relief supervisor. During the past year the ward aldermen have attempted to take care of their own ward relief problems. The results have been far from satisfactory. Relief on so large a scale cannot be administered justly and efficiently without constant supervision. It is not to be expected that the aldermen themselves should devote their time to routine investigations of individual needs. Centralization of the authority and responsibility under one head, subject in turn to a review by the council as a whole, should therefore be in the interests of those who deserve relief as well as those who pay for it.

Governor Olson is indignant because the Federal Government refuses to become involved in Minnesota's internal crime problems. His excellency resents the occasional references by federal officials to the Twin Cities as crime centers. Perhaps these federal officials who are unwilling to co-operate feel as many Minnesota citizens do about this situation; that Governor Olson himself could put an end to much of this racketeering in a short time if he wished. Most of this racketeering centers around the liquor traffic. Governor Olson has full authority to police the liquor traffic. If this traffic is dominated by the "Kid Cann" type of gangster, that is the Governor's responsibility. For him to plead ignorance to a rotten condition that has prevailed in the state's liquor administration would be ridiculous. The Governor is too much a "man of the world" to say he does not know what is going on. And even if he doesn't know what is going on in the far corners of the state, he certainly knows what the situation is in his own fair city of Minneapolis where he served several terms as county attorney without any organized opposition. If the Governor wants to make a serious attempt to rid Minnesota of its criminals, he, better than anyone else, knows where to start.

PRESIDENTIAL LOGIC
(Wadena Pioneer Journal)

President Roosevelt informs us that American print paper manufacturers are unable to supply domestic needs. He is right. They were obliged to shut down months ago by foreign print paper makers who are able to under-sell them in the home market. Carrying the President's theory to its conclusion would result in our going out of dairying, poultry raising, and in fact everything else. We cannot compete with the foreigner because the wage scale is much higher in this country, which makes for higher production costs. Incidently, that is what enables us to maintain a much higher level of living than is to be found in any other country on the face of the earth. Again, incidently, the tariff is largely responsible for our riding in automobiles, having radios and telephones in our homes, and everything else that goes to make life worth living.

MIXED UP A MIGHTY BAD BREW
(Grand Rapids Herald-Review)

Two families from Itasca county who went to the Matanuska Valley have returned.

It is now stated that of 15 families who went from St. Louis county only one family will remain after the last boat leaves on December 8th.

Those who have gone and will return complain of politics, deception, loss and waste. Many of them lost what little money they may have had. They state that the poorest land in Minnesota is better than the best in Alaska. There is a short season with ice under the surface of the ground. Hay cannot be matured for cattle. Vegetables seldom mature and when they do they are usually of poor quality. The government is spending millions in a wasteful, extravagant and senseless manner. Publicity distorts the real facts.

Eventually the truth will come out. The Alaskan experiment will be a failure. When the searchlight of truth is placed upon many of the resettlement and other projects in the United States there will be some more unpleasant reading.

The professors and the politicians have mixed up a mighty bad brew for the people of the nation.

NO "ECONOMY" IN GOVERNOR'S LEXICON
(Little Falls Transcript)

The present governor of Minnesota has delivered his fifth official message to the state legislature and a peculiar quirk of the one delivered last week and noticeable in all preceding ones is that the governor offered no suggestion to the state body on how to reduce expenses, but is asking for more money in the way of taxes. He has never yet in any of his messages tried to show the way for less spending, but has always pleaded for more money, which means more taxes. The state, with a balance of three million five years ago, is now facing a deficit of $6,350,000. Minnesota is fast coming to the end of the lane and unless the legislature makes some curtailment we will soon be in bankruptcy.

FORGOTTEN MAN HONORED
(The Nation)

When the poor boy attains riches and honor in the fullness of years, he gets his name in the paper. And when the reverse happens, it is still news.

Thus, six years ago the Nation published in its correspondence columns a letter complaining of the fact that Eugene Augustus Lauste, inventor of the device by which sound is recorded and reproduced photographically—the method of producing the talking picture—"enfeebled by age and broken in health" was practically without resources and "dependent upon the uncertain help of a few friends."

One of the patent attorneys of the Bell Telephone laboratories ran across the letter, verified it, and as a result, Mr. Lauste was made a member of the technical staff of the Bell laboratories. The Smithsonian Institution has accepted a model of his system for sound pictures; he has been made an honorary member of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers. And at 80 or thereabouts he may be presumed to be no longer eating the hard bread of charity, but to be self-supporting with a satisfactory amount of fame to boot.

Thus is cited as an example of gratitude occasionally displayed, even in hardboiled capitalist America, to individuals who have performed some service to the state or to industry.

There is only one thing to add to this pleasant tale. The letter of 1929 mentioned not only Mr. Lauste but Jean Acme LeRoy, designer and inventor of the first motion picture projection machine, the cinematograph. He also was described as of dead poor and half paralyzed. So far no word has come of a better fortune for him.

"CHINA CLIPPER" AS "A SYMBOL"
(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

Asia now is but five days from the United States. Canton, China, the Asiatic terminus of the line, can be reached in that time, instead of the two weeks or more taken by ocean liners. The flight of the China Clipper is, in a way, a plea for peace, for only under peace is such an international service possible. Commercial relations can prosper only when there is amity. Stable conditions in all countries must be assured if man is to continue his conquest of time and space. The China Clipper is a symbol of man's efforts and ability and a hope of greater things to come.

Last Monday evening Walter W. Liggett, the crusading editor of the Mid-West American, was shot down as he stepped out of his automobile. About a year ago, Howard Guilford, editor of the Saturday Press, met death in much the same manner. The perpetrators of the Guilford murder have never been arrested. Both these editors were of the crusading type, and directed their efforts against the liquor gang, the racketeers and the officials whom they charged with more or less connection with the criminal elements. One need not agree with their journalistic methods to accord them the rights of a free press, and to condemn the official attitude that turns on the crusader rather than against the criminal elements against which he is crusading. He is entitled to life and to a free statement of his opinion, subject only to the laws of libel. Minneapolis is in a bad way.—Morris Tribune.

MUSKRATS DYING BY THOUSANDS IS CLAIM

Lakefield—Thousand of dead muskrats are being found around the Heron Lake area, according to "Babe" Beam, speaking before a recent game and fish meeting of sportsmen in Lakefield, but no one is allowed to take a single pelt, and the game commission is unable to make any provision to take care of them. The rats were almost a nuisance to farmers husking corn in the fields near the lake. It is stated they wandered away from the lake and were found humped up, dead, everywhere. The state game and fish commission has explained that there were two other places in the state where the same condition exists, but that no permission could be granted to take the rats for their pelts for the reason that everyone would do likewise in every part of the state where this condition did not exist.

METEOR LIGHTS UP MILLE LACS DISTRICT

Isle—Night was turned into day for a few seconds near Isle recently, when a meteor, flashing down toward earth, caused a blue-white glow that extended for miles. Describing a big arc through the heavens, the meteor looked as if it might have ended up somewhere in the neighborhood of McGregor. As far away as Duluth and Brainerd the phenomenon was plainly visible. In the wake of the meteor was a trail of wavering flame. Just before it disintegrated it broke in two. The pieces disappeared instantly. The whole show lasted only a few seconds. People for miles around were startled at the sight. The light was so bright that people in houses had the impression that a car had driven into the yard and was flashing its headlights at the windows.

PUBLIC OPINION

Expressions of opinion on timely subjects are invited and welcomed to this department of The Times. Letters should be of reasonable length, and the name should be signed, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Letters duplicated to other local newspapers are not desired.

Editor of the Times:

I see by the paper that the Council contemplates changing the rates charged for electricity. I believe that this is a proper move but in making the change we should have some public discussion on the matter and try and determine just what we as a city want to do.

First: do we want to continue to tax the use of electricity as we have done in the past, or do we want to sell it as nearly at cost as possible? Second: if we do tax it do we wish to put a higher rate of tax on the small consumer than on the large? (It seems to me that the proposed amendment would do that).

I have given considerable thot to this matter of rates, and it appears to me that if consumers using between 26 and 225 kilowatts are charged 7 cents per kilowatt, that a charge of seven and one-tenth cents for those using below 25 kilowatts would be reasonable and fair as there is very little difference in the cost of selling to two small consumers over selling to one large one. I have heard some discussion in regard to rates, and it seems as tho many people in determining rates to be charged give too much consideration to how much is being charged by others giving the same service, this should of course be looked at, but the first thing to consider is: how much does it cost to make and distribute this product? Second: how much profit do we wish to make?

Whatever profit we make I believe should be used to retire Light Plant bonds and make necessary additions to the plant as needed. Perhaps it would be well for the Council to call for a public hearing upon the matter and ask that all those interested appear and discuss the problem of rate revision.

Northfield Breeder of Turkeys Loses $5,700 to an Insolvent Buyer

F. D. Blake, erstwhile president of the Austin Poultry and Egg Company, Inc., now in the hands of receivers, is under guard in a Minneapolis hospital following the serving of a warrant by Sheriff Frank Weir of Rice county. Blake is wanted on charges of obtaining property under false pretenses as a result of an alleged deal for 1,500 turkeys obtained from Mrs. Ann J. Cook, Northfield turkey raiser, says the Northfield News. He recently underwent an operation in Minneapolis.

As a result of Blake's operations, in which he is said to have given Mrs. Cook worthless checks, the Northfield woman stands to lose $5,731.50, the entire proceeds of a year's work, partly financed by borrowed capital. Mrs. Cook had previously sold turkeys to Blake's company and made a deal with him before Thanksgiving this year for the bulk of her fine 1935 flock. Five truckloads were taken to Austin on Blake's alleged promise to mail her checks for them, and were killed, dressed and shipped to Chicago and Boston, it is said. Checks given in payment were refused at the banks, and the Austin concern is now said to be closed as insolvent.

"Investigation shows that this concern has had no bond or license since last May, as the law requires, and the state commissioner of agriculture has been aware of the situation all of the time," W. W. Pye, who is prosecuting the matter for Mrs. Cook, said.

Capitol News Review
By A. I. Harris

The difference between the liberal and conservative groups in the special session of the Legislature is not whether the state should undertake certain social security measures but rather whether the necessary funds shall be secured by taxing wealth or by taxing poverty.

We would really be approaching the millenium if the conservatives departed from their age-old role as the protectors of wealth. But that time is not yet here. So it is nothing extraordinary to find the reactionary majority standing as a solid phalanx against any plan to tax those who have. They endeavor to conceal their true role by such expressions as, "we must not overburden business," even though this has no relationship to such things as increased inheritance taxes, increase in the upper brackets of the income tax, and other such sources of revenue proposed by Governor Olson.

But to say that conservatives do not progress is not stating the entire truth. The very fact that they are accepting the necessity for social security legislation is an indication that we are going forward, even though this acceptance is based on political welfare rather than sincere conviction.

That Minnesota will have the largest water conservation program in America was assured when WPA authorities approved 173 projects totalling $1,164,000. Artificial reservoirs to store waters that would otherwise run off as waste will be constructed. The reservoirs will permit water levels in Minnesota's lakes to be maintained and will help to combat drouth conditions such as those of the past few years.

It's not widely known, but Minnesota packs more canned corn than any other state in the nation. Only Wisconsin's pea pack exceeds Minnesota's. G. A. Vacha, chief bacteriologist of the state department of agriculture, dairy and food, also tells us that the quality of Minnesota canned products exceeds that of any other state.

This fall Minnesota canners packed 72,491,540 20-ounce cans of corn and 54,651,424 similar sized cans of peas—a new record pack for Minnesota. In addition to a record yield, the quality of corn and peas this year was high, Mr. Vacha said.

Despite the heavy pack by Minnesota canneries, Mr. Vacha said that most of their stocks have been sold out. There was an acute shortage because of the drought last year. It has been several years since any part of the country has produced a big pea crop.

A recent development in the Minnesota canning industry, according to Mr. Vacha, is the packing of tomato juice. Minnesota tomato juice is of the highest quality on the market and commands a premium.

And not so many years back, Minnesota was considered primarily a wheat growing state.

Governor Olson's new private secretary is well known throughout the state because of his activities over a number of years with the Farmer-Labor party. He is a business man from New Ulm, about 40 years old. Because he has had his hand in political affairs, he is also familiar with present problems of state. Prior to going into business with his brother, he was a school teacher. Among other things he is a trustee of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Minnesota and former chairman of the Farmer-Labor party state central committee.

Melvin C. Passolt is highly satisfied with the results the state crime bureau radio station has obtained. So far it has been active in the apprehension of a half dozen criminals. Among other things, the station now has a regular schedule with similar bureaus in the states of Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin and Iowa. Another feature of the station is the 7 p. m. daily broadcast of all crime information happenings the preceding 24 hours.

That A. C. Hanson, recently appointed director of game and fish, meant what he said has been indicated by a large number of arrests for game and fish violations within the past week or ten ten days. Apparently he was sincere in his promise to "crack down" on the deliberate law violator as outlined in his program when he assumed his new job with the department. Two Superior, Wisconsin, men recently paid $321 and lost their guns because of illegal spotlighting of deer in the Pine county refuge. A dozen or more arrests of a similar nature already made in Pine county will do much to clear up law violation as pertains to game and fish in that section of Minnesota.

The tourist bureau and the custodian's headquarters are never very happy to see the Legislature convene. To them it means moving day. Both are housed in rooms used by various committees during the periods the Legislature is not meeting. When the legislators come in, these offices go out—into the hall on the third floor.

When ice blankets Minnesota as it did last week end and the highways become slippery and dangerous, there is always a renewal of the discussion as to whether the state highway department should be equipped to keep all the main routes sanded. The part of the problem usually overlooked is that such service on the thousands of miles of trunk highways would cost far more than the highway department has to spend. The highway department does a large amount of sanding on curves, hills, and at crossroads, but when Mother Nature covers the whole state with ice about the best thing the average motorist can do is to drive as little as possible until conditions improve.

BEER IN CANS START OF NEW DEPRESSION!

Luverne—The kids of Luverne are bemoaning the introduction of canned beer which has taken from them a lucrative income for the picture show. Time was when they could bicycle out on "beer road" and find bottle which would easily bring them the price of a picture show with pennies to spare. And they had other favorite nooks which usually yielded four or five bottles worth two or three cents apiece. But the beer in cans idea has changed all that. The cans aren't worth a tinker's darn in the way of finances, as they can't be refilled. So we find another modern invention taking the income away from another group. No wonder we have depression.

Park Rapids—Thieves entered the Oliver Benson garage at Dorset last week and stole a welding outfit, complete with a cutting torch, a tank of acetylene gas and a tank of oxygen. They also took a Remington rifle, a Winchester rifle and a shot gun, together with about $5 in small change. As soon as the robbery was reported, Sheriff E. C. Churchill sent deputies to the scene and a careful check was made to obtain possible clues. The theft was also reported at once to the state bureau of criminal apprehension, as it is considered likely that the thieves are planning a bigger robbery in which they will make use of the acetylene torch for cutting through steel bars or a safe door. The acetylene torch makes a nice "can opener".

Pursuant to due call for proposals for the furnishing of materials for the Skating Rink and Arena to be erected under the Works Progress Administration, the City Council met in session in the Council Chambers in the Auditorium and Municipal Building on December 13, 1935. The meeting was called to order at eight o'clock P. M. with all members present.

A committee of the Women's Club of the City appeared before the Council again requesting the allocation of a room in the Auditorium to be designated and used entirely as a Women's Club Room, Mrs. [illegible] speaking for the Committee. A motion was made by Alderman McFarland, seconded by Alderman Knight and carried that the room adjoining the Municipal Court room on the east be reserved and designated for that purpose.

A motion was made by Alderman Griebstein that bids for the various material as advertised for to be used in the construction of Skating Rink and Arena be opened and read. The motion was seconded by Alderman Christofferson and carried. The following proposals were read: [illegible]

A motion was made by Alderman Jung, seconded by Griebstein, and carried that gravel and sand bids be laid over for further consideration by the Architect and Building Committee to Tuesday evening, December 17th.

Proposals for additional material were presented as follows: [illegible]

Alderman Knight introduced a resolution awarding contract for the furnishing of [illegible] and moved its adoption. The motion was seconded by Alderman Jung and on roll call the resolution was declared unanimously adopted.

A proposal was presented and read [illegible] Minneapolis Bridge Company for the rental of various kinds of equipment to be used on the rink construction. A motion was made by Alderman Christofferson, seconded by Alderman Jung and carried that the furnishing of [illegible] be authorized [illegible] at their rental bid of [illegible] per month.

Alderman Griebstein introduced a resolution providing for payment to [illegible] [illegible]

Arena and moved the adoption of the resolution. The motion was seconded by Alderman Knight and the resolution was declared unanimously adopted.

The matter of new motor equipment for the customers of the City who are still on D. C. service and who would eventually have to change their equipment for service on the new line was brought up for consideration. A motion was made by Alderman McFarland that in such cases the City would order new motor equipment to be billed to the customer at cost, they to pay for same on a basis of [illegible] per month, their old equipment to be listed for sale by the City and when and if sold, the proceeds to be turned over to the customer or applied on their account; this plan to apply to all Direct Current Power customers. The motion was seconded by Alderman Griebstein and the roll being called the motion was unanimously adopted.

The matter of Poor Relief was then brought up for consideration. It seemed to be the opinion of the members of the Council that it would be to the interest of the City to set up a Poor Relief [illegible] to handle the relief matter. Alderman Griebstein introduced a resolution designating C. M. Evenson as such Poor Supervisor from and after December 16th and setting the salary for such office at $125.00 per month and moved the adoption of the resolution. The motion was seconded by Alderman Christofferson and adopted by unanimous vote of the Council.

On motion duly made and carried the meeting was declared adjourned to Tuesday, December 17th at eight o'clock P. M.

P. O. MYHRUM,
President of the Council.

South America's High Peaks

South America has 288 peaks over 10,000 feet high, 42 over 20,000, and 13 over 22,000. Sixty-eight of these are extinct, and five are active volcanoes. Eleven have not been reached by any living thing except perhaps the giant condor, whose power of flight surpasses that of any other bird. Cotopaxi, the tallest of the active volcanoes, has never been climbed.

DOSTAL GETS TOP SCORE FOR WEEK IN BOWLING LOOP

Hits 232 Mark; Bratrud Clinics Resume Winning Streak

Emil Dostal, with a score of 232 Wednesday evening of last week, made the best mark for the period in the local bowling league. He was bowling for the Grain Belts, who won two out of three games from the Borchert & Johnson team, Harvey Beauregard, 206, being high for the latter.

The Times team Thursday night took two out of three from the Hamms, W. E. Dahlquist, 190, and Orrin Brandon, 196, turning in the best scores. Bowling again Tuesday night the Times made it three straight from the Grain Belts, high men being Dahlquist, 191, and Emil Dostal, 194. Monday evening the Bratrud Clinics resumed their winning streak by taking three in a row from the Land O' Lakes team, John Jaranson, 218, and Hal Ekeren, 195, being top scorers.

Team standings follow:

Gets Honolulu Letter in Less Than Four Days

Ben Abbott of this city last week received a leter from Honolulu in the Hawaiian islands that arrived here in three hours less than four full days. The unusual speed was due to the fact that the letter was carried on the first return flight of the China Clipper, huge trans-Pacific plane. It left Honolulu December 5 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and arrived in this city December 9 at 11 in the morning. For postage the letter bore a 25-cent blue trans-pacific mail stamp. The item is highly prized by stamp collectors.

90 PLAYERS TRY OUT FOR PLACES ON HOCKEY TEAMS

Fast Field of Candidates Seeking Positions on First Team

As evidence of the growing popularity of hockey as a winter sport here as elsewhere, a squad of ninety players from the three divisions will compete in their respective groups this winter. About forty of this number will comprise the intermediate league players. Regular practice for the senior and intermediate squads started last week.

The senior team will be built around the older players of the past few years. From the showing made by the young players from the intermediate league who have been trying out with the seniors the indications are that there will be a merry scramble for positions on the first team. With the addition of Rex Brunelle and Mink Paullet of Red Lake Falls and Lowell Gillette three fast and experienced players there is a wealth of good material for this year's team.

The competition in the section is the strongest in many years. Exceptionally strong teams have been developed at Grand Forks, Roseau, Hallock and Bemidji and an effort will be made to secure games with these outstanding teams this winter.

Services Held Monday for Mrs. Bertha Adolphson

Funeral services were held Monday at the German Lutheran church Church for Mrs. Bertha Adolphson who passed away at Salem, Oregon December 11. Rev. V. E. Schraeder officiating. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Dak.; Mrs. Lena Propp, Milwaukee, Wis.; Mrs. Annie Keutzer, Deer Island, Ore. Also surviving her are six brothers, one sister and 11 grandchildren.

Her husband has preceded her in death.

Plan Being Considered to Cut Long Distance Phone Rates on Sunday

A plan that will place in effect the lowest night long distance rates during the daytime on Sunday is being considered by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company and the state regulatory commission. If this plan is established it will mean that the lowest rates on station to station calls which are now in effect every night between 7 p. m. and 4:30 a. m. will also be in effect between 7 p. m. Saturday, through Sunday until 4:30 a. m. Monday.

Also a plan to establish a discount on person to person calls at night and on Sunday is being discussed. At the present time there is no discount on person to person calls at any time. It is proposed that a discount be established on person to person calls from 7 p. m. to 4:30 a. m. each night and during the daytime on Sunday. The amount of these discounts will be the same as now applies on station to station calls for corresponding distances. If approved, both of these changes will become effective January 15, 1936.

"The extension of the night discount period on station to station calls throughout the daytime Sunday will add to the convenience of long distance service and make it more useful to our customers" Manager A. J. Rau of the Northwestern Company explained.

Towns Making the Best Showing in Yule Seal Sales Will Get Awards

Service awards are again being offered in the 1935 Christmas Seal campaign by the Minnesota Public Health Association to towns making the highest quotas and per capita sales. Each town has been assigned a definite quota and the effort is turned toward reaching at least a five cent-per capita sale in every town.

Two types of awards will be given, one to the town making the greatest increase over its quota in its population group, and the other to the town that has the highest per capita sales in its population group. No towns will be given two awards, but the second award would go to the next high-est ranking town.

Population groups and the amount of the service award to be given towards approved programs are as follows: over 5000 population, $30; 1000 to 5000, $25; 500 to 1000, $20; and 100 to 500, $10. Gold medals will be presented to the local manager in each town where an award is won. Last year's highest per capitas were won by Walnut Grove with a sale of 22 cents-per person, Wanamingo with 20 cents, and Cambridge with 19 cents.

Gigantic Cliff of Ice

Mount Vancouver, in the southwestern Yukon territory, rises sheer from the Hubbard Glacier to a height of 15,000 feet—nearly three miles—in one gigantic cliff of ice and rock, and it is the same all the way round.

Two-Time Jail Breaker Again in Toils of Law

Joe Jetland, who escaped from the county jail in the fall of 1924 and again the following spring while being held on a carnal knowledge charge, is now again in the toils of the law, and this time will have more difficulty escaping as he is lodged in the city jail on the second floor of the Auditorium. He was taken into custody by Sheriff Arthur Rambeck at Fygland, Polk county, Tuesday, and was brought back to this city to answer to an assault and battery charge preferred against him following a recent fracas.

Jetland's cast was scheduled to be disposed of in municipal court late this morning.

Funeral Rites Held for Mrs. Annie Grundhaus

Funeral rites were conducted Monday morning at the Catholic church for Mrs. Annie Grundhaus who passed away December 13 at her home in Rocksbury township. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery.

Mrs. Grundhaus was born in 1877 in West Albany and thirty-six years ago was married at Wabasha to Edward Grundhaus. After residing on a farm in Meeker county for one year, then on a farm near Williston, N. Dak., for one year and six years at Wabasha, they came to Rocksbury township in 1915 where they have since lived.

Surviving are her husband, three sons and four daughters, Edward, Jr. of this city, William and John at home; Mrs. Howard Christie and Mrs. Henry Bolstad both of this community; Mrs. Joseph LaCrosse, Red Lake Falls; Mrs. Ray, Montfort, Wis. She is also survived by seven brothers two sisters and eleven grand children.

Mercury 20 Below Today Ending Long Mild Spell

Following a protracted period of moderate winter temperatures that contributed greatly to the comfort of holiday shoppers, the mercury dropped this morning to the vicinity of 20 below zero on the heels of a brisk north wind. Only a small amount of snow fell during the past week, and all the main roads are in excellent condition.

Farm Prices Still Below Fair Exchange Value, Is Finding of Federal AAA

Prices received by farmers for their products averaged 86 per cent of "fair-exchange value" as of November 15—a decline of 1 per cent from the previous month, but 8 per cent higher than at this date a year earlier.

Of the fifteen commodities designated as basic under the Agricultural Adjustment Act, only two types of tobacco and milk retailed directly by farmers were above "parity", or "fair-exchange" levels, while hogs, which had been at 105 per cent the previous month, fell to 94 per cent of "parity".

"Parity" is the price at which one unit of farm product would have to sell to enable the farmer to buy the same quantity of industrial commodities as he could buy in the pre-war period, 1909-14.

Local Young Men Aid in University Yule Party

Robert C. Oen, a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and Earl Hoppe, a member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity, aided in the annual Christmas party sponsored by fraternity men of the University of Minnesota for needy Minneapolis children. The children had dinner at the various fraternity houses. Each child, accompanied by a fraternity man, was then taken to the Minnesota Union, where a Christmas tree and presents were waiting. A demonstration by a magician, movies and the distribution of presents completed the party.

Prague's Features

The outstanding feature of Prague, capital of the republic, is its great castle and cathedral, which rise on a steep hill and dominate the city. The castle is now the White House of Czechoslovakia and most of the government offices are in it. An idea of its size can be gained from the fact that it has about 700 rooms.

COST OF RELIEF IS 45 MILLIONS FOR MINNESOTA IN '35

State ERA Administrator Informs Legislators of Huge Burden

Total relief expenditures by the State Emergency Relief Administration in 1935, including an estimate for the month of December, will be $44,389,563, it was reported to the special session of the state legislature by L. P. Zimmerman, SERA administrator.

Of the estimated total expenditures the federal government contributed $34,381,025, or 77.45 per cent; the state contributed $3,481,294, or 7.84 percent, and local units of government contributed $6,527,244, or 14.71 percent.

During the month of October 256,439 persons, or 10 percent of the state's total population, were on relief. During that month the relief case load increased 1,056 cases and relief expenditures were $2,429,273, an increase of $200,241 or 8.98 percent over September. During October the SERA provided direct relief for 76,198 cases, work relief for 1,001 cases, and both direct and work relief for 544 cases, making a total of 76,-655 cases.

"Although the WPA work program came into effect during September and certain relief cases were closed out because of it, the intake of new cases has been tremendously heavy," Mr. Zimmerman told the legislature.

"As a result the cases closed out because of WPA have had no effect on the total case load in the state for the month of October," the relief administrator declared.

Pointing out that emergency facing the relief administration next year, Mr. Zimmerman said the WPA program at best will put to work no more than 60,000 persons and that the number of employables in the state who are available and who cannot find work on WPA projects will be approximately 49,000.

"Should the state legislature adopt an old-age pension program the relief load of the state can be reduced by a considerable amount, depending upon when the program is made effective," Mr. Zimmerman reported to the legislature.

Missionary to China at Augustana Church

The Rev. Victor Swenson, for many years a missionary in China and the representative of the Lutheran Church in China to the Lutheran World Convention in Paris, will be in Thief River Falls as guest speaker at the Augustana Lutheran church this evening, Dec. 19 at 8 o'clock. New Diesel Engine Now Nearing Full Capacity

The new 1,000 horsepower Busch Sulzer Diesel unit in the municipal power plant is now sufficiently worked in to operate at near its capacity, Supt. Ole Legvold said this week. With the aid of one of the small units it is now able to carry the full peak load, which is now near the high mark for the year.

Tveten Child Sustains Fractured Arm and Leg When Car Hits Her Sled

The 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Tveten last Thursday evening sustained a broken right arm and leg and other minor injuries when a sled on which she was being pulled by her brother was struck by a car driven by Lloyd Nelson of Goodridge. The mishap occurred on Atlantic av. near Fourth st., following which the child was taken to a local hospital. Nelson, who according to information received by the police, was driving at a moderate speed, was not held.

Stolen Truck Tires and Wheels Recovered

Waiving examination in municipal court this week, Burrell Finley and Frank Finley, Jr., were bound over to district court on a charge of having stolen a set of truck tires and wheels September 29 from a new truck belonging to the Northern Chevrolet company. The pair were taken into custody by Sheriff Arthur Rambeck and local police, and the missing property was recovered at a wood-cutting camp on the Indian reservation.

DRIVERS LICENSE COSTS NINE CENTS A YEAR PER DRIVER

Minnesota Fee Is Lowest in United States, Says Carmichael

Since the state drivers license division was established by the 1933 legislature, this organization has handled all its duties, including the original purchase of office equipment, at a cost of approximately nine cents a year for each driver in the state.

This announcement was made this week by Gil W. Carmichael, director of the division. He stated that the Minnesota drivers license fee is the lowest in the United States where a charge is made for such licenses, and that the operating cost of the drivers license division in proportion to number of licenses issued is also the lowest in the United States, so far as available records show.

At the cost of nine cents a year per driver, the division paid all the initial expense of setting up the license system in Minnesota and paid for all salaries, postage, supplies and equipment, the checking of all applications, filing, keeping of court and accident records, the suspension and revocation of licenses, the administration of the financial responsibility law and all miscellaneous duties. The office equipment included in the expenditures is of course a permanent asset, Carmichael stated.

"We believe that safety results achieved by the drivers license division more than justify our expenditure of nine cents a year per driver", he asserted. "Minnesota's traffic fatality record has shown a reduction ever since the license law began to function, and we feel that this law has helped bring about the improvement."

Rep. Melby Introduces Bill Compelling Office Holders to Keep Word

Imprisonment and a fine for a public officeholder who repudiates his campaign pledges was proposed to the Minnesota house Thursday by Rep. J. O. Melby, Oklee, in a bill introduced by him at the request of Adolph Olson, a candidate for governor.

Under the terms of the bill, all candidates would be compelled to file with the secretary of state a list of their pledges during the campaign.

If, during his term of office, the holder ignored the promises, he would be liable to a $1,000 fine or a year's imprisonment.

John Brandt Is Elected Federal Bank Director

Farmers' cooperative associations borrowing from the St. Paul Bank for Cooperatives have elected John Brandt of Minneapolis, as a local director of the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul for a term of three years beginning January 1, 1936, W. I. Myers, governor of the farm credit administration, stated. He also announced the appointment of Herbert F. Schroeder of West Bend, Wisc., as a district director of the same bank for a similar term. Mr. Brandt and Mr. Schroeder will also serve as ex-officio directors of the Federal Intermediate Credit Band Production Credit corporation and Bank for Cooperatives at St. Paul.

COUNTY STUDENTS AWARDED HONORS AT N. W. SCHOOL

Athletic and Scholarship Prizes Presented at Crookston

Students in Pennington county were prominently mentioned at the final awards assembly of the fall term which was held at the Northwest School last Saturday. Special honors were conferred upon members of the football and track squads, scholarships awards were presented to honor students, and trophies and other prizes awarded to home project winners. Members of the basketball and debate squads were also announced.

Fall term activities closed with a Christmas play presented under the direction of Miss Dorothy Smith, dramatics coach, an interclass song contest which has been a tradition at the school for the past 18 years, and a special get-together dinner and program.

The awards included Foootball awards: "A"—Glen Tasa, Trail; Clarence Stromberg, Rosewood; Ray Oen, Thief River Falls.

Track awards: Alvah Rowley, Lancaster; Martin Hanson, Thief River Falls.

Scholarship Certificates: Ann Hofstad, Oklee; Harold Nabben, Goodridge; Dorothy Evans, Middle River; Ray Higgin, Bronson; Woodrow Evans, Gully; Ebba Maattala, Oklee.

Wadena Man Appo'nted to Succeed Judge Nye

Appointment of Byron R. Wilson, Wadena county attorney as judge in the seventh judicial district was announced recently by Governor Olson. The appointment is effective immediately. Judge Wilson succeeds District Judge Carroll A. Nye who died recently and is a former classmate of Governor Olson in the Northwestern College of Law. They were members of the 1915 graduating class. Judge Wilson was endorsed by the Todd and Wadena bar association. He will complete the term for which Judge Nye was elected expiring in 1939.

The last will and testament of the late Rev. Father Elie Theillon of Gentilly was filed Wednesday at the Polk county court house for probate, revealing that the priest had left the greater share of his substantial fortune to the church which he had served for more than 50 years. The bequests total $46,-000. The Most Rev. Bishop Timothy Corbett of Crookston is named executor of the will and is the recipient of the first bequest, a gift of $10,000.

Hunting in the Early Days

This week we offer a separate story about the Bohemian pioneer, John Mikulecky, mentioned in last week's article. We purposely omitted last week reference to Mikulecky's prowess with a gun. He was noted far and wide for his marksmanship. When he was up in this section as a trapper in the '70's he acquired his skill. Geese, ducks, prairie chickens and grouse were plentiful and in the early years, that is in the two decades following the middle 70's or thereabouts, Mud lake teemed with wild fowl.

Hunters were relatively few as there were few railroads and the wagon roads were little more than trails and a trip from the older settlements by team just to hunt was quite an undertaking. But there were gourmets and epicures in the east and even in the Twin Cities who demanded wild geese and ducks and other game birds. A man named Knox at Crookston was shrewd enough to take advantage of this demand but, of course, he could not shoot enough birds himself. In truth, we do not know that he was any other than a mediocre marksman. But we know that he hired from six to nine men every fall to shoot wild geese and ducks on Mud lake.

Boys who read this undoubtedly will agree that this sort of a job was little short of ideal. The men had their ammunition furnished, food and other supplies, although it is probable that they preferred to use their own guns. We have no record of the method of payment but it seems probable that the men were paid by the bird. Anyway, Mikulecky was the best shot of them all and invariably brought down the largest bag. He shot for Knox for nine seasons and once estimated that in that time he had shot about 45,000 ducks and geese. That is a record that probably will stand for all time in Minnesota.

Of course, with wild game birds so plentiful and the business of shooting them so matter-of-fact it is not likely that the hunters derived any thrills from their task, at least after they had been at it a while. It is even probable that they found it a great bore at times and would have preferred to split wood or do farm chores for a change. But if there are any such persons nowadays offering a similar exchange of work they need not look long, for there are thousands of boys who would snap up the offer.

Many readers may know that Hallock up in Kittson county was founded in 1879 by Charles Hallock, a New York City sportsman and publisher of outdoor and sporting magazines. Hallock built a large hotel which for some years served as a gathering place for eastern sportsmen. This proves the popularity of the region as a hunting grounds. But while hunters were enjoying themselves homesteaders were busy at their grueling tasks and did not have much time for hunting or money for ammunition. All about them was game of all kinds; deer, elk, wild game birds of various species and even bears. Not much farther north were moose and caribou (both had been in this region not long before). Then in the lakes and streams were otter, beaver, mink, muskrat and other fur-bearing animals. It was truly an outdoor man's, or boy's, paradise.

Even then there were game laws but they were tolerant. Open seasons were measured in months instead of weeks or days, but it is obvious that if later legislators governors and game department heads had followed the example of the earlier lawmakers and law enforcers game would be more plentiful today. It is encouraging, however, to note that there has been a marked improvement in recent years.

It is probable, by the way, that there were a number of these "Minnesota Daniel Boones" here in the early years. There was, for instance, Tamarac Mac of the Warren neighborhood and over in the vicinity of the Red lake country there were a number of white and mixed blood men who were schooled in the lore of woods and plain and lake and stream. Today there are relatively few of these. Modern conditions have crowded them out, leaving only one here and there in some isolated spot.

We get our outdoor training now as Boy Scouts, which is a wonderful opportunity for boyhood, but a little more of the real outdoor life would supplement this splendidly. Boys would then have more opportunities to talk with experienced men of the outdoors like Whittier's uncle, who "innocent of books, was rich in lore of fields and brooks, the ancient teachers never dumb of Nature's unhoused lyceum."

Clearly, the Bohemian pioneers of this rich region contributed much, not only to our early economic and agricultural foundations but also to our wholesome appreciation of the pleasures and beauties of the out-of-doors.

SAVED 1785 PENNIES TO GET CEDAR CHEST

Hutchinson—Quast's store in Hutchinson took in so much money on a single sale recently that it took two large tin cans to hold all of the coins. The transaction was the sale of a cedar chest to a girl from the Lakeside community. The price was $17.85, and the payment was made in pennies, all pennies, a total of 1785 of them. The girl said she had been saving the copper pieces for more than 15 years, since she was two years of age. It took 15 long years to get enough for the cedar chest, a penny at a time but we'll bet the young lady was more than thrilled when her anticipations were gratified at last.

Coil Piston Rings

Exclusive design gives the Coil Ring its spring-action and its "no gap" feature. The Coil Ring is NOT merely a stack of thin rings—but is composed of two INTERLOCKING sections, each section forming two segments. The Coil Rings flex to fit out-of-round and tapered cylinders—it seals worn groves—and it stops oil waste and power loss.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

LOCAL CAGERS TO MEET CASS LAKE FRIDAY

Opponents in First Major Game of B. B. Season Have Defeated East Grand

The Prowlers first major home game of the season will be played tomorrow night at eight o'clock on the auditorium court. In this game they tangle with the strong Cass Lake aggregation. Cass Lake comes here as the favorite by virtue of their early season triumph over East Grand Forks, who had previously defeated Bemidji.

Cass Lake has five lettermen and two very promising newcomers. The captain of the team is also the high scorer, scoring 10 points against the strong East Grand Fork's team. Cass Lake lost to last year's Gold and Blue on the Laker's home court and they are coming here resolved to win.

Coach Lee's Prowlers, still smarting from their stinging 42-12 defeat at the hands of Grand Fork's Central last week, will be out to make amends for this by defeating Cass Lake. Starting for Lincoln High School will probably be Mickelson, "Bud" Nelson, Lorentson, Art Nelson and Nesse. At present a hard battle is being staged between Nesse and Jung for the fifth starting position. Nesse got the call at Grand Forks and put up a good game, but Jung is trying hard to regain his position.

Among our future opponent's games last week was a win by Warren over Twin Valley and East Grand Fork's spectacular one point defeat of Bemidji.

Salveson Studio Is Giving Photography for Annual

For the past two weeks the members of the senior class have been busily occupied in having their pictures taken. These pictures have been developed at the Salveson studio, Mr. Salveson having been designated as the photographer for the school annual. Each senior is allowed a group of six poses. After the pictures are developed, the individual makes a choice of two folders, which had previously been chosen at a class meeting. Each senior can purchase as many pictures as he desires.

If a Prowler is published in the spring, these same pictures will be placed in it. Many students are having these pictures developed for Christmas gifts. A common sight in school, especially noticeable among the seniors, were yellow envelopes containing these pictures.

Approximately 75 seniors signed up to be photographed. Of this group, some were taken after school and on Saturday. Practically all photography work for the seniors was completed by Friday December 13.

MAKING THE ROUNDS

The Correspondence Scolaire Internationale, an international organization for promoting friendship between the young people of different countries, will be used as a means of correspondence by the students of Lincoln High School who study French. The students of this country will write letters in the French language to the young people of France while they, in turn, will return letters written in the English language. While this process promotes friendship, it also assists in learning the foreign language. Only the best students and those who wish to keep up the correspondence will be allowed to write to the foreign countries through the C. S. I.

The Correspondence Scolaire Internationale works under the supervision of the League of Nations. Co-ordination is insured by an international committee, which sits at the International Institute of Intellectual Cooperation, itself a part of the League. This organization takes care of the International Correspondence without profit in the hope that it will assist all students of foreign languages.

Miss Helen Margaret Olsen, local French instructor, will assist her students in their correspondence. She is to be complimented on assuming this task, for it presents some complicated questions. Usually, only French II classes attempt this correspondence. In Lincoln High School, however, the best French I students will write.

NORMAL TRAINING NEWS

The Normal Training students are preparing a Christmas program and also working on Christmas projects of decorating vases and crayola works.

Due to the absence of Miss Lamson, the first grade teacher at Knox, Corina Dokken and Betty Fladeland have been teaching there in the forenoon. Also other students have been practice teaching in the second and third grades. The subjects taught are language and spelling.

The students have had very interesting reports on the geography of Switzerland, Holland, Africa, and Arabia, given by certain of their students.

PROWLERS LOSE TO GRAND FORKS

Maroons Defeat Local Quint By Score of 42-12

Thursday night the Prowlers lost their first game of the year to the strong Grand Forks Central Redskins by a score of 42-12.

The game opened with Filiatrault scoring for the Redskins. Then Central caged four more field goals and a free throw before Jung opened the Prowler's scoring with a long field goal, making the score 11-2. In these first few minutes the Redskins had only one attempted shot from the floor. The first half ended with the score 20-8. In the first half the Gold and Blue's only scoring spree came when Jung made his shot and Mickelson dropped in two more.

In the last half Coach Lee's team showed a little more pep than they had in the first period, but even then they were unable to stop the Central onslaught. In this half Grand Forks scored 22 to the Lincoln cager's 5. The Prowler's five points were scored by Lorentson and Nesse with field goals and Art Nelson with a free throw.

The Prowler's did not seem to have the pep in this game that they have had in others. Mickelson, who played even though he has been ill for the last few weeks, was the outstanding Lincoln player on the floor. He scored four of the Prowler's points. For Grand Forks Rood, Hye, Lee and Huard were outstanding.

DALLY-WHO

Unexplored the uninhabitated lands may have their callings, but toyland has the greatest clamor for high school students—Ade and Vu making the rounds, among others, last Saturday.

Chalmer's version of spreading T. B. germs—"slobbering around."

You've all read advertisements of all the athletic "great" using oils kind to the skin. Bruce Prichard, trainer, announces that the renowned George E. Lee uses Olive Oil.

Oh! That up and coming "Goose down" on Erick's upper lip.

Probably Lincoln should have the name Green Bay, Greenbush, or Green River for the number of lettermen on the team, but we'll show them Friday.

Article—Coeds at University of Wisconsin use enough lipstick to paint three barns according to this general observation. The girls in high school use enough to paint three and several more barns.

Of course we give Morris and Oscar credit for being excellent debaters, but luck also entered in. Before the debates they decided that their lucky number was four. When teams were announced they drew number four team of Lincoln. During the debate Oscar carried a luck charm—of all things a large red ring.

Wanted—less soaring soprano's on Major Bowe's Amateur hour.

Seems as though half of the Warren was here last Sunday. That reminds us, Jerome S. has an inspiration at Warren and Marjorie M. certainly had her hands full of "Warreners" or "Warrenites", whichever it is.

Women may be fickle, but how about Wesley W.? When a young lady loked at him while he was playing in the band, he put down his bass viol and refused to play.

Art and Mick must be quite hot tempered boys with all the boils.

Notice the picture of President Roosevelt's pair of mules. At least he keeps his own mascots.

TOYS CHILDREN LIKE

A COMPREHENSIVE survey leads to the conclusion that building blocks are the favorite toy for children up to the age of seven. Drawing and paint ing materials rank high. With little girls, dolls and housekeeping equipment are favorites. Sand and clay for modeling retain the interest of most children. Mechanical toys, on the other hand, are soon discarded. Adults usually select the mechanical toys more than the children for whom they are purchased.

WINNERS OF T. B. THEME CONTEST ARE ANNOUNCED

Ten Win Opportunity to Broadcast Speeches on Fighting Tuberculosis

Approximately three weeks ago, the Minnesota Health Association sponsored a contest for high school students. Students from all sections of Minnesota were invited to write themes on the subject, "Fight Tuberculosis with Modern Methods". The ten winners of this contest were to be awarded free trips to Minneapolis and the opportunity to broadcast their talks over the radio. In addition, those schools which were active in health campaigns were to receive special awards.

Last week the judges, Melba Hurd of the University of Minnesota Speech Department, Dr. Kathleen Jordan of Granite Falls, and Owen P. McElmeel of the St. Thomas Speech Department announced the following as the winners: Ethel Watson, St. Paul; Ted Boer, Minneapolis; Ann Mary Chlister; Stillwater; Verna Thysell, Moorhead; Katherine Rikola, Ely; Mary C. Waskuwich, Faribault; Helen King, Randolph; Myrna Anderson, Coleraine; and Patricia Sanger, Deer River. During the next week one of these students will broadcast his talk each day at four-twenty in the afternoon over radio station WCCO.

Thirteen other students were given honorable mention. Marjorie Matheson of Lincoln High School was included in this list.

This contest work, besides providing the radio audience with instructive talks, gives Minnesota youth the opportunity to receive free trips to our largest city, Minneapolis. It also presents to the high school student the advantage of becoming acquainted with modern methods of fighting tuberculosis.

Work of this type should be highly praised, and aided in every possible way. A motion picture, "Contacts," dealing with the same problem, was presented to the student body a short time ago.

FACULTY NEWS

Not only will the students enjoy a two weeks' vacation but also the faculty will seek some aversion during the period of December 20, to January 6. Mr. Mayer-Oakes will be at "224 First Street, Thief River Falls, Minnesota." Mr. Claffy will be on the "east side." Mr. Lanning will be at Ean, South Dakota. Miss Parsons will spend her vacation at her home in Northfield. Miss Diebel will spend the holidays at Duluth. Miss Dahlen and Miss Tandberg will spend Christmas at their respective homes and also will spend several days in the Twin Cities. Miss Greenland will be at her home in Binford, North Dakota. Miss Helquist will spend her vacation at her home and at Winnipeg. Miss Leavitt and Miss Wise will remain in Thief River Falls. Mr. Harrison will spend Christmas in the Twin Cities and the rest of his vacation in this city. Miss Olson will be at her home at Warroad. Mr. Chalmers will spend his vacation at his home in Madison. Mr. Johnson will spend the holidays in Marshall. Miss Lunder will spend her vacation at her home in Rothsay and in Minneapolis. Mr. Montague will be spending his vacation in Willmar and "elsewhere". Mr. Pope will remain in Thief River Falls.

Have an enjoyable vacation but be on deck when the bell rings at eight-forty-five on Monday, January 6th!

Her Christmas Present Was a Lovely Daughter

MRS. BURKE wept a little as she trimmed the Christmas tree. "This will be the last time," she thought. "Next Christmas I'll be all alone in the world."

Her son whistled as he shaved, "getting dolled up," his mother thought. "All for that girl!" She held a bright bulb aloft as though she must dash it to the floor, thought better of it, and hung it on the tree.

"Ready, mother? I'll drop you at church on the way over to Dorothy's."

"In just a minute, son." Oh, my son, my son, why must you leave me? Your first Christmas seems only yesterday.

The beautiful old anthems filled the church. "God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten son—" The text: "More blessed to give than to receive." Sacrifice. I must give up my son. His happiness means more than mine.

They were waiting for her in front of the church, young and happy. "Say, mother, Dorothy—"

"I couldn't have you spending Christmas alone, Mrs. Burke. We're all going out and celebrate. You see—my brother got married last summer, and I know just how we felt; that we were losing him, and so forth. But I really gained a dear sister, and so I want you to be just my other mother, and think of us both as your children."

Joy swept back into Mrs. Burke's heart.

"Such a wonderful Christmas present!" she cried. "A daughter!"

Help Fight Tuberculosis

Every postal card, letter, and package during the holiday season should have a generous array of Christmas Seals, the symbols of public support of the organizations fighting one of the most dreaded diseases—tuberculosis.

Thousands of people in the United States receive aid through the sales of these stickers. Even in our own school, the Manitoux test was given to the students, at no personal expense. The tests were made possible through the sale of these Yuletide emblems of good will. It is not the duty, but it is the obligation toward society that urges one to buy as many as he can afford and then buy a few more to allow for those who can afford none.

Tuberculosis is preventable! Tuberculosis is curable! Help fight Tuberculosis! Protect your home from Tuberculosis! We can do this by giving our support, however small it may be, by the purchase of a few Christmas Seals!

ETIQUETTE

Recently we learned what a boy demands in the personal habits of a girl, so now we are going to turn the tables because it's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

Questions have been asked of certain prominent Lincoln High School girls and the following points were listed as determining what personal traits any boy should possess:

First: He must be fairly good-looking. However, most people who are not exactly handsome usually have some redeeming feature about them, such as—a good sense of humor, versatility at a party, and explicit neatness.

Second: He must be neat. Neatness is very essential to the looks and character of any person.

Third: He must have well-behaved mannerisms. Manners are always looked for by any girl. Such courtesies as opening the door, allowing the girl to pass before you, and apologizing for some error are always noticed.

Fourth: He must be a good conversationalist. A good conversationalist is always popular if he does not overdo his conversing; that is, if he does not talk so much that the other person cannot get a word in edgewise. A self-respecting boy does not usually speak of himself to any great extent.

Fifth: He must not be conceited. Egotism is always noticed and disliked. If he is "stuck on himself" he is branded as being vain. Thus, he is shunned by the average girl.

Sixth: He must not be a shirker. One who leaves his share of the work to someone else is never popular.

Seventh: A boy must be interested in some sport. None ranks higher than the other, but a boy who is sport-minded is usually regarded as being a top-notcher.

Eight: A boy must be considerate of the wishes of others. Never should he place his desires before that of someone else.

Those are points which the girls in Lincoln High School believe each boy should observe. Do your standards measure up to those?

LINCOLN HIGH TIMES

Margaret M. certainly seems to find L. H. S. alumni interesting, especially Carl L. (What were you doing Sunday night?)

Ardella G. says her inspiration is 5' 8". Now who could that be?

We wonder who Lovey C.'s inspiration in bookkeeping is.

Last Sunday night Melford H. and Mona M. were supposed to be partners for a party. Neither turned up. What could have been more interesting? (You guess.)

And Harriet O'H. and Dave W. seem to have found they have a lot in common.

Gentlemen are supposed to prefer blondes, and Don Olson certainly is no exception. Who was the blonde at the dance, Don?

Add new couple: Pomeroy H. and Ardith H.

Who takes Margaret M. home every night?

Ardith S., with a choice of the two Harolds, H and B., seems to prefer Harold B. Maybe she likes a cave-man.

And why did Barbara R. prefer the 4-H plays to Bunnie's Friday night? It couldn't be because Gunder was in them could it?

Why are Phil P. and Jack B. so interested in Warren girls? (Like Elo Trost and Marian Wangan.)

AMONG THE 600

For the past week, the senior social science classes have reserved from ten to fifteen minutes during their class periods for general knowledge tests. This test consists of two hundred and fifty questions, ten or fifteen being given each day, according to the time allotted. The questions vary in nature and cover a variety of subjects.

Dig out your nickels everybody. Deposit them with the senior class at the next basketball game, and the interest you receive will be a large, delicious cold snap.

Robert Smith has been named Exchange Editor for the Progress staff. He will be in charge of exchanging publications with neighboring schools. The Progress hopes to exchange copies with Hallock, Warren, and Red Lake Falls. The Crookston Pepster is sent to our school by the staff of the Crookston High School.

SENIOR'S WHO'S WHO

Favorite movie: "Mutiny on the Bounty".
Pet Peeve: Speeches
Best liked author and book: I only read magazines.
Choice desert: Banana cream pie.
Future Ambition: Eat 12 hamburgers at once.
Inspiration: Wimpy.

Walter was born on Dec. 3, 1917 and has attended Lincoln high for four years, taking part in football the latter two. He thinks "Popeye" is plenty clever. His favorite expression is just plain "Nuts!"

Name: Helen Olson
Nickname: "Honey"
Age: 16
Hobby: Dancing
Favorite pop. song: "You Are My Lucky Star."
Favorite pop. Orchestra: Wayne King
Favorite Sport: Basketball
Favorite subject: English
Favorite pastime: Going to the movies.
Favorite actor and actress: Joan Crawford and Robert Montgomery
Favorite movie: "No More Ladies".
Pet Peeve: Sarcastic people
Best liked author and book: I don't have any.
Choice desert: Lemon pie
Future ambition: Private secretary
Inspiration: Tall, dark, and handsome.
Phone number: 192-R (What more could we do?)

Helen received her numerals in '33 for basketball and volley ball. She too, likes Popeye and her favorite expression is "Oh, Skip it." Helen was born July 5, 1919.

Name: Iris Ayers
Nickname: I haven't any
Age: 16

SCHOOLS WILL PRESENT ANNUAL XMAS PROGRAMS

High School to Present Play, "Why the Chimes Rang"

Friday afternoon, Dec. 20, the Junior and Senior High Schools will present a combined Christmas program. The program will be given at the auditorium beginning at two-thirty. Miss Springen will direct the Christmas music. The selections will be sung by the Junior and Senior high school choruses, girls' trio, boy's double quartette and the girls' special chorus.

The one-act Christmas play, "Why the Chimes Rang" will be presented under the direction of Miss Agnes Tanberg. Members of the cast include Morris Engelstad, Earl Burrell, James Peterson, Flora Schoeder, Edna Lee, Ardella Gjernes, Herbert Schroeder, Archie Monson, Leonard Helquist, Oscar Bickley, Mary Margaret Cosgrove and Walter Gibson.

The following committees have been selected to assist in preparations for the program: Scenery, Mr. Pope and Mr. Johnson; costumes, Miss Lunder; chairs, Earl Burrell, Robert DuChamp, Wendell Olson, Vernon Wedul, and Irving Wilson; candelabra, John Foster and Milton Poppenhagen; trees, Harold Holzlman and LeRoy Hall; lights, Ardith Larson, Ardith Meltby, Vivian Havel, Solveig Fjelstad, and Adeline Nabben; and candles, Vivian Ward and Barbara Reep.

The High School Christmas program is to be given at the auditorium instead of the high school this year so that the public may attend.

The grade school programs will be held in their respective schools. The Knox School will give their program Thursday afternoon at two-thirty; the Washington program will be Friday afternoon at two-thirty; and the Northrop program will be Wednesday afternoon at two-thirty.

GYM GEMS

Numbers don't mean a thing say the juniors who had the fewest number of girls on their team but took the cake for being Volleyball champs. They "Skunked" the freshmen by a score of 28-20 and the sophomores, 34-27.

Those who made first teams this season are the following: Juniors—Olive Holman, Bertha Holten, Gwenyth Evenson, Ruth Goethe, Ragna Fjelkedahl, and Marion Green; Sophomores—Jean Lee, Mae Anderson, Violet Langevin, Dorothy Green, Marion Berg, Evelyn Brieland, Lorraine Lechelt, Bernice Syverson and Thelma Skaar; Freshmen—Clarice Fossum, Bernice Halvorson, Vivian Barnholt, Mae Langevin, Wilma Rupprecht, Ardith Haney, Beatrice Thompson, Helene Storhaug, Nona Nelson, and Margaret Altoff. 150 points in the book for each of these gals!

100 points for these girls who made the second team: Juniors—Ariel Reidy and Hettie Gustafson; Sophomores — Ardith Reierson, Florence Olson, Doris Nelson, Beulah Gulseth and Eileen Buoen; Freshmen — Dorothy Snelling, Adeline Lorentson, and Alyce Jenson.

Now, here are those gals that make the third team with a total of 75 points: No Juniors—they must be too good; Sophomores—Lorraine Baken, Ardith Gulseth, Ruth Berg, and Mildred Peterson; Freshmen—Dorothy Robarge, Judith Holland, and Mary Mayer-Oakes.

Our varsity team is made up of the following gals: Mae Langevin, Vivian Barnholt, Bernice Halvorson, Clarice Fossum, Violet Langevin, Dorothy Green, Thelma Skaar, Ariel Reidy and Ragna Folkadahl. There are a few that deserve honorable mention and just missed the varsity. They are Alice Jenson, Evelyn Breiland, Bertha Holten, Ruth Goethe, Wilma Rupprecht, Gwenyth Evenson, and Marion Dillon.

After all, these gals lost their beauty sleep (or dates) for these practice and did they practice! It was all for the "gold L" goal, too.

Basketball season's rolling around, too! When it comes time to come down and sign up, let's see all you Jill Joales down at the gym.

INTERCLASS IS NOW UNDER WAY

Six Basketball Games Are Played Last Week

Interclass basketball has been progressing rapidly so far this season.

Last week six games were played. All the classes were victorious in at least one game, except the seniors. They played only one game and were beaten.

In the first game between the frosh "C" team and the soph "D" the sophomore were victorious by a score of 22-16. Looker was high point man for the sophs, scoring eight points and Foster for the freshmen with ten points.

The second game was between the freshmen "B" team and junior "C" team. This time the Frosh were on top of a score of 14-6. Two boys tied for high pointage on the winning team, while Sahl was high for the Juniors.

The frosh "A"'s went against the junior "A's" in the third game, but this time the freshmen were overwhelmed, the final score being 42-22. DuChamp was high with the juniors, scoring eighteen points. Mickelson was high for the frosh with ten points.

The fourth game boasted the most lopsided score of the week, 40-9 with the soph "E's" on top and the frosh "E's" on the bottom.

The frosh "C" team beat the frosh "D" team by 18-11 in the fifth game. Stadum was high on the "C's" and Schmetzer on the "D's".

The final game between the Soph "A'S and the senior "B's" was the closest and the hardest fought game of the week. The Sophs were victorious by a single point, 19-18.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NEWS

The Christmas program by the Northrop school was held Wednesday, December 18.

A Play, "The Living Christmas Tree", was given by the kindergarten class. A toy orchestra contributed also to the program of the third grade. Its director is Lois Lund. A playette was also presented by the pupils of the school, representing characters from different lands. The characters were as follows:

The reader……Elaine Bessler
Christmas Fairy. Elaine Michaels
Carol boy …. Lloyd Thompson
England..Alice Huringsrud Robert Lund
France ……… Arthur Storhaug
Switzerland. .Billy McKecknie Kathleen Scanlan
Italy ……… Lorraine Arhart
Russia ..Robert Steenerson Howard Harvy
Norway ……… Harriet Lufkin
Holland Marilyn Smith, Dale Larson
Germany ……… John Dablow
Mexico ……… Mary Jane Olson
An Angel ……… Marion Skarstad

Carols from each country were sung after the appearance of each character representing that land.

In closing all the characters came out on the stage and sang American carols, which show that America is made up with people from different lands.

The boys and girls chorus sang, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing."

The pupils and visitors added to the program by singing the carols, "Joy to the World" and Silent Night."

ANNUAL XMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN IS UNDER WAY

Mantoux Tests and X-Rays Are Financed by Sale of Christmas Seals

The annual Christmas Seal Campaign to fight tuberculosis is again under way. This year the picture on the seal is of a little girl of the 1860's mailing a letter in a street mail-box.

At this time knowledge of preventive, and curative methods were unknown. Men have progressed in this way each decade until now we are fighting tuberculosis with effective weapons. The Manitou test, x-ray, and such are all financed by the sale of Christmas Seals.

Since 1907 these seals, which can always be identified by the double-barred cross, have been annually arousing the nation to action against tuberculosis. The Christmas Seal idea was devised by a Danish postal clerk to raise funds to build a hospital for tuberculosis children, but it took Emily Bissell of Wilmington, Delaware to put it into practice. Today the use of the seal has become universal.

A campaign in high school went into effect Tuesday. The plan is to sell 18 dollars worth of seals to students. Students are asked to bring their money to buy these helpful seals.

B. B. COMMITTEE MEETS FRIDAY

Bemidji Will be Host to Regional Tournament

When the regional committee met at Crookston on November 6th it was decided that the regional tournament would be held at Bemidji, starting March 12. Last year the tournament was held at Crookston, so in all fairness to the towns at the eastern end of the region, Bemidji was awarded the tournament. This will enable more fans in that section of the region to attend the games.

The Prowlers of Thief River would like to participate in this event. But you can hardly expect a team to win unless it gets a little support. The Prowlers so far have won two out of the possible three games. Their fourth game is to be held on Friday the twentieth, with Cass Lake. This is going to be a hard game and our Prowlers can't win if the school isn't behind them. If you want to send a team to the Regional Tournament, see the games and boost the Gold and Blue. Mr. Claffy has the tickets for these games and will be more than glad to serve you.

Hence Their Color

Leaves of plants owe their color to a substance known as chlorophyll; this is somewhat similar to wax. As light is essential to the secretion of chlorophyll, when plants are brought up in the dark they cannot form this wax, with the result that they are "blanched," or white.

Last Thursday Plummer defeated the fast and rangy St. Hilaire team. The game promised to be a see-saw affair at the beginning but Plummer broke through the tight St. Hilaire defense for a small lead soon. Later when a few plays clicked Plummer increased its lead, holding it throughout the game.

The boys played a good game and excelled each in his own line. Dean and Alvin showed considerable drive and were strong on the offensive at all times. Jack Ripple and Edwin Langlie time and again recovered the ball and presented a defense that consistently stopped a scoring drive. Howard Torstveit and Donald Holberg gave a good account of themselves and Russell Pahlen and Gordon Langlie did fine work while in the game.

Santa Claus is coming to town. A special invitation extended him by the school has been accepted and he will be present at the School Christmas program on Friday, in the evening at the municipal auditorium. Reports are that Santa has had no labor troubles in the past year and that this year's production in his shops is above normal. He will come with budging pockets, a heavily loaded sleigh, and bursting packs for all his young friends. There is a program which will help you pass the time very pleasantly while you are waiting for him.

The newly organized pep band under Mr. Ohnstad made its first appearance and entertained the crowd between halves. It also assisted the cheerleaders and cheering section of the high school.

TAGS IDENTIFY IT

Soot and smoke are really unburned coal gases which are wasted. Chemacol Processing helps these gases to burn and adds greatly to the real fuel value of your coal. This is in addition to the fact that Chemacol Processing renders coal dustless.

CAVALIER COAL
Cavalier Coal is probably one of the best known coals in the Northwest today. For years enthusiastic users have been telling their friends how good it was and today it is the choice of thousands. There's a reason for this popularity, too. Try it and you'll see that here, indeed, is a really different coal. Ask us about Cavalier coal.

Six years ago the Independent Grocery was started in Thief River Falls in the belief that a policy of selling at the lowest possible prices would lead to great enough volume, to justify giving low prices. We are immensely gratified at the way that policy has worked out. Today our volume is the greatest in its history, and we therefore can buy in the large quantities that make it possible for us to make savings that we later can pass on to our customers. We are saying "Thank You" for the patronage that has made it possible by offering you more than typical INDEPENDENT GROCERY values for this week-end and up to Christmas.

LIGGETT MURDER INSPIRES BILL BY MARIUS WALDAL

Plummer Man Asks $50,000 Grant to Investigate Vice, Corruption

Appointment of an interim committee of the house and senate to make a "sweeping investigation of all charges that vice and corruption have taken hold of government" in the state was urged in a resolution by Representative Marius Waldal, Plummer, in the Minnesota house last Friday.

Waldal's resolution asked that $50,000 be set aside from treasury funds to defray the cost of the investigation.

The interim commission, under the terms of the resolution, would be empowered to subpoena witnesses and records and would be given police power to require their presence before the committee. It would be required to communicate its findings and recommendations to the governor.

Inspired by the murder of Walter Liggett, Minneapolis Publisher, the resolution termed the slaying a "cowardly murder of a man who was engaged in a commendable attempt to drive vice and corruption from the state."

Arthur Myrom Captain of Concordia College Quint

Arthur Myrom of this city was recently awarded a letter at a banquet held at Concordia College, Moorhead, in honor of the Cobber football team. Myrom plays a back position on the team. He is also captain of the 1935-36 basketball team at Concordia College. During the season last year he held the highest average number of points per game in conference competition of all men in the Minnesota Conference.

FIRST SNOW FENCE IS STILL IN USE

Much of the original snow fence bought by the Minnesota highway department in 1922, the year after the department was established, is still in use, according to a department bulletin. This fence, of the wooden slat type, has been used every winter for thirteen years. Some of the wooden slat type, has been used every winter for thirteen years. Some of it had to be replaced, but in certain sections of the state 50 per cent of the original shipments of fence is in use this winter.

State Entomologist Asks If There Are Any Termites in Minnesota

Are there termites in Minnesota?

Termites are those dirty white ants that live in wood. They bore through the wood lengthwise of the grain, until they have honeycombed it. In the tropics they bore up through chair legs or table legs, until they have so weakened them that, someday, when one sits down on a chair, or puts a weight on a table, the furniture collapses. They do the same kind of dirty work in frame houses, weakening sills, floor joists, studding, until the house is a mere paper-like shell.

An article in a recent popular magazine says that there are termites in every part of the United States, except North Dakota and northern Minnesota. State Entomologist A. G. Ruggles, University Farm, immediately "wanted to know." He could find no records of the existence of the destructive pests anywhere in Minnesota, though a few reports of their presence have been circulated.

But he would like to make sure. So, if anyone in the state finds termites, or wood that has been perforated lengthwise through the grain, he should report at once to Mr. Ruggles, so that an investigation can be made. Termites are among the ultra-undesirables. If there are any here, Mr. Ruggles' office, the stat's first line of defense against insects, should be informed. The public, therefore, is called on for help.

In the State Senate

By Sen. E. L. Tungseth

This is the second week of the special session. Bills are now coming into the hands of the respective committees. The Legislature is still determined to confine itself to the express purpose for which it has been called, that of passing Social Security legislation. Quite a number of pension bills have already come into the hands of the Welfare Committee for consideration, and a large amount of preparatory work has been accomplished by this committee. It is yet a bit too early to predict just what type of pension bill will be passed.

I know that many of you older people in my district are anxiously awaiting the results of this special session. I am glad for the opportunity I have had to confer with many of our citizens regarding their opinion as to pension legislation. As I have found the sentiment expressed, we are quite agreed that our pension must not be a pauper's pension; on the other hand, certain limitations must be fixed so that public funds are not needlessly expended. I shall give a review of the progress on this legislation in my next letter.

This time I shall confine myself to Rural Credit legislation. Many of you have emphasized the need of legislation at this session which will expedite the readjustment of loans and the resale of foreclosed farms. As chairman of the senate committee on Rural Credits and State Development, I called a meeting of the committee the other day, presenting the acute need of such legislation. Yet, strange as it seems, the senate committee was not in favor of urging this legislation at this session. For that reason no bills pertaining to Rural Credits have been reported out by our Rules Committee. Many of the members of the Rural Credits committee expressed themselves as being very much pleased with the results obtained from the legislation enacted at the last regular session.

The Rural Credits committee, however, will have a conference with the Conservator of the Rural Credits Bureau, Mr. Theo Arens, relative to progress and problems of the Department, and has also called for a public hearing on Thursday, December 19th, at which time anyone who has problems relative to the Rural Credits situation may be heard by the committee. I trust that these two meetings will result in convincing the senate committee on Rural Credits and State Development that legislation which will expedite the readjustment of loans and the resale of foreclosed farms is very much needed at this time.

Your senator, together with Senator Stiening of Clay, has introduced a bill which mainly embodies three features: first, county boards of appraisal; secondly, crop payment privileges on readjusted contracts and sales, and third, fixing the rate of interest on Rural Credit loans at 3½. Senator T. H. Johnson has also introduced a bill with a 4% interest feature and providing for district court proceedings relative to readjustments and resales. This latter bill has been introduced in the House by Representatives Melby and Erickson.

Since I have gone on record as favoring the Melby-Erickson-Dunn bill, so-called, as introduced in the House and amended at the last regular session, a brief explanation for not introducing the Melby-Erickson bill at this session is in order. The reason for not doing so is that the Melby-Erickson bill as introduced at this special session is very different from the Melby-Erickson-Dunn bill as introduced and amended at the last regular session. I have continually favored a county board of appraisal in spite of the fact that the Senate at the last session offered determined opposition to that plan, as I believe that it is about the only way whereby a speedy rehabilitation of state farms can be accomplished. The bill introduced by Senator Stiening and myself at this session, therefore, embodies the principles which have been advocated by the so-called Melby-Erickson-Dunn bill. This bill is S. F. 68. Representative Waldal has introduced the identical bill in the House. It is H. F. 1.

I do not believe that we should fear a certain inevitable loss by the state at this time through its efforts to readjust excessive loans and sell foreclosed farms. This loss may seem hard to take, but when we remember that any losses sustained will soon be regained by the increased number of taxpayers and the decreased number of tax delinquencies, and when we also remember that because of the activities of the Rural Credit Department of the State of Minnesota since 1923, the average rate of interest on farm mortgages has by virtue of this competition been reduced not less than 1%, then we realize that the indirect gains have far exceeded any direct loss. Farm mortgages in Minnesota total the huge sum of $500,000,000, and since by virtue of the operation of the Rural Credits Department Minnesota farmers have saved an average of 1% in the rate of interest on these mortgages, they have actually in these twelve years enjoyed a net saving to themselves of $60,000,000. Therefore, in spite of mistakes and occasional political interventions in the Department, the Rural Credits Department in our state has been of great value.

SENATOR TOM D. SCHALL IS DEAD: FUNERAL TODAY

Minnesota Senator Fatally Injured Thursday When Hit by Car

ACCIDENT OCCURRED NEAR WASHINGTON

Successor to be Appointed by Governor Floyd B. Olson

United States Senator Thomas David Schall, blind Republican from Minnesota died Sunday at Casualty hospital in Washington, after a heroic 55-hour fight to recover from injuries suffered in a traffic accident. He was 58.

Death came upon the blind senator gently. He had never fully regained consciousness since an automobile hurled him to the pavement Thursday night on the Washington-Baltimore boulevard at Cottage City, Md.

The body was taken to an undertaking establishment in Hyattsville, Md., and remained there until the cortege left Tuesday night over the Pennsylvania railroad for the Schall home in Minneapolis.

The funeral party was to arrive there at 8 a. m. Thursday. Burial will take place in Lakewood cemetery, not far from the Schall home, following a brief service conducted in the cemetery's chapel Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by the Rev. Charles Fox Davis, Methodist Episcopal clergyman.

It was within a few miles of his Maryland estate that the blind senator was run down by a car driven by Lester G. Humphries of Hyattsville, Md. Humphries, released on personal bond, has been ordered to appear before a justice of the peace at Hyattsville December 30 on a charge of reckless driving.

When struck Senator Schall was trying to cross the boulevard under the guidance of one of his employes, O. L. Leen.

Under Minnesota law, the governor must in the event of a senator's death appoint a successor to hold office until the next general election. It sets no specific time limit as to when the appointment must be made, but in this situation it was expected a successor will be named so that he can take his seat when congress reconvenes in January. The appointee would serve in but one session of congress.

In naming a successor to Senator Schall, Governor Olson was called upon to solve the most difficult political riddle confronting the state since the death of Senator Knute Nelson in 1923.

Governor Olson had planned to be a candidate against Schall in the 1936 campaign. After six years in the governorship, he planned to go before the Farmer-Labor convention next March, ask for the party senatorial indorsement, and obtain the in indorsement in the June primaries. He, along with other political observers, expected Schall to win the Republican nomination.

With Schall's death, however, he was confronted with two courses. He could resign the governorship and become senator at once through appointment by his successor, Lieutenant Governor Hjalmar Peterson, who is also a Farmer-Laborite. That would give Olson the opportunity of going into the campaign next year as the incumbent senator, facing a Republican candidate to be named in the 1936 primaries. His other move would be to remain in the gover-

INDEPENDENT CAGE TEAM AND ALUMNI COMPETE TONIGHT

Strong Lineups in Contest to be Staged at the Auditorium

The local independent basketball team sponsored by the Junior Civic and Commerce association will make its bow to local fans at the Auditorium this evening at 8 o'clock when the aggregation will compete with the Lincoln high school alumni all-stars. Both teams are expected to give a good account of themselves.

The independent quintet will be selected from a squad including George Lee, Paul Dahl, Bob Booren, Langlie, Merle Lindberg, Hendricksen, Cameron, Carl Lee, Don Hermanson, Nicholson, Wayne Kielty and Tom Fuller.

Members of the alumni all-star team will include Wendell Kielty, Roy Lonson, John Chommie, Grant Mickelson, Lloyd Aanstad and Howard Holum.

Gala Firemen's Ball Set for New Years Eve

U. S. Senator Dies

Of Minneapolis, who died in Washington, D. C., hospital Sunday from the effects of injuries sustained when he was struck by an automobile near the national capital Thursday night.

Music Arranged; $80 Cash Prizes Will be Awarded

Elaborate preparations are now reaching a climax for the annual firemen's ball, a time-honored institution in Thief River Falls, which will be held at the Auditorium next Tuesday evening, New Years Eve. Music for the occasion will be supplied by Slim Thompson and his nine-piece dance band of Fargo, heralded as one of the best orchestras in this section of the country. The band carries its own amplifying equipment.

A carnival effect will be given the affair by the use of paper hats, confetti and noisemakers which will be distributed to the dancers at the door. Three substantial cash prizes, respectively $50, $20 and $10 in amount, will be awarded to lucky persons in the course of the evening.

The proceeds of the dance will go toward the purchase of furniture for the new addition to the fire hall which was completed recently, all of the clubroom furniture having been destroyed in the Auditorium fire three years ago.

The committee in charge of the dance includes M. Lasell, Iver Bugge and Ole Ness, while the publicity committee consists of H. E. Roberts and H. L. Schuster. They predict that the forthcoming ball will eclipse anything previously held in Thief River Falls, and are planning for a record crowd.

CAMPBELL GETS SUPPLY OF 4,500 '36 AUTO PLATES

Motor Vehicle Owners Must Get New Licenses by February 15

A shipment of 4,500 motor vehicle license plates for 1936 was received during the past week by Alex Campbell, deputy registrar of motor vehicles in this city, who will begin issuing them after January 1. The new pleasure car plates will have white numerals on a navy blue background.

The state law requires that motor vehicles be registered by February 15, Mr. Campbell stated, adding that the same rates will apply as were adopted by the last session of the legislature. The minimum fee on pleasure cars in the A class is $5, and in the B class $7.50.

Up to December 1st a total of 747,926 motor vehicle licenses has been issued in Minnesota by Registrar Mike Holm as against 724,110 for all of 1934. Motor vehicle license receipts for the first 11 months of 1935 are $7,015,747.42 as against $6,614,771.74 for the 12 months of 1934. Minnesota registration for 1935 is already the highest in the history of the state, exceeding the total of the peak year, 1930 by more than 3,600.

THREE MISHAPS MAR HOLIDAY IN THIEF RIVER FALLS

Squire McMullen Seriously Injured When Hit by Car on 8th St.

The Christmas holiday locally was marred by three accidents, two of them occurring on the Soo Line tracks in this city. In only one were serious injuries sustained.

The first of the series took place Tuesday morning on the Soo line crossing at Eighth st. when a car occupied by Marcus, Orton and Clara Olson was struck by a switch engine. Miss Clara Olson sustained several cuts which were treated at a local hospital.

Elmer Berling escaped injury Christmas Eve when the car he was driving crashed into a freight train standing at the Bridge st. crossing. The car was badly damaged.

Squire McMullen, 78, father of Mrs. G. H. Mayer-Oakes, was struck Christmas night on Eighth st. by a car driven by Albert Belland. He is in the hospital receiving treatment for head injuries and a broken collar bone.

Roger W. Babson Sees Improvement in 1936

Economist Forecasts Higher Total Income for Farmers of Nation

The Business and Financial Outlook for 1936

Babson Park, Florida, December 27, 1935. I am bullish on business for 1936. Not on any year-end since the late twenties have I felt surer than I do today that plans could be laid on the basis of better business during the coming twelve months. Regardless of the elections, the tide of business is running in and nothing can stop it. When we check up on this forecast next December, I am convinced that we shall find satisfactory gains in jobs, wages, sales and advertising, stocks, farm income, earnings and dividends.

TEN PER CENT GAIN

This, of course, would be but a continuation of the current trend. Business has been moving steadily forward during most of this year—the pace quickening as the holidays approached. The immediate outlook is satisfactory and a forecast about an 8 per cent gain for the first half of 1936 over the same period of 1935.

The second half depends on progress in the automotive and building industries. Hence, the closing months may register spectacular gains or they may be only moderately better than the tail-end of this year. For the entire twelve months, my forecast is an average increase of 10 per cent over 1935. So by next Christmas general business, as measured by the Babsonchart, should be hugging the "XY" normal line and heading into another period of prosperity.

My optimism is based largely on the beginning of a boom in the heavy industries next year. Up through mid-1935, our recovery was due principally to revival in the consumer goods and motor industries. These lines alone were able to push total business just so far and no further. Additional gains waited on the slow-starting, but potent, durable goods industries as represented by building. It is here that the unemployment problem has been most severe. Beginning last summer obsolescence and depreciation, low interest rates, rising rents, stabilizing real estate values and returning confidence finally started the building ball rolling. It will gain momentum in the months to come and it will be the strongest force working toward prosperity in the New Year.

LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS TO NEXT MONDAY

State Solons Leave for Home With Pension Bills Undecided

QUIZ L. P. ZIMMERMAN, STATE RELIEF CHIEF

Agent of Tax Commission Requests Passage of Corporate Tax Bill

The Minnesota legislature adjourned until after Christmas Saturday with the problems of unemployment and insurance and old pensions still unsolved and undebated on the floor of either chamber. Sessions will resume next Monday.

The house, feeling more generous than the senate, balked at passage of a senate bill to pay $2,500 for information leading to arrest and conviction of each man involved in the murder of Walter W. Liggett.

Challenges Passage

Representative L. F. Brophy of Minneapolis challenged passage of the senate act immediately after it was read to the house. He offered an amendment striking out a phrase providing that persons giving information prior to passage of the act would be ineligible for reward

The amendment passed. Then Brophey pointed out that because of the amendment the bill would have to go back to the senate December 30 and he urged it be referred to the house judiciary committee for discussion of other controversial points. That was done.

The house public welfare committee decided to hold its old age pension bill in committee over the Christmas adjournment for further discussion.

The legislature persistently sought an answer Saturday to the question of how the state spent the $5,000,000 relief fund appropriated for 1935.

L. P. Zimmerman, state emergency relief administrator, was recalled before the senate finance committeemen Friday.

Zimmerman was prepared to show, contrary to expectations, that most of the $5,000,000 he received went to rural communities. That was the unexpected answer solons took home to their constituents during the adjournment.

Zimmerman warned the finance committee against involving the legislature in a row between rural and urban areas over relief. He told the committee he allotted most of the state funds to rural areas because the large cities required such big amounts that he had to take it out of the federal funds.

House liberals nursed a faint hope that chances of passing a modified corporate excess tax were bettered by virtue of a speech from William A. Anderson, state tax commission investigator.

Anderson addressed the full house membership and strongly urged passage of Representative Mark Nolan's bill for a 20-mill tax on corporate excess. Anderson predicted it would net $16,000,000 annually and would prod corporations into listing all of their moneys and credits in order to exempt them from the 20-mill levy. He estimated that $4,000,000,000 now escapes the three-mill moneys and credit levy.

A sub-committee of the house tax committee began work on revenue bills and expenditure control and tax limitation bills.

MUD LAKE CASES AGAIN DEFERRED TO FEBRUARY 10

Verdict Last Week in Second Case Held Victory for Appellants

Appeals in the Mud lake condemnation proceedings were adjourned until February 10 following completion of the trial of two tracts in Warren last week, the present jury being dismissed Thursday morning by Judge J. E. Montague, who presided during the trial, according to the Warren Sheaf.

In the second case which was completed late last Wednesday afternoon a verdict in the sum of $880.00 for the appellants was awarded by the jury for a quarter section of land contained in the project. This was considered a distinct victory for the appellants.

No reports have been received regarding the resolutions adopted by the county board of commissions in session last Tuesday when stringent resolutions urging either settlement of the cases or abandonment of the project were forwarded to the Minnesota conservation commission. The county commissioners cited the excessive costs of court proceedings and also that the awards of the viewers were unjust.

Local Legion Post to Meet Friday Evening

The next regular meeting of Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion will be held in the club rooms Friday evening, December 27, Ward Long, post commander, announced today. Committee reports will be submitted following which there will be lunch and cards.

Boys and Girls Guests of Elks at Movie Monday

Throngs of local boys and girls enjoyed a special Christmas movie program staged for their benefit at the Avalon theatre Monday afternoon under the auspices of the Thief River Falls Elks lodge. They all agreed that the Elks are good fellows to remember their young friends at the holiday season.

PUPILS OF RURAL SCHOOLS JOIN IN SAFETY CAMPAIGN

County Pupils Seek to Prevent Accidents in Rural Homes

Pupils of the Pennington county rural schools in recent weeks have contracted nearly every rural home in the county in the interest of the annual home inspection campaign sponsored by the American Red Cross.

The campaign, the object of which is to eliminate accidents in the home, was inspired by the fact that, according to Red Cross officials, more than one-third of all fatal accidents and nearly half of all accidental injuries are sustained in and about the home.

Inspections of homes have been made by parents and children with a view to correcting conditions that may result in mishaps. Cooperating with the national Red Cross organization in the drive was the county chapter, D. K. Betts, Red Cross field man, and A. C. Matheson, county superintendent of schools.

St. Hilaire Boy Wins Statewide Pig Event

Willard Yonke Raises Litter of 13 Pigs Weighing 3,155 Pounds

A 15 year old Pennington County 4-H Club boy, Willard Yonke, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Yonke of St. Hilaire, is the winner of the state ton litter contest, according to a communication received this week by County Agent R. M. Douglass from H. G. Zavoral, Extension animal husbandman at the University of Minnesota.

The contest is sponsored by the agricultural extension division of the University of Minnesota. The object is to raise the maximum number of pounds of pork from the offspring of one sow in the period of 180 days.

Willard Yonke raised a litter of 13 pigs to a weight of 3155 pounds on the 180 day period, an average of 242.7 pounds apiece. To do this it was necessary to practice recommended practices of feeding and management. It is of particular interest that no corn was fed to these pigs at any time, the feeds being limited to barley, oats and a small amount of middlings and tankage, in addition to skim milk.

In addition to producing the greatest number of pounds of pork, Willard also placed third in the average weight of pigs two others producing heavier pigs, but having fewer in the litter.

Among other prizes, Willard will receive a valuable medal from the Minnesota Livestock Breeders' Association. If it is possible for him to be there, it will be presented to him personally at the annual meeting of the association Saturday, Jan. 11, in connection with Farmers and Homemakers Week.

WARD LONG NAMED HEAD OF F. L. PARTY CLUB IN THIS CITY

Other Officers Elected at Annual Meeting Friday Evening

Ward W. Long was named president of the Thief River Falls Farmer-Labor club for the ensuing year in the annual election of officers held Friday evening at the court house. Mr. Long served this year as vice president.

A. G. Anderson, who declined reelection as president, was named vice president, other officers including Herman A. Kjos, secretary; Hector Bergstrom, treasurer; and Ed Odellen and Fred D. Lorentson, members of the executive committee. Helmer Halland and Otto Rehm were re-elected to serve on the county Farmer-Labor central committee.

District Judge M. A. Brattland was present at the session and discussed the cooperative movement. The club went on record at the meeting as opposing the proposed state sales tax and favoring a state old-age pension system.

Lincoln High School Alumni Plan Reunion This Friday Evening

Alumni of Lincoln high school ranging from the early days of the local institution down to the graduating class of 1935 will assemble at their annual reunion Friday evening in the Sons of Norway hall. While no formal invitations have been sent out, officers of the association today urged all alumni with their husbands and wives, as well as unmarried graduates with their men and lady friends, to be present at this year's reunion. Following a brief business session the evening will be devoted to dancing and cards.

MANY FAMILIES IN COUNTY ARE GIVEN HOLIDAY BASKETS

Legion, Auxiliary and Elks Distribute Christmas Food and Toys

The Thief River Falls Legion post and auxiliary unit and the local Elks lodge during the past week broadcast Christmas cheer to a large number of families in the city and county in the form of baskets filled with eatables as well as toys for the children.

The Legion and auxiliary baskets were distributed by a committee headed by Mrs. T. P. Anderson, and went to 25 families. It was announced that an appeal for discarded toys made thru the schools met with a splendid response. The toys were repaired and repainted by members of the fire department, while dolls were given new costumes thru the cooperation of the WPA sewing project. Officers of the auxiliary unit today expressed their appreciation to all who assisted in the project.

The Elks baskets were distributed early Christmas Eve by a committee of which Fred Protz was chairman.

Lutheran Church Leader Dies in Granite Falls

Rev. Knute Bjorgo, 88, for 26 years district president of the Norwegian Lutheran Synod of America, died Sunday at the home of a daughter in Granite Falls. Funeral services were held in that city Thursday, with rites and interment Friday in Red Wing. Prominent thruout his life in Lutheran church work, Rev. Bjorgo led the movement that resulted in the merger of the Hauge Norwegian church and the Lutheran synod, and served for many years on the board of trustees of the latter group. He was a founder of the Lutheran seminary at Red Wing which was destroyed by fire in 1922.

Summary of Events of Past 12 Months

Happenings of Past Year as Culled From Columns of The Times

The following survey, incomplete in some details, of happenings in the Thief River Falls community during the past twelve months, is culled from the columns of the Times and presented to our readers in this year-end edition:

January

Paul Harris withdrew his election contest against Senator E. L. Tungseth.

Dr. Royal V. Sherman joined the staff of the Bratrud clinic.

The Ostby-Oen- Bennes company, comprised of directors of the closed First National bank, offered to pay in full remaining claims of depositors in the institution.

YULE LIGHTING EVENT WINNERS ANNOUNCED

H. M. Olson, Dr. Bratrud, A. Lein and Geo. Werstlein Win Prizes

SEVEN HOMES AWARDED HONORABLE MENTION

Prof. T. M. McCall of Crookston Served as Judge in Event

The Christmas home decorating contest sponsored jointly by the Civic and Commerce association and the First Federal Savings and Loan association was highly successful, a large number of local residents having attractively decorated the exterior of their homes for the holidays. The contest was conducted by a committee including Morris Bye, chairman; Dr. A. E. Jacobson and N. A. Nelson, while the judging Monday evening was done by Professor T. M. McCall of Northwest School at Crookston.

Mr. McCall awarded first prize of $10 to H. M. Olson, 242 Markley av. N.; second prize of $7.50 to Dr. Edward Bratrud, East Johnson blvd; third prize of $5 to A. Lein, 503 Duluth av. N.; and fourth prize of $2.50 to George W. Werstlein, 812 LaBree av. N.

Honorable mention went to J. E. Gustafson, 507 Duluth av. N.; H. E. Nelson, 121 Duluth av. N.; A. E. Mattson, 503 Arnold av. N.; Dr. O. F. Melby, 807 Bridge st.; N. A. Nelson, 512 LaBree av. N.; J. E. Robinson, 912 Main av. N.; and Norbert Holzknecht, 723 Duluth av. n.

The Olson home has several decorated trees in the yard, a decorated porch archway and a Santa Claus effect on the roof. The gate and bridge at the entrance to the Dr. Bratrud home are adorned with multicolored lights, with lights in each window of the house. The Lein home has decorated Christmas trees in the yard and decorations on the house, while the Werstlein home is decorated in colored lights, an electric sign bearing the legend "Merry Christmas" and a prettily decorated Christmas tree.

The basis of the awards, he announced by the committee in charge, was originality of plan, appropriateness of decorations to the Christmas season; and general appearance.

Commenting on the contest Mr. McCall said, "I wish to congratulate the citizens of Thief River Falls on the splendid showing made in the home decorating contest. From the 100 or more decorations seen in and about the homes, 28 were listed as meritorious for ranking honors. The decorations carried out to a great degree the ideals held up for the contest.

"Some of the contestants with elaborate lighting effects and others showing great originality were lacking in central themes, others with few lights appropriately placed achieved beautiful results. I trust that this contest will furnish an incentive to other groups in our Red River Valley communities".

Stanton R. Dahlen, secretary of the savings and loan association which supplied the prize money, said today, "I desire to express our appreciation for the large number of entrants in the contest. Many of the displays were of such high quality that judging was extremely difficult. I also wish to commend the splendid arrangements made for the contest by the Civic and Commerce association committee. Because of the wide interest shown in the event, it is hoped that it will be repeated next year."

COMMUNITY RINK OPEN TO SKATERS FRIDAY EVENING

Ticket Sales Proceeding at Satisfactory Rate, Campbell Says

After being closed two days to facilitate the sale of season tickets, the community skating rink on Duluth av. N. was reopened Friday evening for the holiday season, and is daily attracting a large group of skaters. The sale of tickets is now progressing at a satisfactory rate, it was announced by Alec Campbell, chairman of the Legion rink committee.

Three teams comprising the intermediate hockey league have now been selected, and the first of two pre-schedule games will be played Friday evening at 8:15 between teams Nos. 1 and 2, the winner of which will play team No. 3 Monday evening at the same hour.

Norway Sons and Daughters to Present Lecture Course

The Sons and Daughters of Norway are sponsoring a winter course of four lectures with musical numbers by out-of-town singers. Each program will be followed by a social hour, it was announced today.

The first lecture and concert will be given on Friday January 10. Prof Richard Beck of the University of North Dakota will speak on "The Old Norse Philosophy of Life". Mr. Tony Helm of Fertile, will render a number of bass solos with accompaniment by a local pianist.

The second program will occur on February 7th at which Rev. John Flint of Underwood speaks on "Moral values in the Nordic faith". Mr. Flint has spoken before the Sons of Norway of this City and is well known here. His wife is an accomplished vocalist and will give a number of soprano solos.

The third date is March 6th and Mayor John Queen of Winnipeg will speak on a topic of his own choosing. With Mayor Queen will come the Canadian baritone Bjorn Balchen of Winnipeg, who sang at the Bemidji convention of the Sstdalslag last summer. It may be of interest to know that this lyric singer from the north is a cousin of the world-famous flier Bernt Balchen.

The fourth and closing number will come on Monday evening, March 30th with Assistant Attorney General M. N. Orfield as lecturer. His topic will be "The Place of Norway and Norsemen in World History." The concert for that evening will be furnished by the popular local Brage Chorus. This organization is now begining their rehearsals for the next convocation of the Northwestern Singers at Duluth.

The whole course of four programs will be sold for one dollar and single admissions will be thirtyfive cents. Season tickets are transferable. All lectures will be thirty five cents. Season tickets are transferable. All lectures will be in the English language and the programs will begin promptly at eighth o'clock each evening.

RETURNS PURSE WITH $40 BUT WON'T ACCEPT REWARD

Preston.—It is unusual enough for one finding a lost purse to return it to the owner but when he does so and at the same time refuses a reward of any kind, it's hard to believe. Nevertheless, that's just what Bill Confare, Preston poultry buyer, did recently. While going home to supper he found a bill fold on the sidewalk in front of the pool hall. Examining it when he got home, he found that it contained four $10 bills and some memoranda bearing the owner's name. After supper he came down town, located the man, asked if he had lost a purse, and handed the lost bill fold over. The owner insisted upon a reward, offering Confare some money, or at least a treat of some kind, but Confare refused, saying, "You don't owe me anything; it's your purse and your money. I merely found it and it was my duty to return it."

Started Sunday Schools

Robert Raikes (1735-1811), an English religious leader, in 1780 started a school in Gloucester, where children might be taught to read and to repeat the Catechism.

An Early Railroad

New Car Will be Awarded to Owner of the Oldest Licensed Chevrolet Auto

Chevrolet's one millionth car of 1935 production is to be presented to the owner of the oldest Chevrolet licensed and in regular use in the United States. F. A. Rinkle, of Northern Chevrolet Company, reports that he and other dealers in this locality have been asked to discover whether the oldest Chevrolet is in this territory.

The one millionth Chevrolet built within the current year came off the assembly line at Flint, Mich., on Dec. 12, just eight days after Chevrolet produced its eleven millionth car since the beginning of the company.

Presentation of the millionth car of the year—a 1936 Standard coach—will be made to the owner whose Chevrolet is discovered, between Dec. 16, 1935 and midnight Jan. 15, 1936, to be the oldest model licensed and in regular service.

It is specified that, to win, the old-time Chevrolet must have been regularly licensed for operation during the current year, possessing its own 1935 license tags issued before December 1. It must, also, have been licensed as a passenger car, and be equipped with a complete passenger car body. It must bear the original engine and chassis numbers, legibel and unaltered.

To enter a Chevrolet for consideration, the owner need only drive it to any Chevrolet dealer's salesroom and submit it for examination, receiving a blank on which he will report the engine and chassis numbers of the car to the Chevrolet Motor Company at Detroit, where the company's records will determine which is the very oldest in service.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

To those who are giving some thought to the possibilities of increasing their happiness during the coming year, we recommend the reading of David Grayson's "Adventures in Contentment." A few quotations from this book will serve our purpose well as an introduction to our New Year's wish of happiness to one and all.

Grayson seems to think that one way to find happiness is through hard work. On this subject he says:

> It is curious, hard, physical labor. One actually stops thinking. I often work long without any thought whatever, so far as I know, save that connected with the monotonous repetition of the labor itself — down with the spade, out with it, up with it, over with it—and repeat. And yet, sometimes—mostly in the forenoon when I am not at all tired—I will suddenly have a sense as of the world opening around me—a sense of its beauty and its meanings—giving me a peculiar deep happiness, that is near complete content—
> Happiness, I have discovered, is nearly always a rebound from hard work. It is one of the follies of men to imagine that they can enjoy mere thought, or emotion, or sentiment. As well try to eat beauty. For happiness must be tricked. She loves to see men at work. She loves sweat, weariness, self sacrifice. She will be found not in palaces but lurking in cornfields and factories and hovering over littered desks; she crowns the unconscious head of the busy child. If you look up suddenly from hard work you will see her, but if you look too long, she fades sorrowfully away.

Appreciating the pleasures attained through proper training of the senses, the eyes to see and the ears to hear, he argues in favor of a highly trained sense of smell as a means of a greater enjoyment of life. He observes:

> How few of us really use our senses. I mean give ourselves fully at any time to the occupation of the senses. We do not expect to understand a treatise on Economics without applying our minds to it, nor can we really smell or hear or see or feel without every faculty alert. Thru sheer indolence we miss half the joy of the world.
>
> Often as I work I stop to see, really see, see everything, and it is the wonder of wonders how much there is in the old world which we never dreamed of, how many beautiful, curious, interesting sights and sounds there are which ordinarily make no impression upon our clogged, overfed and preoccupied minds. I have also had the feeling—it may be unscientific but it is comforting—that any man might see like an Indian or smell like a hound if he gave to the senses the brains which the Indian and the hound apply to them. And I'm pretty sure about the Indian. It is marvelous what a man can do when he puts his entire mind on one faculty and bears down hard.

Grayson found happiness in a loaf of bread. After a half a day of digging, he reports:

> I got my bag and took out a half a loaf of Harriet's bread. Breaking off big, crude pieces, I ate it there in the shade. How rarely we taste the real taste of bread. We disguise it with butter, we toast it, we eat it with milk or fruit. We even soak it with gravy (here in the country where we aren't at all polite—but very comfortable) so that we never get the downright delicious taste of the bread itself. I was hungry this morning so I ate my half loaf to the last crumb—and wanted more.

These are samples of the philosophy of a contented man—and a happy one. He found his contentment, and happiness, in the simple things of life. And having found it there he advises others to seek it where he himself is sure it exists—within the easy reach of all.

And so, taking his word for it, that it is within the reach of all, we wish you one and all a greater measure of happiness during the coming year than you had ever imagined was possible.

NOTHING THE MATTER THERE

(Minneapolis Journal)

What's the matter with Kansas? The famous question of William Allen White is entitled to a new answer.

Kansas is working under a "pay as you go" policy, and making it work. By no device of extraordinary budgets, but by plain economy and close business supervision, Kansas is living within its income, and ends 1935 with a credit balance of some $700,000. The State has left 20 per cent of the taxes paid this year in the hands of county treasurers, to be drawn later when it is needed. Two years ago the Kansas treasury was overdrawn by about the same amount.

There is nothing spectacular about state economy in Kansas. The Topeka Capital gives the explanation in one sentence:

State departments and institutions have been required to hold down their expenditures to meet money actually collected.

While Kansas has been emerging from the slough of debt to the solid ground of a cash balance, Minnesota has been sinking farther into the debt mire year by year. The State revenue fund now has a deficit of nearly $15,000,000, financed by several borrowing devices.

What's the matter with Minnesota?

FOREIGN MARKETS LOST

Mandan, N. D., Pioneer

With reference to the loss of our foreign markets for exportable agricultural products, Secretary Wallace believes that our failure to buy foreign goods is responsible for the loss of these markets. Perhaps this is so. But our experience following the war, when we loaned billions of dollars to European nations with the expectation that they would be better customers for our products, was disappointing. It should disabuse our minds of the thought that we can buy foreign trade. The billions which we loaned, France and Germany, those nations used to build wonderful apartment houses, bridges and factory buildings, and when they came to buy foodstuffs, they spent their money where they could get the lowest prices, entirely unmindful of the fact that they were to pay us back in our own money. Furthermore, industry does not take kindly to suggestions that we must close our factories in order to leave our markets open for foreign products. We might as well abandon the idea that from now on the foreign markets for agricultural products will be restored to us.

No, we don't think the Ligget killer and his associates will ever be brought to punishment. A thorough investigation would reach into too many high places. The best way for these most concerned is to just make a stir for a little while, then drop it as was done in the Guilford killing.—Fairmont Sentinel.

"Come, Let Us Adore Him," Happy Christmas Thought

THERE is a magical pause, a mysterious something in the air, an awakening of man's best and sweetest instincts as the Yuletide carols ring out the hallowed words: "Peace on earth, good will toward men." A pause when even the most sullen, forbidding, hardhearted person feels an urge of the soul within him, to join in the merry festival of Christmas.

Then, too, there is magic in red holly berries, gray green branches of bewitching mistletoe, and the perfume of woody evergreens, melting wax and the burning log. How mysteriously they recall sweet thoughts of long ago to the elders! How they fill the hearts of playful children with joyous delight!

Christmas is the significance of childhood, for almost two thousand years ago the Christ Child brought the redeeming message of love to the world. Love that keeps the little flame of hope burning; love that gives patience and courage to endure the problems of life; love that prompts the giving and receiving of gifts.

When Wise Men of the East, men of profound learning, saw a brilliant star and followed it, they found this little messenger of love in his rude and humble resting place, and they laid their most precious gifts before him.

These gifts were highly symbolical. Gold to a King, the King of Love and Humanity. Frankincense to a Divinity, the God of human needs. Myrrh for a man, and for the sorrow that redeems. Thus they recognized in a Little Child the King, the Divine and the Man.

As we commemorate Christ's birth each Yuletide, there is a radiant warmth and spirit of love in the giving and receiving of gifts, we pay homage and reverence to our King, our God and our Redeemer.
—Agnes Myers.

Hamilton's

In the State Senate

By Sen. E. L. Tungseth

In my letter of last week I promised in this letter a review of the progress made in pension legislation.

The committee bill on old age pensions, which is Senate File No. 143, is very similar to the old age pension bill passed at the last regular session. Senate File 143 vests authority in the State Board of Control to supervise the payment of pensions in the State of Minnesota. County agencies must, however, administer the old age pension system in their respective counties. The county agency is in fact the county board of commissioners which may delegate a duly organized board of public welfare, or some other official investigator, to administer the payment of pensions within the county. The payment of pensions shall have due regard to the prevailing conditions in each case, and in no case shall the maximum exceed $30 per month.

Pensions may be granted to any person otherwise qualified who has reached the age of 65 years, or more, and who has been a resident of the United States not less than twenty-five years and a resident of the state not less than five years. The pensioner may be the owner of property not in excess of a valuation of $5,000. If, however, a person has deprived himself, directly or indirectly, of property for the purpose of thereby qualifying for a pension, such action will automatically prohibit the payment of a pension to such person. Any income in excess of $100 per year must be considered in determining the amount of the pension to be paid. If at any time the state or county agency find that any child or spouse of a pensioner is reasonably able to support such pensioner, the state or county agency shall cause action to be taken against such person or persons for the recovery of the full amount of pension paid in such instance.

With reference to county participation in the payment of pensions, according to Senate File 143, it will be required that the counties pay 25% of the amount. This is my judgment is a very unfavorable feature, as the counties have practically no source of revenue other than real estate taxation. It may, of course, be argued that the counties should have some participation in the cost of pensions in order that they may duly and properly exercise their supervision with due responsibility. However, a smaller amount than 25% will readily lend the necessary responsibility upon the counties.

There will be a real fight on the floor of the Senate for a smaller participation by counties and for loading a heavier proportion upon the state which can receive revenue for this purpose from other sources than real estate taxation. I understand that there is no chance of passing a 25% participation by counties in the House, and there is strong objection in the Senate to such large participation. According to opinions expressed by many of my constituency, we all agree that the state should accept the major portion of this burden and not throw a big share of it back on the counties, many of which at this time will find themselves entirely unable to raise additional money for pension funds. We also all agree that the counties should have a reasonable supervision and deciding vote as to who are eligible for pension, as it would be obviously difficult for any state administration to fully acquaint itself with the conditions surrounding each case.

I shall be glad to hear from anyone in my constituency relative to important features of pension legislation.

E. L. TUNGSETH, Senator.

Martha Found a Way to Raise Christmas Funds

CHRISTMAS was drawing nearer and nearer, but Martha Woods seemed no nearer a solution of her problem. The giving of gifts at the Yuletide season had been a tradition with Martha as long as she could remember. This year, however, she saw no way to keep up the cherished custom.

During the past months her income had shriveled to where it would buy only the necessities for herself and Emma, her faithful servant. Through no scrimping or saving could even the tiniest gifts be sent to those whom she wished to remember.

Now, as she watched the whirling flakes of snow, she thought how lovely it would be to see the big room full of gaily tied packages, waiting to be sent on their various ways. Regretfully she pictured the disappointment of relatives and friends who would think she had forgotten; they would never dream she had grown too poor to buy Christmas gifts; they all believed her wealthy.

With a heavy sigh she looked around the beautiful living room. The furnishings were luxurious; many of them had been in the family for generations. . . . Suddenly a cry came from her lips. She had thought of a quick, sure way to fulfill her desires. She would sell a few of the lovely old pieces. She would send for the proprietor of the antique shop without a moment's delay! Her Christmas gifts would be on their way tomorrow!
—Katherine Edelman.

(2) That on the 10th day of May, 1929, at a sale of land pursuant to the real estate tax judgment duly given and made in and by the District Court in said County of Pennington on the 19th day of March, 1929, in proceedings to enforce the payment of taxes delinquent upon real estate for the year 1927, for said County of Pennington, the above described piece or parcel of land was offered for sale, and no one bidding upon said offer, said piece or parcel, was bid in for the State of Minnesota for the sum of ($87.21), Eighty seven and 21-100 Dollars.

(3) That thereafter, and on the 11th day of August, 1930, the said piece or parcel not then having been redeemed from said sale, was sold and conveyed at public sale by the County Auditor of said County, pursuant to the statute, to an actual purchaser for the sum of Three hundred twenty Dollars and sixty one cents.

(4) That the amount required to redeem said piece or parcel of land, from said sale, exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice, is the sum of ($320.61), Three hundred twenty Dollars and sixty one cents, and interest at the rate of 8 per cent per annum on ($320.61), Three hundred twenty and 61-100 Dollars from said 11th day of August, 1930, to the day such redemption is made.

(5) That the tax certificate of sale issued to said purchaser has been presented to me by the holder thereof and this notice requested.

(6) That the time for the redemption of said piece or parcel of land from said tax sale will expire twelve months after the service of this notice, and the filing of proof of such service in my office.

WITNESS my hand and official seal this 17th day of December, 1935.

A. M. SENSTAD,
Auditor Pennington County, Minn.
(Official Seal)
Approved by Attorney General.

Looks Spanish

The reason St. Georges, Bermuda, looks so much like a Spanish town, is because when the site was cleared of cedars, men built their white stone homes irregularly over the open spaces, heedless of the inevitable advent of vehicles, and so the town is a maze of narrow streets and crooked alleys bordered by walled gardens. Some of these streets still bear the original names, such as Old Maids' lane, Shinbone alley, Featherbed alley and Breakneck alley.

Starfish Grow New Parts

Starfish are experts at growing new parts of themselves. In some kinds of starfish, when an arm is broken off, not only does the old starfish grow a new arm, but the broken-off arm may sometimes grow other arms and become a new starfish.

PUBLIC OPINION

Expressions of opinion on timely subjects are invited and welcomed to this department of The Times. Letters should be of reasonable length, and the name should be signed, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Letters duplicated to other local newspapers are not desired.

Editor The Times:

Unfortunately I am one of those mothers on relief, and the subject for criticism, and censure from all sides.

How often is brought home the truth of man's inhumanity to man, to those in our circumstances.

A storm of protest from supposedly good citizens because one of my children was spending 50c per week for a lesson, which is not a necessity but for which the child herself earns the money by staying several evening a week with other people's children, sometimes not getting to bed until 2:30 in the morning and going without other things because she desires these particular lessons so badly. The fact that she is in a family, who thru no fault of theirs were suddenly left fatherless she isn't allowed the freedom of an individual because her mother is on relief.

Many of our intelligent lawmakers and citizens insist a child is not responsible for their parents support to which I agree. They must build for themselves.

Ten years ago I did not dream I would have to undergo the humiliations of being cast on relief.

Probably ten years from now or perhaps sooner some of you conscientious taxpayers may be in my circumstances and it always pays to remember there is a law of compensation.

This subject is not meant to reflect on the various organizations giving relief, for those I have the greatest respect and gratitude, but to those busy bodies who only see things in one way and feel it their law-abiding duty to see that we are just kept existing and no more. In that way they manage beautifully to kill ambition and help destroy the innocent child's self respect and right to live its life with his or her right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

A Mother

Dear Editor:

We are informed that the trials of the Mud Lake Game Refuge cases have been continued until some time the first part of February. This will give the people of eastern Marshall County time to consider what ought to be done about this project.

So far as we know the people of eastern Marshall County were not consulted about the establishment of this project. It now appears that the project is being forced through against the wishes of the people of eastern Marshall County. It seems to us that if the farmers and settlers of eastern Marshall County who are going to continue to live there are opposed to the project then it should be dismissed. Before anything further is done, let us find out how the people of eastern Marshall county feel about the project.

It would seem to be poor policy after we have spent a million dollars to drain the country, and to get rid of the swamps, to all of a sudden reverse our policy, and try to restore the swamps, sloughs and lakes, in order that we may have duck breeding grounds, and frog ponds where we can hunt for a few days during the year. It is not helping the farmers, nor is it helping business to undertake anything like that. It is not helping the settlers of eastern Marshall county to have their expensive drainage system jeopardized by a lake and a dam at the outlet. Except for the few who sell out, the project would seem to be distinctly a detriment.

We should look at this from a business standpoint. If the restoration of the lake, and the swampy conditions that we had before the days of drainage is going to be detrimental to the people of eastern Marshall county then there is no reason why the business men of Holt, Middle River, Gatzke, Grygla, or Thief River Falls should be for the project. If we were right when we drained northern Minnesota, then we are wrong when we try to restore the swamps. We do not believe the people of northern Minnesota would want to trade off their drainage systems. This whole agitation for game reserves and duck breeding grounds is hurting northern Minnesota.

Our drainage system are needed. When the time comes that we again get our wet years, the people of eastern Marshall County and of northern Minnesota will be calling for cleaning out of the ditches and for better drainage. So long as people are going to live in northern Minnesota they will want drainage. The folly of restoring lakes, and swamps in those parts of the state where they have been drained should be appalling to all. The interests of both farmers and business men of this part should be united in opposition to such a project. We need better drainage, and more roads, not swamps and lakes.

This Mud Lake project was killed some twelve or thirteen years ago when it was brought up. It is being forced in now by outside interests. Very likely the same interests that were behind the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District are behind the Mud Lake Project.

It would be well if the people of eastern Marshall County would give this project some study. They are the ones most vitally affected. If they are satisfied and if they want it, then good and well. If the settlers and farmers of eastern Marshall county as a whole are opposed then it should certainly be dismissed. We believe there is still time to secure the dismissal of this project if the people of eastern Marshall county will take a united stand, and say what they want to have done.

Thanking you for space for this communication, I am

Very truly yours
H. O. Berve.

WATER HYDRANT, CRACKED BY CAR, BECOMES GEYSER

Detroit Lakes — Hundreds of gallons of water was spilled down the streets of Detroit Lakes when the hydrant on the corner of Washington avenue and Frazee street was rammed by a car and cracked. Hit in the morning about 10 o'clock the hydrant did not start spouting until the afternoon when workmen replaced it. Then it was transformed into a gushing fountain for about a half hour. The hydrant was struck by a car driven by John Gilbert who swerved to the sidewalk to avert colliding with an auto coming off U. S. 10 from the east. The driver of the latter car, a man by the name of Frenzel from Dickinson, No. Dak., neglected to stop before entering Washington avenue. Following the accident, he again failed to halt, but was overhauled near Audubon by John Steinkopf, deputy sheriff, and was forced to dig up $65 to cover the damage he had caused.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

So. St. Paul, Dec. 23: Most livestock opened higher, trade being influenced by such bullish factors as stormy weather, short receipts, and a fairly broad demand. Slaughter steers and heifers were strong to 25c higher, cows and bulls fully steady. Medium to good fed steers and yearlings brought $7.25-9.50, common lightweights down to $5.25 or less. Most heifers brought $5.50-7.50, beef cows mainly $4.00-5.00, low cutters and cutters $3.75-4.50, sausage bulls $4.75-5.50, outstanding heavies $5.75. Better vealers were steady at $8.50-9.50, medium grades down to $7.00, throwouts down to $4.50. Good stock steer calves earned $7.00-7.50, most lower grade stocker and feeder steers $5.00-6.50.

Hogs were 10-25c higher, a few 140-160 lb late $9.50, practical top $9.40, better 140-210 lb $9.25-9.40, 210-260 lb $9.10-9.25, 260-350 lb $8.60-9.15, bulk sows $8.10-8.20, feeder pigs mostly $10.00-10.50.

Fat lambs were 25-50c higher, sheep strong to 25c higher. Good to choice lambs sold to packers at $11.00-11.25, one load closely selected to shippers $11.50. Common and medium grades brought $8.50-10.00. A load of 100 lb fed yearlings sold at $9.50. Good to choice slaughter ewes turned at $4.00-4.75.

In memory of Russell Nelson who passed away one and year ago, December 27, 1934.

You are not gone, but only sleeping
While the angels watch you rest.
For our Father in the heavens
Did for you that which was best.
No one knows how we have missed you
All this long and lonely year.
In our hearts we'll keep you, Russell.
—Always safe and close and near,
And we hope to see you, darling,
In the land across the way,
In the land of pure contentment
On the resurrection day.

Sadly missed by his mother, brothers and sisters.

In Memoriam

Now the old home is vacant Mother,
Has no charms for you;
For your form is absent, Mother
You were always so kind and true,
But memories are oft returning,
Memories of tears and sighs,
But we know you dwell where pleasure,
Never, never dies.

ANNUAL MEETING

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Pennington and Red Lake Counties, will be held in St. Hilaire, Minnesota, on Wednesday, the 15th day of January, 1936, beginning at one o'clock P. M.

This meeting is called for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year, and to transact any other business, that may properly come before said meeting.

John O. Swanson, Secretary.

Cotton Most Widely Used

The most widely used textile material is cotton, as 90 per cent of all the clothing worn throughout the world is made of cotton materials. Its universal demand is further exemplified by the fact that only five pounds of silk and 250 pounds of wool are used for every 1000 pounds of cotton.—Collier's Weekly.

LANDY REPORTS ON PROGRESS IN SALE OF CITIZENS BLOCK

Says One-Third of Necessary Deposits Are Assigned to Date

J. F. Landy who is acting as representative for Elmer A. Benson state commissioner of banks, reports that the plan that the depositors take over the Citizens State Bank block has far exceeded his expectations. In two days work Mr. Landy reports over $60,000 assigned or over one-third the needed amount.

Mr. Landy requests the depositors of the closed institution to call at the office under the postoffice where he or Mr. Brattland will tender assistance to make the plan clear.

The only reason in using this plan is to protect the depositors against a last hour sale of assets at an usual low price, Mr. Landy says, adding that after the depositors get this building they will appoint a committee to sell it at a fair market price.

It is the consensus of opinion of the majority of the depositors who Mr. Landy called together in a meeting that the building should not be sold for less than $30,000 which several real estate dealers and business men feel can be gotten a little later on.

Funeral Rites Held for Mrs. John Kellberg

Funeral services were held Saturday in the Swedish Lutheran Church for Mrs. John Kellberg who passed away Dec. 17 at her home in Excel township. Rev. Albin Larson of Warren officiated at the service.

Mrs. Kellberg was born in 1858 in Sweden coming to America in 1884. After making her home in Ohio for a short time she moved to St. Paul where in 1888 she was married to John Kellberg. In 1894 she and her family moved to Excel township where she had since lived.

Surviving are her husband, one son, Helmer, at home; and one daughter, Mrs. H. A. Haugen of Greenbush; one brother, Charley Smith of Holt and four grand children.

Winfred Schroeder Is Rotary Speaker Tuesday

Winfred Schroeder, son of Rev. and Mrs. V. E. Schroeder and a student at Concordia seminary, St. Louis, Mo., was the speaker at the Rotary club luncheon Tuesday noon in the Evelyn hotel. He discussed time-honored customs in connection with the observance of the Christmas season.

Subzero Weather on Christmas Day Halts Many Holiday Visits

In accordance with time-honored custom, numerous family gatherings featured the observance of Christmas day in this community. With subzero weather prevailing, there was less than the usual amount of visiting between homes, the mercury Christmas morning dropping to the vicinity of the 20 below zero mark. Since then temperatures have moderated somewhat, street thermometers registering zero this morning. Snow fell Sunday and again on Tuesday, blizzard weather prevailing in the Red river region.

Postmaster Estimates 20 Per Cent Rise in Outgoing Yule Parcels

Postmaster Andrew Anderson estimated early Christmas Eve that parcels going out from the local postoffice during the pre-holiday season this year exceeded the high total of 1934 by approximately 20 per cent. Exact figures, however, will not be available until a compilation has been made after the Christmas rush is over. To aid in keeping up with the influx of mail, delivery was made Sunday of letters and parcels, and parcels were delivered Christmas day to homes in the city. The basement of the new postoffice building has been used during the past week to handle the parcels post overflow.

Union Railroad Workers Will Meet Next Sunday

A meeting of the local unit of the Federated Union Railroad workers will be held at the court house next Sunday afternoon, December 29, at 2:30. Business to come before the meeting will include the election of officers for the coming year, adoption of by-laws and hearing committee reports. All union railroad workers are urged to attend, C. E. Hellquist, chairman, announced.

T. R. F. BOWLERS WIN AND LOSE IN CROOKSTON TILTS

Play Will be Resumed in Local Bowling League on January 6

With play in the local bowling league suspended this week for the holidays to be resumed January 6, several inter-city contests have been played with Crookston teams.

In a doubleheader at Crookston Sunday the local Grain Belt team won a three-game series from the Crookston postoffice five by a score of 2,634 to 2,553, Emil Dostal, 620, having the highest total score for the locals, while Osmundson, 569, was high for Crookston.

In the second match the Grand theater team defeated the Land O' Lakes five by a count of 2,487 to 2,446, Gfeller, 627, being high man for Crookston and Allen Ulrich, 560, for the locals.

Last Friday evening a local team won two out of three from the Bridgemans of Crookston. Bowling Wednesday night of last week a local all-star team won two out of three from Homme's All-Stars, Wallace DuChamp, 225, and Ulrich, 195, making the best scores. The Hamms Thursday made it three straight from the Glucks, top scores being made by Art Larson, 195, and Ardell Robinson, 194.

C. & C. Group Votes to Remain Neutral in Mud Lake Reserve Proposal

At the Civic and Commerce association luncheon last Thursday, a special committee appointed at the previous meeting to make a study of the Mud lake game reserve project reported that its investigations revealed that opinion in the affected area as to the merits of the project appeared to be divided, and the committee recommended that the association take no stand in the matter, either for or against it. The members present approved the committee report.

Farm Crop Income in Minnesota Increases This Year Above 1934

Farm production rebounded this year to make 60,473,200 northwest acres pay northwest farmers $184,338,000, the crop reporting board of the department of agriculture has announced.

Not only were production, yields and income higher than last year, but approached and in some cases passed the 10-year average. In Minnesota, for instance, the combined yield per acre was 103.8 per cent of the 1921-30 average.

Of the increased farm income in Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana, spring wheat earned $118,123,000, corn $101,461,000, oats $70,416,000, barley $48,933,000, flax $20,273,000, potatoes $19,922,000 and rye $9,459,000 according to the board's summary and estimate as of December 1.

For Minnesota the farm value of crops this year was reported at $211,207,000, compared to $183,981,000 in 1934.

Dressed Elk Received by Local Elks Lodge

Local residents with an appetite for elk meat will have an opportunity to satisfy their craving, following receipt of a large dressed elk by the local Elks lodge from Custer State park at Hermosa, S. D. Part of the meat will be reserved for an initiation dinner to be held by the lodge shortly, while the remainder will be offered to the public thru DeCremer's market.

Local Hockey Team May Enter Recently Formed N. W. Hockey League

A new northwest hockey league was organized last week, its membership comprising teams from Roseau, Hallock, Emerson, Grand Forks and East Grand Forks. A schedule of games has been drawn up and play will get under way early in January. Alvin Christofferson, manager of the local hockey team, has written league officials with a view to having Thief River Falls named as the sixth league entry, but because of weather conditions which frequently interfere seriously with games played on open rinks, it is probable that the local team will not be entered until the enclosed rink is completed.

Sheep Income in 1936 Expected to be High

"Prices for lambs in 1936 are likely to average the highest of any year since 1924," says J. B. McNulty, agricultural extension economist, University Farm, St. Paul. "Wool prices also promise to be strong, making the outlook relatively favorable for sheep men," Mr. McNulty continues.

"The basis of this forecast is largely the fact that the number of ewes in 1936 is likely to be little, if any, larger than in 1935, and about 7 per cent lower than in 1934. Woolen mill activity has been at a high level and the carry-over of wool in the United States is likely to be the smallest in several years.

"Prices for fed lambs marketed from December, 1935, to May, 1936, are likely to be higher than for the corresponding period a year ago. A reduced crop of late lambs in the western state resulted in a short supply of feeder lambs for winter feed lots. Some increase in demand may be expected from higher consumer incomes."

Concordia Band Will Give Holiday Concerts

The Concordia College Norway Tour Band, under the direction of Prof. J. A. Holvik, begins its second annual Christmas Tour on Dec. 27. The tour will bring the band back to Moorhead on Jan. 4, after concerts in North Dakota. Personnel of the group will be the same as that which toured Norway last summer. The band will begin its concert tour with a send-off in the form of a public concert on Dec. 27 in Fargo. This program has been called "Concordia Day" and is intended as a good will gesture between the two cities, at which time also a reception will be given the band.

TURTLE GETS FIRST BITE AS DRUMMER HUNTS SOUP

Sleepy Eye.—We all know Sleepy Eye Drum Corps members must have their turtle soup at any expense—but Jos. Eckstein, farmer south of town draws the line when his right ear is concerned, Joseph capturing the reptiles at the Cottonwood river for the local stick clickers and check puffers that they might enjoy their annual turtle feed, and bagged several and put them in a sack, threw it over his shoulder and proceeded home. One of the irate brutes, not content with his new environment, poked his head through the sack and clamped his jaws on Joseph's ear. Attempts to free himself were futile. The man had to wait until arriving home and had the assistance of his family. His injuries were slight.

ONE-ACT PLAYS ON WOMEN'S PROGRAM AT WINTER SHOWS

One Day During Week of Feb. 3-7 Devoted Entirely to Playlets

The committee in charge of the special women's meetings which will be held in connection with the Northwest School Farmers' Week and Red River Valley Winter Show, February 3 to 7, has decided to devote one day entirely to one-act plays. It is expected that many farm and city clubs throughout the area will wish to take part.

In fact, several have already indicated their desire to participate, thus insuring an excellent program. As soon as all entries are in, a general committee will be appointed to decide upon the order of appearance and assist with other local arrangements.

Women's clubs who wish to take part in the event should write Superintendent A. A. Dowell of the Northwest School, Crookston, for additional information.

Veterans Given Chance to Obtain Farms With Aid of Federal Agency

Under a plan worked out by the federal rural resettlement administration and the veterans administration, veterans who receive compensation or pension from the federal government may be assisted by the government in buying farms. To receive favorable consideration applicants must have had agricultural experience. The object of the plan is to help farm families now in financial distress to become self-sustaining on productive land. The land may be that on which they are now located or land selected by the resettlement administration. Each veteran will be required to return a stipulated amount of his compensation each month to reimburse the government for the farm. Those interested are asked to write Dr. E. G. Dexter, veterans administration, Washington, D. C., for the proper application blanks.

Man Held for Death of Fargo Grocer in Holdup

A man giving his name as Charles Maratte, 29, was captured Saturday as the suspected slayer of P. E. Stewart, Fargo grocer, who died of a gun wound suffered in a holdup Friday night.

Maratte, an Italian, was captured in a box car in the railroad yards at Dilworth. Ray Chloupek and Ole Uthus, railroad men, overpowered Maratte after he had stolen clothing from a caboose and sought to hide. It was learned that he was released from a penitentiary at Hamilton, Ont., October 7 after serving two years on a charge of breaking and entering.

Stewart was shot last night by a gunman who became infuriated when he found that the grocer had only a small amount of money in his store. He fired a shot gun into Stewart's hip. Stewart died in St. Luke's hospital.

Steiner Club to Hold Annual Meeting Jan. 3

The annual meeting of the Steiner Community club will be held Friday evening, January 3, at 8 o'clock at the club hall, R. A. Werner, president, announced today. Officers will be elected for the coming year and other business transacted.

SENATOR TOM SCHALL DIES IN WASHINGTON; FUNERAL RITES TODAY

norship, run for senator next year and, if successful, take his seat in Washington upon expiration of his term. Governor Olson indicated he will follow the latter curse.

That would mean he will appoint someone friendly to his own ambitions who will be satisfied with a year in the United States senate and be willing to forego his own political ambitions to step out when Governor Olson tries for the position.

To find such an individual might become a perplexing problem. Observers Sunday night speculated on the possibility of his selecting Frank W. Murphy of Wheaton, a Democrat and close Olson friend. Also discussed was Chief Justice John P. Devany of the Minnesota supreme court, also a Democrat, appointed by Governor Olson two years ago and elected in the 1934 election.

Equally difficult was the problem facing the Republicans. They had regarded Schall as the senatorial candidate and hoped to pin some of their party activity on his fight against the NRA and his subsequent criticisms of the national administration.

Party observers considered the likelihood of Mrs. Schall's candidacy to succeed her husband as did Mrs. Hattie Calloway in Arkansas.

There was some discussion of inducing Congressman Theodore Christianson to seek the office. He did so in 1930 as a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination against Schall. Despite three terms in the governorship and a record of economy in state expenditures, Christianson was overwhelmingly defeated by Schall.

Another possibility was Congressman Harold Knutson of St. Cloud, who has been in congress nearly two decades.

Origin of "Lord Mayor"

It is said that the title "Lord Mayor" arose from the expression "domino maiore," literally Sir Mayor. It had its origin during the reign of Edward III, in the Fourteenth century.

Celebrated July 4th in City Back in 1882

Charles Meyer, pioneer resident here, who moved from Thief River Falls to Roseau in 1897, stopped off in the city last week to visit at the home of his niece, Mrs. G. W. Booren, and with his old friend M. C. Burns. Mr. Meyer recalled having joined in the first Fourth of July celebration in this community in 1882 at the old J. B. LaBree trading post down the river.

Avalon Patrons to See Rogers' Last Film Sunday; Matinee New Years Day

Residents of the Thief River Falls community will have an opportunity Sunday and Monday to see at the Avalon theatre the beloved late Will Rogers in "In Old Kentucky", the last picture completed before his death last summer. The film is full of action centering around a horse race and a Kentucky feud. In the supporting cast are Dorothy Wilson, Russell Hardie, Alan Dinehart and Bill Robinson, noted tap dancer. The Avalon offering next Wednesday and Thursday, with a matinee New Years day at 2:30, will be Ginger Rogers in her latest picture "In Person", with George Brent and Grant Mitchell in the leading male roles.

Council Awards Geving Contract for Gravel

The city council late last week awarded to O. I. Geving the contract of supplying screened gravel and sand to be used in connection with concrete work on the enclosed municipal skating rink now under construction. Under the terms of his bid he will supply from the Patten pit 700 cubic yards of screened gravel and 500 yards of screened sand, each at 84 cents a yard delivered.

STATE CALLS FOR BIDS ON 2 GRAVEL PROJECTS HERE

Work to be Done Includes 10.2 Miles Gravel Surfacing

Bids on highway construction estimated to cost approximately $425,000 have been called for January 3 by the Minnesota Highway department, including two gravel surfacing jobs in Pennington county. The work includes a large group of county road improvements to be financed with Works Progress federal funds. Altogether, the call for bids lists 47 projects in 28 counties.

There are 25 grading jobs, one grading and gravelling, nine gravelling, two culverts and ten bridges in the call. Counties represented are Pope, Becker, Benton, Carver, Clearwater, Dodge, Douglas, Freeborn, Goodhue, Meeker, Olmsted, Ottertail, Pipestone, Red Lake, Swift, Todd, Itasca, Clay, Cook, Pennington, Nobles, Cass, Grant, Chippewa, Wabasha and Isanti.

Following are the local jobs for which bids are asked:

Gravel Surfacing

County Aid Road No. 11 between State Aid Road No. 3 and County Aid Road No. 1 in Pennington county; length 3.2 miles; 2,600 cubic yards and gravel surfacing.

County Aid Road No. 9 between State Aid Road No. 1 and T. H. No. 1 in Pennington county; length 7 miles; 5,600 cubic yards of gravel surfacing.

State Aid Road No. 11 between 1 mile west of Huot and 5 miles north in Red Lake county; length 5 miles; 2,726 cubic yards of gravel surfacing.

Bridges

T. H. No. 1 located 16 miles west of Redby in Clearwater county; 45-foot concrete deck girder span.

Former Governor Wm. Langer and 2 Others Acquitted in Bismarck

Twenty months of legal conflict ended in victory Thursday for former Governor William Langer of North Dakota and two political associates when a federal court jury in Bismark freed them of charges of conspiring to defraud the United States government.

After nearly 17 hours of deliberation the jury returned verdicts of acquittal for Langer, Frank A. Vogel, former state highway commissioner, and R. A. Kinzer, former executive secretary of the state relief organization.

The jury returned its verdict at 9:50 A. M., after taking the case under instructions from Federal Judge A. Lee Wyman of Sioux Falls, S. D., at 5 P. M. Wednesday. Only three ballots were taken by the jury, it was learned from George C. Ottis, foreman of the jury. Ottis said the first two stood 10-2 for acquittal.

National Debt Reaches $30,000,000,000 Mark First Time in History

The national debt reached $30,555,791,967 last week passing the $30,000,000,000 mark for the first time in history. The new high was caused by mid-December financing operations which added $962,039,937 to the debt.

The debt was near the figure estimated by President Roosevelt for the end of the fiscal year next June 30—$30,723,000,000. The deficit today stood at $1,606,711,375 compared with a year-end estimate of $3,281,000,000. Expenditures were $3,307,848,286 compared with full year estimates of $7,752,332,000.

These figures indicated to some the possibility that the public debt, when the 1936 fiscal year closes next June, may exceed the president's September estimates. But if budget plans are carried out, a half billion dollars remains to be cut off the debt between now and June 30.

COUNTY STUDENTS AT N. W. SCHOOL HOME FOR HOLIDAY

Winter Term at Crookston Institution Will Open January 6

With the close of the fall term, Northwest School students have returned to their homes throughout Northwestern Minnesota for the two weeks Christmas holiday. Activities of the final week included the annual inter-class song contest which was won by the seniors, with the advanced students ranking second and the juniors, third, and the get-together Christmas dinner which was held the closing evening of the term.

According to Registrar J. W. Milnar, a new attendance record was established last fall. A number of new students are also expected to enroll at the opening of the winter term January 6. Special classes will be arranged for the new students so that all credits earned will apply towards graduation. The winter term will close the last week in March so that students will be able to return home in time for the regular spring work.

Northwest School students who are spending their vacation with parents and friends in Pennington county include the following: Marian Augustine, Raymond Oen, Laura Hanson, Gladys Ose, Martin Hanson, LeRoy Peterson, Thief River Falls; Sylvia Fort, Orissa Prestegaard, Olaf Dahlen, Glennie Iverson, Harry Solberg, Erie; Helen and Truman Hennumestvedt, Harold Nabben, Victor Sund, Albin Hanson, Marvin Nabben, Goodridge; Iola Solberg, James Weckwerth, Stella Omundson, Hazel; Waldemar Walters, Plummer, Raymond Sorvig, Wylie.

New Dollar Bills Made Appearance Last Week

The government's new dollar bill made its appearance in the national capital last week. The bill, a silver certificate, carries the great seal of the United States on one side and a Latin word meaning "a new order of the ages" on the other. Eventually 775,000,000 of the present dollar bills will be replaced by the new certificate, treasury officials said. The new bill does not mark a change in monetary policy. It represents the same money in different dress.

Coil Piston Rings
Exclusive design gives the Coil Ring its spring-action and its "no gap" feature. The Coil Ring is NOT merely a stack of thin rings—but is composed of two INTERLOCKING sections, each section forming two segments. The Coil Rings flex to fit out-of-round and tapered cylinders—it seals worn groves—and it stops oil waste and power loss.

GARDEN VALLEY PHONE COMPANY GAINS IN VOLUME

Gross Income $4,000 More Than in 1934, Manager Vollom Reports

Another indication of gradually improving conditions is shown by the continued installation of new telephones by the Garden Valley Telephone Co., the biggest cooperative telephone company in the world, says the Bagley Farmers Independent. Although the growth is not startling, it is quite noticeable throughout the entire Garden Valley territory.

Figures shown at the board meeting at Erskine in November give a splendid picture of last year's business. At this meeting a five per cent dividend was declared by the board, which means that stockholders will receive approximately $6,000 this year. Last year a four per cent dividend was declared, and the previous year the dividend was only three per cent.

Gross income for this last year, according to Thomas Vollom, manager of the telephone company, was approximately $4,000 more this year than in 1934. The net earnings this year was about $5,000 which is also more than last year's figures.

The debt of the company was reduced greatly this year when the sum of $8,415.39 was paid off during the first ten months of this year. The debt was reduced from more than $15,000 to something like $7,500, and it is the hope of the officers and directors that this remaining debt may be paid off early in 1936.

30 East Grand Forks Liquor Sellers Fined $81 Apiece Last Week

Fines aggregating $2,400 will come into the Polk county treasury as the result of arrests of 30 East Grand Forks liquor vendors and two from other points last week.

Beginning shortly before noon Wednesday and continuing thru until late afternoon, Municipal Judge Edward J. Devitt heard a procession of liquor dealers plead guilty to charges of illegal sale of intoxicating liquors, brought by County Attorney F. H. Stadsvold.

Deputy Sheriffs O. K. Bolstad and E. F. Kelly were in East Grand Forks with Stadsvold.

Each of the persons arrested was fined $75 and costs of $6. Practically all paid the fines in full Wednesday. A few made partial payments and were granted a brief time to pay the balance.

Farmers of State Hear Pres. Roosevelt Address National Farm Bureau

A large number of Minnesota farmers heard President Roosevelt address the American Farm Bureau Federation in Chicago on Monday of this week, at the opening of the 3-day convention of the organization. A week previous to the opening of the convention, the Minnesota Farm Bureau had distributed 100 reserved seat tickets to the huge International amphitheater in which the president made his address, and other members received their passes on their arrival in Chicago. No admission charge was made, but Farm Bureau members were extended the privilege of reserved seats, prior to the filling of the huge building by the general farm public. The convention was the largest in the history of the American Farm Bureau, due not only to President Roosevelt's appearance but also to the great gains in membership made by the organization during the past year.

Judge Gives Jetland 15-Day Jail Sentence

Brought before Judge Lincoln Arnold in municipal court Thursday morning to answer to an assault charge, Joe Jetland was sentenced to serve a 15-day jail term, and is now confined in the city lockup in the Auditorium.

STEINER

A large crowd attended the Christmas program held at Steiner school Friday evening. After the program, the presents and bags of candy and nuts were given out. Little Louis Meyer was Santa Claus. —Again the community was saddened to hear of the passing away of an old neighbor, Mrs. Kelberg who died Tuesday. She was an old-timer here, and we join in extending our sympathies to her family. —A group of friends and relatives of Steiner and Thief River Falls surprised Mrs. Agnes Warring on Tuesday afternoon and helped her celebrate her birthday. —A delicious lunch was served and Mrs. Warring received many nice gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Russell, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. A. Simonson of Thief River Falls motored to Drayton, N. D., Sunday. —Miss Thelma Auden teacher of Steiner school returned to her home Saturday, where she will spend her Christmas vacation. —Mr. and Mrs. V. Copa are the proud parents of a baby girl, born Dec. 17.

PROWLERS DOWN CASS LAKE QUINT FRIDAY 23 TO 18

Was One of Hardest Fought Contests Ever Played Locally

The Cass Lake high school basketball team, recent victor over Bemidji and East Grand Forks, went down to defeat at the hands of the Lincoln high school Prowlers Friday evening in the Auditorium in one of the most exciting games played on the local floor in recent years. The final score was 23 to 18.

Cass Lake scored first in the opening period and then ran the count up to 6 to 2, the first quarter ending 6 to 3 in favor of the visitors. In the second period the Prowlers overcame this lead and the half ended 10 to 8 in their favor. The tally at the end of the third quarter was 16 to 12 in favor of the locals.

Mickelson starred on both offense and defense for the Prowlers, accounting for six field goals and two free throws, while Milton Nesse was second in the scoring with two field goals and one free throw. The entire team, however, merited much praise for an outstanding performance. For Cass Lake Patske and Gray made the best showing. Flagstad and Helgeson of Roseau handled the work of refereeing in good style.

In a preliminary contest Middle River defeated the Prowler second team by a score of 29 to 25.

The box score in the Cass Lake game follows:

NEARLY $200,000 BUILDING JOBS IN CITY IN 1935

Thief River Falls Enjoyed Active Year in Construction

$40,000 POSTOFFICE IS BIGGEST PROJECT

Eleven New Homes and Much Remodeling Included in Total

Despite the fact that few major construction projects were undertaken in Thief River Falls in 1935, the building industry was unusually active, a survey by the Times revealing that projects of a total vaule approaching $200,000 were carried to completion or inaugurated during the year.

Records in the office of City Clerk P. G. Pederson show that 59 permits calling for a stated expenditure of $76,580 were issued during the year. In view of the highly conservative basis on which the permits are taken out, they are credited with accounting for well over $100,000 in actual construction expenditures.

Additional construction not covered by permits issued during the year includes the postoffice building project to cost approximately $40,000, scheduled to be completed shortly; the $25,000 enclosed skating rink project on which work got under way late in the year; and the substantial building erected for the O. K. One-Stop Service station, a permit for which was issued late in 1934, but which was not built until last spring.

Included in the projects covered by permits issued in 1935 were nearly a dozen new business buildings and additions involving a stated expenditure of $34,160; eleven new homes, one apartment and a dozen tourists cabins with a total cost fixed in the permits at $32,850; 18 residences remodeled at a cost of $8,350; and eight garages costing $1,230.

Among the busines improvements were those made by C. Gustafson & Son, Montgomery Ward & company, Lund & Tunberg, Phillips Petroleum company, James Cosgrove, John Weiner, department of rural credit, Bridgeman Creameries, A. D. Langelette and Carl Wennberg.

Homes were constructed during the year by H. M. Olson, Fred P. Will, Christ Kleck, Mrs. Martha Eggerud, Harry Lund, Clair O'Hara, A. F. Holzknecht, M. T. McFarland, Leonard Johnson, Luther Haugen and Roy Barzen. In addition a modern apartment was built by M. P. Erickson.

140 ALUMNI OF LINCOLN SCHOOL ATTEND REUNION

Donovan Mattson Elected to Head Association for Ensuing Year

A gathering of 140 alumni of Lincoln high school and their friends assembled Friday evening for their annual reunion at the Sons of Norway hall. Following a brief business session, which included the reading of the annual report of Treasurer Clarence Pope, remarks by Victor Jung in behalf of the class of 1936 and the election of officers, the remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing and the serving of refreshments.

The election, conducted by John Arnold, vice president, in the absence of retiring President Donald Snyder resulted in the naming of Donovan Mattson to head the association as president for the ensuing year. Others elected include Richard Dahlow, vice president; Merle Lindberg, secretary; and Clarence Sande, treasurer.

As a means of getting those present acquainted with one another, each person in the gathering was called on to stand and announce his name and the year in which he was graduated from the local high school.

E. M. Bennes Attends Minneapolis Banquet

E. M. Bennes, grand counselor of the Minnesota-North Dakota jurisdiction of the United Commercial Travelers, attended a salesmen's banquet Friday evening in Minneapolis sponsored by the Civic and Commerce association of that city. Congressman Theodore Christianson officiated as toastmaster and the principal address was delivered by Donald D. Davis, president of General Mills, Inc.

V. E. Copp Wins With Barred Rocks at Warren

V. E. Copp of this community made a clean sweep up in the dark barred Plymouth Rock class at the Marshall county poultry show which closed recently in Warren. Mr. Copp won all awards with his cockerels, cocks, hens, pullets and young and old pens.

Fire Losses in 1935 Decline to $8,265

Appointed Senator

ELMER A. BENSON

Who last Friday was named United States senator by Governor Floyd B. Olson. Mr. Benson will fill out the term of the late Senator Thomas D. Schall which expires at the end of the year.

ELMER A. BENSON NAMED SENATOR TO SUCCEED SCHALL

Expected to Seek Governor Post This Year to Succeed Olson

Elmer A. Benson, state commissioner of banks, was appointed Friday to fill out the unexpired term of Thomas D. Schall in the United States senate. Governor Floyd B. Olson, who made the appointment, will be a candidate himself for the full six-year senate term, beginning in January, 1937.

Appointment of Robert D. Beery of Long Prairie as acting commissioner of the state banking commission to succeed Benson also was announced by Governor Olson. Beery is chief examiner in charge of the liquidation department.

The appointment of Mr. Brown, considered certain for several days, was withheld until after the funeral services for Senator Schall.

Mr. Benson becomes Minnesota's second farmer-labor senator.

Mr. Benson has been groomed as a candidate for governor for some time. It is taken for granted that he will not be a senate candidate against Governor Olson, but that he will continue his drive for the governorship.

The farmer-labor state committee and the executive committee of the Farmer-Labor Association indorsed Mr. Benson for the appointment last Monday. The governor was petitioned on behalf of several other possible choices, including Chief Justice John P. Devaney, Lieutenant Governor Hjalmar Petersen and Representative S. A. Stockwell of Minneapolis.

Mr. Benson resigned his state office at once and will take his seat in the senate when congress reconvenes Friday.

In accepting the appointment, Senator Benson said he:

Favors immediate payment of bonus to war veterans.

Approves old age pensions and unemployment insurance.

Believes in public ownership of monopolistic industries.

Opposes branch and group banking.

Advocates stronger protection of labor's right to collective bargaining.

Favors increased levies on higher incomes and inheritances.

Favors prompt passage of Frazier-Lemke bill.

Strongly opposes sales tax.

Approves fool proof neutrality law.

Sanctions government ownership of munitions industry.

Workmen Now Laying Tile Floor in New Postoffice

Following the recent completion of the work of plastering the interior of the new postoffice building, workers this week were engaged in laying the tile floor in the lobby of the structure. Furniture and fixtures for the new quarters, requisitioned some time ago, are now arriving in the city and are being placed in storage pending completion of the building scheduled for early in March.

Food Stores Will Close Saturday Nights at 8

Food stores of the city will close Saturday evenings at 8 o'clock starting January 4 and continuing until Saturday, March 14, it was announced today by A. M. Magnuson, chairman of the merchants committee of the Civic and Commerce association. The action of the food dealers was taken following the announcement last week that leading department and hardware stores and women's wear stores would close at 7 o'clock Saturday evenings, effective until March 14.

Total Losses in City Fall to Lowest Mark in Past Three Years

Losses by fire in Thief River Falls in 1935 aggregated $8,265, according to a compilation prepared by H. L. Schuster, secretary of the local fire department.

This total is the smallest since 1932 when losses amounted to $7,660, and is greatly exceeded by the 1933 record-breaking figure of more than $110,000, the major portion of which was represented by the destruction of the city Auditorium and the adjoining Northern Chevrolet company garage with 40 automobiles. Losses in 1934 totaled $13,400.

The department responded to 59 calls during the year, damage resulting in only ten cases. The firemen were called on to aid in extinguishing no less than 36 chimney fires, indicating that local residents have been negligent in having their chimneys cleaned at sufficiently frequent intervals.

The year's most disastrous fire, which accounted for much the greater part of the total losses for 1935, occurred March 4 when the Caldis building at LaBree Ave. and Third st. was damaged to an extent estimated at $6,000. Damage March 16 to the Dr. L. R. Twete garage and laboratory was appraised at $500, other losses including $350 damage to the Model Creamery July 7; Fred Frederickson home, 717 Main av. N., November 9, $550; and Zion Lutheran church, November 26, $350.

Minor losses were sustained by the Thief River Pharmacy, Evenson's flat building, K. T. Smith, 722 Duluth av. N.; G. Granum, 715 LaBree av. N.; T. Dovre, 316 Tindolph av. S.; and the Civic and Commerce association rooms in the basement of the Auditorium.

MINNEAPOLIS MAN ARRESTED IN CITY ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Frank Coates Stopped by Gun Fire When he Attempts to Flee

Following a chase Friday evening in the vicinity of Fourth st. and Horace av., Police Chief A. B. Stenberg and Sheriff Arthur Rambeck arrested Frank S. Coates of Minneapolis, known locally as "Alcohol Jack", and confiscated twenty gallons of alcohol found in his car.

Coming upon their quarry, Officers Stenberg and Rambeck parked their car up against the front of Coats' automobile, whereupon he backed the vehicle down Fourth st. and into the alley in the rear of Trinity Lutheran church. In the alley he leaped from the moving car and attempted to flee, but was brought to a halt by three shots fired by Chief Stenberg.

Charged with transportation and concealment of untaxed liquor, Coates was taken Sunday by federal agents to Bemidji, where he was to appear this week before the United States commissioner. Local authorities expressed the view that Coats had come to this city with more than 60 gallons of alcohol and that he had disposed of more than half of it when arrested. He is reported to have operated in this section for the past three years.

Governor Olson Rests Easy at Rochester After Exploratory Operation

Dr. Waltman Walters of the Mayo Clinic reported Wednesday Governor Floyd B. Olson, who was operated on Tuesday for a stomach obstruction, spent an "excellent night."

The governor was resting easily. Dr. Walters said the chief executive was to be advised in two or three days of findings of physicians who operated but decided not to remove the polyp which has been obstructing his stomach.

Dr. Walters said the removal was decided against because the foreign growth was in an "inaccessible" place and therefore x-ray or injection treatment would be employed.

Prof. Theodore Prichard Addresses Rotary Club

Professor Theodore Prichard, head of the department of architecture at the University of Idaho, who is home for the holidays, discussed the field in which he is engaged at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club Tuesday noon at the Evelyn hotel. Each Rotarian had as his guest at the luncheon a college student who is home for the Christmas vacation.

S. McMULLEN STILL IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Squire McMullen, father of Mrs. G. H. Mayer-Oakes, who was seriously injured Christmas night when struck by a car on Eighth st., remained in a local hospital yesterday, his condition continuing to be critical.

CONGRESS WILL COMMENCE 1936 SESSION FRIDAY

Administration Forces Hope for Early Termination of Session

BONUS PAYMENT ONE OF LEADING ISSUES

Republicans Plan Fight on New Deal Men and Policies

New Dealers and their opponents in Washington concentrated during the past week on strikingly different plans for the new session of congress opening Friday.

Roosevelt men were striving for a short and harmonious session and there were reports President Roosevelt might not have much to propose in the way of major legislation beyond a new neutrality bill and appropriation measures.

In republican ranks, however, there was strong sentiment for breaking the whole fight over the New Deal wide open again in an aggressive attack on administration men and policies. Moreover, the American Liberty League was fighting for drastic revision of past enactments, including the utility holding company act, the AAA, the social security program, and tax legislation.

Most plans, however, were contingent on what the Supreme Court does about the six major pieces of legislation now before it for review. If it should strike down the agricultural adjustment program, many legislators believe the resultant struggle would prolong the session at least a month beyond the April or May adjournment date which is now the aim of democratic leaders.

Even aside from this, some legislators foresee enough fights to stretch the session into the summer. They point out congress is an ideal forum for speeches designed to influence the trend of the 1936 election.

The first big issue scheduled for discussion is the fight over cash payment of the $2,000,000,000 soldier bonus, which is due on the house floor January 13.

Soon afterward congress is expected to get to work on neutrality, for the present law requiring a mandatory embargo on arms and munitions shipments to belligerents expires February 29. There are various proposals for broadening this measure. Signs also point to a dispute over whether the measure should give the President more discretion.

Republicans are planning meetings to discuss their role in the session. Senator C. L. McNary of Oregon, minority leader, is expected to summon a conference January 4.

The republican national congressional committee, in a statement published last week, charged relief money is used "to build up the New Deal political machine."

"In innumerable instances", it said, "people have been challenged to vote for the New Deal or be denied relief money."

In the 10 days before the Kentucky election last fall, it continued, "forty-two million dollars in relief money" was spent within the state.

The Liberty League called on congress to "reassert its rights and prerogatives under the constitution" and "check the trend toward dictatorship."

Among other things, it asked legislators to reduce spending to the level of treasury receipts; revise revenue laws which aim at redistribution of wealth; make a "moderate" appropriation for direct relief for a limited time, with provision for loans to states thereafter; provide "productive" public works on a greatly reduced scale; withdraw government from competition with private business; scrap certain AAA methods termed "in conflict with the constitution"; amend the social security act which infringes upon constitutional limitations" and repeal the "death sentence" in the utility act.

Masons and Eastern Stars in Joint Installation Tonight

In accordance with a custom of many years standing, recently elected and appointed officers of the local Masonic lodge and Eastern Star chapter will assume their posts in joint installation rites at the Masonic hall this evening. The Masonic officers will be headed by R. H. Burrell as worshipful master and the Eastern Star by Mrs. V. D. Borry as worthy matron.

Other Masonic lodge officers to be inducted include C. W. Pope, senior warden; R. G. Kinghorn, junior warden; Adolf Eklund, treasurer; Joseph Fabrick, secretary; L. G. Larsen, senior deacon; S. C. Severson, junior deacon; Rev. E. A. Cooke, chaplain; Arthur Rambeck, senior steward; C. E. Overum, junior steward; B. Dan Bjorkman, marshal; and Ardell Robinson, tiler.

Elective offices of the Eastern Star to be installed include, in addition to Mrs. Borry, Andrew Anderson as worthy patron, Mrs. J. L. Stitt, associate matron; George Orr, Red Lake Falls, associate patron; Mrs. A. J. Borry, secretary; Miss Margaret Fabrick, treasurer; Mrs. A. M. Holte, conductress; Mrs. Palmer Tommerdahl, associate conductress; and Mrs. L. G. Larsen, trustee.

Appointive officers include Mrs. James Steen, chaplain; Mrs. Lucy Mathewson, marshal; Miss Georgia Frissell, organist; Mrs. David Fast, warder; Mrs. Thora Nelson, sentinel; Mrs. J. McKechnie, Ada; Mrs. L. B. Hess, Ruth; Mrs. A. B. Almstedt, Esther; Mrs. Gunder Legvold, Martha; and Mrs. Ralph McCain, Electa.

112 Marriage Licenses Issued Here During '34, Biggest Total Since '20

Marriage licenses to the number of 112 were issued in Pennington county in 1935, the highest total in 15 years, Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund announced today. The number compares with 82 issued in 1934 and an all-time high mark of 126 in 1920. October was the most popular month of the year, 17 licenses being issued, followed by June with 14. In January only three licenses were issued. Divorce also showed a substantial increase last year, numbering nine, compared to six in 1934, and a record high mark of eleven in 1920.

PROFESSOR KISER OF N. W. SCHOOL TO SPEAK WEDNESDAY

Crookston Man to Discuss Dairy Feeding at Farm Short Course

Professor O. M. Kiser of Northwest School at Crookston will be the speaker at the next session of the agricultural night school in the Washington school building, Wednesday, January 8, Harold P. Harrison, instructor in charge, announced today. He invited farmers in this section to be present to hear Professor Kiser, who will discuss better dairy feeding.

Mr. Harrison also announced that plans are being made for a part-time school for farm boys between the ages of 14 and 25. Three-hour classroom sessions will be held two days a week for five weeks, with instruction given in agricultural subjects and shop and gymnasium work.

There will be no entrance requirements for the course, Mr. Harrison said, adding that further details will be given in next week's issue of the Times.

SENATE AND HOUSE DEBATING PENSION BILLS THIS WEEK

Arguments Continue as to Administration by State or County

Majority forces in the senate Tuesday won the first clash over the old age pension bill, when they turned down an amendment by Senator R. G. Novak, St. Paul, that would do away with all county participation and put the load equally on state and federal governments.

The Novak amendment was first of a barrage fired by farmer-labor minority senators, in an effort to bring the majority's bill more to the form of their own proposal. Under his amendment, all handling of the old age pensions would be entrusted to the state board of control. The bill as it stands provides for county administration, and counties would pay 25 per cent of costs, except for help by the state to counties with a high rate of tax delinquency or high levies.

While the senate debated its pension measure, the house public welfare committee continued to work on its bill, hoping to have it ready for introduction Thursday. It is more liberal than the senate measure, putting only one-eighth of the cost on counties, and providing easier admission to pension rolls for persons owning property.

Gullingsrud Gets Check for $4,725 of Income Tax

County Treasurer John Gullingsrud Tuesday received from State Treasurer Julius A. Schmahl a check for $4,725 representing the fourth distribution of the proceeds of the state income tax to the school fund. The distribution is based on the number of children of compulsory school age between the ages of 8 and 16, and is on the basis of $2.50 for each of 1890 children.

Babson Sees Better Times During 1936

Following is a continuation of the forecast, started in last week's issue of the Times, by Roger W. Babson, noted economist of Babson Park, Florida, in which he reviews business, political and agricultural prospects for 1936.

Election No Obstacle

Many people—even those who share my optimism concerning the heavy industries—are worried over the effect of the elections on business. In studying this subject recently, I discovered that during the past 16 election years there have been 7 pick-ups, 7 declines and 2 "no changes." This explodes the general theory that business is bound to be bad in an election year. It is foolish to be doubtful about 1936—coming as it does in a vigorous recovery period. Naturally political maneuvers will be irritating and upsetting at times. But as I have pointed out repeatedly, political campaigns do not make and unmake basic conditions; rather it is basic conditions which make and unmake the campaigns.

This campaign will be a bitter one. Political propaganda and election oratory will monopolize the headlines from May to November. If the balloting were to take place today there would be no doubt that Mr. Roosevelt would be reelected. But as the months tick away, the President probably will continue to lose strength, particularly in the industrial areas. Nevertheless, I question if the rising tide of opposition to the New Deal will be strong enough by November to engulf the President and rob him of his personal popularity. Barring unforeseen events, the chances are that the Administration will do nothing upsetting to business between now and election.

Politics in Saddle

The final session of the present Congress begins on January 3 and will probably last five or six months. It will be neither a reform nor a re-covery session, but rather a re-election session. Politics will completely rule its decisions. While it will not be a "rubber stamp" Congress party harmony will be stressed and the President will hold the whip-hand on the major issues. As the program lines up now, the most important bills are the Veterans Bonus and the Neutrality Law. With the members casting their eyes nervously toward the elections, it looks as though the veterans can quickly lobby through a cash payment, or the equivalent, even over a presidential veto.

A neutrality bill, prohibiting the export of munitions and saddling heavy taxes on war profits, will be

N. D. 'U' MAN TO GIVE AN ADDRESS HERE JANUARY 10

Professor Richard Beck to be Speaker at Sons of Norway Hall

Professor Richard Beck of the University of North Dakota speaks in English on "Old Norse Philosophy of Life" on Friday evening January 10th at the Sons of Norway Hall. Prof Beck is of Icelandic descent and has a thorough knowledge of the subjects he has chosen.

Mr. Tony Helm of Fertile, will render a number of bass solos. Many have undoubtedly heard him over WDAY and have enjoyed his powerful deep bass voice.

This is the first program of the winter lecture and concert course offered by the Sons and Daughters of Norway of Thief River Falls. Their enterprise in providing this fine high-class course deserves generous support.

Season tickets at $1 for the full course of four entertainments can be secured from the ticket solicitors. The audience is asked to be on hand promptly at eight o'clock to get the full benefit of the vocal selections with which the program begins.

Former Postmaster of St. Hilaire Dies

Word reached St. Hilaire last week of the recent death in Fergus Falls of O. E. Post, one-time prominent merchant of that village and for some years postmaster. In partnership with his half-brother Charles Rapp he developed one of the largest stores operating at that time in this section of the state, the firm discontinuing business in 1908. Mr. Post is survived by his wife in Chicago and by a son, Curtis, in Minneapolis.

Alvarado Man Resigns Bank Department Post

Arthur W. Sands, former Alvarado resident, who has served as deputy commissioner of banks for the State of Minnesota, resigned his position last week, according to press dispatches. It is reported that Mr. Sands has accepted a position with one of the St. Paul banks and that he will commence his new work shortly after the first of the year.

To Assume Mayor Post

W. W. PRICHARD, JR

Who next Tuesday will assume the office of mayor of Thief River Falls, succeeding Frank A. Rinkel, who served during the past year. Mr. Prichard has previously for seven years as chief administrative officer of the city.

HOLIDAY MAILINGS HIT NEW HIGH MARK IN CITY THIS YEAR

Large Gain in Yule Mailings Reported by Postmaster A. Anderson

A substantial increase in holiday mailings at the local postoffice as compared to the high mark of last year is revealed in a tabulation completed this week by Postmaster Andrew Anderson.

A gain of approximately 30 per cent was shown in insured parcels leaving the city during the period from December 16 to 24, the number totaling 1,201 compared to 913 in the same period in 1934. Postage receipt on parcels received at the postoffice windows aggregated $775.60 for the period, compared to $629.90 in 1934, $592.10 in 1933 and $588.60 in 1932.

More than 60,000 letters and greetings cards passed thru the canceled during the week from Decanceled during the week from December 17 to 24 inclusive, Mr. Anderson's figures showed. This figure compares with a total of 52,348 for the same period in 1934.

Annual Harvest of Ice Under Way Last Friday; Ice Is 20 Inches Thick

With the ice sheet in the river twenty inches thick after planing, the annual ice harvest got under way locally last Friday when the O'Hara Fuel and Ice company began operations with a crew of 17 men employed on the river near Tindolph park. Ed. O'Hara, proprietor, said he plans to put up more than 10,000 cakes weighing from 450 to 500 pounds each, and that operations will continue intermittently until March 1. The Red Lake Ice and Fuel company plans to start operations Friday with a crew of 12 to 15 men.

Prepare for Pouring of Concrete on Rink

Work preliminary to the pouring of concrete for the basement and footings for the enclosed skating rink was under way early this week. The basement excavation has been enclosed with a framework covered with tar paper as a protection from freezing weather while the pouring of concrete is in progress. Excavations for the footings for the huge structure are being dug by the crew of men, and gravel is being hauled to the site.

Farmers Asked to Act on Rye Contracts by Jan. 15

The deadline for county farmers to sign federal rye crop production control contracts has been tentatively set at January 15, it was announced today by County Agent R. M. [illegible], Rye growers who [illegible] contracts are invited to call for further information at the county agent's office at the Auditorium.

Firemen's Ball Was an Outstanding Success

Hailed as a distinct social and financial success, the annual firemen's ball was held New Years Eve at the Auditorium. The floor was crowded with dancers, and carnival effects lent to the gayety of the occasion. In the allotment of prizes Philip Prichard was given the first award, Herman Langseth second and Gust Skomedal third. Secretary H. L. Schuster of the fire department this morning extended the department's appreciation to the public for the manner in which the event was patronized.

NEW OFFICERS TAKE OVER CITY AFFAIRS JAN. 7

Mayor Rinkel to Turn Office Over to W. W. Prichard, Jr., Tuesday

THREE ALDERMEN REMAIN ON COUNCIL

New Members Are H. W. Kinghorn, S. Salveson and John Baker

Officers chosen in the city election last November will take over the administration of municipal affairs in Thief River Falls next Tuesday when the council holds its organization meeting. Among the various matters to come before the council and mayor at that time are the filling of various appointive offices, including chief of police, city attorney, city clerk, street commissioner and other posts. Not infrequently in the past, however, these appointments have been deferred to a later meeting.

Retiring Mayor Frank A. Rinkel, who has held office during the past year, Tuesday will turn over the reins of office to Mayor-Elect W. W. Prichard, Jr., who had formerly served in the office by appointment in 1925, followed by three elective terms ending in January, 1932. The work of the office thus will be familiar to the new incumbent.

Three new faces will be seen this year on the city council in the persons of H. W. Kinghorn, alderman-at-large; S. Salveson, second ward; and John Baker, third ward. Three others who will enter on their second successive terms are Carl Christofferson, alderman-at-large; Emil Griebstein, first ward; and P. O. Myhrum, fourth ward.

Of the new members Mr. Kinghorn is in the employ of the Soo Line and in 1934 completed a term as member of the Pennington county board of commissioners. Mr. Salveson has conducted a photograph studio here for many years, and Mr. Baker has been employed over a long period of time by the Math Barzen company and its predecessor firm, the Hanson & Barzen Milling company.

Also holding its organization meeting next Tuesday will be the Pennington county board, which will attend to a variety of matters that come up for consideration at the first meeting of the year.

INDEPENDENTS WIN HARD-FOUGHT TILT IN ROSEAU MONDAY

To Play Former Minnesota Football Stars Here January 12

The Junior Civic and Commerce Association independent basketball team Monday night defeated the Roseau Vikings at Roseau by a score of 39 to 36. The game was one of the most bitterly contested battles ever staged between these two teams. The Vikings took the lead at the beginning of the game and stayed in front until 30 seconds before the end of the first half when with a score 20 to 19 in favor of Roseau the locals scored a field goal to take the lead and from that time on were never headed.

The J. C. & C. team showed a decided improvement over the preceding Thursday when they were defeated by the Alumni All-Stars by a score of 57 to 30. The locals became more accustomed to playing together and demonstrated their ability to be able to come from behind and win with the odds against them. The Roseau club last week defeated the highly touted Ethiopian Warriors and received rather a shock when they were upset by Thief River Falls.

The management of the local team has been successful in signing the Gopher Victory Five for a contest here Sunday, Jan. 12th. The Gopher Team is composed of Sheldon Beise and Dick Smith, all-American football players, and Vernon Oech, Dale Rennebohm, and Phil Bengtson, all members of Minnesota's national football championship team. This game promises to be the outstanding attraction of the 1936 season.

Marx Bros. Here Sunday in 'Night at the Opera'

The Marx brothers, Groucho, Chico and Harpo, will perform their crazy antics in "A Night at the Opera", which comes to the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday. The film is replete with side-splitting situations, songs and spectacles. The supporting cast includes Kitty Carlisle and Allan Jones.

THE DAYS BEFORE

"What nice manners the polite little Thompson boys have!"

"Yes. They are always like that just before Christmas."

NEW YEAR'S and PUBLICITY

by Luella B. Lyons

"YES, Margie dear, you are looking at half a million geraniums that will be bursting into bloom one of these days and as far as I know, you and I and maybe a few folks here in Boone will see them. No advance orders for them"; and Bob Marchant's face was the picture of woe.

"But you only tried selling them the order in one city, Bob," Margie reminded him.

"Darling, this is New Year's day and a time for making fresh starts.

"It Worked, Bob—My Plan Worked!" She Exclaimed.

I've an idea for getting an order for the whole lot and to Ripleys at that, but don't ask me what—just trust me and hope for the New Year-changing our luck, darling!"

That evening Margie spent an hour or so over a letter which she addressed to the "People Say This:" department of the Crandall newspaper.

The next day Margie insisted on hanging around the greenhouse until Bob nearly went mad with her persistence. Then a long distance call did come through from the buyer at Ripley Brothers' store.

"Marchant, say, have you still, by any chance, got that prospect of half a million geraniums, and can you be sure to have them ready —on a day we will later specify—in bloom by then? Name your own price."

Bob, happy as a lark, scarcely knew the buyer had broken the connection for Margie was dancing about wildly yelling—"It worked Bob—my plan worked!"

"Margie darling, I've just had one grand and glorious shock but I'm not fool enough to think I earned it. I know the answer, so spill the best half of the story, honey—quick!"

"Bob dear, I wrote in to that column as though I was some great landscape artist. They published the letter and Ripleys took the suggestion to heart. You see, I said it was a shame that the stores out in this section of the country didn't ape the big stores where I hailed from, decorating every window of their stores with window boxes piled high with gaudy red geraniums through the spring months and summer, too, and with green and red everlasting shrubs the winter through—just like so many do in France. I went into detail even, but that doesn't matter now. They took it to heart, engaged your whole crop just so you and I can take our 'geranium honeymoon'"!

His Majesty's Bath

An English diary of the time of the American Revolution tells how the "king bathed with great success; a machine followed the royal one into the sea, filled with fiddlers who played 'God Save the King' as his majesty takes his plunge."

GRYGLA

Miss Anna Viken teaching school at Campbell is spending her Christmas vacation at her home here. —Olaf Anderson who is attending school at St. Paul is spending the holidays at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Sorenson who have been visiting at the Linn home for some time returned to Warren. —J. Maney made a hurry up trip to St. Paul the later part of last week. On his return, he brought the new Diesel engine for the local light plant, which with competent engineers in charge is being rapidly installed. As yet the generator and switch board have not arrived, altho it has been promised by the men in charge that juice will be flowing thru the wires before the week end. —Darryl Carter of St. Hilaire is spending his vacation visiting his aunt, Mrs. F. A. Brown. Trapping seem to be the main diversion. —Tony LaGrost of Ada is spending Christmas visiting at the A. M. Loyd and Cliff Lunde homes. —Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Bjorkman and son Dick, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brown of Thief River Falls spent Christmas eve at the H. F. Sandberg home. —Harold Wick and Gordon Rud from a CCC camp near Cass Lake are spending a few days visiting the home folks.

Miss Alice Fladeland who is in training at a hospital at Duluth spent her Christmas vacation here.

A bouncing baby boy arrived at the home of Cliff Moran's the last day of the year. Mother and son are doing fine and congratulations are extended.

The old village council held its last regular meeting Monday night. Understand from reliable authority that Ted Dalen has been engaged as the new "Cop" and that he will also act as the engineer for the light plant. Orvis Fladeland and Peter Bakken are the new faces to be seen on the council, Mr. Fladeland taking the place of John Maney as Mayor and Peter Bakken that of Gunder Grovum as council men. Good luck to the new administration. —Ella Anderson who has been visiting at her parental home at Jelle has returned to her duties at Bemidji. Miss Nina, Arthur and Raymond of Bemidji also spent their vacation at the Anderson home.

Miss Ida Korstad who is employed at Thief River Falls returned to her duties last Sunday after spending the holidays at her home south east of town. —Mr. and Mrs. H. Ristau and daughter from Mavie visited last Tuesday at the home of H. T. Peterson.

Of local interest is the news of the double wedding of Ole Nordby to Miss Della Peters and Miss Tena Nordby to Martin Loberg. All contracting parties are very well and favorably known in this vicinity and congratulations are extended to the happy folks for a long and happy wedded life. Mr. and Mrs. Ole Norby will reside on a farm just a short ways from town while Mr. and Mrs. Martin Loberg will reside at Thief River Falls where Martin has rented a garage and will do general car repair work.

All signs of the "Grygla Eagle" screaming any more faded out last week when Ray Swanson of Bronson purchased the plant and equipment. Mr. Swanson will start a new publication at Hallock.

Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Adkins are spending the New Year visiting at Thief River Falls.

In Memoriam

One sad year has passed, dear mother,
Since that morn you went away.
And our hearts are sad and lonely
For we miss you more each day.
How we loved you, Dearest Sarah
You were oh so kind and good;
Why we had to lose you darling
Cannot now be understood.
You will never be forgotten,
Never will your memory fade
Sweetest thots will always linger,
Round the grave where you are laid.
Farewell again then, dearly loved one,
May God give us strength to bear,
And the grace to fully trust Him,
Until our work too is ended here.

Mr. Gandy Good Shopper, but Forgot Own Present

IT WAS simply out of the question for Mrs. Gandy to go to Sayville that morning. The day before Christmas and a thousand things to do; but Mr. Gandy was going. Of course he could do many errands, yet hardly the one she wished most to have done—a gift for himself. Sayville was the nearest shopping place to the tiny village where the Gandys lived, a good fifteen miles over the mountain by a rickety bus which ran once a day.

Mrs. Gandy was struck with an idea. She hurried to a neighbor's house and begged her to come home with her. "Just ask Mr. Gandy if he will buy for you a pair of gloves, for your husband. Give a large size. He'll never guess."

The neighbor, obligingly consented. Mrs. Gandy felt well pleased with her bit of a scheme to get her husband to buy his own gift (unknowingly) for himself, but she was a trifle dismayed when, at five o'clock, Mr. Gandy came home, tired, hungry and tumbled an armful of packages on the kitchen table.

"You got the sage for the dressing? The celery? The red toy truck for Tommie? The blue mittens for Sarah? The nuts and raisins, and the white wool for grandma?"

Mr. Gandy nodded and inquired how soon supper would be ready.

"And," asked his wife casually, "the gloves for Andrew, his wife wanted?"

Mr. Gandy smiled. "I clean forgot about them until the bus was ready to start! So I just hopped into a place and grabbed the first pair I saw. 'Good enough for old Andrew,' I thought, but they aren't much." He grinned a little shamefacedly, like a boy.

Mrs. Gandy plumped down in a chair. "Bill Gandy, that serves you just right. Those gloves are a Christmas present from me to you. You are served with your own sauce!" And she laughed so hard that Bill Gandy had to join her at his own expense. — Martha B. Thomas.

Elephants' Legs Strong

The massive, treelike legs of the elephant support him more solidly than those of any other living creature. Not only have elephants been shot more than 50 times before they fell, but there are several cases on record of these animals standing for some time after their death. —Collier's Weekly.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

WELCOME THE NEW YEAR

Along with other good citizens, at this season of the year we devote a little time and thought to the future, trying to figure out how we can improve ourselves and do a little better job of the tasks that have been assigned to us. As publishers of the great family journal, our first consideration, of course, is the paper itself. There still are a few weak spots that need attention and our first resolve is to make the Times an even better paper than it has been in the past. Among other things, just for good measure we are going to give the customers fifty-three issues during 1936.

With the paper out of the way, there are several projects that recommend themselves for our spare time activities. The most ambitious of these is a history of Thief River Falls. For several years we have been impressed with the need for a permanent record of the city's history; the important facts of the individuals and organizations that have played a part in the community's development.

To do justice to such an assignment would require a great deal of time and effort. On a part time basis it probably would require several years to assemble the material and prepare it for publication. Then getting enough revenue out of the thing to cover the cost of publication would be a problem. It probably would have to be largely a labor of love with the added penalty of being forced to leave the community as soon as the book got into circulation. The reward is not particularly appealing.

But someone should start assembling the material while there still are a few of the first settlers among us to furnish the information and if we do not weaken before the new year arrives (this was written way back in 1935) we may resolve to at least start gathering information and photographs for such a record as our major contribution to the community for the year 1936.

One very special resolve that we have definitely made is to reduce law violation in the city by observing the stop signs on Third Street. If we were to serve ten days in jail for every time we have driven thru these recently erected stop signs we wouldn't vote again until about 1960. It's goin to be extremely difficult to form new driving habits but we'll do it if we have to practice a solid week.

And so we look hopefully forward to the new year, expecting a few disappointments, especially around election time, but prepared to take the bad with the good as it comes. If the load gets too heavy we will get away in a corner all by ourselves and do our crying. Welcome 1936.

SENATOR TOM SCHALL

In the death of Senator Tom Schall the country lost an interesting and colorful character. In estimating the value of his service as a public official there is room for a wide difference of opinion. But that he had both courage and ability in abundance, all will agree. As a debater he was a vicious adversary, inclined a little too much, perhaps, to the use of strong language and to questioning the motives of those who differed with him. All in all, however, he is to be greatly admired for the qualities which made it possible for him to be politically successful in spite of the handicap of blindness. The record of his career will be an interesting chapter in the history of the state of Minnesota.

FIFTY-NINE PERMITS

A total of fifty-nine building permits issued during the year indicates that Thief River Falls enjoyed a healthy development during 1935. Eleven new dwellings and a dozen major improvements in the business section, along with much remodeling and modernization, give a nice total to the year's building activities. Considering the fact that the figures of the city clerk do not include such projects as the new post office building, the east side boulevard development and the skating rink now getting under way, 1935 will hold its own in the city's record of the depression years. Including the diesel engine installation by the city, the developments will reach a figure well above the three hundred thousand dollar mark. And present prospects for 1936 building activities are not bad.

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY

We doubt that Governor Olson could have made a more suitable selection from within the ranks of his own party than Elmer Benson to fill the unexpired term of Senator Tom Schall. Magnus Johnson, having had some previous experience in both branches of Congress, would have qualified. Ted Arens of the Rural Credit Department would have been an excellent choice to represent Minnesota as a whole but probably does too much independent thinking to serve as the rubber stamp for a particular political group. Benson has many good qualities, chief of which is a likeable personality that will make him friends. Up to the present time he owes his political advancement to the faithful performance of his duties in the ranks. He has been a good soldier. As a field general his problems become entirely different. In the past he has been required to serve only one master. From now on he must please many. Fortune has favored him, a young man, with a remarkable opportunity. He occupies a position many able men have served a lifetime for without attaining. Now that he has it, it will be interesting to see what he does with it.

BECOMING INTERESTING

Governor Olson's appointment of Elmer Benson to the United States Senatorship resulted in a break within the Farmer-Labor party that was inevitable. For some time Benson has been recognized as Olson's choice for the governorship when he goes to Washington. Other party leaders, who have proven their vote-getting ability in previous campaigns and are now ambitious to move up to the governorship, resent Olson's effort to name his successor. In other words, Olson's right to dictatorship of the Farmer-Labor party, is going to meet with strong opposition within the ranks during the coming year. The 1936 political campaigns, both state and national, are already becoming interesting.

Three cheers and a couple of hurrahs for those who added so much to the Christmas atmosphere of the community by outdoor lighting effects at their homes and places of business. Their's was a nice contribution to the spirit of the season. By the samples they prepared for us it is possible to imagine what beautiful effects could be obtained if more people would participate. And according to the comments we have heard there will be a more general participation next year. The idea certainly deserves encouragement.

SOCIAL SECURITY COST

(The New York Times)

While the Federal tax on both workers and employers to provide for old-age pensions does not go into effect until 1937, the tax on payrolls to provide for unemployment insurance becomes effective a few weeks from now. In an article in the current Annalist, H. Maynard Rees has made an interesting calculation of what the total annual cost of social security is likely to be. In this calculation he includes the contributions of both workers and employers to old-age pensions, the railroad pension plan and unemployment insurance, and the expense which will fall upon the general taxpayer for interest on the insurance funds, for Federal and State old-age assistance and for other grants-in-aid. The totals he arrives at for a series of years runs as follows: 1936, $81,000,000; 1937, $1,526,000,000; 1938, $2,268,000,000; 1940, $3,008,000,000; 1949, $4,936,000,000. The figures for the years beyond 1949, he remarks, "become so fantastic as to appear, from our present standpoint, mere statistical abstractions." Relying upon the inevitability of revision before that time, he has deemed it best to cut off his calculations.

On the basis of these calculations, it will be seen that within five years the annual fiscal requirements of social security will be nearly equivalent to the present total of Federal receipts from all sources. In the fiscal year 1935 these amounted to $3,800,000,000. By 1949 the added burden of social security would greatly exceed that.

Of the estimated total of nearly $5,000,000,000 annually by 1949, more than $2,000,000,000 will be required for old-age pensions and more than $1,000,000,000 for old-age assistance. The old-age insurance plan in its present form is, from the economic standpoint, probably the most questionable part of the whole Social Security Act. This is the judgment not of the enemies of old-age insurance but of its friends. In his analysis in the current Harper's, Abraham Epstein, executive director of the American Association for Social Security, directs some of his sharpest criticism to the provisions of this section:

"The plan contemplates the building up of the most gigantic reserve, estimated to reach over $50,000,000,000 by 1980. The freezing of so much sorely needed purchasing power cannot but hamper recovery. The problem of investing such huge sums will prove insuperable. No one can guarantee that such fantastic governmental credits will ever be made good. * * * Large reserves are always in danger of being usurped by politicians for other purposes, as experience with other funds amply testifies. Should even a partial inflation wipe out some of these funds, no one can calculate the menace it will create."

These are not criticisms of the principle of unemployment or old-age insurance. They are criticisms of a hastily and badly drawn measure, never adequately debated. It is to be hoped that in the coming session that measure will be carefully revised, not with the purpose of repealing its broad intentions but with the purpose of making them workable. If this is not done, there is danger that by association with an ill-considered law the principle of unemployment and old-age insurance will itself fall into popular disrepute.

THE MAIN PURPOSE

(St. Paul Pioneer Press)

The most hopeful and promising development that has yet occurred in the Liggett murder case in Minneapolis is the Sunday sermon of Reverend George Mecklenberg. Such a crime as the shooting of Walter Liggett could come only from an unbelievably arrogant and self-assured underworld of organized racketeering. And such an underworld cannot exist in any city of the United States except with the sufferance and, usually, actual collusion, of the responsible law making and law enforcing authorities.

Even though the actual murderers of Liggett are found and punished, if that underworld is allowed to proceed just as before after the feeling aroused by the crime has subsided, it will be the underworld that has really triumphed. The murder of Liggett will have accomplished its object—the silencing of protest against corruption and evil of a criminal traffic. The only way the challenge from the underworld can be really answered is by cleaning up the conditions that produced such a crime.

Many condone the crime who condone the system [illegible] ignorance, and others in deliberate awareness that a city which tolerates its underworld [illegible]. Not so Rev. Mr. Mecklenberg, [illegible] on the crusade for which Liggett was murdered [illegible], proves that there is still a voice for real reform.

It behooves the state officials, who have been called into this case to clear up the murder, not only in the sense that the assassins are found and punished, but so that nothing like it can happen again. But no official zeal for a real housecleaning is in evidence. The greater energy and ingenuity seems to be employed in preparing alibis on which to fall back in case these particular murderers are not caught. It is only Rev. Mr. Mecklenberg who is keeping his eye on the main purpose.

Christmas Eve Alliance Made Two Hearts Happier

THE wind howled dismally, and Oscar Huggins, looking out at the whirling snow, put up the shutters. Put them up right, too, as the little grocery would be closed tomorrow. Dimly, he wondered how to spend Christmas.

He checked over his stock, nibbled a bit of cheese, and opened the back door to throw out a rotting apple.

In the snow stood a boy. The lad dove for the apple, polishing and handling it as something precious.

"Here!" said Oscar roughly. "I thought you threw it away," he answered, "and see, it's pretty good."

"Humph," said Oscar. "All right, keep it. But, mind, you've no business loitering here. You should be home in this weather, and on Christmas eve, of all times." The lad shifted uneasily but did not leave. "Well!" Oscar demanded.

"I was looking for work, sir."

Oscar looked at him sharply. "Out on your own, son?"

"Yes, sir."

"Where are your folks?"

His tale of bereavement, struggle and loneliness was brief but impressive.

"How'd you like to spend Christmas with me?" the grocer offered. Funny, this life. A bit ago he had almost wished he wouldn't closing tomorrow—now it seemed jolly.

"Gee!" exclaimed his new friend. "Swell!"

They packed a market basket to overflowing. But Oscar turned back. "Wait a minute." He selected his best candies and found a bit of red string.

"If I keep him to help in the store he'll probably eat it anyway," he consoled, "might as well show him a Merry Christmas."—Helen Gaylord.

Letters should be of reasonable length, and the name should be signed, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Letters duplicated to other local newspapers are not desired.

Editor Times:

The sportsmen, game organizations and resort owners thruout Northern Minnesota have at last put on their fighting armor, and are battling the conservation department's latest move in removing alleged surplus deer from the Itasca State Park and the building of cabins for rent to tourists who visit our lakes and enjoy our outdoor sports.

They are absolutely right in their contentions and should not give in until the policies advocated by the conservation department are recalled, or new men put in their place who understand the conditions and are heart and soul in the conservation movement and who appreciate the efforts, time, money and expense put in cabins and boats for the tourists by our resort owners.

There is no more reason to remove deer from the Itasca State Park and its area, than there is for placing a fifth wheel on the automobile. It is true that the deer in the surrounding country congregate in the park during the winter months because they seek the large timber and thick underbrush to protect themselves against the cold blasts of winter. These deer come from a large area from the country surrounding the park, where the country is more open because of cultivation or the timber has been removed, and thus do not give the deer the protection intended by nature, which they naturally seek—and find in the Itasca State Park.

Therefore, if any deer are removed from the park, they are taken from the country as a whole tributary to the park, and not from the park directly. In view of these facts, we protest the taking, or you may even say stealing of our deer, in any manner, be it by pot-hunters, politicians or conservation officials at any time or place. The men, women, farmers and sportsmen in this territory have fought for the protection of these deer for years against depredations by violators and uncalled for open hunting seasons. If the state officials remove deer from our territory against our good will and protests—what co-operation can they expect in the future?

The supposed deer surplus in the park can very easily be taken care of for the future, with many more included, if the conservation department officials will only listen to reason. We suggest that the men in the transient camp assisted by CCC boys, if necessary, be set to work early next spring to close cut small timber and brush out undergrowth from several tracts from 3 to 5 acres each thruout the park where clearing is fairly easy and the timber small. Take a tractor with a cut-a-way disk, and work up the soil into the best possible condition, then seed the same into alfalfa with a sprinkle of oats for a nurse crop. Cut this in the first part of August, put up in small stacks for hay, where the deer can feed, while the second growth will produce a heavy stand of alfalfa hay which the deer will browse upon and grow fat and the surplus deer question will be solved at the park, our deer protected, and everybody will be happy. We will preserve our good hunting for the future, and our tourists will have a chance to see the deer that some of them have traveled hundreds of miles to behold. It is one of the natural attractions at the park which we should cultivate, not destroy!

In order to make these alfalfa tracts attractive and lasting, they should be disked every spring when the plants begin to grow and cut over once every season with a mower in order to keep down the brush and hold down the weeds. We can prove the success of this plan to the officials at any time next spring, from personal experience and observations if our conservation officials wish to see and learn how this plan works out under actual practice, on our own farm, in a territory and surroundings almost typical of the natural conditions at the park.

We ask sportsmen and game organizations interested to consider the above plan that we may be in a position to do something for the protection of our deer, in place of always doing something to destroy the most wonderful and graceful game animal in America.

In the meantime the conservation department this winter should buy a few tons of hay, and place the same where the deer can reach it and all will be well, because if the plan above outlined is followed up, we will have feed enough in the park next winter to feed twice the number of deer there at present. In the spring the deer will begin their migrations into the surrounding territories and deer will be found everywhere and in the fall hunting will be better than ever, providing we don't lose our heads and ship our deer into new and strange habitats in the middle of winter where they will fall easy prey to pot hunters and irresponsibles.

Observations on Trip to California

By Joel E. Shoberg

Following is another in the series of articles by Joel E. Shoberg, Rosewood correspondent of the Times.

We came to Wausau, Nebraska on a Wednesday evening, the wind from northwest, thermometer rapidly falling and some snow was coming down. However at the friendly farm home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Anderson, parents of Rev. C. E. Anderson of the Mission church back home, we found a welcome haven against both cold and snow.

At Columbus, Neb. we made a brief call on Leonard Knadle, a son to the man with the same name who acts in the capacity of policeman at Thief River Falls. Out here Len holds down the job as manager of the local Woolworth store and seemed happy and interested in his work. He was glad to see us boys and sent newspaper greetings to his folks and friends back home.

Central and western Nebraska is a different farming country than we are used to in Minnesota. When farmers here plant alfalfa for hay they don't mean maybe. As close as we could judge they had one stack of hay to about every acre of ground, and cut their alfalfa during favorable seasons four times during the summer. Dairying appeared to be practiced on a very large scale. Further west in the state where hills and plains abound herding is general and we saw many Angus and Hereford herds that numbered in the thousands.

Here is the end of the small farms and farming for many hundred miles west and no exact farming conditions like those practiced in the central states are duplicated before we reach certain sections of California. The typical small town and railroad station now gets farther and farther between, but the telephone lines still follow us, but seem to be more concentrated, one set of poles often carries up to 60 wires. The hills here are very beautiful and as the sun shines on the frozen grass it has the appearance of silver. There is not a sign of plowed fields, but there is still some hay put up and this is done with stackers and sweep rakes like at home, and not like in southern Minnesota and south Dakota where the hay loader is very popular, and the cured hay is hauled direct into the barns.

In Nebraska the grain elevators are round and made from cement like some Minnesota silos. As it is far between stations, stock yards are often built in the open with a spur for loading stock direct from the large ranches. The road and the railroads follow each other side by side thru most western states, and the railroad mostly has double track. The railroads are very busy here, and the trains travel very fast. Even freight trains will overtake and pass a car traveling at 40 miles.

As we come into Wyoming the scenes and landscape become even more desolate and gloomy, and we start to gradually climb the mountains. The telephone service comes to an end, and at cross roads far apart we are informed by large posters that it is so and so many miles to the nearest telephone, a doctor, hospital or garage service. We are cautioned to look over our water, gasoline and oil supply, and have the car in good condition for the mountain climb. The mountains now rising in the west of us and on mountain time the sun sets at about 4:30 P. M. As we drove along nearing dusk we saw a dead wolf laying in the middle of the road, evidently killed by some motorist the night before and had been left lying there during the day.

Dogs may come and dogs may go but the breed which has maintained its popularity with the greatest consistency is the Boston terrier. It is the only breed which originated in this country and there are more here than in any other country in the world. There are more registered and shown at dog shows and more sold than any other type.

NOTED SPEAKERS AT WINTER SHOWS FEBRUARY 3 TO 7

Upton Close, Authority on Far East, to Speak at Crookston

Upton Close of New York, who is recognized as an international authority on the Far East, will head an outstanding group of speakers who will appear throughout the week of the Red River Valley Winter Shows, February 3 to 7. He will discuss "The World Parade and Our Place in It." His discussion will, therefore, include a background of world conditions with emphasis on the present unrest in Japan, Asia and Europe.

Other subjects of vital importance to the farmers and townspeople of this area will be discussed by national authorities each day during the week. Dean W. C. Coffey and Professor Henry Schmitz of the University Forestry Department will appear on both the men's and women's programs. Other addresses will be delivered by Dr. E. C. Stakman and Dr. H. K. Hayes who were jointly responsible for the development of Thatcher wheat; W. H. Peters, Chief of the Animal Husbandry department, University Farm; A. G. Tolaas, in charge of potato certification work; Miss Gratia Countryman, Minneapolis city librarian, who will discuss "A Librarian's Trip to Spain" and "Expansion of Library Facilities"; A. M. Foker, "Repair and Maintenance of Farm Buildings," and others.

On Monday evening, February 3, a banquet will be held in honor of the school of agriculture, agricultural high school, farmers' club and 4-H club livestock and farm crops judging teams. Upton Close is scheduled to address the mass meeting Wednesday evening, while the Northwestern Minnesota singers will appear Friday evening. Speakers for the Tuesday and Wednesday evening mass meetings will be announced shortly.

All valleywide agricultural organizations are also arranging special meetings and banquets during the week.

Punishment for Crimes

Crimes vary greatly in kind and penalty throughout the world. England imposes a 20 year sentence for carrying a revolver without a permit, India gives 25 years for killing a cow and China inflicts the death penalty for chopping down a camphor tree.—Collier's Weekly.

Length of February

When January and February were added to the calendar by Numa Pompilius in 713 B. C., February was given 29 days. This was continued by Julius Caesar in his revision of 46 B. C., but an extra day was added every fourth year and as this was placed in February, in those leap years February had 30 days. When Augustus Caesar changed the name of the month Sextilis to his own, as Julius had done with Quintilis, he took one day from February, so that August should have 31 days like July. Since then the present length of February has prevailed.

FROM MINUTE TO MINUTE

By MARTHA THOMAS

"ONE minute," said Corinne, "it's today. And the next—it's tomorrow."

"And one minute," replied Bruce, "it's this year—and the next it's tomorrow-year."

She smiled at him, a little dark thing in filmy clouds of white. They circled the ballroom once more.

"And one minute," said Bruce with a deep rumble he tried to keep from sounding tender, lest someone overhear, "you're Miss Corinne Mumford, and the next," he whirled her off into a quieter corner, "you're Mrs. Bruce MacQueen!"

"Indeed . . . as quickly as that?" She smiled again but her cool voice trembled.

"Do I gather," her flushes fell on her cheeks, "that this is in the way of a proposal of marriage?"

"Bright girl! On New Year's eve I demand a new wife . . . a new life . . . and happiness ever afterward."

"How modest," she murmured, "you are."

"Speak . . . I promise me before the bells ring out! Minutes fly . . . into hours, days . . . months and years! Promise me!" Now he held her close, his breath fanned her hair. "They pile up and pile up . . . and then life goes on . . . and we're old. Minute after minute . . . promise!"

The violins seemed to beseech her; they cried out at her in lovely golden voices. One minute is today . . . the next is tomorrow! They danced and danced. One minute Miss Corinne Mumford . . . the next Mrs. Bruce MacQueen.

". . . and We're Old. Minute After Minute . . . Promise!"

In her clouds of filmy white, whirling and whirling in her partner's arms, she tried to think. Was it the ball . . . the glitter and life and beauty of a big party? The joy of dancing as if her feet were shod with wings? The delight of hearing Bruce's voice begging her . . . talking to her, holding her in his gentle grasp? Did she love him? Did he love her?

Around and around — whirl, whirl! Perhaps one did not have to decide. Perhaps, as one minute slid silently into the next . . . one knew!

"I'm going away tomorrow," said Bruce, "to South America. A big chance."

"Oh," she gasped, "you did not tell me!"

"I only heard today!"

He was going away . . . when today was tomorrow, he would be gone. A little pain climbed from her heart to her throat. She lifted her chin and looked up.

His glance, sober and dark and shining, plunged into her eyes. She quivered.

He began to sing with the music, but words of his own. "The boat sails on . . . and the wind blows south . . . I'll never come home again."

The music stopped. A hush fell on the huge ball room. Then the first slow peal of a bell sounded high in the air.

"Tell me . . . speak with the bells . . . on New Year's eve, Corinne!"

She turned her face away. She knew.

So, joining her small human voice with the clangor overhead, she said —"One minute Corinne Mumford . . . the next, Mrs. Bruce MacQueen."

And midnight passed into the New Year.

Popcorn Presents

Apples, jelly or canned fruit, and even big cherry homemade wreaths done up "Christmasy" make practical presents; but the gayest and most welcome of the off-the-farm-and-on-to-the-city presents seem to be pop corn and hickory nuts. With a basket of pop corn and a box of hickory nuts all kinds of Christmas boxes are suitable for every one from grandfather and grandmother who lived on a farm and picked up chestnuts when they were young, all the way down to the littlest boy cousin, who's inordinately fond of candy.

INTERMEDIATES IN 2 PRE-SEASON HOCKEY CONTESTS

Lineup of Teams Announced as Schedule Opens Friday

Two close pre-schedule hockey games were played during the past week in the intermediate league. Team No. 2 won over No. 1 by a 3 to 2 score Friday evening, and Nos. 2 and 3 played to a 2-2 tie Monday evening.

Some slight changes to balance the teams will be made, and the first regular league game will be played Friday evening of this week. Games will be played regularly Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings during the season.

Following is the lineup of the teams:

No. 1: Goalie, Don Houfek; defense, J. Cosgrove, D. McFarland, K. Sorenson; forwards, V. Williams, W. Craik, J. Booren, J. Jaranson, K. Jaranson, P. Froseth.

No. 2: Goalie, Robert Wesling; defense, L. Lund, Ed. Snelling, R. Moline; forwards, Bud Rolland, R. Parbst, E. Tungseth, L. Anderson, N. Mullin, R. Dicken.

No. 3: Goalie, Ray Olson; defense, J. Mattson, W. Tripp, Gene Nelson; forwards, Ray Bredeson, J. Nesse, D. Hess, D. Lorentson, Robert Quale, W. Tunberg.

Alex Campbell, chairman of the Legion rink committee, announced today that the sale of season tickets has been progressing slowly, about one-half of the season's budget of $200 having been obtained to date thru the sale of tickets.

Judge Nye Leaves Estate Appraised at $180,000

The late Judge Carroll A. Nye of Moorhead left an estate valued at $180,000, according to a will filed in Clay county probate court. Harriet R. Nye, his widow, and James Gordon Nye, Duluth, a son, were appointed administrators. Mrs. Nye receives the statutory one-third; the son receives a third of the remainder including the judge's law library and office furnishings, while another son, Carroll A. Nye Jr., gets the rest.

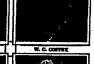
A. M. HANSEN



W. C. COFFEY

F. W. PECK

J. R. BATCHELOR

Prominent among the speakers for the 1936 Farm and Home Week at University Farm, St. Paul, January 6-11, will be the four men pictured above. W. C. Coffey is dean and director of the University Department of Agriculture; Alvin H. Hansen is professor of economics, University of Minnesota; F. W. Peck is Cooperative Bank Commissioner of the Farm Credit Administration and director-on-leave of the Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service; J. R. Batchelor is field representative of the National Recreation Association, Chicago, Ill. A nationally known expert on dramatics and music, Mr. Batchelor will assist with these subjects on the special conference in community leadership, 4-H leadership, and rural youth affairs.

Republicans to Meet at Bemidji Tuesday

Plans for a Republican dinner gathering to be held at the Odd Fellows hall in Bemidji Tuesday evening, January 7, were announced last week by the Beltrami County Republican committee. Martin A. Nelson, Republican candidate for governor in 1934; Oscar Youngdahl, former state commander of the American Legion; L. Ilenshoof, editor of Detroit Lakes; and Leroy E. Matson, secretary of the Republican State Central committee, will be the principal speakers.

Local Bowling Quint Makes New High Mark in Crookston Tourney

Hitting the pins for the high total of 2,881, the local Borchert & Johnson bowling team at Crookston Sunday defeated the Bell Telephone team which tallied 2,637. Starring for the locals were Wallace DuChamp with a three-game score of 614; Langseth, 596; and Oscar Cerny, 596. In the third game the local five-man team averaged slightly better than 199 points each, an exceptionally high average. Bowling last Friday evening on the Thief River Falls alleys, the Borchert & Johnsons took two out of three games from the Crookston Kiewels, high scores being made by DuChamp, 213, and Dr. C. L. Oppegaard, 187. Play in the local league will be resumed next Monday evening.

Funeral Services Held for Mrs. Sophie Barnes

Funeral rites were held Tuesday at the Larson Funeral home chapel for Mrs. Sophie Barnes who died Dec. 28 at Ottertail, Rev. R. M. Fjelstad officiating at the service. Interment was made at Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Barnes was born in 1889 at Hazel, moving to McMinnville, Ore in 1918. In 1926 she moved to Frazee where she was married to Harry Barnes and where she had since made her home.

Surviving are her husband, two children, Phyllis and Marcella, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Torkelson of Hazel, five sisters and two brothers, Pauline, Theda and Ruth of Minot, Bessie of St. Paul, Thelma Anton and Melvin at Hazel.

Elmer Berling Fined When Car Hits Train

Appearing before Judge Lincoln Arnold in municipal court Saturday, Elmer Berling was fined $10 and costs on a charge of reckless driving. His arrest was the outgrowth of a mishap Christmas Eve in which a car driven by Berling ran into the side of a freight train that had stopped on the Bridge st. crossing.

ROGER BABSON GIVES FORECAST OF COMING TRENDS OF BUSINESS

passed. The Townsend movement is gaining strength daily but what it can accomplish at Washington this year is a question mark. Congress may steal some of the Townsendites thunder by upping the per capita payments under the new Social Security Act. If the Supreme Court okays the Guffey Coal Act, similar measures covering other industries may be passed. Fundamentally, this will be a typical election-year Congress with plenty of bombast and little constructive action.

Spending Peak Passed?

The real light will come on the spending issue. Mr. Roosevelt realizes that his fiscal record as President makes his 1932 campaign speeches on "economy at Washington" sound silly, so he will restrain Congress as much as he can. It looks as though the peak of the money-scattering wave had passed for the time being, but the budget is far from being balanced. There will be at least a $2,000,000,000 spread between income and expenses in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1937. Because of the elections, there is little to fear from heavy new taxes this year unless the Supreme Court throws the AAA processing levies into the ash-can along with the NRA codes. In that event substitute excises might be enacted.

Regardless of what the Court decides on this vital corner-stone of the New Deal, some farm prices are likely to back off during 1936. I have in mind hogs and their by-products. The cycle of livestock production is once again upward and quotations in this particular group will probably soften during the year. The same comments apply to the dairy industry and to field crops; although, with the weather such an unknown factor, it is poor policy to make any dogmatic forecasts at this season. As for cotton, I believe we are due to recapture a good portion of the exports lost during 1934 and 1935 so that prospects favor moderately higher prices for this vital southern crop.

Higher Wholesale Prices

Industrial commodity prices should resume the rising trend which was interrupted when the NRA began to crack up. They will be sufficiently inflated to boost the Department of Labor wholesale price index between 5 and 10 per cent. Sharp advances from now on depend to a large extent upon the type of business revival which we experience. Continuation of the normal, healthy revival which we are now enjoying would bring about only moderate mark-ups. If, on the other hand, we should go on another spending jamboree and credit inflation should get under full steam, prices would mount rapidly. The latter is now unlikely for the New Dealers will do all they can to prevent any sudden price rise before election-time.

This should be good news to those consumers who have felt the pinch of slowly rising living costs. Right now food prices are close to the highest level in five and a half years, but they are nearing their peak for the time being. Next December the average householder's running expenses will total 5 per cent larger than today but his food bills are unlikely to be any higher than right now—they may even be less. The rise will probably come in clothing (5 per cent), rent (5 per cent), and furnishings (5 per cent). Monthly electricity and gas statements will be slightly lower, but fuel bills (coal, coke, and oil) will be more burdensome.

"Help Wanted"

I have already given my opinion on the outlook for the heavy industries where unemployment has been so severe. With these businesses getting back on their feet, the number of people returning to work will be one of the highlights later on in the year. Sharp gains in demand for durable goods during recent months is a valid reason for not expecting too big a percentage rise in employment early in the New Year. However, as volume picks up in these lines, activity will be stimulated in hundreds of other industries. The concrete result will be more jobs, fatter pay envelopes, and higher wage rates by next December.

The news in 1936 will probably headline more strikes than during the period just closed. However, lacking any stiff increase in living costs, and no real shortage of unskilled labor as yet, I have no fears of prolonged tie-ups in any major industry next year. By next Christmas, industrial employment and factory payrolls should stand at a new peak for the recovery period—roughly 10 per cent above the 1935 level. One feature of coming twelve months from a labor standpoint will be the demand for, and premiums commanded by, skilled workers. All factors point to marked improvement in purchasing power in industrial areas.

Further Farm Recovery

Buying power in farm sections will also be higher—probably from 5 to 15 per cent. No matter what the Supreme Court may decide on the AAA, benefit payments to farmers will continue at least until the snow flies. With more acreage planted and a fourth year of drought unlikely, crops should be better. Larger harvests, multiplied by approximately the same prices, equal larger total income. Since the cost of the products which the farmer must buy will not be much higher, his profits in 1936 should continue the upward tendency which started several years ago. Farmers have now greatly reduced their debts, so their increased income will mean even more money for new purchases.

Merchants face the best trade outlook in five years. The combination of increased farm income, larger factory payrolls, and greater dividend payments should boost sales in most lines between 8 and 12 per cent above the 1935 average. Because wholesale prices are not slated for any sharp advance, retail price tags, which are now slightly above a year ago, will show no startling mark-ups during 1936. Instalment buying, aided by lower carrying charges, will be very brisk. Quality goods will move better than they have in recent years. One of the bright spots of the recent holiday season was the good call for luxury merchandise and this trend will be even more noticeable next year.

A Selling Year

If ever there was a time to get behind sales campaigns and drive them ahead, it is now. Sales managers and salesmen alike can expect fine rewards next year for people are in a buying mood. I advise fixing sales quotas 10 per cent as a minimum above the 1935 level. In some lines and territories calculations should be scaled upward even more because selling will be very profitable in 1936. Linage totals will continue the rise which began in 1933 and advertising managers should figure on at least a 10 per cent gain over the 1935 level. The best gains will be shown in the rural areas during the early months.

Farm regions appear to me as the best selling territories. They have been the most favorable sales for the past eighteen months. However, urban centers are due for a come-back and they may have the edge by next December. The best advice I can give is to spread your advertising risk geographically, keeping in mind that the Pacific Coast, the Rocky Mountain, the Middlewestern, and the Southern states will give you the best return as the year opens. Most important of all, be sure that your selling methods are in step with the times. New ideas, fresh copy, attractive displays—and delivery of the goods—decide whether or not you will maintain your trade position and whether the profits of your company will keep pace with the general improvement in earnings.

Bull Market Not Over

The huge increase in industrial profits and the steady advance in dividend payments have been very much in the 1935 spotlight. The same will be true in coming months. As a rough estimate, I should say that profits would swell by about 25 per cent. That is the principal reason why I am not worried over the sharp rise in prices since last March. My basic position on stocks is that a bull market began in July, 1932 and that the long-pull upward swing has not yet culminated. Despite any temporary unsettlement, the trend next year will be upward. As to the extent of the rise, it is impossible to make a definite forecast, although I would be surprised if it were less than 10 per cent.

Within this broad pattern there are a number of industries whose percentage gains will be better-than-average from here on. Those groups connected with the heavy industries, as distinguished from those doing a consumers' business, look best to me. Building companies will reflect the big improvement in construction activity. They will stimulate many other industries, particularly raw and fabricated metals such as the coppers and steel. Farm tool, industrial machinery and office equipment concerns face another year of recovery. Electrical equipment makers anticipate a better demand for their profitable heavy items. Automobile production will easily top this year's output of 4,135,000 cars, lifting accessory business along with it.

Utilities and Rails

Other groups do not have quite such an optimistic outlook, although only few lines will show losses. Mail order and chemical earnings will be satisfactory. The railroads will welcome heavier crop and durable goods tonnage but higher operating costs will prevent satisfactory earnings. Dairy, foods, grocery chains, meat packing, coal, and textiles will enjoy only moderate gains. On the other hand, the outlook for paper, oil and department store groups is promising. Despite political uncertainties the power industry has a great future. Taken as a whole, the stock outlook by industries is fundamentally sound.

For the past two years government and other high-grade bonds have enjoyed a bull market. Interest rates have tumbled to the lowest level on record and bank reserves have hit new highs. As recovery continues however, demand for money is sure to increase. So gilt-edge securities have probably now reached a ceiling. The day is coming—probably not during 1936, however—when the price of high-grade bonds will decline as money rates advance. Medium and second-grade issues—more dependent upon business profits—are still on the up-grade. Investors should continue to own a back-log of good bonds for the foreign outlook is spotty and there may be renewed deflation abroad with its repercussions here.

Canadian Treaty Hopeful

The foregin problem has troubled me greatly for the past two years. I cannot picture any extended period of domestic prosperity unless there is a general recovery overseas. The core of the trouble has been a mad desire for self-sufficiency and the erection of impassable trade barriers. The recent United States-Canadian reciprocal trade pact, however, is significant. It marks the first real move toward trade restoration in a decade. I believe it will aid the business of both nations to a marked degree next year. In fact, I look for an increase of 10 to 20 per cent in foreign trade in 1936 with the gains well distributed on both the import and export sides of the ledger.

The outlook for various world markets is mixed. Japan, now paving the way for control of the Pacific, will steal more of our Chinese trade. Our business in Europe will suffer from unsettled conditions there although the Italian-Ethiopian dispute will not lead to a major war in 1936. The economic crisis in France, Holland, and Switzerland will result in currency devaluation sooner or later—probably this year. This would break the path for international currency stabilization and improve the chances of a real business revival in all nations. At present writing, Latin America, South Africa, Canada, Australia, the near East and Scandinavia would seem to offer the best markets in early 1936.

Conclusion

So now in retrospect: This is the third December since recovery set in, but I can safely say that it is the first year-end when the majority of people admit that business has shown marked progress. Back in 1933 a consumer goods boom gave us the first boost from the depths—10 per cent; in 1934 we enjoyed another advance as the automobile industry pushed us upward 8 per cent; this past year, the heavy goods industries moved us ahead 9 per cent. Now, as we stand on the threshold of 1936 we are only 10 per cent below normal. The tide of recovery is running strong and I look forward with confidence to progress in the big majority of industries this coming year. Hence, I predict that when the curtain falls on 1936 the great depression of the thirties will be fading into memory!

Statewide Group to be Formed to Promote Ice Hockey in High Schools

A movement to revive and stimulate interest in ice hockey in high schools and colleges throughout Minnesota will be launched this month by a committee of coaches and athletic directors in the state, according to Louis F. Keller, associate professor of physical education at the University of Minnesota, who is secretary of the committee on ice hockey of the national collegiate athletic association.

The plan was outlined at a recent meeting of the coaches on the university campus and will be further elaborated at a meeting to be called sometime in January. Tentative plans call for the formation of a state-wide organization whose function it would be to promote hockey in the colleges and schools.

Representatives of all colleges and secondary schools in Minnesota will be invited to attend the January meeting for the purpose of organizing the group to be known as the Northwest School Hockey association. Professor Keller is at present conducting a survey to determine the number of institutions having hockey teams or facilities for organizing teams.

Pointing to the numerous hockey associations and teams in the New England states and other northern sections of the country as examples of what a local association could accomplish, Professor Keller stressed the need for such a group in Minnesota.

"Hockey is a natural sport for this area, but heretofore it has not received the proper attention because of the lack of organization," he pointed out. "Minnesota winters provide facilities equal to those anywhere in the country. The ice game deserves the whole hearted support from the physical education departments and the athletically minded people of the Northwest."

57,500 EMPLOYED IN STATE ON WPA WORK PROJECTS

17,300 in Minnesota CCC Camps, Christgau Reports

A city larger than St. Paul would spring up in Minnesota if work relief employes of federal agencies operating in the state resided in one community.

This observation is based on figures which show approximately 65,620 families in St. Paul as compared with the latest available data on work relief employment from the office of Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator.

Carrying the bulk of the load as the federal agency to which was delegated the responsibility of setting up a work program which would hasten the transfer of persons from relief rolls to jobs in the least possible time, the Works Progress administration today has 57,500 employes.

Employment figures for the other federal agencies included: 3,037 employed by the department of agriculture, department of navy, department of treasury, department of war and veterans administration;

17,300 in the 87 civilian conservation camps—a figure which includes 15,120 "juniors" between the ages of 17 and 28, 1,051 veterans and 1,130 "local experience" men; 1,300 on Public Works Administration projects; 11,000 youths given part-time jobs by the National Youth administration to aid students in financing their way through high schools and colleges to supplement earnings in high budget families.

Beginning the work of setting up his state-wide organization late in July, Mr. Christgau as WPA administrator and coordinator of activities of all federal agencies operating in the state, divided Minnesota into nine districts. The first step in the program was securing the applications of communities throughout the state for worthwhile and, insofar as possible, permanent public improvements. When the September 12 deadline set by Washington for submittal of work proposals was reached, Mr. Christgau had approved and sent to Washington more than 4,000 work proposals to cost more than $132,000,000.

Actual work on WPA projects in the state began four days later, September 16, when 1,500 St. Paul men received jobs. At present WPA employes in St. Paul and Ramsey county total 9,230.

Current WPA employment figures for other districts in the state are: Duluth district 10,447, Brainerd district 5,671, Rochester district 5,674, Minneapolis district 13,634, St. Cloud district 4,229, Detroit Lakes district 4,540, Morris district 6,163 and New Ulm district 2,878.

Pedestrians Require Regulation, Too, Says Chrysler Co. Official

"Intelligent regulation of pedestrian traffic and the education of the individual pedestrian to protect himself and give the motorist a fair chance will greatly reduce the accident toll that is costing America so many lives every year," says J. W. Frazer, vice-president of the Chrysler Sales Division of the Chrysler Corporation.

"Legislation has been almost entirely at the motorist, the pedestrian has been permitted to be as careless and unreasonable as he pleases. Lately, however, in a number of cities, laws and ordinances have been passed that compel the pedestrian to regard certain fundamental simple rules that make for his own safety. Jay-walking is prohibited by a fine in some places. In others, crossing a street at any other point than an intersection is illegal, as is walking against a green light.

"I think that one of the fundamental troubles is a wrong conception on the pedestrian's part of his rights as opposed to those of the motorist. There seems to be an idea that the man on foot has more rights than the man at the wheel. This is untrue. Their rights are exactly the same. The highway belongs to the motorist as much as to the pedestrian. The very fact that a man is driving proves he is paying heavy taxes to support the highway, or at least the vehicle that he is driving pays these taxes. I think the idea that a pedestrian always has the right of way is a holdover from the days when the automobile was a rich man's toy and the fellow who didn't have one was jealous of a possible infringement on his rights by someone who had more money. Today, however, the motor car is no longer a luxury but an essential part of civilization. Obviously cars are driven by more poor folks than rich ones.

State Wolf Bounties of $32,804 Paid This Year

A total of 1,810 full grown wolves and 831 wolf cubs brought state bounties of $32,804 during 1935, A. C. Hanson, director of the division of game and fish, announced last week. Full grown wolves bring $15 each, while $4 each is paid for cubs. The figure shows an increase of approximately $12,000 over 1934, when $20,828 was paid in bounties by the state. According to Gustav Swanson, biologist of the division of game and fish, the increase is due to a larger number of wolves rather than to increased activity on the part of trappers.

TRAFFIC DEATHS IN STATE NUMBER 550 TO DECEMBER

11,000 Injured in Mishaps in 11 Months, Patrol Chief Says

Eleven thousand injured, and 550 killed, reddened Minnesota's traffic calendar for 11 months of 1935, a report of John P. Arnoldy, state highway patrol chief, disclosed Saturday.

The toll through November, Arnoldy told the Minnesota Sheriff's association, emphasizes need for strict enforcement of traffic laws—jailing of speeders—and education of drivers.

Of those killed, 200 were pedestrians, Arnoldy said, and the injured included 2,260 pedestrians. Highway patrolmen, he said, arrested 5,222 persons, and the cases of only four were dismissed in court. The figures applied to the state outside of the Twin Cities and Duluth.

All 81 motorists arrested for speeding, 128 for drunken driving and 610 for careless driving were convicted, Arnoldy said.

ZIMMERMAN ASKS LONGTIME RELIEF PROGRAM IN STATE

Administrator Says Problem Will Confront State for Many Years

Minnesota will have a relief problem for many years to come and the state should start now to study plans for a permanent relief organization and program, L. P. Zimmerman, SERA administrator, has notified the special session of the state legislature.

Mr. Zimmerman asked the legislature to authorize the state executive council to conduct a statewide survey to ascertain definitely the relief needs for a period of years and to appropriate not less than $100,000 to make the survey possible.

"Such a survey should be conducted in each of the state's 87 counties," Mr. Zimmerman said. "It should obtain first hand information regarding land condition, industries, maximum and minimum possible employment, and the maximum ability of each county to provide for its relief needs.

"The survey should include a definite examination of persons who are receiving relief, who are unemployables and who may be classified as institutional cases, the prevailing social standards in each instance and the relationship between dependency and neglect and other social problems.

"The survey should include a definite chart and plan for a permanent organization to deal with all public welfare programs in the state; a plan for efficient administration and for definite allocation of responsibilities in connection with all welfare work."

"Long-time relief programs are now being studied in many states and the proposed survey in Minnesota undoubtedly would lead to adoption of a comprehensive, intelligent and constructive program on a long-time basis and would materially assist in meeting Minnesota's relief problem which appears to be a permanent one," Mr. Zimmerman said.

RARE BIRD CALLS CAUGHT ON FILMS

Calls of almost extinct American bird species have been recorded for posterity by Prof. A. A. Allen of Cornell university, director of a joint expedition of Cornell university and the American Museum of Natural History of New York city.

Altogether, the party brought back ten miles of film record and sound recording. The call of the rare ivory-billed woodpecker, the trumpeter swan, the wild turkey, the limpkin, sandhill crane, bald and golden eagle and prairie falcon are among the rare bird voices now recorded.

The party encountered many difficulties. A Carolina wren built its nest in the sound truck in Florida; a golden eagle tried to swallow the microphone in Colorado, and when a film was tested, a mocking bird recognized the call of a rival and attempted to break through the window and get into the room.

Among the extraordinary accomplishments was placing the microphone within two inches of the beak of the rare water ouzel, and securing its call above the noise of the waterfall where it lived. The dance of the lesser prairie chicken was caught, and the sound of its feet on the ground is distinguishable above a background of other noises.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Working

Steamboats on Red Lake River

On lazy summer days in 18[illegible] steamboats cut the waters of the Red Lake river, plying between Thief River Falls and the Red Lake Indian agency. Towns along the river were served by these boats and the traffic was an important factor in the social and industrial life of the region involved.

That was 47 years ago. Life was more simple then in this part of the country. Lumbering was in its heyday and railroads were few in northern Minnesota. In truth, this area was just being opened to development then. That is, the Thief River Falls vicinity was settled but outlying districts were still waiting to be claimed.

Well, into this picture stepped several men now active in the present day affairs of the region. Two of them, known to the writer are H. L. Carpenter, Crookston real estate dealer and president of the Crookston Association of Public Affairs, and John N. Kirsch of Los Angeles, Calif., a pioneer of northwestern Minnesota. Naturally, in the development days surveying was an initial activity and these two men were members of surveying crews.

Mr. Carpenter has promised to tell the writer about his experiences with surveying parties in the neighborhood of Thief River Falls and other parts of Pennington county, and Mr. Kirsch has written some interesting reminiscences.

"On a part of the Red Lake reservation being made ready for settlement," Mr. Kirsch wrote, "operations were carried on between St. Hilaire and Red Lake and between Red Lake and Clearwater rivers. The members of the surveying crew were: William Arnold, Nels Trand and John Kirsch, chainmen, and Butch Valcitus, teamster and cook. The land had been surveyed the previous year and a subdividing or fraction was the custom.

"The latter part of March was chosen because the terrain was low and flat and the engineer wanted to get on location before the frost had left the ground. With a well equipped outfit, including a 10 by 12 tent, sheet iron camp stove, bedding, high boots and an old awning for the horses' shelter the party left Crookston and camped at St. Hilaire the first night.

"Next day after crossing the Red Lake river at St. Hilaire we were on the reservation. Twelve miles east of St. Hilaire, on section 21, township 1[illegible], range 42, our first camp was made in a poplar clearing; we had slashed [illegible] for our bed [illegible] with swamp grass, an old buffalo robe and a moose hide.

"We were busy in the selection of our camp in the first [illegible] inches of snow fell, followed by a howling two-day blizzard which ended with a spell of [illegible] weather. We were marooned for a week but there was plenty of wood and the little stove kept the tent warm. Game was plentiful and sought shelter [illegible] which enabled us to have plenty of fresh meat. I did the baking and cooking. After the first day, in the [illegible] I discovered that Dutch was ignorant of the rudiments of cooking and I purposely developed an infected [illegible].

"The first few days the field work could be done on the ice but trouble developed when ice held [illegible] places and in others [illegible] as through. The lakes were full of water and over half the area was swamp. When a body of water too deep for wading was encountered the chainman would deploy right or left to a crossing and chain back to the original line. The work did not require covering all the ground. The engineer did most of the checking with pencil and paper in camp.

"Other camps were made on section 12, township 1[illegible], range [illegible] and section 19, township 1[illegible], range 40, and the weather in April was pleasant in spite of [illegible] until the mosquitoes came. The country teemed with wild fowl, rabbits and deer. Wolves [illegible] at night [illegible] [illegible] through the agency of the steamboats that plied between Thief River Falls and the Red Lake agency.

"The soil was sandy, the country did not look inviting and I did not recommend it to any of my friends. However, it all was quickly settled and has proved a good cattle and dairy district. We broke camp late in April on a Wednesday and before daylight Nels and I started on foot in a bee line for St. Hilaire, 25 miles away. We arrived there at 3:45 P. M., too late to catch the train for Crookston. As it only ran tri-weekly, we hiked the 25 miles to Crookston the next day." We hope to be able to present Mr. Carpenter's reminiscences soon.

PROPERTY TAX BILL IN COUNTY LESS THIS YEAR

Total Shrinks $8,000 as Result of Reductions by Local Units

TOTAL OF $325,701 IS LEVIED FOR 1935

Senstad Reports Total Assessed Valuations of $3,540,602

While increases are registered in taxes payable in Pennington county in 1936 for state, county and township purposes, an offsetting reduction in levies for city, village and school district purposes is sufficient to result in a net reduction of nearly $8,000 in total property taxes levied against county residents in 1935 and payable this year, it is revealed in an abstract of tax levies completed in the office of County Auditor A. M. Senstad.

The summary shows that property taxes levied in 1935 aggregate $325,701.70, compared to $333,520.03 levied the preceding year. In addition a total of $1,910.27 in moneys and credits taxes are payable this year, while the amount payable in 1935 was $1,467.60.

The total assessed valuation of property in the county is fixed in the summary at $3,540,602, including unplatted property valued at $1,986,458 or an average of $5.70 an acre; platted property in the villages and city of Thief River Falls, $1,151,569; and personal property valued at $402,575.

The property tax levies for 1934 and 1935 are divided in the following manner, the abstract shows:

	1935	1934
State purposes	$ 43,177.44	$ 37,622.86
State school	4,354.93	4,318.12
Teachers insurance	920.54	530.27
County purposes including ditch	139,058.08	131,264.93
City & Vill. purp	39,273.09	52,876.99
Township purposes	15,732.01	11,300.52
School districts	83,185.01	96,070.34
	$325,701.70	$333,520.03

CREDIT GROUP TO CONDUCT MEETING HERE JANUARY 21

Production Credit Association Will Meet at Court House

The Annual meeting of stockholders of the Thief River Falls Production Credit association will be held in the court rooms of the court house in this city at 10:00 A. M. Tuesday, January 21st.

The order of business will be the election of directors to fill vacancies of expired terms, an instructive talk by a representative from the Production Credit Corporation of St. Paul, report of the business of the association by the president, S. E. Hunt and the secretary, Robert J. Lund. Charts will be used to illustrate the business transacted by the Association this past year showing the financial statement as of December 31, 1935.

Notices to 315 stockholders are being mailed out this week. The general public is invited to attend and hear the discussions, particularly does the Association invite farmers who are interested in the credit being extended thru the facilities of Production Credit Associations.

The present directors and officers are as follows: S. E. Hunt, president; Louis A. Nelson, vice president; F. S. Erdmann, F. D. Voth, and V. C. Noper, directors; Robert J. Lund secretary-treasurer; and John Easthy, assistant secretary-treasurer.

The volume of loans on record as of the close of the year is over $91,000.00. The association serves the following counties, Red Lake, Pennington, Eastern Marshall, Roseau, Lake of the Woods and Northern Beltrami.

Renamed Board Head

PAUL ROY

Of St. Hilaire, who Tuesday was reelected chairman of the Pennington county board at its organization meeting.

SPEAKER JAN. 22 TO DISCUSS FARM OUTLOOK IN 1936

University Farm Economist to Address Meeting at Court House

Will prices of farm products be higher or lower in 1936 than in 1935? Which products are likely to enjoy the most favorable prices? Will 1936 farm incomes in Minnesota be above or below those for 1935? What factors and conditions will have deciding influences on farm incomes in Minnesota and Pennington county next year?

The foregoing questions will be discussed by J. B. McNulty, extension economist of University Farm, at a meeting to be held in Thief River Falls at the court house Wednesday, Jan. 22 at 2:00 o'clock, County agent R. M. Douglass announced today. Mr. McNulty will suggest things the individual farmer can do to increase his income during the coming year. He will show why, under identical conditions, some farmers make money while others go behind, in years when prices are good as well as when they are poor. Other questions that may affect farm incomes in Pennington county will be discussed.

A representative of the farm credit administration will explain the kinds of credit that can be obtained from the various loan agencies of the farm credit administration. The origin, the purpose, and the profitable use of the particular kinds of credit available to farmers, thru farm credit loan agencies, will be discussed. Some think the farm credit administration is loaning too much money; others think that it is not loaning enough to farmers. Who is right? Can farmers make a profitable use of credit in 1936? Will interest rates be likely to go higher or lower?

The foregoing are suggestive of the subjects that will be taken up. The entire program is free to anyone who wishes to attend.

Births in City in 1935 Lead 2 to 1 over Deaths, Official Records Show

As was the case in 1934 births last year in Thief River Falls continued to maintain a better than two-to-one ratio to deaths, it is revealed in records maintained by Dr. O. F. Mellby, city health officer, which show that 203 babies were born in the city in 1935, while deaths numbered 101. In 1934 there were 181 births and 89 deaths, while in 1933 177 births and 85 deaths were recorded. The distinction of being the first baby born in the city in 1935 goes to the infant daughter born New Years day in a local hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Mathew McKay.

U. S. SUPREME COURT UPSETS AAA PROGRAM

Court Overrules New Deal Farm Program by 6-3 Majority

3 JUSTICES DISSENT FROM THE MAJORITY

Future Plans of Administration in Doubt After Decision

The supreme court splintered AAA—second cornerstone of the New Deal—so completely Monday that previously-planned patch work was all but forgotten. An uncompromising 6-3 opinion not only wiped out President Roosevelt's cherished farm-aid program, but threw a shadow of doubt over other recent major legislation.

The treasury Monday night halted all processing tax collection under the law, and said that "for the present, no checks will be issued for benefit or rental payments, or refunds, or for administrative purposes." Treasury officials interpreted the order, issued after a three-hour conference with its counsel, as halting further salary checks to AAA's 6,500 full-time employes, as well as part-time workers throughout the nation.

Farmers have received $1,127,000,000 since 1933 for reducing crop production under AAA's plan of federal control.

The opinion of the court majority, read by Justice Roberts, was called a "political stump speech" by irate Senator Bankhead, whose cotton control act awaits a ruling by the justices on its validity.

Calling the decision "poor law", Bankhead said he had no doubt but that the court also would throw out the cotton act. There was similar fear for survival of the Kerr-Smith tobacco law, the potato control act, and similar farm measures, and Wagner labor disputes laws.

Justice Roberts held that AAA— as the agricultural adjustment act was called—invaded the "reserved rights of states" and was "beyond the power delegated to the federal government."

In a vehement dissent, Justices Stone, Brandeis and Cardozo declared that "courts are not the

GOPHER FOOTBALL STARS PLAY CAGE TILT HERE SUNDAY

To Meet Junior C. C. Team in Auditorium at 2:30 in Afternoon

Sheldon Beise, all American fullback and his famous Gopher Victory Five will make their first and only appearance in this section of the state when they appear at Thief River Falls next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 to play the Thief River Falls Junior Civic and Commerce team. The Gopher team has with Beise as its captain, Frank Dallera, George Rennix, Phil Bengston, All American tackle; and Bill Bevan, All American guard; all members of Minnesota's national championship football team of 1934 and '35. The players on this team are all known for their thrilling feats on the football field and are highly recommended as first class basketball players.

The J. C. & C. Team will be at full strength and will try to put a feather in their cap by defeating the famous Gophers. The local team has put in a week of strenuous practice and feel that they are in shape to show the fans a high grade brand of basketball.

The sponsors are offering as a special prize a football autographed by the members of the Gopher team to the person holding the lucky number which will be given away with each paid admission passing through the gate. This ball will be given away between the first and second halves.

An advance ticket sale will be sponsored by the members of the J. C. & C. and it is requested that all who plan to attend secure their tickets in advance from some member of the organization. The largest turnout of the season is expected for this game and the fans may rest assured that they will see a high grade brand of basketball.

WINTER CLASSES FOR FARM BOYS TO OPEN ON MONDAY

Harrison Announces Classes Two Days a Week for Five Weeks

A genuine opportunity for self-improvement and recreation will be offered to farm boys of the Thief River Falls community next Monday when a part-time school for boys between the ages of 14 and 25 will commence in the agricultural rooms in the Washington school building under the supervision of Harold F. Harrison, head of the Smith-Hughes department.

Classes will be conducted Mondays and Wednesdays from 10 to 12 and from 1 to 2 for a five-weeks period, there being no entrance requirements and no examinations, nor will credits be given. Mr. Harrison will teach classes in spelling, arithmetic, civil government and agricultural subjects, while C. W. Pope will give instruction in practical shop training, and Donald Chalmers will direct gymnasium work, including basketball and other games.

In order to make proper provision for those wishing to enter the school, Mr. Harrison today asked that boys advise him if possible before next Monday of their intention to participate. He added that the students may bring their lunches and that a place to eat will be provided.

Directors and Officers of Union State Bank Are Renamed at Annual Meet

Officers of the Union State bank were reelected for the coming year at the annual meeting held Tuesday. They include Theo Albrecht, president; H. A. Brumund and Leon J. Kaliher, vice presidents; and E. O. Peterson, cashier. Members of the board of directors were reelected, including the officers and H. E. Nelson. Other members of the staff include Laura Lund, assistant cashier; Archie Renaud and Reuben Johnson, tellers; and Verona Urdahl and Rose Sheady, bookkeepers. Mr. Kaliher said that deposits totaled $760,000 at the end of the year, with total resources of $860,000. The regular dividend was paid shortly before January 1.

C. V. Whitchurch Named President of the Thief River Falls Rifle Club

At the annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Rifle club Monday evening C. V. Whitchurch was elected president for the ensuing year, other officers named including Leonard Hansen, vice president; Alf J. Berry, secretary; Leon J. Kaliher, treasurer; and C. H. Jung, executive officer. Resolutions were adopted asking the state conservation commission to investigate the feasibility of the one-buck law with an open season each year, and asking permission for farmers and others to hunt and trap predatory animals in game reserves. Reports of the activities of the club for the past year were given, followed by a general discussion of the program for 1936.

Reemployment Office Work Concentrated in this City

Full-time offices of the National Reemployment service in this district are to be maintained only in Thief River Falls and Crookston, Dreng Bjornaraa, state director, announced while in the city Saturday. The local office will have charge of activities in Pennington, Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties, while the Crookston office will supervise work in Polk, Mahnomen and Norman counties. Mr. Bjornaraa stated that Ray Pope, formerly of this city, will be in charge at Crookston effective next Wednesday, January 15.

Elmer Stangheile, in charge of the office here, said that in the future interviews and registrations would be handled each morning between the hours of 9 and 12, and that each of the other counties served from this city would be visited one day each week, the schedule including Marshall county at Warren each Thursday morning from 8:30 to 11, and Red Lake county at Red Lake Falls each Wednesday afternoon from 1 to 4 o'clock.

Mr. Bjornaraa stated that the active files of men and women, as of December 31, including those now working on WPA projects, comprises 3,561 persons in the eight counties in this district, including 477 in Pennington, 291 in Red Lake, 408 in Marshall, 205 in Kittson, 298 in Roseau, 780 in Polk, [illegible] in Mahnomen and 402 in Norman. He added that approximately one-half of the applicants for work are relief clients.

ROY REELECTED HEAD OF COUNTY BOARD TUESDAY

Board to Adjourn Today after Busy Three-Day Session

TIMES DESIGNATED AS OFFICIAL PAPER

Substantial Reduction Made in County Debt During the Past Year

The Pennington county board, which opened its organization meeting at the court house Tuesday, had a busy session which was still in progress this morning, road matters remaining to be disposed of. Paul Roy, who has served efficiently during the past year in the capacity of board chairman, was re-elected to that post, and Commissioner O. M. Mandt was named vice chairman.

No changes in appointive officers or salaries under the jurisdiction of the board were made at the meeting. Reappointed were J. A. Erickson as county highway engineer; Dr. O. F. Mellby, county health officer; and E. H. Burstad, court house janitor. The county board of health will include Dr. Mellby and Commissioners Mulry and Bredeson while Mr. Mandt was named on the child welfare board.

The board accepted the low bid of the Times for the county printing. Its bid was on the basis of 15 cents a folio for the financial statement; 15 cents a folio for the official proceedings and 10 cents for subsequent insertions and 10 cents a description for the delinquent tax list. The bid of the St. Hilaire Spectator for the second publication of the financial statement also was accepted at 48 cents a folio and ten cents a folio additional for tabular matter.

The bid of the Forum was on the basis of 25 cent a folio and nine cents a folio additional for tabular matter for printing the financial statement and the official proceedings, with a charge of 10 cents a folio for subsequent insertions, and 12 cents a description for publishing the delinquent tax list.

Standing committees for the year appointed at the session include: Finance: Roy, Mulry and Senstad. Roads: Lee, Mandt and Roy. Poor: Mandt, Roy and Bredeson. Bridges and culverts: Bredeson and Mulry.

It was voted to hold the regular monthly meetings the first Tuesday after the first Monday in the month instead of the second Tuesday as at present in order to expedite the payment of current bills.

An appropriation of $125, the same as last year, was voted to the Red River Valley Winter Shows to be held in Crookston in February.

County Auditor Senstad submitted to the board figures from the financial statement, to be published shortly, showing a substantial reduction during the past year in the county's funded debt from $538,500 as of January 1, 1935, to $464,000 at the end of the year.

Northern State Bank Has $339,000 Deposits Dec. 31

Sheriff Rambeck Wins O'Hara Guessing Event

Sheriff Arthur Rambeck's guessing ability this week won for him a ton of coal offered by the O'Hara Fuel & Ice company to the person guessing the closest to the exact weight of a huge lump of coal on display in the company's office. Of a total of 247 estimates ranging from 120 to 1,000 pounds, Sheriff Rambeck guessed the exact weight, 328 pounds. The next closest guess was only a half-pound off.

200 Aged in County May Seek Pensions

Figures on Eligibility Under Proposed Law Cited by State ERA Head

Pennington county has 200 persons eligible for old age pensions under the new federal social security plan now before the special session of the state legislature, according to a survey by L. P. Zimmerman, SERA administrator.

In a report to the legislature Mr. Zimmerman pointed out that Pennington county is one of the counties paying old age pensions at the present time, and it has 35 persons more than 65 years old on relief, 9 between 60 and 65 years old on relief and 10 not receiving pensions who would be eligible for old age payments at the present time if relief were not available and county finances permitted the payments.

The total population of Pennington county, based on the 1930 U. S. census is 10,487, with 738 individuals or 7 percent of the total population more than 65 years old. On this basis 27.1 percent of all persons more than 65 years old in the county would be eligible for the new pension.

While the federal plan contemplates a pension of not less than $30 a month to aged individuals, Pennington county is now paying pension of $5.00 a month.

There are 47 counties in the state now paying old age pensions, the average of which is $9.89 a month with the average lowest payment $6.05 a month and the average highest payment $10.00. A total of 36 counties are not paying pensions.

In the entire state 30,178 persons would be eligible for old age pensions under the new plan. At the present time there are 6,143 persons receiving old age pensions in the entire state, 918 persons whose pensions are supplemented by relief, 15,523 persons more than 65 years old on relief, 10,318 persons between 60 and 65 on relief and 6,930 persons not receiving pensions but eligible for them if relief were not available and finances of all counties permitted the pension payments.

At the present time the average mother's allowance paid in Pennington county is $8.20, there are 12 cases in which relief supplements mother's allowances with an average budget deficiency of $10.85 in such cases, and there are 4 cases not receiving mother's allowances but eligible if relief were not present and county finances permitted.

"Assuming that there will be 30,000 persons in the state eligible and qualified under the contemplated Old Age Pension act and that the federal government will contribute $15 toward each person, the total cost to the federal government would be $4,500,000 plus five percent towards the cost of administration, or $225,000, a total anticipated federal contribution of $4,725,000 for Minnesota," Mr. Zimmerman said.

"If Minnesota is to contribute an equal amount the state's share will be $4,500,000 for pension payments and $675,000 for administration, or a total required state contribution of $5,175,000," the relief administrator declared.

LOCAL ATTORNEYS AT ASSEMBLY OF BAR ASSOCIATION

Judge Brattland Also Present at Meeting Monday in Crookston

Judges and attorneys of the Fourteenth Judicial District Bar association held a luncheon meeting in Crookston Monday in conjunction with the opening of the Polk county January court term.

District Judges M. A. Brattland and James E. Montague and 29 attorneys from the district attended the luncheon meeting at which Lee B. Byard, president of the Minnesota State Bar association gave the address. H. O. Chommie, president of the district bar group, presided.

The necessity of an integrated bar to eliminate unauthorized practice of law was emphasized by Byard in speaking of the work of the State Bar association. Unauthorized practice of law was held responsible by Mr. Byard for public opinion belittling attorneys and the bar.

Present from this city, in addition to Judge Brattland and Harley Swenson, court reporter, were Attorneys Chommie, Theodore Quale, H. O. Berve and Paul Lundgren.

Local Wool Growers to Hold Meeting Jan. 17th

Sheep raisers of Pennington and adjoining counties will meet in the Civic and Commerce association rooms in the Auditorium Friday, January 17, at 2 o'clock for the purpose of electing a delegate to the annual state meeting of the Minnesota Co-operative Wool Growers association. Announcement of the meeting was made by R. J. McKercher.

SAVINGS AND LOAN GROUP COMPLETES SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Paul Lundgren and A. E. Mattson Re-elected Directors

A steady growth in 1935 in the volume of business of the First Federal Savings and Loan association of this city was revealed in a report submitted by Stanton R. Dahlen, secretary-treasurer, at the annual meeting of the group Monday evening.

During the year 44 mortgage loans were made for a total of $41,350, bringing loans in force to an aggregate of $53,197.83. A decision was reached at the meeting to make a cut of one-half per cent in the interest rate charged on mortgage loans effective January 1. Deposits in the institution were shown to be $50,205.57, on which a four per cent dividend was paid the first of the year. All accounts up to $5,000 are insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation.

At the meeting Paul Lundgren and A. E. Mattson were reelected to the board of directors, other members being Roy Lambert, Dr. O. F. Mellby and Mr. Dahlen. The board organized the same evening with the reelection of Mr. Lundgren as president; Dr. Mellby, vice president; and Mr. Dahlen, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Dahlen said that tentative arrangements have been made by the institution to finance a large amount of home construction and modernization in the city during the coming year.

Blaze Damages House Tuesday on Conley av. S.

A loss estimated at nearly $400 was sustained Tuesday evening when fire damaged the second floor and roof of the Thomas home at 512 Conley av. S. Water damage also was sustained. No losses resulted in a series of three chimney fires during the week. The first was Friday at the home of John Aase, 502 State av. N.; the second Saturday at the home of John Strand at Eighth st. and Dewey av.; and the third Monday at the home of Charles Langer, 312 Tindolph av. N.

Soo Wheat Line Stuck in Dakota Snow Tuesday

The east-bound Soo Wheat Line train failed to reach its destination in this city Tuesday evening, stormy weather in North Dakota having piled up snow drifts to such an extent that the train was halted for the night between Callio and Alsen. It arrived here Wednesday afternoon.

Postoffice Receipts Here for 1935 Reach New Record High Mark

Receipts in the Thief River Falls postoffice for the calendar year 1935 reached an all-time high mark, Postmaster Andrew Anderson announced today, adding that the total represents a gain of approximately eleven per cent over 1934 when the previous high point was attained. Receipts last year aggregated $34,165.09 compared to $30,881.77 in 1934, $28,051.82 in 1933, and $26,610.83 in 1932. Receipts by quarters for the past two years follow:

NEW COUNCIL IN HARMONIOUS FIRST MEETING

Body Reappoints City Clerk, City Attorney and Light Plant Head

GRIEBSTEIN NAMED COUNCIL PRESIDENT

Mayor Prichard Cites Need of Providing Work for Unemployed

Following a short session of the retiring city council Tuesday evening, at which remaining unfinished business was disposed of, the incoming council, with three new members, proceeded to organize, a spirit of harmony prevailing. Emil Griebstein was elected president of the group, succeeding P. O. Myhrum, and H. W. Kinghorn was named vice president.

New members taking offices included Mr. Kinghorn, alderman-at-large; S. Salveson, second ward; and John Baker, third ward; while hold-over members are Carl Christofferson, at-large; Mr. Griebstein, first ward; and Mr. Myhrum, fourth ward. Retiring from the council after two years of service were Walter Jung, W. E. Knight and M. T. McFarland.

No changes were made by the new council in the appointive offices that were acted on at the meeting, unanimous votes being accorded P. G. Pederson for city clerk; Theodore Quale for city attorney; and Ole Legvold, superintendent of the water and light department. Mayor W. W. Prichard, who was present at the meeting, deferred announcement of his appointments, including those in the police department.

In a prepared statement Mayor Prichard paid tribute to the retiring officials for their efforts in behalf of the city. Pointing out that WPA regulations exclude from its work rolls many men badly in need of employment, he suggested that the city undertake to establish work projects that can be carried out during the winter months, such as woodcutting and street graveling.

Other recommendations made by the mayor included the necessity of avoiding any increase in present taxes which would tend to discourage home building in the community, and the need of putting into effect a lower scale of light and power rates to bring this city into line with other comparable communities.

As one of its first acts the council authorized the purchase of a tract of poplar stumpage seven miles west of the city as a means of providing wood-cutting jobs for a group of unemployed men, who will be paid $1.50 a cord for cutting cordwood and pole wood. It was agreed that the work should get under way without delay.

The council also voted to buy window frames for the basement of the enclosed skating rink from the Northern Woodwork company at its quoted price of $48. In response to a communication from the Workman's Protective association it was voted to refer to the relief department a request that transportation be provided from the city for workers engaged on the WPA golf course project.

In its brief session the retiring council, after allowing accumulated bills, gave the third and final reading to the ordinance providing for barbers' licenses and regulating closing hours of barbershops. Estimates in connection with the fire hall improvement were allowed to Ed Lee for plumbing, Lloyd Aines for electric wiring, Albert Larson, general contract; and N. C. Ekland, architect. Also allowed was the payment of the balance of $396.50 due the General Electric Supply company for installing the new switchboard in the power plant.

Comedy-Music Film at Avalon Sunday; Gopher Eleven Next Wednesday

The laugh-provoking story of what happens when four men undertake to conduct a girls' school along original lines is unfolded in "Collegiate", which comes to the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday. Featured players, in addition to 150 chorus girls, include Joe Penner, Jack Oakie, Ned Sparks, Frances Langford, Betty Grable and Lynne Overman. For next Wednesday and Thursday, January 15 and 16, Manager A. M. Holte offers a treat to local football fans in the form of a film presenting the 1935 national champion Minnesota football team including exciting scenes from all the principal games in which the team participated. The feature picture shown in connection will be "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo", with Ronald Colman and Joan Bennett.

POUR CEMENT WITH MECURY AT SUBZERO

Protected from subzero temperatures by a heated enclosure over the basement excavation for the enclosed skating rink, workers Tuesday poured concrete for the basement footings. The next step is construction of forms preliminary to pouring the basement walls.

Proper Size for Toy Blocks

Four inches long by two inches square is a good size for children's building blocks, according to educational experts. These can be made at home by cutting them from a 2 by 2 planed joist, sandpapering the edges and corners to a slight roundness, and painting them in bright colors. Old, worn blocks can be given a new lease on life by enameling them in gay hues.

Subsequent announcements will be made over WDAY Fargo.

Physicians Predict Healthiest New Year for All Minding Rules

Following are ten health resolutions suggested by the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association for health and safety and peace of mind in 1936.

The committee ventures to predict the healthiest year on record in Minnesota if even part of them are followed conscientiously by Minnesotans in 1936.

1. I will include some milk, fruit and green vegetables in my diet every day knowing that, no matter what else I eat, the inclusion of these will be a reasonable assurance that I am getting essential food elements for growth and strength.

2. I will insist upon scrupulous cleanliness in the handling, preparing and eating of food.

3. I will not expose my friends to my "cold" and I will take the utmost pains, even at the risk of giving offense, to protect, particularly the children, from anybody else who exhibits "cold" symptoms.

4. I will report to my doctor any suspicious lumps or stubborn sores that do not heal or any abnormal discharge or persistent pain. Thus I shall be giving myself a more than 80 per cent chance of complete cure, in case of cancer.

5. I will not take a laxative in the presence of abdominal pain because abdominal pain of any duration may possibly mean appendicitis or bowel obstruction and a laxative is the worst possible treatment for either.

6. I will go over my medicine chest and see that no dangerous arsenic or other pills are lying around where blundering hands can get at them.

7. I will see that my children, if I have any in my charge, are protected against diphtheria smallpox and tested to find out if they have been infected with tuberculosis.

8. I will give myself and my family the benefit of a complete physical examination whether we are sick or not, to help us avoid illness this year.

9. I will go to my dentist at least once this year.

10. I will get as near to eight hours of carefree sleep each night knowing that I am in the best possible condition to work hard, play hard and enjoy myself in 1936.

HONEST CITIZEN RETURNS BILLFOLD

Preston.— Fillmore county is laying claim to being the most honest county in the country—at least when it comes to returning lost purses. Another instance of the integrity of its citizens came to light last week when John Vande Zander was returning home from Rochester. He stopped at the Marion filling station for gas, and as he stepped out of the car he saw a billfold on the ground. Inside was $34.25 and the owner's name and address. That night, upon reaching home, he called the owner, Melvin R. Sketson 37 year old Spring Grove farmer, who needless to say, was most delighted. Sketson met Zander in Preston later and finally convinced him that it was worth all of $2.00 to get it back.

What Does Mental Health Mean?

Most of us have heard the words "mental health" coupled together many times in the last few years. But to how many of us are they more than a glib expression, a sort of two-story-front facade without much behind them?

Part of our confusion or vagueness comes from the fact that there are really two meanings to mental health of mental hygiene. One meaning has to do with the movement of mental health, which has come into prominence since the founding of the National committee for mental hygiene twenty-five years ago, the other refers to the state of mind of the individual, which we shall discuss for a few moments.

The minute we try to fasten things down neatly by means of a description of definition, we realize how hard it is to frame a meaning that will have anything to do with the living, growing concept of mental health. As Dr. Frankwood Williams suggests when trying to clothe a living idea with words we may succeed only in making what was spider-web material "stiff and hard like iron". He himself wisely suggests a definition that is flexible enough to allow of much stretching and expansion, for he warns us that "mental health should not be interpreted too narrowly as merely freedom from disease, but broadly the sense of behavior and ability to attain and maintain satisfactory human relationships". This ability he goes on to say will be determined not only by the person's possibilities for emmotional, physical and mental development, but also on the opportunity he finds for growth. In other words, that mentally healthy person is one who has something within himself to build with, and who has not been too greatly hampered by the obstacles put in his way by the forces of environment.

Another writer has pointed out that a well-integrated—or—well-balanced person is one who can act counter to his instinctive desires and impulses without great irritation and frustration. This state implies a balance that can be brot about only by training of one's habits to fall in line with one's knowledge. How to go about it?

Some practical ways of working towards the possession of a wholesome personality might be set down as follows: 1. Striving to understand our desires and urges. This will entail study and scrutiny of ourselves and those around us. 2. If once we understand some of the motives underlying behavior, we can hardly help being more sympathic with the problems of other people. This will help to turn our thought away from ourselves. The self-centered person is not healthy-minded. 3. Once we see ourselves as interesting objects of study we can see the funny side of taking those selves too seriously. If we once acquire the ability to stand off and look at ourselves objectively, we will find ourselves saying, "Look here, your routine is too narrow. You'll get more accomplished if you do a little playing, to keep from becoming solemn." Recreation may take the form of new experiences, learning, reading—anything that will stock our minds and emotions with material that lifts us away from the dangers of becoming bogged in a monotonous, machinle-like round of existence. 4. Being open to and interested in new points of view will help to keep us flexible—and if we are even a little flexible, we come nearer approaching that health goal of "attaining and maintaining satisfactory human relationships."

Rothsay Legion Post Is Given Four Lots by O. H. Ekeren of City

Knud Ellingson post of the American Legion at Rothsay was the recipient of a Christmas gift consisting of four 60-foot lots adjoining the Legion grounds, says the Minnesota Legionnaire, official publication of the Minnesota department. The gift came from O. H. Ekeren, who for many years conducted a drug store at Rothsay and was one of its leading citizens, but who is now in the drug business in Thief River Falls. Mr. Ekeren said the gift was in recognition of the services of the post in sponsoring Boy Scout troops, junior baseball and other activities making the community a better place in which to live. Commander J. V. Lindberg expressed the post's deep appreciation of Mr. Ekeren's gift.

THREE-YEAR-OLD GIRL IS CHAMPION MILKMAID

Cook—Dolores Terska, aged 3, of near Cook, is headed for a milkmaid championship—or something like that. She has been milking since she was 2½ years old, and makes a very good job of it, according to her mother, Mrs. Mike Terska, who believes there is no other girl in the country able to milk at such a tender age. The family lives on a farm about 10 miles west of Cook.

STATE WPA PAYS OUT $5,333,000 TO JANUARY 1ST

Christgau Undertakes to Relax Requirements on Eligibility

Employees of the Works Progress Administration, up to January 1, had received a total of $5,333,512 of which less than 8.7% was paid to the administrative staffs in St. Paul headquarters and the nine district offices.

Figures released from the offices of Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator, showed:

To project workers, $4,707,369.

To administrative employees, $446,600.

To students receiving financial aid, $179,494.

The total payrolls to project workers by districts were as follows: Duluth district, $468,654; Brainerd district, $202,888; St. Paul district, $1,757,732; Rochester district, $233,956; Minneapolis district, $1,246,511; St. Cloud district, $217,480; Detroit Lakes district, $259,847; Morris district, $199,122; and New Ulm district, $120,979.

Following his return from Washington last week, Mr. Christgau announced he had been assured of additional funds to permit raising the work relief employment quota in Minnesota to 65,000. At present 60,751 men and women from the relief rolls are working on Minnesota WPA projects.

In regard to the ruling that 90 per cent of the workers, to be eligible for WPA employment, must have been certified to the relief rolls between May 1 and Nov. 1, 1935, Mr. Christgau stated he had recommended the eligibility period changed to Feb. 1 to Nov. 1, 1935.

"This would mean a considerably larger number would be eligible for WPA employment," he said, "and of course it would require more funds." He added that any expansion of the WPA program such as would be the result from such a change in the eligibility period apparently would be a question left to Congress to settle.

At present the Minnesota WPA has $17,700,00 at its disposal which, it is estimated, will carry the program through to March 15.

In the Minnesota work program on the first of the year were a total of 1,920 projects on which work had been authorized. Among the ten general classifications of work, highway, road and street projects lead all others. Of this type, there are 673 encumbering $6,517,098 in federal funds.

The number of projects and total funds encumbered in the other classifications included: public buildings, 263 projects, $2,092,594; housing, 8 projects, $16,752; recreational, 215 projects, $3,460,735; conservation, 39 projects, $501,952; publicly owned and operated utilities, 167 projects, $1,122,741; rural electrification and other electrical utilities, 13 projects, $36,220; transportation, 13 projects, $604,583; professional, technical, clerical, and educational, 337 projects, $1,344,587; womens' work and miscellaneous, 197 projects, $1,906,684.

Observations on Trip to California
By Joel E. Shoberg

Cheyenne, the capitol of Wyoming has a population of 17,361. It places a pride in being considered one of the most wild cities in the west, it wants to be wild and it is wild. The whole personality of Cheyenne is somewhat different from other cities. It is the typical city of the western cowboy; his life, habits, ambition and love, all represented in one. On the streets, even the youngsters prided themselves in being dressed cowboy style, a revolver from the belt and using a heavy language. Anybody who loves the west as it is pictured in Jesse James books would enjoy to visit Cheyenne. We spent one night in Cheyenne, sleeping in a tourist cabin just outside the city. This turned out to be the coldest night on our entire trip and in the morning we found the car practically froze up. Even the antifreeze in the radiator had congealed to where it would not circulate.

Between Cheyenne and Laramie is a distance of 51 miles, and it is here we rise to an elevation of 7,165 feet, the highest point on the Rockies along this route. The thin air had an influence on the car, as we could drive on a considerable more lean gasoline mixture here than in lower altitudes. Consequently anybody who believes that it takes more gas to climb mountainside can forget this as it actually takes less. The car also seems to have more pep, and even when we had to climb hills necessitating the use of the second gear for long stretches, we never once had the radiator hot. We seen many a good old Model T pulling a loaded trailer up the mountain side without heating.

From Laramie and west is nothing to describe as there is nothing there, hill after hill and between long stretches of waste land, not a farm, cattle herd or nothing. The small towns are far apart from 20 to 50 miles. And when there is a town it is a puzzle what the inhabitants there live off.

At Hanna, Wyoming we visited the first coal mine along the road. This mine employed 300 men with fifty horses and is owned by the Union Pacific ry. company. The mine itself was located directly under the city of Hanna, one and one half mile from the entrance. Small cars holding about two tons were sent down this distance on steel rails, eight at each trip and was pulled back by means of steam power and a one inch steel cable. Above ground the coal went thru the various processes, under a huge steel magnet to remove all iron, a stream of water to remove vegetation matters, a crusher and other machines, before it was elevated above railroad cars and was ready either for marketing or storage.

Near Lyman, Wyoming we see the world famous Camels Back and Palisades mountains, and they truly are marvelous. Straight rock up and down for hundreds of feet, like they had been hewn by hand and on places with overhanging cliffs weighing tens of thousands of tons. Nature sure is a great builder and many are her wonders. Many of the roads in the west are built of coal waste from the mines. This we understand being a waste product has no value and the only cost is the transportation and distribution. It makes excellent road beds and reminds one of the cinder sidewalks and loading platforms used by the railroad companies back home.

Near Evansville, Wyoming is a farming district with large herds of beef cattle, sheep and goats. Nearly all the farm houses and barns here are constructed of logs. They are however located far between.

Rawlins is a medium sized oil and mining town, entirely encircled by sky nigh mountains on every side.

Our next stop is Parco, one of those typical western towns where the entire city factories, business places, recreation centers and the entire resident district and every workman is you might say owned and controlled by one large oil company. At Parco a huge life sized picture of a monster Dinosaur at the entrance told us at a glance what gasoline corporation owned and controlled this city.

New Bond Issue, Larger Patrol to Add $200,000 to '36 Highway Expense

Expansion of the highway patrol and interest payments on new state bonds which had to be issued to raise enough highway department revenue so Minnesota could get federal aid on its trunk system will increase the 1936 operating expenses of the department by approximately $200,000, according to Commissioner N. W. Elsberg.

The regular session of the 1935 legislature found state revenues of the highway department so low that it authorized the issuance of new state bonds so Minnesota could get its share of federal road funds. Accordingly $4,500,000 of bonds were sold in 1935 and another $4,000,000 must be marketed in 1936. These two issues will add more than $200,000 a year to the interest payments which must be met by the department. In addition the legislature authorized an increase in the patrol force to 100 men. Thirty-three new officers will be added gradually after January 1, and the department must pay their salaries, buy and operate their automobiles and motorcycles and furnish other equipment and quarters.

Forest Rangers' Work Shown in Movie Film

Completion of a three-reel motion picture called "The Work of the Forest Rangers" was announced last week by Grover M. Conzet, director of the state division of forestry.

The picture was produced under the direction of Harold Searls, public relations director of the division. Photography and editing was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lewis of Red Wing, assisted by Mr. Searls.

"The various activities of the division of forestry such as fire-fighting, slash-disposal, fire-break clearing, and the like are vividly represented. Old-time logging activities are also shown.

"The picture will be exhibited at schools and clubs throughout the state in order to familiarize a large number of citizens with the work of the forest service," Mr. Conzet said.

"The need for some such means to give the people a more vivid idea of the work actually being done by our division has been evident for a long time."

'The Northwest Pioneer' This Month Has a Story About Indian 'Religion'

A strange "religion" practiced by American Indians is described in the current issue of the Northwest Pioneer, published by Wm. V. Working, Minneapolis and Grand Forks, N. D. Kenneth W. Riley, author of the article, is bacteriologist and serologist in the state laboratory at the University of North Dakota, Grand Forks.

He explains that the practice originated in Mexico in ancient times and spread in recent years over the west as far north as Canada, being much in evidence in Montana although only a trace of the use of the drug is found in Minnesota, none in North Dakota and little in South Dakota. The Indians eat or drink the "buttons" of a plant of the cactus family called peyote. The effects are typical of those of narcotics. The article reveals that the practice is spreading despite efforts to have the practice and traffic in the drug barred by Congress.

Other articles in the issue include a description of a frontier buffalo hunt, a white girl's experiences as the captive of an Indian band and a story about the birthplace of Dr. William Mayo, celebrated surgeon of Rochester, Minn. Mr. Working is the proprietor of the Northwestern Feature Service which furnishes articles to the Times.

Collector Mails Out 125,000 U. S. Income Tax Blanks in State

"The mailing of approximately 125,000 income tax blanks to the various federal income taxpayers in Minnesota has just been completed", states J. R. Landy, collector of internal revenue for the district of Minnesota.

The collector expressed the hope that taxpayers, in filing their returns, would give careful attention to the instructions printed on all blanks and, particularly, to the requirement of the duplicate copy of return on the green form, which must be filed in addition to the original return.

The collector calls attention to the fact that the returns may be filed promptly upon receipt of the forms, and, if penalties are to be avoided, the filing must be made by March 15 at the latest.

FINDS BLACK WIDOW SPIDER IN HOME

Luverne— You've heard of those deadly Black Widow spiders, but have you ever seen one? Miss Gertrude Mitchell, who is teaching school at Arthur, Neb., brought the specimen to Luverne when she came home for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell. She caught the spider, which had woven a web at the house where she was living. There is no mistake about it being a Black Widow, for the red markings of the hour glass are plainly visible on the spider's stomach.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

THE PROSPECT IS NOT HOPELESS

Because of the wide difference of opinion as to the value of the AAA program itself, it is only natural that there should be a wide variety in the reactions of the public to the announcement that the act authorizing this program had been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. In some sections of the country the program had undoubtedly provided effective relief to agriculture. For the farmers of the country as a whole the net result up to the present time was probably good. In farming communities such as this, however, where the benefits have been largely indirect, the popularity of the program has never been great and so it naturally follows that the regret over the court's decision has not been widespread.

It is estimated that during the past two years Pennington County farmers have received approximately fifty thousand dollars in benefit payments. Only about one-fourth of the farmers in the county have participated in the program and shared in these benefit payments. Considering the processing taxes that have been paid in purchases of pork, flour, cotton goods and other commodities by the people of this county during this period, it is quite likely that the AAA program has cost us more than we have received during this two year period.

That the production control principle underlying the plan had much merit, there can be no doubt. Fortunately, or unfortunately, the results hoped to be obtained through such control, were largely effected by three years of light crops, restoring surpluses of most of the crops to a normal or even less than normal basis. In our opinion the principle defect in the plan of the administration to restore the farmer's dollar was the failure to adequately protect the American farm market from agricultural imports. A program of curtailed production by the American farmer could be justified only with accompanying tariff increases to give the American farmer complete protection in the American market. To curtail American farm production and at the same time encourage the importation of farm products from foreign countries is to set up a system of crop control for the benefit of foreign producers. And that certainly has been the weakness of the administration's farm program.

And this is one way the administration can take immediate steps to overcome the bad effects of the Supreme Court's adverse ruling. A temporary embargo on all competitive food importations would do more than anything else to restore the much desired farm parity. Give the American farmer the American market first. Then figure out a plan of agricultural adjustment to pick up the loose ends, but there probably would be very few loose ends that would need picking up.

A CAMPAIGN SPEECH

President Roosevelt started out well enough in his "state of the nation" speech last week but he lowered himself to the level of a ward heeler politician when he devoted the last half of his talk to a smug glorification of himself and an inane vilification of those who do not agree with him. As time goes on his attitude becomes increasingly difficult to understand. In the early stages of his administration he admitted a few human shortcomings and even suggested that he might make a few mistakes. Now, however, he assumes the self-righteous attitude of the high priest of a religious cult, and to question the wisdom of any of his policies is a sacrilege. Roosevelt, and Roosevelt only, is right, and those who do not worship at the shrine of St. Franklin are, one and all, a gang of low-lifers who want the poor to starve and the children to labor in the sweatshops. Only base motives could prompt criticism of him or his disciples.

Aside from a report on international problems that had much merit, and a promise that if Congress limits its appropriations to his budget no new taxes will have to be imposed, he ignored entirely the many really serious problems still confronting the country. Only as a personal appeal for votes could such a talk, before a special night session of Congress and a nation-wide radio hook-up, be justified. And as such it deserves none of the respect to which a President's message to Congress is ordinarily entitled.

MANSIONS FOR GOVERNORS
(Minneapolis Journal)

South Dakota is completing at Pierre a home for its Governors, at the modest cost of $40,000. Many other States provide mansions for their Governors, as the White House is a federally owned home for the Presidents.

Not in many years has the subject of a Governor's mansion been agitated in Minnesota. Governors in this State have not shown interest in the idea, for a reason easily understood. The seat of Minnesota Government is a twin metropolis of nearly a million population. The Governor is besieged all day when in his office, and flees to his home for a little rest and privacy. Even at his home there are many calls, but the home is his own.

House the Governor in an Executive Mansion, owned by the State, and he would take with the house an obligation to social leadership, and to make himself accessible at all hours. No wonder Minnesota Governors have been cold toward the mansion idea.

A mocking bird has been discovered which can change its tune eighty-seven times in seven minutes. There's a mark for some of our politicians to shoot at.—New Orleans States.

AN OLD FASHIONED FATHER
(Mankato Free Press)

This isn't the way it usually happens—that's why it's news.

Several months ago a father walked into the office.

"My son was in court this morning," he said. It was for a routine traffic offense—nothing serious. We presumed he had come to plead to have the court record out of the paper.

"You are publishing it?" he asked. We explained that it was a fixed policy to publish all such reports, that if we left one out we would be compelled to leave them all out.

"I don't want you to keep it out—I'm here to make sure you publish it," he said.

That was different—about as different as the frequently mentioned case of the man biting the dog.

"You see," he continued, "I want the boy to pay the full price for his nonsense. I haven't reproved him—I have simply told him that he is a man now. It's up to him to weigh the cost of things like this and decide whether or not they pay. He'll have to pay his own fine. I want him to experience the notoriety of publishing the item. I want him to realize fully just what this thing costs in every way. If he is spared anything he may do it again. If he knows exactly what it costs he will be more careful in the future."

An old-fashioned parent, perhaps and what a refreshing contrast to the general run of fathers today. They will make any sacrifice, use any possible means to shield a son or daughter from facing a responsibility that properly is theirs.

In the final analysis there is no escaping the law of compensation. You pay for everything you receive in this world—good or bad. And if you are spared the full price the first time, if you make a bargain, force a compromise settlement, it is only temporary. In the end the ultimate price will have to be paid. Too many young people are getting by with compromise settlements today, largely because of parents, who are really doing them a disservice by shielding them from the full price the first time they find the going rough.

A BUILDER OF CHARACTER
(Lake Wilson Pilot)

When the roll of truly great men in Minnesota is called, it should include the name of T. A. Erickson, leader in the boys' and girls' club movement in this state. Kindly, sympathetic, and cultured he has left the imprint of clean, decent citizenship and character on the minds of thousands of farm boys and girls with whom he has come in contact with during the last fifteen years. His friendly counsel and aid remains deep in the memory of many a youngster who was fortunate enough to know him. His life work has been a monument of character building, and has been a real service to the youth of Minnesota.

JAPAN MIGHT INTERVENE

At the risk of being thought a bit queer, a local student of world affairs suggests that the Strutwear people sell a few shares of their stock to Japanese capitalists. Japan could then send troops to Minneapolis to "protect the interests of their citizens," local government being unable to handle the revolutionists. Uncle Sam, he claims, established a precedent for such action when he sent the marines to Nicaragua. And what is sauce for the goose, should, in this instance, be duck soup for the gander.

LAST STAND OF CARIBOU
(New York Times)

A vast boggy swamp north of Upper Red Lake, Minn., provides a home for the only remaining native caribou within the forty-eight states, and conservationists are working to provide protection for this remnant of a species that once ranged in our northern states from coast to coast, says the United States Biological Survey.

About a dozen animals of the woodland species of caribou constitute the Minnesota herd, it is estimated. Their range was the scene a few years ago of drainage operations that failed, and the area is now a state refuge for caribou, moose, deer, grouse, migratory waterfowl, beavers, otters, muskrats, and other wildlife. State authorities are planning for additional protection of the caribou on the refuge.

Naturalists of the Biological Survey have cooperated with members of the state conservation commission in studying the refuge area and in recommending means of safe-guarding this last stand of caribou in the states.

THE REAL NEW DEAL
(Carl Vrooman)

If you want to change the world on the outside, you have got to change yourself, and everybody else, on the inside, for the New Deal will lie not in the ballot box or in a popular uprising, but in the well-springs of the human will.

SHE FORGOT
(Kansas City Times)

Mrs. Leonidas W. Van Quentin, who went to a concert the other night and forgot her concert tickets, arrived home and found she had forgotten her house key. Saturday she went downtown to lunch and forgot to take her purse; when she parked her car she forgot to get a parking ticket, and after borrowing 50 cents to get a Mayor's Christmas tree tag on the way to lunch, she forgot and left the tag on the luncheon table. After riding home in a friend's car she remembered she had left her car in a parking station downtown, but having no ticket she could not remember what station. The family took Sunday dinner out yesterday because she forgot the day before yesterday was Saturday and failed to order the groceries.

OFFENDERS ARE FEW
(Watertown, S. D., Public Opinion)

The "press" of the United States is not "yellow". The run of the press is sober minded, sincere, unwilling to carry sensationalism beyond the bounds of inherent public interest. There are only a few in which the eruption of so-called personal journalism is permitted to smother all the other attributes of good newspapering. These few—and they are very few—are responsible for whatever effect the course of central publicity may have had in Lindbergh's decision to go to England. There is no quarrel between Colonel Lindbergh and the higher type of American journalist. On the contrary, there seems always to have been a working understanding.

The Leader this week received from the United States treasurer a handsomely engraved circular urging the purchase of bonds from a current government issue. The circular had the general appearance of widespread distribution. An interesting selling point made by the treasurer is that "the bonds are tax exempt." The circular mentioned the fact three different places. The government is now running behind more than $10,000,000 a day and yet here is a department of the government trying to sell bonds with the plea that the purchaser need contribute nothing in the way of an income tax to help defray the expense of the government.—Long Prairie Leader.

The more taxes that can be collected, the more people can be placed on government payrolls. If there is no let-up in the campaign, most everybody will want to get on the payroll—and why not? Is it not more easy to receive than pay?—Eveleth Clarion.

They now have machines that give a pressure of one million pounds per square inch and makes ice hotter than boiling water and causes graphite to scratch steel. We don't understand it, but if the scientists say it is so it must be so.—Greenbush Tribune.

Builder of Pasadena Rose Bowl Is Working on Thief Lake Project

When Red Lake county people listened in to the annual football classic, the New Year's Day battle in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, they little realize that the man who built this enormous amphitheatre is now a resident of Red Lake Falls, says the Gazette of that city.

He is Lawrence Longley, who just last week moved his family here from LaCrosse, Wis., and will reside here while he is in charge of dam construction work for the United States Biological department at Thief Lake, the conservation project sponsored by the Izaak Walton league and others.

Mr. Longley was superintendent of construction for the contracting company who built the Rose Bowl in 1925, and in addition to this he had charge of building several theatres and big office buildings in Los Angeles. When the depression knocked the building industry flat he returned to his native Minnesota. For several months past he has been with the United States Biological department.

Mr. Torgerson will take charge of Districts 6 and 8. Mr. Graves, who will continue to maintain his headquarters at Crookston, will be succeeded in his present capacity by ... Craig of Deer River, for several years connected with the state highway department.

TOY BALLOON FOUND 250 MILES FROM SENDOFF

Alexandria—What must be close to a record for the flight of a toy balloon is reported by John Eklund of Kensington, who found such a balloon recently in a tree on his place three miles southwest of Kensington, in Douglas county. The toy balloon had inscribed on it, "Gene Hagen, age three years, 1803 24th Street, Sioux City, Iowa." The distance from Sioux City to Kensington by air line is about 250 miles. South winds, rather unusual at this time of the year were prevailing the week before the balloon was found, which accounts for its having come so far at a season of the year when such a trip would hardly be expected.

Father of Peter Husted Passes Away in Duluth

Nels C. Husted, father of Peter Husted of this city, passed away in Duluth Dec. 21. The funeral service was held in Duluth and the body shipped to Warren where a brief service was held, Rev. L. E. Brynestad officiating.

Mr. Husted was born in Skive, Denmark in 1857 and in 1882 with his wife and family came to America, settling first at Crookston. He took up a homestead southwest of Warren in 1892 where he lived until 1908 when he moved to St. Louis county.

Surviving are four sons, Peter of this city, Edward of Hibbing, Martin of Fordville, N. D., Christ of Warren; a sister, Mrs. Martin Anderson of Warren; two sisters in Denmark; and his wife.

Ford Company Announces New Time Payment Plan

Fargo, N. D. Jan. 5. The Ford Motor company has put into effect a new time payment plan under which buyers of new Ford cars may pay as little as $25 a month, Lund & Tunberg, local dealers, announced today. Finance charges will remain the same as previously at ½ of 1 per cent monthly, or 6 per cent a year, computed upon the total of the original unpaid balance plus insurance costs, but the monthly payments under the new plan are much lower than those permitted under present and former time payment plans. The Universal Credit company is the authorized finance company offering the plan.

W. P. KIRKWOOD

After more than 21 years of service to the University of Minnesota, Professor W. P. Kirkwood will retire early in January from his duties as chief of the division of publications at University Farm.

Credited with many lasting achievements for the University and Minnesota newspaperdom, Mr. Kirkwood looks forward to his retirement which he says will give him an opportunity to try some things he has long been wanting to do. In part, he will engage in free-lance writing for leading agricultural journals and magazines.

Joining the University Farm staff August 1, 1914, Mr. Kirkwood not only took over the work of editing bulletins, but developed a news agency to furnish the daily, weekly and farm press with informational articles for the benefit of rural readers.

ADULT EDUCATION PROGRAM MAPPED BY DISTRICT WPA

Young People Wishing to Participate Are Asked to Register

With the appointment of Mrs. Elma V. Bradke as district WPA supervisor, the adult education program is definitely under way in the seventh district. The objective will be to get as many classes organized as possible in order that all the unemployed teachers in the district, heretofore on relief, will have work. Classes have already been started in Red Lake and Mahnomen counties, and assignments have been made for two projects and one at Bemidji. In addition to the adult education program, Mrs. Bradke will also have charge of nurse schools, where children of relief workers are taken care of. Three such classes are in operation at White Earth, Becker county.

N. A. Thorson has been appointed district supervisor for the Youth program, which will give part-time employment for young people from relief families. Ray Casperlin has been appointed as time-keeper. Projects, under the National Youth Administration program, will include community development and recreational leadership, rural youth development and public service training.

However, the local district program will center for the present on working part time on work relief projects. There are 282 relief and 18 non-relief young people in the district, and a total of $16,693 of federal funds has been earmarked for this district. Young people, wishing to participate in this program, must first register with their local national reemployment service, from where they will be certified to the district director and assigned.

Basketball Rules Meet Conducted Here Monday

A group of fifty high school basketball players and coaches from throut this section attended a rules interpretation meeting at the Auditorium Monday evening. This was one of a series being conducted in the state with a view to standardizing enforcement of the rules governing the sport. The session was conducted under the direction of Arthur Von of Duluth, who will serve this year as an official at the state basketball tournament.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture to Speak at Winter Shows February 4

Word has just been received from M. L. Wilson, assistant secretary of agriculture, Washington, D. C., that he will attend the Red River Valley Winter Shows on Tuesday, February 4, and address the mass meeting to be held in the Armory that evening. Recognized as one of the leading agriculturists of the nation, and as assistant to Secretary Henry A. Wallace, he will come to the Red River Valley prepared to explain the fundamental assumptions underlying the agricultural adjustment act and other governmental programs.

Assistant Secretary Wilson has devoted his life to a study of agricultural conditions in the Northwest. He is a graduate of Iowa State College and the University of Wisconsin; served as county agent, county agent leader and extension economist in Montana from 1908-24; and professor and head of the department of agricultural economics at Montana State college from 1926 until the time he was called to Washington under the Roosevelt administration. For two years from 1924-26, he was in charge of the division of farm management and costs in the United States Department of Agriculture, and served as consultant for the Government Grain trust in Russia in 1929.

Assistant Secretary Wilson's visit to the Red River Valley will offer the farmers and townspeople of this area an unusual opportunity to learn first hand of the many extensive projects that are now being carried forward by the Department of Agriculture.

Prowlers Go to Warren for Game Friday Night

A lively contest is in prospect for Friday evening when the Lincoln high school basketball team journeys to Warren for a game with their time-honored rivals of the Warren high school. The following Friday, January 17, the Bemidji high school team will meet the Prowlers at the Auditorium here in what is expected to be one of the best games of the season.

$2,475 Wolf Bounties Are Paid at Baudette

Instead of being annoyed by the howling of the wolf at the door, Lake of the Woods farmers went out and trapped him during 1935. Figures at the office of County Auditor M. D. Weeks in Baudette show that $2,475 was paid out during the year to farmers for wolf bounties. The number included around 175 adult wolves and the balance were wolf pups. The state reimburses the county for the money paid out.

Rotary Club Here Wins Attendance Contest

The Rotary club held a brief luncheon meeting Tuesday noon at the Evelyn hotel, Dr. O. F. Mellby, who was scheduled to give a doctor's view of socialized medicine being unable to be present. With full attendance at each of the five meetings in December, the local club won an attendance contest held during the month with the Crookston club as competitor.

USED CARS AND TRUCKS

We have an unusually large inventory of used automobiles and trucks totaling 46 units.

Most of the cars now on hand are traded in for new car deliveries later and this gives us an unusually fine setup to put these cars in excellent condition for resale at special value prices.

We have many of our used cars ready now, all reconditioned and very good values.

Many late models at surprising low prices.

We make this a special invitation to look over our exceptional used automobile and truck bargains.

We have good running automobiles and also trucks for prices as low as $25.

Our aim for 1936 shall be to give the BEST USED TRUCK VALUES AND STILL BETTER USED CAR VALUES and challenge any dealer in the Northwest.

SPECIAL PRICES ON BOB SLEDS

We have a number of bob sleds on hand and wish to reduce our stock so again we will discount $5.00 additional off from our former low prices on any sled now on hand.

This special price good while our present stock lasts and at any event not to exceed ten days.

USED CREAM SEPARATORS

In our Cream Separator sales of New McCormick-Deering we trade in a number of used cream separators that are in good running order and now have seventeen used machines ranging in price from $5.00 to $25 and we still have three new and latest model McCormick-Deering Cream Separators on hand at the old low price.

24 Hours — WARM STORAGE — 24 Hours

Effective since January 2nd this year we are giving 24 hour storage service. Open day and night. We have a competent man in charge every night ready to take care of storage and shop service.

CHRYSLER, PLYMOUTH, NASH AND LaFAYETTE

Our place is the Northwest home for these beautiful automobiles and the 1936 models are surely beautiful, but more than beautiful, they are leading quality construction and second to none in performance in each class field. We invite you to see them and drive them. We sell them with a backing of satisfying service.

INTERNATIONAL MOTOR TRUCKS

Especially during the last two years have the International Motor Trucks won their way into the hearts of truck owners and truck drivers in this section. Because 100,000 miles of heavy continuous satisfying performance and still going strong and a good truck yet is not unusual with an International truck. "When the installments are paid" on the International truck it goes on and earns you money, you don't have to start again on a new contract and a new truck. Authentic figures show that during the first nine months of 1935 the entire truck industry gained 29%. INTERNATIONAL TRUCKS GAINED 73%.

We sell International trucks of all sizes and we give our truck customers satisfying service.

The following resolution was moved by Commissioner Bredeson, seconded by Commissioner Mandt and unanimously passed.

WHEREAS A ruling from Washington, D. C. has been received from the State Office, certifying that any person not receiving relief from May 1, 1935 to November 1, 1935 is not eligible for W. P. A. work relief and

WHEREAS We feel that this ruling is not fair and is penalizing the good man who immediately last March or April, 1935, when spring work opened up on farms and elsewhere, obtained a private job and went off the Relief Rolls and made his own living and provided for his family until after the farm work was done and the corn husked and the fodder stacked which was completed from November 15 to November 25, 1935 and now, under this ruling, he is not eligible for W. P. A. work to provide for his family during the winter months while the relief client who hung on the relief rolls all summer is again receiving the benefits. Which creates an unsatisfactory feeling to those who are actually trying to be on the square and not try and live from Public Funds.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Board of County Commissioners of Pennington County, Minnesota kindly ask the Hon. Harry L. Hopkins, Federal Relief Administrator and the Hon. Victor Christgau, W. P. A. Relief Administrator, for [illegible] work relief to the Board of County Commissioners and the W. P. A. Certifying officer of each respective county in fairness to all, who are in need of relief work.

Commissioner Bredeson offered the following resolution and moved its adoption.

WHEREAS the Northern Chevrolet Company of Thief River Falls, Minnesota has brought an action in District Court for the recovery of certain moneys paid to it under protest to the Treasurer of Pennington County on the 29th day of September, 1935 for taxes for the years 1927 [illegible] City of Thief River Falls.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the County Board of the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota that [illegible] Section 2d Mason's Minn. Statutes for 1927 and hereby consent to the institution of such action and hereby [illegible] the Attorney General to defend the same in behalf of the County of Pennington.

Commissioner Mulry seconded the foregoing resolution and on motion was unanimously passed.

The following bills were read, audited and allowed for payment:

WRITES 132 INSURANCE POLICIES IN ONE DAY

Albert Lea.—The "small" total of 132 insurance policies written in one day kept Finn Nannestad of Albert Lea and a half a dozen doctors of that town humping last week and made Nannestad the champion insurance writer of the world. The former record of a Nebraska man, who wrote 122 policies in a 24 hour period, was bettered by 10 applications. The 132 applications represent $200,000 worth of business with premiums of approximately $5,000. Nannestad worked over the list of applications for sometime, of course, but had them all ready to turn in on one particular day, and each applicant had to be examined for the policy on the day they were turned in. Physicians stated that it was one of the biggest days in the history of Albert Lea for "patients".

Has Power to Declare War

The congress of the United States has the power to declare war, according to Article 1, section 8, paragraph 11, of the Constitution. It has been the practice of the United States for congress to declare that a state of war exists and to charge the President with its prosecution, as commander of the nation's military. Congress then provides for the raising of troops and money, settlement with the President can do.

MAGNUS JOHNSON FILES FRIDAY FOR THE GOVERNORSHIP

Says Farmer-Labor Rank and File Is Opposed to "Dictators"

Magnus Johnson, former United States senator Friday filed for governor on the Farmer-Labor ticket.

The Kimball farmer announced his candidacy would be a challenge to "a clique or number of cliques plotting the selection of candidates for office mainly to further their own personal welfare."

In 1915 and 1917, Johnson was one of the leaders of the farm bloc of the state legislature and in 1922 was elected to the senate on the Farmer-Labor ticket to fill the unexpired term of the late Knute Nelson. He defeated J. A. O. Preus.

In a statement announcing his candidacy, Johnson said:

"The rank and file of our party do not want the guardianship by a clique, or a number of cliques, who concoct political platforms to confound the fundamental principles of our party.

"The rank and file of the Farmer Labor party will brook no dictatorship in the control of its policies, whether from within or without the party. We claim the right to criticize and the right of opposition to any self-appointed leadership."

GLENWOOD GETS $100 FROM ARMY-NAVY GAME

Glenwood—For the third consecutive year, the town of Glenwood has received $100 from the proceeds of the Army-Navy football game, due to the fact that "Whitney" Grove, flashy back at West Point, hails from Glenwood. The proceeds of the annual Army-Navy game are given to charity, and each player of the game gets the benefit of some of the proceeds for his home town. The $100 check sent to Glenwood was made out to the Chamber of Commerce and was distributed to the poor. Since this is the last year for Grove at West Point, it will be the last of the $100 checks for Glenwood—unless they can develop another player of his calibre to play with either Army or Navy.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agriculture Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 6, 1936 (U.S.D.A.): Hog prices declined mostly 15-25c at the week's opening, better 140-230 lbs. selling mostly at $9.00-9.10, 230-260 lb. $8.80-9.00, 260-310 lb. $8.50-8.80, bulk sows $7.75-7.85.

Cattle supplies were fairly heavy at the week's opening, including around sixty cars of Canadian cattle and about thirty-five loads from Washington, Montana and the Dakotas. Cattle trade carried a weak to lower undertone, sales including short-fed and warmed-up steers and yearlings at $6.50-8.50, some up to $9.00, common grades down to $5.00. Warmed-up and short-fed heifers brought $5.75-7.25 or more, plainer kinds down to $4.75, bulk beef cows $4.75-5.75, strictly good grain-feds up to $6.50. Cutter grades cashed at $3.75-4.50. Sausage bulls bulked at $5.25-6.00. Good to choice 140-190 lb. vealers made $9.00-10.00, good lighter-weights down to $8.00, lower grades $5.50-7.50. Medium to good stocker yearlings and calves brought $5.50-7.25, choice western white-faced steer calves up to $8.00.

Fat lamb trade worked out weak to 25c lower, bulk of the desirable slaughter lambs selling at $10.75, one load to shippers $10.85, some still unsold late. Common and medium grades sold at $8.00-9.50 or better. Fat ewes were weak to 25c lower, sales including eleven loads of fed western ewes at $5.00, natives selling on down to around $4.50 and below, plain kinds down to $3.00 and less. One double of 75 lb. short-fed lambs sold to feeders at $10.25, odd lots of natives $9.75 down.

Crossbred Pig System Takes Purebred Boars

Farmers must use good purebred boars to succeed with the new system of cross-breeding swine advocated by the Minnesota agricultural experiment station in Bulletin 320. This precaution is emphasized by the authors of the bulletin, who include Dr. L. M. Winters, O. M. Kiser, P. S. Jordan, and W. H. Peters.

"The new plan", they report, "has attracted widespread attention since it was announced last fall. Requests for the bulletin and favorable comments from farmers have been unusually numerous. However the authors wish to re-emphasize the precaution that good purebred sires must be used if farmers hope to reap the benefit that can be obtained from crossbreeding. It is just as necessary to use good plan of crossbreeding as in any other scheme of livestock breeding."

The crisscross system for breeding market hogs is based upon 6 years of experiments carried on by Dr. Winters and his associates. Owing to hybrid vigor, crossbred pigs are thriftier and make faster more economical gains than purebreds, and crossbred sows are superior mothers, giving their pigs a better start in life than do purebred mothers.

Farmers wanting to know the details of the system and to study the results of the experiments should obtain copies of Minnesota Bulletin 320, "A Six Years' Study of Crossbreeding Swine." County agents, high school agriculture teachers, or the Bulletin Office, University Farm, St. Paul, will provide copies free on request.

T. R. FALLS HOCKEY TEAM WINS 3 TO 1 OVER CROOKSTON

Locals Open 1936 Season In Promising Manner Last Sunday

The Thief River Falls hockey team last Sunday defeated Crookston in the latter city by a 3 to 1 score to open the 1936 hockey season in a manner which looked very promising. The locals got off to a flying start when after one minute of the first period Ole Gillette scored on a perfect pass from Gulrud while a few minutes later in a wild scramble in front of the Crookston goal, the puck hit the skate of one of the Crookston players and glanced into the goal. Ray Parbst then scored the final goal with two minutes left of the first period to end the local scoring. Crookston scored their lone goal on a glancing shot from the blue line after five minutes of the last period.

Due to a minimum amount of practice the locals had not yet reached their best form but showed themselves to be a mighty dangerous team to meet. The outstanding play of Higgenbothem in the goal and the play of Lindberg, Lund, and Gulrud at defense was responsible for holding Crookston to their lone point. The local forward lines were distinctly handicapped in not being able to skate at top form due to the very slow condition of the ice but under more favorable conditions it is certain that Thief River has two of the fastest sets in this section of the country and they will hold their own against the strongest kind of competition.

The management of the Hockey Team is arranging for a series of games with Roseau, Crookston, Grand Forks, Hallock and East Grand Forks, together with a number of teams with which later games will be arranged, and it hopes that the fans will take an active interest in the team and help make the season a success.

District Music Contest to be Held at Crookston

April 25 was set as the date for the annual district high school music contest which will be held in Crookston, when members of the district music committee, composed of Superintendents Arnold Gloor of Crookston, Morris Bye of Thief River Falls and E. A. Hanson of Alvarado, met with Mr. Gloor in Crookston. The committee selected as judges for the music contest Hywel G. Rowland and John Howard, members of the music department staff at the University of North Dakota. Mr. Rowland will judge the vocal music and Mr. Howard the instrumental competition.

Civic-Group Members to Enjoy Free Dinner in Club Rooms Tonight

At an evening meeting of the Civic and Commerce association in the club rooms at 6:30 tonight, members of the organization will enjoy a free dinner at the expense of the association treasury, it was announced today by Secretary Paul Lundgren. An interesting address by Lieutenant James Babb of the CCC camp in eastern Marshall county will be a feature of the evening, while other brief talks will be supplied by Supt. Morris Bye and District Judge M. A. Brattland. Secretary Lundgren will submit his annual report at the meeting.

PROCESSING TAX OFFSETS $50,000 AAA CASH LOCALLY

Payments Still Due in County Held up by Court Decision

Following the action of the United States supreme court in nullifying the agricultural adjustment administration's program including wheat and corn-hog production control, unpaid benefit allotments to farmers of this and other sections of the nation will be suspended temporarily at least.

During the past two years that the program has been in effect the distribution to 250 Pennington county beneficiaries of the program aggregates approximately $50,000, according to figures compiled in the office of County Agent R. M. Douglass.

That this figure, however, does not represent a net gain is shown when it is considered that every resident of the county who purchased pork or wheat products as well as cotton, sugar and rice, during the time the AAA program was in effect has paid in processing taxes an amount probably considerably larger, altho no figures are available.

One prominent farmer in the county who raises neither hogs nor wheat for market computed this week that he had paid out more than $15 during 1935 in processing taxes on flour consumed by his family.

SHE LOST HER CAR

Trying in vain to find a parking place in the Minneapolis business district, a LeSueur young lady welcomed the offer of a stranger who stepped up. He said he'd park the car for her. She assisted. The man got in, drove around the corner, and the young Miss is still waiting to hear where he parked it.

SENATE TUESDAY PASSES OLD-AGE PENSION MEASURE

Less Liberal Bill Anticipated from Lower House of Legislature

Restoring the controversial lien provision, the state senate Tuesday passed a bill to pay beginning May 1 $30 monthly old age pensions to needy 65 year old residents, with the state and counties to each pay one-fourth of the costs and with county boards administering the law under supervision of the state board of control.

The measure, approved by a final roll call of 58 to 6 with four liberals and two conservatives dissenting, now goes to the house which earlier in the day returned its bill to committee with instructions to make it less liberal.

One point of issue generally expected to complicate ultimate agreement between senate and house is the matter of financing. The federal government pays one-half, but the house bill would have counties pledged to contribute one-eighth and the state three-eighths, instead of the state and counties sharing equally in the costs as provided in the senate measure.

As passed by the senate, the bill carried a $1,625,000 allowance which, according to estimates, will cover the state's share of the costs. The bill has been amended to authorize counties to issue excess warrants to cover their share of the costs.

The lien clause was put back into the measure Wednesday by motion of Senator O. J. Finstad, Windom conservative, who argued that some such provision should be made to hold down ultimate costs. The vote was 34 to 30, with party lines yielding in both directions.

Landy Reports Progress in Bank Building Sale

J. F. Landy of the state banking department, who has returned to this city to carry out the plan for turning the Citizens State Bank block over to a group of depositors, reported today that the success of the project is apparently assured, and invited depositors who are interested in the plan to call at his office in the bank building. He stated that he had received several inquiries from out-of-town prospective tenants of the postoffice quarters, as well as inquiries from prospective purchasers of the building.

only agency of government that must be assumed to have the capacity to govern."

Holding that "Justice Story's theory" of this power "is the correct one," Roberts added that "he makes it clear that the powers of taxation and appropriation extend only to matters of national, as distinguished from local welfare."

The court's blow was the second to a major cornerstone of the new deal. Last spring it unanimously overthrew NRA codes, through which the government tried to regulate industry.

Justice Roberts' opinion denied that the court "assumed a power to overrule or control the action of the people's representatives," saying that its "delicate and difficult office" was merely to ascertain whether legislation is in accordance with the constitution.

Justice Stone, however, declared that "the present act is held invalid, not for any want of power in congress to lay such a tax to defray public expenditures but because the use to which its proceeds are put in disapproved." Stone added:

"The removal of unwise laws from the statute books appeal lies not to the courts but to the ballot and to the processes of democratic government."

Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, said Tuesday.

"For the benefit of those still owed money by the government on contracts entered into before the Supreme Court decision, the majority leaders of congress have given assurance they will do everything in their power to speed enactment of special appropriations to enable the government to make good on these contracts. Meanwhile we are studying every possible avenue of approach to a sound, satisfactory farm program."

Here are the highlights of the supreme court's majority opinion Monday invalidating the AAA.

"Congress has no power to enforce its commands on the farmer to the ends sought by the agricultural adjustment act.

"It must follow that it may not by taxing and spending to purchase compliance.

"The constitution and the entire plan of our government negative any such use of the power to tax and to spend as the act undertakes to authorize."

"The act invades the reserved rights of the states.

"It is a statutory plan to regulate and control agricultural production, a matter beyond the powers delegated to the federal government."

"If the act before us is a proper exercise of the federal taxing power, evidently the regulation of all industry throughout the United States may be accomplished by similar exercises of the same power."

PRES. ROOSEVELT SEES '37 DEFICIT FOR WORK RELIEF

Budget Otherwise Will be Balanced for Coming Fiscal Year

President Roosevelt Monday submitted to congress a balanced budget for regular federal expenditures in the 1937 fiscal year but forecast a work relief deficit of $1,000,000,000 to $3,000,000,000 for that period.

Mr. Roosevelt withheld from congress estimates of the size of the work relief appropriation to be sought this spring. He said, only, that the appropriation would be "far less" than the $4,88,000,000 which congress grudgingly voted last year.

The message forecast the second largest annual revenue in American history for the next fiscal year—$5,654,000,000. Mr. Roosevelt said that income would give him a $5,000,000 surplus of receipts over regular expenditures in the 1937 fiscal year—still excluding the prospective relief appropriation which will be determined and revealed in March or later.

This budget showed that seven depression years will more than double the national debt —from $15,000,000,000 in 1930 to $31,000,000,000 in 1937. Mr. Roosevelt promised only that the 1937 deficit would be smaller than the $3,234,000,000 estimated for 1936.

He asked for $1,000,000,000 for national defense. This draft on the treasury for men and guns gave emphasis to his January 3 warning that the threat of war is upon the world.

Without mentioning the bonus, Mr. Roosevelt reiterated to congress that it must impose new taxes to meet cash payment or any other burden imposed on the treasury beyond budget items.

Thrift, meaning to spend less than you earn, a word in common usage in America up to March 4, 1933.—Buffalo Courier-Express.

Bowling League Play Resumed Monday Night

Following the holiday recess bowling was resumed in the local league Monday evening with the Bratrud Clinics winning two out of three from the Grain Belts, high scores being turned in by Wallace DuChamp, 225, and Emil Dostal, 206. The Times team Tuesday night made it three straight from the Land O'Lakes, A. W. Mickelson, 178, and Douglas Booren, 178, making the best scores.

Thirty Liquor Dealers Are Fined at Moorhead

Thirty Clay county liquor dealers pleaded guilty to illegal liquor sale charges Friday in Moorhead and paid fines totaling $2,840. Judge Anton Thompson, Fergus Falls, levied fines ranging from $50 to $100 and costs to each of the dealers who changed previous pleas of not guilty. The dealers changed their pleas after Judge Thompson ruled that mandatory jail terms did not apply in Clay county because no county option election had been held since enactment of the liquor control laws.

VARIED LIVESTOCK PROGRAM PLANNED AT WINTER SHOWS

Peter Engelstad to Share in Master Breeders' Banquet

As a reflection of improved conditions, livestock breeders of the Red River Valley are arranging an extensive series of meetings and contests during Winter Shows Week, February 3 to 7. Activities will open Monday, February 3, with separate judging contests for Schools of Agriculture from Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Canada; agricultural high schools, and farmers' clubs from the majority of Red River Valley counties, and 4-H club teams from Northwestern Minnesota. Silver trophies and other prizes will be presented to winning teams and individuals at a special banquet which will be held during the evening.

The following day will be devoted to the judging of open classes and 4-H club entries. O. M. Kiser, secretary of the Red River Valley Livestock Breeders' association, and H. A. Pflughoeft, district club leader, report heavy entries in both divisions.

Silver loving cups will be presented to winners of herd and flock championships Wednesday morning. At noon the 27 master livestock breeders of the Red River Valley, as selected by their fellow breeders one year ago, will hold their first annual banquet. This is expected to be one of the most important features of the week. L. Jensen, Clearbrook, is president of the newly formed organization, with C. J. Lofgren, Ada, vice president, and Peter Engelstad, Thief River Falls, secretary-treasurer.

During the afternoon, a special livestock program will be held with Professor W. H. Peters discussing "Recent Investigations in Cross Breeding of Swine"; Dr. A. H. Hansen, "Reciprocal Trade Treaties" with emphasis on the effects of the recent Canadian treaty on the livestock interests of the Northwest, and Skuli Rutford, director of the Minnesota Rural Rehabilitation Division, who will explain the work that is being done in Minnesota in rehabilitating farm families.

Over fifty animals have been consigned to the Livestock Breeders' Association sale which will be held in the livestock buildings Thursday, February 6. This is the first sale to be held since the depression.

Prospective livestock exhibitors should write to John Saugstad, business manager, Crookston, or to the Northwest School for copies of the premium list.

PECK BACK AT U. FARM TO DIRECT EXTENSION

After nearly three years spent with the Farm Credit Administration at Washington, F. W. Peck returned to University Farm, St. Paul, January 1, to resume his duties as director of the Minnesota agricultural extension service. In April, 1933, Director Peck was granted a leave by the University to accept the post of cooperative bank commissioner, heading one of the four main divisions of the FCA, then just being established.

Home Owners Loan Group to Cease Lending Soon

Officials in Washington reported that the home owners loan corporation was winding up its lending activities in five states and expects to complete operations in most of the others by April 1. Only 67,000 or three per cent of the 1,800,000 loan applications filed with the corporation remain to be acted upon. A total of 765,719 loans aggregating $2,821,682,367 have been granted. Under the law, the corporation must complete all lending by June 13, but a preliminary forecast showed operations would be ended in most states well in advance of that date. The estimated deadlines include: April 1—Minnesota and North Dakota.

ELSBERG AWARDS 2 JOBS ON 59 IN KITTSON COUNTY

Warren Contractor to Grade 8.3 Miles Lancaster to Orleans

State highway construction contract awards aggregating $883,133 were announced today by N. W. Elsberg, highway commissioner. Thirty-two contracts in 25 counties were awarded. News and Comment

By R. W. Hitchcock

Every good citizen of Minnesota deplores the illness that has overtaken the Chief Executive of the state, extends to him sincere sympathy and earnestly hopes that he may soon be restored completely to health and strength. Governor Floyd B. Olson has won a distinguished place in politics and has maintained it with rare ability. Even his most bitter political adversaries would not wish that his lance be lowered by the blighting hand of disease. Friend and foe alike sincerely hope that he may soon be able, with health and vigor, completely to reassume the duties and responsibilities of his high office and be fit to do battle for that which he deems right and just.

"Politically unforgivable" is the appointment of Elmer A. Benson to be United States senator, the Minnesota Leader, official organ of the farmer-labor party, declares. Not that the Leader meant to admit it; it digged the pit for the republicans and then fell in it.

Discussing the appointment of Mr. Benson to fill out the unexpired term of Senator Schall, the Leader explained, top column, page 2, issue of December 28th, that Lieutenant Governor Peterson could not be appointed to the place, because he would then be succeeded in the office of lieutenant governor by Senator William B. Richardson, of Rochester, president pro tem of the state Senate. "Leaders of the (farmer-labor) party," the Leader declared, "felt that to deliberately permit a republican to ascend to the office of lieutenant governor after the people had elected a farmer-laborite to that office, would be politically unforgivable."

So absorbed was the Leader in laying down the principle, convenient for its use at the moment, that to elevate deliberately to high office a partisan of a political faith rejected by the people for that office is "politically unforgivable"—so absorbed was the Leader in this, that it completely forgot that its criticism applied exactly to the action of Governor Olson in naming a farmer-laborite "to ascend" to the office to which the people had elected a republican.

The farmer-labor party in Minnesota thus finds itself in the position of a certain famous sinner who was condemned out of his own mouth.

Back it up into a corner and the Teachers Guild, a radical organization embracing a very small proportion of Minnesota's twenty-two thousand school teachers, will admit that the teacher's tenure law was enacted by what it delights to call a "reactionary legislature". Parenthetically, all other progressive legislation in Minnesota, of which the state has far more than most states of the Union, was also enacted by "reactionary" legislatures, a fact which the Teachers Guild, like all other radical organizations in the state, ignores and conceals as much as possible.

The Teachers Guild is particularly zealous in promoting and extending the teacher's tenure act. The tenure act is a civil service law designed to protect public school teachers in their employment and as such is a highly commendable piece of legislation. The zeal of the Guild in promoting the act also seems commendable, but of late some have begun to wonder how much of its enthusiasm for the teacher's tenure act is due to the fact that quite a number of its members are said to be "double-barreled" boys and girls.

This term, "double-barreled", was employed as a term of reproach by an insurging party in the early days of its militancy in Minnesota and was applied to those persons who were feeding at the public trough and who also had a spouse feeding there. Four feet in the public trough, they insisted, was too many for any office holder. It is rumored that a good many public school teachers, who may or may not be members of the Teachers Guild, are of this "double-barreled" variety. Mention is made in particular of one principal of a public school who is drawing down $4,800 per year while his wife also enjoys a teacher's position in the same system at a stipend of $2,600 per year.

Conspicuous—very conspicuous in fact—among those who have achieved "double-barreled" success in the educational field is Dr. John Gunderson Rockwell, commissioner of education for Minnesota. There does not seem to be much question about the fact that Dr. Rockwell draws a salary of $5,000, less a temporary reduction of 10 per cent, from the State of Minnesota, or that Mrs. Rockwell is now, and has for several years been, a supervisor of case work for the Ramsey Co. Child Welfare Board at a salary of $2,000 per year. It is not the purpose here to rail against Dr. and Mrs. Rockwell for their success in wrangling two fat salaries from the taxpayers of the state, but simply to note that the political movement of which they are proteges and active supporters has long held that practice up to public scorn and contumely.

Statisticians tell us:

"The total federal, state and local governmental expenditures in the United States for the five years 1929 to 1933 inclusive, amounted to 10 billion dollars more than the total net income of all corporations and the total net income of all individuals with net incomes of $5,000 or more during that period."

These two classes represent what is popularly supposed to be the wealth of the country and it is from them that the money must come when we set out to "soak the rich." The fact that the total net income of these classes—the so-called rich—was 10 billion less than all governmental expenditures during the five year period named, ought to demonstrate to everyone who has anything to think with and uses it, the folly of doing much in the way of "soaking the rich."

No matter who is "soaked" to begin with, it is the ultimate consumer who in the end pays the tax, and we have the word of distinguished radicals, not only in Minnesota, but everywhere, that the ultimate consumer is the poor man. "Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors," said Franklin D. Roosevelt when he was a candidate for the high office he now holds, and neither time, tide nor the politics of men can change the immutable truth of that statement.

There is one remorselessly certain result of attempting to "soak the rich" by piling taxes upon industry, and we do not have to go outside of Minnesota, or beyond the confines of the twin cities to see it, and that is the throwing of men out of work, increasing unemployment and all the distress and misery which flows from it.

Russia has finally decided to pay workers according to their ability. Fortunately for many of us, we are not Russians.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

TURKEYS LAY EGGS IN DISPLAY WINDOW

Isle—A couple of live turkey hens used as a window display in an Isle business house have amazed turkey growers in the Mille Lacs district by laying eggs in December. It is the first time that such an occurrence has been reported in those parts. The birds occupied a south window and were warm and comfortable until Christmas. Maybe they thought summer was here and it was time to start raising a family.

Lunch was served at midnight.—Jacob and Leo Pahlen of Red Lake Falls and Mr. and Mrs. James Ford were dinner guests at the J. W. Pahlen home New Year's Day.—Miss Agnes Sherry of Red Lake Falls spent Monday with her brother and sister, Elenor and Bernard Sherry.—Miss Edna Alexander of Thief River Falls was a Plummer visitor Friday evening.

Don't forget the Goodridge game with Plummer Friday night. Goodridge lost by only a few points to the fast Alvarado Five and so a very good game is expected.—When Mr. Ripple counted noses Monday morning he found that all teachers had returned none the worse for a strenuous two week's vacation. So the regular schedule was observed and school got under way with a fine start in the new year.—All the teachers apparently were glad to get back to work and had anticipated doing so, for each one assumed his regular duties and carried on as usual.—From comments heard all teachers had an enjoyable vacation. All were able to spend some of their holidays at home or with relatives. They renewed old acquaintanceship and made new ones.

Mr. and Mrs. Grimsrud drove to Dakota for the holidays.—Miss Swenseid was the only one unable to go home. She visited in Grand Forks with her brother.—Miss McElligott, Mr. Ohnstad, Mr. Adrian, Miss Koed, Miss Saki, and Miss Stenerson were at home over the holidays.—The first meeting for organization of an Agricultural Evening School will take place at 8:00 at the Plummer High School, January 9. It has been suggested to study Poultry as there is much interest in poultry raising in this community. However, if there is any interest in other lines of study we would like to have this made known and the subjects taught will be based upon the demands of those who attend.—We hope that all interested will attend the first meeting and make their wants known so that more definite plans can be made. These meetings will be open to both men and women.—A part time school is being planned for men of sixteen to twenty-five years of age. This is for those who care for some vocational work, and classes will be arranged for a time that will make it possible for the most to take part.

PUBLIC OPINION

Expressions of opinion on timely subjects are invited and welcomed to this department of The Times. Letters should be of reasonable length, and the name should be signed, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Letters duplicated to other local newspapers are not desired.

Editor The Times:

The enclosed letter to the editor of the Thief River Falls Forum was submitted to the said editor on Tuesday, Dec. 31, 1935, with a request that it be published in the Forum so that I might have an opportunity to reply to some of the editorial criticisms against me in that paper. However, the letter was not printed in the Thief River Falls Forum of last week, and no explanation has been offered to me as to why it was refused.

If you will permit me the necessary space in your public opinion columns, I will appreciate it very much, since the contents of the article should be given to the public.

Very sincerely yours,
Senator E. L. Tungseth

Thief River Falls Forum
Thief River Falls, Minnesota
Dear Editor:

I have waited for some time before replying to your editorial of a few weeks ago. This editorial entitled, "The Power of Suggestion" attempted to discover unfriendly criticism of the governor of our state, in an article which I wrote from the State Senate, and which article made reference to the governor's address to the Special Session. Not being able to find any such unfriendly criticism you proceed to make interpretations and construe them as unfriendly to the governor. The purpose which can be nothing else than to proclaim me a public enemy of the governor. You evidently labor under the illusion that anyone who may differ with you is your enemy, and any one that differs with his excellency the governor, is his enemy.

In this respect I wish to be clearly understood by all our people. Both the opponents and the supporters of our governor are entitled to know what my attitude toward the governor is. The attitude which I have taken, and which I will continue to take not only toward our governor, but toward any other public official, is that of commending what I consider to be good and condemning what I consider not to be good. Whether it be praise or blame, it may be that my opinion is wrong. It may be that my knowledge of all the circumstances involved is incomplete, causing my judgement to be immature and hasty. Nevertheless, I must be permitted to have an opinion of my own. I do not believe that our governor desires blind obedience. The American principle of Freedom of Speech which he so consistently advocates, certainly does not conscript opinion. On the basis of that principle he can not possibly desire to regiment the minds of men into any one channel. It seems to me that you are doing the honorable governor a gross injustice by indicating or suggesting that any one who at times may differ with him is his enemy. You owe the governor an apology for trying to make him so small.

I believe that any criticism which is open and above board is a far better brand of friendship then any and all systems of yesism. Those who just say, "yes, yes, yes," to anything and everything are the politicians whose backbones (if they ever had any) have been converted into wishbones. They are mere patronage seekers and consumers of political pie. Their sole desire is to feather their own nest while feathering is good. I can not believe that that is the kind of friends our governor is anxious about. No one will find them lasting. Neither are they much good while they last. I can not be registered as a "yes man", either to his honor the governor, nor to any one else. I must be permitted to think for myself. Governor Floyd B. Olson is a man of great intellect and ability, and because of that, he would be the last man to think that he possesses all the grain matter in Minnesota. Even editors have some brains,—or how?

Ordinarily those who like yourself, offer frivolous criticisms, fall into the pit of their own digging. You certainly offered a most dirty suggestion the other week when you interpreted a pending bill in the legislature which seeks an appropriation of $50,000.00 to investigate crime conditions in Minnesota and clean the state of criminal gangsters, as a dig against the governor. Unavoidably you left the impression that the governor is opposed to such an investigation, and that such an investigation might injure the governor. May I suggest that you immediately correct the wrong you have done the governor. We have no reason to believe that such an investigation will hurt the governor, or that he fears such an investigation. Because party politics is much overdone in Minnesota, there is the almost impossible problem of keeping party politics out of such an investigation. Somebody, however, will have to do the criminal housecleaning in Minnesota very soon. Any one guilty of protecting criminals should be sentenced just as stiffly as the criminal. As far as I am concerned, let the chips fall where they may.

The people of Thief River Falls have also recently taken exception to the honorable governor of our state. They showed very definitely that they did not approve of his last appointment of city Municipal judge as in the last election they rejected the governor's appointee by giving him only 312 votes out of a total of 1921. This was their privilege as Americans and as citizens of Thief River Falls. That does not mean that our citizens disapprove of all the acts of the governor. It does mean that they think and act for themselves. No one would be foolish enough to brand the people of Thief River Falls enemies of the governor because of that.

When I at times see things differently then our governor, I have no apology to offer. If and when I become convinced that I am in the wrong, I shall admit the mistake. I mention in the former article referred to, that I do not agree with the governor when he suggested that all tax revenues from "Money or Credit" should go to the state. Now the state only receives one sixth of such revenues, the counties receiving the rest. Pennington's last revenue from this source was $1,224.00. This is not much, but every thing helps in these times. I believe that the governor was right when he suggested increased taxation on such capital, such an increase, if left for the counties, would help to finance the respective counties share in the cost of pensions. Of course I do not believe that the counties should carry much of this load directly. The counties should supervise administration and feel the responsibility of such administration. If the counties direct load were not over 12½% then revenues from "Money or Credit" taxation, if increased and if retained by the counties, would help much in financing the cost of pension as far as the counties are concerned.

I also disagree with the governor when he advocates paying pensions without a fixed maximum. I am afraid that such a plan will result in unfair tactics. Politicians will favor "friends" and disfavor "enemies". Some will get too much and others too little, depending on what political "pull" they may have. I believe that pensions should be paid, (at least as much as as our state constitution will allow), on a straight maximum basis. The same for all, except only where wealth and income makes pension unnecessary. When pensioners must constantly fear reductions in the pension amount, or when they find that others get more, then pension morals will be disgraced. Let the pension amount be fixed. Let there be no petty quarrels about the amount. Let pension ever be considered and maintained as an honorable retirement support. Let it be kept sacred from political meddling. No doubt this is also what the governor wants. No doubt he thinks to accomplish it by the method he suggested. I do not believe that his method is the best one. I believe that if he had the time to get out of St. Paul and talk some of these matters over with the rank and file of our citizenry, he would have found better methods to advocate.

Sincerely Yours,
E. L. Tungseth.

Editor Times:

It is unthinkable in terms of Americanism that the world's first and foremost citizen, Charles A. Lindbergh, with his adorable wife, Anne and their innocent little three year old son, Jon, must flee their native land, the United States of America, to a foreign land, like a murderer in the night to escape increasing kidnaping threats, violence and abuse.

This is a disgrace beyond words to describe and conditions brot about by cowardice of Americans who represent our public life from justice of the peace to some of the highest officials in the land, because of carlessness, moral courage and love of God in their hearts, brot about by booze, rotten policians and cowards in public office and others in league with the riff-raff, murders, gangsters and racketeers of every description.

American citizens must awake to the responsibilities which rest in their hands, the ballot box, the power of free government, or its destruction if our individual prerogatives and good judgement are neglected. In view of the many important duties which rest upon us because of these God given powers to govern our own destinies, it behooves us to beware of flannel mounted political demagogues and opportunists who are taking undue advantage of the economic conditions of our land to press their undemocratic unprincipled and bureaucratic policies upon us to further personal ambitions regardless of effects it will leave upon our state and nation.

It is time that voters in Minnesota as well as the voters in the nation begin to think seriously of the duties before them when they mark their next ballot.

Minneapolis furnished the cue as to what will happen in a city or state when public officials begin to hobnob with crooks, murderers and racketeers. Let the voters in Minneapolis, Minnesota and the nation prove to such characters and their political allies that we no longer tolerate such political microbes to bore into the living heart of their city, our state and nation.

The blood of Rev. Birkeland, Mr. Guileford and Walter W. Liggett call for retribution by the citizens of that fair city, and the sooner they redeem themselves, the greater will be the honor and credit reaped by this progressive community to all concerned. The eyes of the country as a whole are upon you Minneapolis! What will you do?

The shame and disgrace of the law enforcement division of the United States stare us starkly in the face with shadows of scorn cast upon us by Europe for our admission of lack of power or initiative to enforce the laws of the land against forces of lawlessness, brot home to us by the fleeing of the Lindbergh's from their homeland to a foreign land for rest, peace and safety.

As a nation let us resolve on this new year to revenge this disgrace, by resolving that no longer will we support men regardless of political color of public office who seek and encourage public support and votes from these elements of destruction to society.

Let the battle cry be remember the "Lindberghs"!

Albert Anderson,
Clearbrook, Minn.

PUTS NAPTHA IN RADIATOR OF AUTOMOBILE BY MISTAKE

Fairmont.—B. E. Borgen did not know until he arrived in Fairmont from Emmons, Minn where he had attended the funeral of a relative, how near he and his family came to death on their trip home. They had stopped at a garage to have the radiator filled with alcohol. The garage attendant, by mistake, put naptha, a highly explosive concoction which would have blown car, family and all to kingdom come had a spark ignited.

HELLO, OLD MAN!

You're not old, of course — it's just an affectionate term used by your good friends and you like to hear them say it.

We, too, are flattered when people refer to the old West Hotel. A famous landmark for half a century, now completely refurnished and redecorated — in fact, as modern as any hotel in Minneapolis. Comfort, convenience, hospitality and the best of service await you at The West Hotel. Popular prices for both Rooms and Meals. Write for descriptive folder and map.

Indian Children's Toys

Since at this time of year children's toys still are much in evidence and adults are stumbling over them, playing with or trying to repair them, a study of toys from a historical standpoint should be pertinent. We do not believe that many persons realize that Indian children had toys in the early years just as white children had. In fact, it seems probable that in some instances Indian girls and boys had better and more toys than the white children who were their contemporaries.

Imagine Indian boys having sleds and coasting down hill just like white boys! We mean the Indian boys who lived in lodges when the tribes still were in their native state, unaffected to any material extent by contacts with the white man. Even then when the Indians were sufficient unto themselves the children of the Chippewa, Sioux and other tribes of this region had toys.

Sleds were made from the ribs of large animals, those of the buffalo being preferred. The long curved ribs provided the desired upward dip and several ribs were fastened together at the front end by being attached to a long, straight piece of bone or wood with rawhide thongs. Some of these sleds may be seen in museums. If the writer is not mistaken there is one in the state historical society museum.

Then naturally the Indian boys had toy bows and arrows. The arrows were made of joints of coarse grass, usually bluestem or bluejoint, such as may be found almost anywhere in summer. Arrows preserved show that a part of the blade of grass was broken off to leave a place for the plume of the arrow. The boys played at being grown up, as some of the grizzled fullbloods today smilingly recall. They were too young to go on the warpath or win honors as hunters, so they became make-believe warriors and hunters and emulated their elders as closely as possible, especially in the style of their weapons. How many of us have done the same thing and also borrowed unknowingly from the Indian boys' ideas and "played Indian."

But of all toys for an Indian boy a top seems to the writer most inconsistent with the average white person's conception of Indian life and customs; yet the Indian boys had them. Ingenuity was evident in the making of these tops from the tips of the horns of animals. They were kept spinning by means of a whip made with a handle 18 to 24 inches long and two things about eight inches long. Boys were said to have been able to keep these tops spinning a half hour or more.

Another toy popular with Indian children was a buzzer. This was made by attaching a bone to a sinew cord as white boys fashion buzzers with a button and string. A stick is fastened to each end to serve as a handle. On one of these Indian buzzers preserved in the North Dakota Historical society museum are decorations of porcupine quills evidently made by a fond mother for her darling boy, so the description says.

We have but little information at hand concerning the dolls with which Indian girls played but we know there were a great many different kinds among the tribes, made of wood or of tanned skins stuffed with grass, fur or buffalo hair or made of other materials. But we have an interesting description of the toy tipies which delighted the little Indian girls. In accordance with what might be termed a human propensity these little girls also emulated their elders. Their little tipis were made from leaves, usually those of the cottonwood tree.

In examples extant the leaf was torn a little way down the midrib and then across the edges a little so that it might be turned back for the smoke-flaps—just like those on real tipis—the edges then being brought around and pinned with a splinter or thorn. These tipis were placed in a circle by the little girls in their play like the tribal circles of their elders. Incidentally, emigrant trains and troops traveling over the plains camped in this circular fashion as a means of protection, having adopted the plan undoubtedly from the Indian practice.

It appears that the Indian children made many of their own toys, the older ones helping the younger. But parents also had a part in their making. It is significant that the toys were made from available material, and their appropriateness and their similarity to the playthings of white children are striking features.

It is probable that when traders began exchanging cheap, bright-colored trinkets for valuable furs proffered by the Indians some of these trinkets were desired as playthings for red-skinned children. It is likely, too, that as the years passed the toys of the young Indians became more like those of the whites. Today reservation Indians of the northwest play with manufactured toys, usually second-hand.

Cough Costs Girl Chance of Promotion

"I finally had a chance to take dictation from our office manager and hoped to impress him favorably. But in the middle of an important letter I was overcome by a sudden coughing spell and had to stop. A week later the next promotion was given to another girl. Now I guard against coughing by using Thoxine at the first sign of throat irritation." Thoxine is the favorite relief from ordinary coughs and sore throat. Its new expectorant quickly helps to force out infected, irritating phlegm while raw throat tissues are soothed. Insist on Thoxine—only 35c. J. & B. Drug Store.

SCHOOL BOARD WILL CUT DEBT $22,000 FEB. 1ST

Total of $32,000 Maturing Six Per Cent Bonds to be Retired

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT WINS HIGH PRAISE

Skarstad and Woolhouse to Attend Convention of Board Members

The board of education of the local school district at its January session Monday evening approved for payment a total of $32,000 in six per cent bonds maturing February 1. The payment will be made from a balance of $21,216.96 in the bond and interest fund, which, together with $2,325 from the 1934 income tax and $10,000 from three per cent refunding bonds issued to the state of Minnesota, will give a total of $33,541.96 available for the purpose. The net reduction in debt will be $22,000, leaving the district with a bonded indebtedness of $118,000.

B. O. Norby, member of the board, who on a recent trip to St. Paul interviewed Senator E. L. Tungseth and representatives from this district, informed the board that no school legislation was expected to materialize at the current session of the legislature.

Supt. Morris Bye stated that H. T. Widdowson, state supervisor of trade and industrial education, who recently inspected the local industrial training department, had expressed himself very favorably concerning the local school's department, its equipment, courses and the personnel in charge, including C. W. Pope and J. Arthur Johnson.

A. Skarstad and R. W. Woolhouse were named delegates from the board to the annual convention of the Minnesota State School Board association, which will be held at the Nicollet hotel in Minneapolis February 3, 4 and 5.

Mr. Bye announced that basketball games to be played in the city during the remainder of the month include contests with Bemidji Friday evening; Greenbush Tuesday, with a game the same evening between the Prowler B team and Newfolden; and East Grand Forks Friday, January 24.

OLD-AGE PENSION BILL TAKES FORM IN LEGISLATURE

Bills Passed by Both Houses, Now to Go to Conference

Subjected to persistent attacks from the liberal minority, the old age pension bill finally passed the house Tuesday with its major provisions intact as the legislature approached the end of the special session.

The pension measure passed without a dissenting vote, leaving before the legislature several following problems to solve prior to adjournment, which the house sought unsuccessfully to set for Friday noon.

Two important chnages were made in the bill, however, prior to passage. Both were offered by Rep. R. G. Johnson, Forest Lake, a chairman of the public welfare committee, which introduced the bill.

One made the act effective Feb. 1, 1936, and the other provided for a $3,000,000 appropriation to carry out the bill.

Three major differences mark the house bill from the senate version. The house provides for county contributions of 12½ per cent against a 25 per cent contribution stipulated by the senate; a $4,500 property maximum under the house bill contrasts with $5,000 by the senate, and a children's responsibility clause in the senate measure compares with none in the house file.

Problems still not settled in one house or the other included old age pensions, tax legislation, relief and blind pensions.

WILLARD YONKE

Fifteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Yonke of St. Hilaire, who was recently announced as the winner of the state 4-H ton-litter contest sponsored by the agricultural extension division of the University of Minnesota. The object of the event is to produce the maximum number of pounds of pork from the offspring of one sow in 180 days. Willard raised a litter of thirteen pigs weighing 3,125 pounds at the end of the 180-day period. Last week at University Farm, St. Paul, he was presented with a medal by the Minnesota Livestock Breeders association.

Style Show Again to be Feature This Year; Committee Heads Named

At a meeting of Legion committee heads summoned early this week by General Chairman Ward W. Long, preliminary arrangements were made for the ninth annual automobile show and spring exposition to be staged at the Auditorium March 19, 20 and 21 under the auspices of the local Legion post.

The style show feature which was omitted from last year's exposition will be repeated this year the first night of the show, it was announced, with an elaborate vaudeville program planned for the last two nights, and with each of the three evenings concluding with dancing. A feature of the closing night will be the award of an automobile.

The following committee chairmen were announced by Mr. Long to handle the various details of the event: George W. Werstlein, general admissions; Alex Cloutier, automobile display; Palmer Tommerdahl, industrial exhibits; A. B. Stenberg, dance; O. C. Paulson, automobile ticket sales; Mr. Long, advertising; O. C. Paulson, entertainment and music; and S. P. Orwoll, style show.

BOARD SETS ASIDE FUNDS TO KEEP UP PENNINGTON ROADS

Commissioners Wind up January Session Last Thursday

The county board before adjourning its January meeting on Thursday of last week approved allotments for maintenance of state and county aid roads. The sum of $11,500 was set aside for maintenance of state aid roads compared to $10,311.87 in 1935, while $12,547.50 was set aside for county aid roads, the figure for 1935 being $9,739.62.

Action was taken to approve a contract signed by the state highway department with Oscar Schenkey for the graveling of County Aid Road 11 in Bray township. Approval was given on condition that the project be instituted at once in order to create employment during the winter months.

A resolution was submitted to state WPA headquarters requesting an early start on the Smiley bridge project. Another resolution requested an additional allotment of $10,000 by the state highway department from gasoline tax funds for graveling county aid roads.

LOCAL CREAMERY CHURNS 481,807 LB. BUTTER IN '35

Board Retires $1,200 In Indebtedness at Meeting Wednesday

The board of directors of the local cooperative creamery at their monthly meeting held Wednesday received from Manager G. S. Bergland a report showing that in 1935 the institution manufactured a total of 481,807 pounds of butter, a substantial increase over the figure of 417,000 pounds for 1934. Approximately 125 new patrons were added during the year, Mr. Bergland reported.

At the meeting all of the present employes of the creamery were reappointed to serve during the coming year, and the indebtedness was reduced from $7,200 to $6,000. The present rental income from the creamery property is $137 a month, it was reported.

Announcement was made that the annual meeting of creamery shareholders will be held as soon as possible after the annual audit is completed.

PLUMMER CO-OP. CREAMERY SHOWS NICE VOLUME GAIN

Officers and Manager Are Retained at Annual Meeting

Reports on highly successful operations in 1935 were submitted Monday at the annual meeting of the Plummer Cooperative Creamery association, more than 50 stockholders being present. A total of 390,558 pounds of butter was manufactured during the year, representing a gain of 15,000 pounds over the preceding year. Operating costs for manufacturing and general expense reached the low figure of 2.50 cents per pound of butter.

O. E. Wilson was elected to serve his fourth term as president of the association, and H. H. Fredrickson was reelected secretary-treasurer. Albert Martin, associated with the creamery for the past 22 years, was reappointed manager. Directors elected include Carl Sorenson, George Orr and Anton Lee.

Gross receipts for the year were $94,641.81, out of which a total of $86,170.80 was paid to patrons. An average price of 29.45 cents a pound was paid for butterfat, of which 87.03 graded as sweet cream. The net worth of the association was reported as $19,046.87, with no outstanding debt. An eight per cent distribution was made on outstanding shares of stock.

MELLBY AGAIN PRESIDENT OF OAKLAND PARK

Sanatorium Commission Retains Officers at Annual Meeting

DR. BORRESON GIVES HIS ANNUAL REPORT

Total Receipts of Institution During Past Year Were $38,531

Dr. O. F. Mellby was reelected president of the Oakland Park sanatorium commission at its annual meeting held Wednesday evening of last week. Other officers retained are Dr. H. M. Blegen of Warren, vice president, and P. O. Myhrum, secretary.

In his annual report Dr. Baldwin Borreson, superintendent, showed that the institution in 1935 had total receipts of $38,531.79, including $1,112.05 cash receipts; $13,668.93 state aid; $5,247.15 from Pennington county; $9,496.51, Marshall county; $5,697.45 Roseau county; and $3,409.70, Red Lake county.

Total maintenance expense aggregated $35,828.51, including administration, $2,563.06; care of patients, $8,776.92; culinary, $12,544.30; domestic, $3,018.93; agriculture, engineering, buildings and grounds, $7,970.65; and miscellaneous expenses, $954.656. Additional expenditures included $444.28 representing increase to inventory, and $862.26 for lasting improvements.

The statistical report reveals that the total cost per patient per day was $2, and that the net cost per day per individual, after deducting amounts received from state aid, pay patients and miscellaneous receipts, was $1.258. The total cost per meal per individual was reported at 10.6 cents.

Summarizing the condition of 32 patients discharged from the sanatorium during the year, Dr. Borreson reported that the disease was apparently arrested in ten cases; quiescent, six; improved, three; unimproved, two; non-tuberculous, two; and died, nine.

ROCKSBURY FORUM MET AT VALHALL FRIDAY EVENING

Topics of Public Interest Discussed at Community Meeting

The Rocksbury Community Forum met at Valhall Friday evening, January 10, under the direction of G. G. Denning. There were ten present. In his introductory remarks Mr. Denning stressed the year 1936, and what it may bring forth. Mrs. Toomey presented a constructive review of Sinclair Lewis' late book, "It Can't Happen Here", which was followed by a lecture by Mr. Denning on Fascism, in which he showed it to be a very present and active danger in our own country. An interesting and lively discussion by those present followed.

Mr. W. C. MacCrady and Mr. Mons Engelstad devoted several minutes to a discussion of Mr. Hoover's political policies while he was president of the United States. Upon adjournment of the meeting lunch was served. At the next meeting of the Forum, among other topics, The Voice of Experience (a radio feature), and the recent Supreme Court's ruling on the triple A will be discussed. In the case of the triple A decision (AAA), analyses of both the majority and minority opinions will be taken up.

The work being given by Mr. Denning is sponsored by the Education Division of the Works Progress administration, a federal project, and is wholly without cost to the communities where units have been started. All are invited to attend. An interesting feature of the next meeting of the Rocksbury Forum will be "Hitler, a close-up of the Nazi ruler of Germany" by Mrs. Edwin Hanson.

Drum Corps to Sponsor Benefit Dance Jan. 24

The Thief River Falls Legion auxiliary drum corps is sponsoring another in a series of benefit dances to be held at the Auditorium Friday evening, January 24, it was announced today. Both new and old-time music will be provided by Abbie Andrews and his dance band of Fargo. The net proceeds of the event will be applied on the purchase of new equipment for the drum corps.

43 TO PAY ABOVE $100 PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX

Annual Publication of Tax List Appears in Times This Week

UNION STATE BANK PAYS LARGEST TAX

Ten Enterprises in City Pay Taxes Amounting to Over $500

A legal publication that each year attracts more than ordinary interest appears in this issue of the Times in the form of the personal property tax list recently completed in the office of County Treasurer John Gullingsrud, who states that the tax is due and payable not later than February 29.

Due to the exemption of household goods from assessment, as provided by the 1935 legislature, the list of taxpayers in Thief River Falls is shorter than in past years. The number of local business places called on to pay $100 or more in taxes this year is 43 compared to 44 a year ago. Ten will pay more than $500 compared to eight in 1935.

The ten local enterprises paying the largest amounts of personal property taxes this year include the Union State bank, $2,163.07; Land O'Lakes Creameries, $1,987.20; Oen Mercantile company, $1,770.68; Thief River Grocery company, $1,717.28; Gamble-Robinson company, $884.51; Montgomery Ward & company, $873.04; L. B. Hartz Stores, Inc., $797.22; Gustafson & Son, $736.31; J. C. Penney company, $720.02; and Thief River Falls Seed House, $626.05.

Largest payments in Goodridge will be made by Christianson & Son, $196.77; Stephen Singer, $101.26; and Farmers Elevator company, $187.55. In St. Hilaire the Red River Power company, $241.07, and M. H. Jackson, $103.77, head the list.

Previous to the last session of the legislature the personal property tax affected all articles of personal possession such as household goods, farm machinery and livestock, with an exemption of $100 assessed valuation.

A law enacted by the 1935 legislature made all household goods and ordinary farm machinery tax exempt and did away with the $100 exemption, resulting in a reduction in the number of taxpayers in the cities and villages, while the number in the rural sections remains virtually unchanged.

LINCOLN SCHOOL PROWLERS MEET BEMIDJI FRIDAY

Veteran Visiting Team to Give Stiff Opposition at Auditorium

The Lincoln high school basketball team will meet one of its severest tests of the winter schedule at the Auditorium Friday evening when the local quintet will compete with the veteran Bemidji aggregation, made up largely of players who last year won third place in the state tournament in Minneapolis. A preliminary game between the Prowlers second team and Alvarado will be played at 7:15.

Playing last Friday evening at Warren the Prowlers added another to their string of victories, winning in easy fashion by a score of 33 to 19, the score at the half being 20 to 12. Mickelson was high point man for the locals, accounting for six field goals and one free throw. The B team also was victorious over Warren's second team, the score being 44 to 11.

The Prowlers will meet Greenbush at the Auditorium next Tuesday evening and will undertake to duplicate their 24-18 victory earlier in the season. As a curtain-raiser the Prowler B team will play Newfolden.

Drunkeness Arrests Decline During 1935, Police Chief Reports

A total of 129 arrests, exclusive of minor traffic violations, were made by local police in 1935, it is revealed in a summary prepared this week by Police Chief A. B. Stenberg. The figure compares with 174 arrests in 1934. A marked falling off in arrests for driving while drunk is shown, the number dropping from twelve in 1934 to three last year. Arrests for drunkenness also fell from 75 in 1934 to 60 in 1935, while arrest for reckless driving increased from 14 to 17. Other causes of arrest included four for burglary, eleven for theft, five for vagrancy, five for disorderly conduct and five for liquor law violations. A variety of miscellaneous charges accounted for the remainder of the arrests.

COUNCIL DEFERS ACTION TUESDAY ON CITY SALARIES

President Griebstein Announces Committees for Coming Year

Announcement of the personnel of standing committees of the city council was made by President Emil Griebstein at the regular meeting Tuesday evening, while action on remaining city appointments and the salary schedule was deferred to an adjourned meeting owing to the absence of Alderman Kinghorn.

The following committees were appointed to serve during the year: Poor: Christofferson, chairman, Griebstein and Kinghorn. Light and water: Kinghorn, chairman; Salveson and Myhrum. Municipal buildings: Salveson, chairman; Christofferson and Baker.

Finance: Christofferson, chairman, Kinghorn and Griebstein. Licenses and printing: Myhrum, chairman; Griebstein and Baker. Taxes: Baker, chairman; Christofferson and Kinghorn. Roads and streets: Griebstein, chairman; Myhrum and Salveson.

Following a report on the condition of Squire McMullen, who recently was seriously injured when struck by a taxi, City Attorney Theodore Quale was instructed to prepare an ordinance licensing taxi drivers and requiring them to carry public liability insurance.

Harry Brumund appeared to ask a settlement for four lots in the Auditorium block belonging to the Kretzschmar estate, which are under condemnation. His proposal that the estate pay the taxes and be paid $150 a lot by the city was laid over for further consideration.

Attorney Paul Lundgren was present to offer a compromise settlement of paving taxes on the Main av. lots occupied by Strom's lunch car. The offer was referred to the tax committee, as was an application by Mrs. Mary Safford.

Payment of $414 to H. P. Lund & Sons for excavating the basement of the enclosed skating rink was approved.

Davnie Quits Duties as Deputy County Auditor

William F. Davnie of Hallock, who has served as deputy Pennington county auditor since July 1, 1935, relinquished this post last Friday and left for his home. He was succeeded as deputy by Miss Mae L. Roberts, formerly in the office of County Treasurer John Gullingsrud, who now has Miss Olga Nelson as his assistant.

Plat of City 52 Years Old Shows New Bridge

Accompanying Prospectus Reveals Early Settlers Were Forward-Looking

That residents of Thief River Falls a half-century ago were forward-looking in appraising the future prospects of this community is revealed in a prospectus accompanying a well-preserved plat of the city dating back to August, 1884, which recently came to light. The plat was formerly the property of the late Gotfred Adolphs, at one time employed in the local power plant, and is now in the possession of his son Emil, living in Duluth.

The plat covers only that portion of the present city on the west side of the river extending west to Arnold av., south to the present Great Northern tracks and north to Sixth st. The optimism of the pioneer settlers is revealed by the fact that on the plat is sketched a bridge across the river at Third st. which did not become a reality until exactly fifty years later. The prospectus also anticipated by ten years the coming of the Great Northern railway to this city and by twenty years the opening of the Red Lake Indian reservation which then adjoined the city on the east.

The prospectus accompanying the plat, bearing the legend, "The new manufacturing and commercial center—a few of its advantages enumerated and described", reads as follows:

"Thief River Falls, Polk county, Minnesota, is situated at the junction of the Red Lake and Thief rivers, on the line of the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba railroad, whose magnificent system covers and serves a goodly empire. The Lake of the Woods branch of

DULUTH GROCERY COMPANY OPENS WHOLESALE UNIT

Kern Olson Manager of Stone-Ordean-Wells Company Branch Here

Stone-Ordean-Wells & company, Duluth wholesale grocery concern, is opening a distributing unit in the Kern Olson building in this city, it was announced today by Mr. Olson, who will serve as manager.

The new local enterprise will carry a complete line of groceries, fruits and vegetables. Sales representatives will include E. J. Quist of Grand Forks and Arthur Thompson of this city, and three trucks will be operated out of Thief River Falls.

The distributing unit here will serve retail stores in Northwestern Minnesota, which heretofore have been supplied by the company from its headquarters in Duluth or from other units in Northern Minnesota. Mr. Olson has had many years of merchandising experience in this section which qualify him for his new post.

Gopher Victory Five Falls Victim to Local Independents 51 to 23

Playing a game at the Auditorium Sunday afternoon that at times resembled a football contest more than basketball, the Gopher Victory Five, made up of members of last year's championship Minnesota eleven, was defeated 51 to 23 by the local independent team sponsored by the Junior Civic and Commerce association. A large crowd witnessed the game, in which Bennis starred for the visitors. The Independents Wednesday night added another game to their string of victories when they journeyed to Warroad to win a close game by a score of 46 to 38.

125 PRESENT AT C. C. MEETING LAST THURSDAY

Largest Group of Year Attends Dinner Served by Association

CCC CAMP LEADERS ADDRESS MEETING

Supt. Morris Bye Talks on Recent History of Local School System

The Civic and Commerce association was host to 125 members and invited guests last Thursday evening at the largest gathering of the past year. An interesting program was presented under the direction of President W. L. Carlisle, including talks by men in charge of the civilian conservation camp at Thief Lake, Supt. Morris Bye of the local schools and Judge M. A. Brattland.

L. D. Longley, superintendent in charge of biological work at the CCC camp, told of the activities of the group in the way of building roads and telephone lines, cleaning the lake bottom and other work. E. W. Youngdale, engineer with the division of game and fish, said that while he is disappointed in the amount of water in the lake at present, the situation gives promise of improving and he forecast the addition of 2,000 acres to the water area. He expressed the hope that the camp would be allowed to continue until the project is completed.

Kenneth Krumm, biologist with the United States biological survey, pointed out that Thief lake is fortunately situated in the path of bird migration and that it is the resting place of many varieties of water birds. Nesting sites are being set up, he said, and fish will be propagated later on.

Lieutenant James Belda of the U. S. army, commanding officer at the camp, said that the army's share of the project consists in preparing quarters for the men and transporting and feeding them thru the quartermaster's corps. He said the boys in the camps are well taken care of and subjected to wholesome influences.

Supt. Morris Bye, in his talk, gave a survey of the growth and progress of the local schools in recent years, bringing out his points effectively thru the use of charts. He cited figures showing the steady growth in the size of graduating classes in the local high school, ranging from two gradu-

HEAVIEST SNOW OF SEASON COMES PAST WEEK-END

Heavy Blanket of Snow Is Followed by Subzero Temperatures

The heaviest snowfall of the winter, amounting to fully eight inches, arrived in this section over the past week-end, and was followed by a period of sub-zero weather, the mercury Wednesday dropping to a low point of approximately 25 below zero.

Traffic on the Wheat Line in North Dakota was disrupted by the snowfall, train schedules Monday and Tuesday being confined to points from this city to Fordville and from Kenmare to Overly. Normal operations were resumed Wednesday, altho windy weather is expected to cause further trouble.

Snowplows were brought into action Sunday and Monday on state and county highways and on the streets of the city, and all but the country side roads are now open to traffic.

Donald Snyder Wed to Miss Isabel Wolfe at Bride's Carolina Home

On December 26 was solemnized the marriage of Miss Isabel Wolfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stewart Wolfe of Washington, North Carolina and Donald Snyder of Brainerd, son of Mrs. Thyra Snyder of this city. The ceremony took place at St. Peter's Episcopal church where all of the bride's maternal relations have been married.

Following a program of nuptial music the ushers and the two groomsmen took their places in the chancel followed by the bridesmaids, Miss Mildred McMullan and Miss Katherine Harding who were gowned in afterglow crepe and wearing halo hats of brown velvet. They carried arm bouquets of bronze snapdragons and blue sweet peas. The matron of honor was the bride's mother, Mrs. Walter Stewart Wolfe, who wore a mushroom crepe dress with overblouse of crushed velvet. She wore brown accessories and carried an arm bouquet of snapdragons mixed with lavender sweet peas. The maid of honor, Miss Marie Moore, cousin of the bride, wore a gown of dryad green crepe with brown trimmings and accessories. Her flowers were yellow snapdragons and pink sweet peas.

Preceding the bride, who entered with her father, was the miniature couple. The little bridesmaid was dressed in flesh-colored net and wore an old fashioned poke bonnet and carried a colonial nosegay of Briarcliff roses, sweetpeas and forget-me-nots. The bride wore a brown velvet Patou model fashioned along simple lines. The accessories worn with the costume were brown in color matching her brown velvet hat. Her only ornament was an old-fashioned locket, a gift from her maternal grandmother. She carried white gardenias and valley lilies which were affixed to her brown velvet muff. At the chancel awaited the bridegroom and the bride's brother, Walter Stewart Wolfe, Jr., of Orangeburg, S. C. who served as best man.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Snyder left Washington to be at home at Brainerd where the former is district manager of the National Reemployment service. Mr. Snyder, very well known in this community, is a graduate of Lincoln high school and has attended the University of North Dakota and the University of Minnesota. During the past fall Mrs. Snyder has maintained a dance studio at Brainerd.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

During 1935, New York state W. C. T. U. has had one "Little Salesman" (the mechanical robot with his book of pertinent truisms on the alcohol subject) routed throughout the state, and since July has kept two "Salesmen" busy. There is a long waiting list of appointments for each and not one day have they had a chance to rest.

Ten thousand posters were sent to the local unions asking that they be displayed during the week of December 15. Some were posted on barns and covered with a coat of varnish, to protect them from the weather.

These activities have all been made possible through the expenditure of part of New York's share of "Alcohol Education" money already raised.

Each county has placed large numbers of Miss Palmer's "Syllabus in Alcohol Education" in the hands of public school teachers.

"Eighteen state regional conferences were planned for the first two weeks in December with the five state officers and the editor of the state paper in charge. At these meetings special emphasis was put on membership, organization, the Alcohol Education Fund campaign, as well as efficiency standards and the state president's recommendations.

MANY SOURCES OF UNIVERSITY FUNDS SHOWN IN REPORT

Direct Maintenance Cost to Taxpayers Is Still at 1925 Level

The University of Minnesota produced income of $3,631,828.86 by its own operations, received $1,525,788.67 from the state of Minnesota, $526,858.97 from the federal government, $338,405.09 from the so-called University Permanent Funds, including the Swamp Land Fund, and $577,-922.87 from its trust funds or endowment, it is shown in the annual report of the comptroller, W. T. Middlebrook, covering the fiscal year that ended July 1, 1935. Another income was $281,577.00 from athletic receipts and $100,000 received from the sale of certificates of indebtedness in a building project. Total income came to $8,700,234.41.

Care of indigent county patients in the hospitals on the campus, financed in part from state funds, accounted for $155,805.77 of the payments by the state; $151,780.77 was for special research projects, chiefly in agriculture, and the direct maintenance appropriation from the Legislature was $2,800,-000. The rest of the state funds was accounted for by the fractional mileage tax of 23-100 mill. This yielded $346,182.61 for the year.

Among the items from the federal government was $178,290.45 from the Public Works Administration, of which $84,000 went towards the second unit of Pioneer Hall, men's dormitory, and $86,000 toward the new athletic building.

Main items in the sum produced by the university in course of operation were $1,106,962.34 in student fees and $1,531,692.97 from self-supporting service enterprises and revolving funds. These involve almost no new income, approximately the same amounts being taken in and paid out.

On the side of expenditure expenses of instruction and research made up by far the largest item, namely, $4,553,056.52, while administration came to $162,298.31 slightly less than one and nine-tenths per cent. Maintenance and operation of plant, chiefly labor costs and fuel, came to $653,382.50, while general university expenses, covering summer session, extension division, experiment stations and the like were $476,669.40. Plant extension, including sums from the federal government spent on buildings, cost $576,722.45.

Commenting on the figures, Mr. Middlebrook pointed out that the university is able to produce somewhat greater receipts on its own account than it used to but that, on the other hand, cost to the taxpayers in the form of state appropriations has not risen in a decade, during which time the student body has increased approximately 50 per cent.

MISS WOLF WITH SHOT; KILL IT WITH RIFLE

Roseau.—When the hardy men from the northern part of the state have no buckshot, they are never embarrassed. Wild game can be taken in other ways. Bert Knutson and Albert Aas were laying for wolves recently, making the rounds with a horse hitched to a toboggan for convenience. A wolf was seen some distance away and Aas took a shot at it but missed. Then they discovered that they had no more cartridges. Knutson decided to try for the wolf, got on the toboggan, and started across an opening to head off the animal. After half a mile ride he ran into the wolf and hit it with his horse. Then he jumped off the toboggan and managed to crack the animal with the barrel of his rifle, laying it out. The rifle netted him and his partner $18.00.

SNARES HORNED RABBIT

Milaca.—A genuine horned rabbit was snared south of Milaca by Beatrice Kiel. The rabbit had two hard horns, one in front of the left ear and the other to the side of the right ear, being about half an inch long and appearing like a deer's horn.

Delicious Dishes Made With

PEAS may be green, but they need no one to defend them when it comes to the question of making up-to-date dishes. They have myriads of friends, and the only question that remains is in what course to serve them at as many meals as possible. Salad courses are served at both lunch and dinner, so here are some salad recipes to help you serve peas at one or both of these meals.

Pea and Lettuce Salad: Drain one cup of canned peas and marinate in two tablespoons French dressing for at least one hour. Add one-fourth cup chopped walnuts, one-fourth cup crisp shredded lettuce and one-fourth cup mayonnaise, and mix lightly together. This salad costs about a quarter and serves four.

Pea and Cabbage Salad: Let one cup finely shredded cabbage, one cup sliced cucumbers and four sliced radishes crisp in ice water for about an hour. Drain and dry thoroughly in a towel. Add four tablespoons French dressing. Then add one cup canned peas, one-third cup chopped walnuts and mayonnaise to just moisten. Serve on lettuce. Serves six to eight.

These Serve Eight

Potato and Pea Salad: Marinate the contents of a No. 2 can peas and two cups diced boiled potatoes in French dressing for at least one hour. Add one-half cup diced pickled beets and one tablespoon chopped onion, and moisten with mayonnaise. Serve in lettuce nests. Serves eight.

Pea and Apple Salad: Marinate one cup canned peas and one cup diced celery in French dressing for an hour. Add one-half cup chopped nuts and two large apples, diced, and mix with mayonnaise. Serves eight.*

Growing With Your Child

Paying for Marks

"Jim, where is your report card? Didn't you get it today? Alice brought hers home."

Reluctantly and in silence Jim took his card from between the covers of a book, and handed it to his mother. There was no use putting off the evil day any longer, his attitude said. Sheepishly he eyed his mother as she looked the card over. It was only a matter of moments before the attack would begin! He was thankful for the fact that at least his mother had happened to think of the old thing when no one else was around.

With a long sigh, Mrs. Randall dropped the card and looked up. "Oh, Jim," she almost wailed, "this is just hopeless. Can't you get better marks? I hate to have your father see this! After all the talking he's done this month! And after he promised you that he'd pay you fifty cents for every 'A' you brought home."

"But I did try, mother," pleaded Jim. "You know how hard I've studied that last six weeks."

It was true, Jim had labored night after night over his books. In other rooms, other Jims had been doing the same thing, Jims who were willing to try to do the right thing, but who would never in the world be outstanding students in math, or chemistry, or English, as the case might be.

One of the arguments against paying for marks lies in the possibility that even with great effort, only discouragement may result. So many children are incapable of being "A" students that it is ridiculous to try to whip up their work by money rewards. It is a questionable practice to offer money in connection with school work, in any case, but if it is to be done, the money should be offered for improvement over past performance, not for a particular mark.

Aside from the fact that many children are incapable of getting "A's" there is the possibility of the reward acting as an incentive to cheating, instead of encouraging the child to work harder. If boys and girls get the idea that we parents are interested only in the marks they bring home, won't they feel almost justified in getting marks by almost any means, fair or foul?

Before offering money in connection with school achievement, let's ask ourselves these questions:

1. Am I sure that my child is not already working up to his capacity?

2. Do I want to encourage in him a feeling that one does one's best work only when a material reward is in sight?

3. Are there other poor habits that such an offer might encourage?

In being tempted to offer money for better marks, am I not dodging the real question which needs to be met, of why the work is so poor? Finding the answer to that question is going to be a step toward solving the difficulty; offering money is not.

Forest Fire Loss Low in 1935, Grover Conzet, State Forester, Says

Forest fires during 1935 were less destructive than in any year since 1927, final reports received by Grover M. Conzet, director of the division of Forestry, revealed. There were 766 fires, burning over 28,394 acres, with a loss estimated at approximately $35,000. No lives were lost.

Total timber loss was estimated at $10,000, but only a small fraction of this consisted of merchantable timber, according to A. E. Pimley, forester in charge of fire prevention. Fires in peat and swamp lands accounted for more than 10,000 acres of the total area burned, Mr. Pimley said. Fires were most numerous in Lake of the Woods, Roseau, Beltrami, Clearwater, Crow Wing, Aitkin and St. Louis counties.

The cost of suppressing the fires was approximately $11,000. A total of 6,265 men were active in fighting the fires; 2,211 men were employed for this purpose, while 4,054 were volunteers. The value of the volunteer labor alone was nearly $8,000, according to Mr. Pimley.

"Abundant rainfall was primarily responsible for the low fire hazard during 1935", Mr. Pimley said, "but greater experience of our personnel and a more efficient tower and communications system were very important factors in lowering fire losses."

PREDICTIONS ON PLAT OF CITY 52 YEARS OLD HAVE BEEN REALIZED

this road is now but six miles distant from the new but lively town above named, and the close of the present season will no doubt find it completed to this point.

"Away to the eastward, up river as the current runs, lies the great Red lake, and there also are the magnificent pine forests, said to be the most extensive and most valuable of any in the Northwest. Between this lake and Thief River Falls, the Red Lake river is unbroken by rapids or falls, and steamers can ply the whole distance, carrying supplies to the lake and timber country, and towing down the lake the lumber cut upon its banks. At Thief River Falls rapids stop navigation, and furnish a waterpower unexcelled by any on the whole stream.

"The importance of this point for a townsite becomes at once apparent. In close connection with the great railway system named; at the end of direct navigation from the great pine lands which thus become tributary to it; possessing a magnificent waterpower, which in the near future will be working saw and flouring mills, it has advantages offered by few positions for busy town life.

"When to all this is added the statement of the fact that this town is situated in one of the finest agricultural districts of Minnesota, already well settled with small farms, its strategic points are apparent. There is still government land to be had along the shores of Thief river, and in the vicinity is a great supply of native timber, suitable for manufacturing, farm machinery, paper pulp, etc. The native timber on the Red lake is of excellent quality, called the best hardwood timber in the state. A series of natural springs of purest water on the river bank at Thief River Falls guarantees the finest water to the town. Fish taken from the river, where they are plentiful, were last fall placed in one of these springs, and are now alive, fat and frisky, altho no food has been given them.

"A number of wells have been lately dug in town, and all furnish the best and purest of water; an important matter when it is remembered that so many Northwestern towns supply from their artesian and other wells only the dreaded "alkali" water.

"The townsite proprietors, Messrs. Kretzschmar and Kratka, have here nearly finished a fine new brick-veneered block, costing $15,000, designed for hotel purposes, with stores underneath. The hotel furnishings are valued at from $6,000 to $7,000. At this writing (August, 1884), the stores are not finished but they will be occupied as soon as ready with full stocks of general merchandise, already purchased, by parties who are now waiting for their completion.

"A sawmill is to be erected at once, and a bank building and several stores, in addition to those named above, will be built as soon as the necessary lumber is on the ground. Mr. Kratka intends to build a fine brick residence here, and Mr. Kretzschmar, Mr. LaBree and Mr. Henry Cook of Asbury Park, New Jersey, will each build good dwellings. Mr. Kratka takes with him to Thief River Falls, Mr. C. T. Trowbridge of Minneapolis, formerly of Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. T. is by trade a mason and a good one. He will open a brickyard at once.

"Mr. Carl Kretzschmar is from Red Lake Falls, a town in which he has been largely instrumental in making what it is. Possessing ability, tact and plenty of "go ahead", it is proverbial among those who know him that any enterprise which he heads is sure of success. Mr. Frank H. Kratka is one of Minnesota's veteran traveling men, who "drummed" the state by team before railroads were known in its borders. He began in 1865 with N. B. Harwood and company, and for the last three years has been connected with the well-known Chicago Enamel Paint Works of A. H. Holden & Co. He is a man of great business ability, with a large share of those valuable Western characteristics, aptly called "get-up" and "push". He has been a factor of no mean importance in the building of many of our western cities and towns.

"With Messrs. Kretzschmar and Kratka at its head, Thief River Falls promises to become in the near future one of the best manufacturing and commercial centers northwest of St. Paul and Minneapolis. There exists no reasonable doubt that the great Red Lake Indian reservation, which joins this town on the northeast, will be this winter thrown open by congress to settlement. This reservation, it is well known, includes some of the very best lands in Minnesota. They are necessarily, from the position of the river and falls, tributary to Thief River Falls, and their opening will bring to this town a concourse of people and a volume of trade possessed by few Northwestern cities. Much might be added in elaboration of these and other points of vantage possessed by this new town, but it is not necessary to do so. The water power will be put in service at once by a corporation formed to build a dam and put in a roller flour mill. A "bus" line will be run, connecting the trains with the new Merchants hotel.

New Fee Schedule for Long Distance Phone Calls Is Now in Effect

Starting Wednesday of this week special long distance telephone rates are in effect on person-to-person calls after 7 o'clock every night and all day Sunday, it is announced by A. J. Rau, local manager of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company. Also, the special rates which have been in effect on station-to-station calls after 7 o'clock every night are being extended to all day Sunday, he said.

The special night and Sunday rates apply, in general, on person-to-person calls for which the day rate is 55 cents or more and on station-to-station calls for which the day rate is 40 cents or more, Mr. Rau explained.

"The night and Sunday rates are lower than the corresponding weekday rates over distances of more than about 50 miles," Mr. Rau said. "For both business and social calls, these special rates increase the convenience and usefulness of long distance service."

Central Livestock Co-op Reports Larger Dollar Volume for Past Year

Although livestock handled in 1935 by the Central Co-operative association at South St. Paul was the lightest in numbers in several years, dollar volume of business was well above 1934.

N. K. Carnes, manager, announced that the association's dollar sales in 1935 were $16,097,426 compared to $13,275,225 in 1934.

Directors declared a patronage refund of 20 per cent, amounting to $56,600, this being a refund which shippers paid in commissions to the association for selling their stocks.

Mr. Carnes said that because of the reduced receipts of livestock in 1935 many shippers had not expected the usual patronage refund this year. Checks covering the refund will be mailed to the shippers some time in February.

The annual meeting of the association will be held at Hotel Lowry in St. Paul Feb. 12 and 13.

Observations on Trip to California

By Joel E. Shoberg

Parco, Wyoming is a beautiful town, wide paved streets, lovely laid out flower parks, all business places are built up to a standard, practically all the residences are built according to one plan, nice trees are planted along the streets and everything has a neat and attractive appearance. There is really only one industry here, the pumping and refining of oil. As I stated before the whole town is owned by one of the largest gasoline refiners.

In towns of this kind exist a condition that is different from ordinary towns. The workmen here receive a higher salary than under other conditions, but it really means only that he is permitted to handle a larger amount of cash, and it is an advertisement to the company. He must live in houses built by the company and pay whatever rent they ask, if he is married he must buy all his needs at their stores and plants and if he is single he must board at their restaurants. It does not make much difference what the company pays to him, as he must give back so much of it to the company before the month is up.

As we near the state of Utah our first impression is that of better roads. Utah roads are a wonder of engineering skill. For hundreds of miles as we travel thru hills, mountains and passes, we find the road bed almost as level and straight as back in Minnesota.

Utah has some exceptionally beautiful mountain scenes and places. Especially is the case east of Salt Lake City. Here along the road are several small towns with the most beautiful setting and surroundings one can imagine. Sky high mountain side and all covered either with green vegetation or evergreen forests. This is truly the haven for the hunter and the man who wishes to bury himself in nature's loveliness. Small inland lakes and rivers are scattered all about with both fishing and hunting abundant. With a small telescope we were told one could almost at anytime detect deer and bear strolling along on these mountainsides. Small commercial cabins were located all along the highway showing that the sportsman took advantage of staying out here during the summer months. At the time we went thru the tourist trade was almost over for the year and most of the cabins and tourist accommodations deserted. However we counted cars carrying license plates from more than a dozen states including Connecticut in the east to Mississippi in the south.

Some farming is carried on in Utah and of course a lot of timber work. Herds of sheep were numerous along the road as well as that of beef cattle. Here we find the stage of the covered wagon pulled by a team of horses. In this home on wheels lives the rancher while he is taking care of his herd. He may be a single man batching it out, or he may have his family along and they live as happy as we do in our more modern homes. In rain or shine, storm or sleet the wide open prairie is his home, his workfield and his recreation center. The horses graze about the wagon, while the family sit about at their meal or talking, or if the occupant be a single man he may be seen playing a lonely game of solitaire. It is all in the game. He loves his herd, his work and the contact free from worry in the great green outdoors. We sometimes drove into herds of a few thousand sheep trying to cross the highway. To wait for them to cross was hopeless as they sure took their time. However we soon learned the trick of driving right at them and push them away with the bumper. This is sport and if one goes slow there is very little danger of hurting them.

We are nearing Salt Lake City, for almost a hundred years proclaimed stronghold of Mormonism. A surprise however awaits us at the entrance as we are told that only about 25 per cent of the population are Mormons while the remaining 75 belong to some church bearing the Protestant insignia, or are non-church goers. We were however determined to spend at least a day studying this new, but already widespread form of religious belief and view their magnificent architecture and museums.

Economic Outlook From Standpoint of Farmers Topic Next Wednesday

The economic outlook from the standpoint of Pennington county farmers will be the topic for a discussion by J. B. McNulty, extension economist of University Farm, St. Paul, at a meeting in the court room in the court house next Wednesday afternoon, January 22, at 2 o'clock, County Agent R. M. Douglass announced today. Also expected to be present is a representative of the farm credit administration, who will outline the various kinds of credit that may be obtained from the federal lending agencies. Mr. Douglass extended an invitation to county farmers to attend the meeting.

Bay of Fundy Tides

The famous Bay of Fundy tides are, even under normal conditions, the greatest in the world, the average variation along the Noel shore being 41.3 feet. The Noel shore sees the highest tides due to the fact that Cobequid bay receives the fullest force of the tides. The bay opens onto the Minas basin and tides pouring into the basin from the Bay of Fundy through the Minas channel surge into the smaller bay and can go no farther. To a somewhat lesser degree the same thing holds true for the narrow, easterly part of the Minas basin where the Avon and Cornwallis rivers empty into the basin.

Governor Recovering; Will Seek Senate Post

Serving notice on the state that he is still very much in public life and still the dominant force in the farmer-labor party, Governor Floyd B. Olson Sunday at Rochester was preparing to obtain his party's indorsement for United States senator and to conduct a campaign for that office.

By doctor's orders, it will not be as strenuous a campaign as he is accustomed to, but he insists he will be well enough to take an active part. In that campaign he will urge a constitutional amendment giving the federal government power to regulate employment and agriculture.

If the democrats have the courage to propose constitutional changes, he will support President Roosevelt for re-election, Olson said.

FINDS $20 IN BILLS RETURNS TO OWNER

Houston.—Anyone with experience will tell you that newspaper advertising pays, but even this valuable medium usually fails when the advertiser requests the return of unidentifiable currency that has been lost on the street. More credit to John E. Benson, of Houston, who like the rest of us, reads the advertisements, but is much more honest than most of us. Finding two $10 bills on the street, Mr. Benson hastened home to pick up the village paper and run thru the classified columns to find the owner. Sure enough, an optimistic citizen had inserted a want ad in the paper and Mr. Benson hastened to call on the party and return the currency, refusing to accept any reward, altho one had been offered.

FRANKLIN'S BIRTHDAY

It will be 230 years ago tomorrow since the birth of Ben Franklin, in our humble opinion the greatest of all Americans. And on this anniversary of his birthday it would be a splendid thing if every American, from the President down, would devote a few hours to the study and contemplation of the life of this interesting character.

It is not strange that Franklin's name has become identified with the idea of Thrift. Industry and thrift were the foundation stones upon which he built his own success. These were the cardinal virtues he recommended so strongly to others if they would be happy.

By his own life he demonstrated the soundness of his philosophy. By his thrift he acquired the fortune that made it possible for him to do the things he enjoyed doing. By his industry he accomplished so many things in various fields of public service that the record of his contributions to the welfare of his fellow men cannot be equalled by any other individual.

At no time in the history of our country has there been a greater need for the influence of Ben Franklin than at present. As individuals we need more of that wholesome philosophy. And in our government, state and national, we are ignoring entirely the common sense wisdom of experience which the life of Franklin so aptly personifies.

Sooner or later we will have to get back to the fundamentals of Franklin's teaching. The farther we drift from those fundamentals the more difficult it will be to retrace our steps. We hear present-day statesmen refer to billion dollar appropriations as the mere spending of "a few paltry dollars". Ben Franklin said, "At a great pennyworth, pause awhile." And on this anniversary of his birth it would be well for all of us to pause a little and reflect upon these things.

A FINE RECORD

Fifty-nine fires during 1935, with a total fire loss of less than ten thousand dollars, is not a bad record for the city. The fact that one fire accounted for almost three-fourths of the total loss, indicates an extremely low average loss for the other fifty-eight calls. To what extent improved fire fighting equipment should be credited for this record would be difficult to estimate. In the Caldis building fire there is no question but that the fire department did good work in checking a blaze that might have resulted in a great deal heavier loss. And it is only fair to assume that the equipment which made it possible to get a large volume of water into that blaze in a short time was an important factor in saving the building. But regardless of what opinions on the effectiveness of the new equipment might be, there is no question but that the department did its work well during the year and deserves a vote of thanks from the community for the very valuable service it rendered. The community owes much to the group of volunteers who stand ready at all hours of the day or night to answer the call of the fire whistle. Fire fighting is neither a safe nor a pleasant pastime.

IN GOOD CONDITION

Superintendent Morris Bye presented a brief review of the record of the local school district at a meeting of the Civic & Commerce Association last week that was both interesting and encouraging. By carefully prepared charts he showed the steady increases in attendance that had made necessary the building program which resulted in a bonded debt in 1921 of approximately three hundred thousand dollars, followed by a debt retirement program which has reduced the total obligations of the district to the present level of approximately a hundred thousand dollars. Elementary grade housing facilities are not only ample for present needs but there is sufficient reserve room to provide for a substantial enrollment increase. Junior and senior high school buildings are now crowded but there is no immediate need for further building, he reports, pointing out that if the city's growth does make a new building necessary, the community's ability to pay for such a building will also be substantially greater. The present higher mill levies are due to decreased valuation, which, in turn, are caused by changes in tax laws. His report indicated that while the district has experienced an extremely difficult financial problem, the present condition is good and the future outlook bright. The record of the district indicates that its affairs have been well managed.

JACKSON ON SPENDING

In his message to Congress a hundred years ago, President Andrew Jackson expressed the following "reactionary" view on public spending:

> No political maxim is better established than that which tells us that an improvident expenditure of money is the parent of profligacy, and that no people can hope to perpetuate their liberties who long acquiesce in a policy which taxes them for objects not necessary to the legitimate and real wants of their Government.

What the "New Dealers" could find in the record of "Old Hickory" to justify the "Jackson Day" dinners is rather difficult to understand. As far as we have been able to learn, the above quotation was not used by any of the after-dinner speakers.

LOOKING BACKWARD

A weekly feature of the Times that has proven popular is the "Ten Years Ago" column, presenting gleanings of the news of a decade ago that still has interest. The "Twenty Years Ago" column, started with the first issue of this year, will also prove interesting to readers, we are sure. It is unfortunate that older files of Thief River Falls newspapers are not available. Fires that destroyed newspaper plants also destroyed these old records. Buildings and machinery can be replaced, as they have been, but the old files, presenting a week by week history of the community, can never be duplicated and their destruction was an irreparable loss.

ONE STANDARD FOR ALL

People of the community would object strenuously if merchants used different standards of weights and measures in dealing with different customers, giving some only eight ounces to the pound and to others twenty-four. Yet that is what the city does in the sale of electricity under the two meter system. Some customers are permitted to operate toasters and irons at a 3½ cent rate. Others have to pay 9 cents for the same service. It would seem that the first step in a rate revision program should be the adoption of a one-meter system and a sliding scale of charges that would give to all customers the same advantages for quantity use.

BORAH ON THE COURT

In the current issue of the Redbook Magazine is published an article on the Supreme Court by Senator William E. Borah that deserves careful reading by the American public. At no time in the history of our country has the Supreme Court been called upon to decide so many important questions of law as at present. In the nature of things, many of the decisions it is making are unpopular. It is only natural, therefore, that it will be subjected to severe criticism and even its authority will be questioned. No one is better qualified than Senator Borah to discuss the Supreme Court and its record. Recognized both as a great constitutional lawyer and as a liberal, his timely defense of the Court will do much to overcome the misunderstanding that is so common as to the purpose of that high tribunal.

To the question of whether or not the court has usurped power, Borah answers:

> "No. We are not living under a usurped judicial power. The power of the court to void an act of Congress on the ground that it is unconstitutional is plainly and unmistakably conferred by the terms of the Constitution. I understand perfectly that whenever the Court renders a decision of great moment, holding that a statute is in conflict with the Constitution and therefore void, John Marshall is again summoned to the bar of public opinion and denounced as a usurper. That has been going on for over a hundred years. No greater myth has ever been paraded before an intelligent people."

An imposing array of facts are presented to prove the authority. On the arguments advanced against that authority, Borah charges:

> "It may be well to remember that this denial of the power of the Court to declare a statute unconstitutional was born of partisan politics. It has never been seriously urged except in heated party conflicts in which the Court refused to bend its opinions to conform to partisan demands. I do not mean to say the decisions of the Court are above criticism or that the people should not be entirely free to express their views touching the decisions of the Court. But I do mean to say that without the power of the Court to declare acts of Congress in contravention of the Constitution void, the Constitution as the supreme law of the land disappears, and we pass from a constitutional government to a parliamentary government or a dictatorial government, and every right, every privilege, every guarantee of personal liberty, which the people have written into the Constitution, become the playthings of politics, and the Court the cowed slaves of partisan dictation. The Supreme Court is not a divine institution and its members are not always wholly exempt from the influence of politics. But in my opinion, it is the most nearly perfect human institution yet devised by the wit of man for the dispensation of justice and for the preservation of liberty as defined by the people themselves in the charter under which they have declared their desire to live."

On the question of the Constitution and state rights, involved in the problems confronting the court at the present time, Borah says:

> "It is true the decisions of the court have more than once been a blow to so-called centralized government. They have more than once protected state rights. But that is because the Constitution does not provide for centralized government to the extent some desire, and because the Constitution provides for the protection of state rights. Here again, I say, if greater authority is desirable or necessary to the solution of modern economic problems, or if states rights are to be abolished, ask the people for the power, not the courts. The Constitution should be changed back home, and not in Washington.

Probably an explanation will be forthcoming soon which will attempt to prove that it doesn't hurt Minnesota any to have Canada sell 1,500,000 gallons of cream to the eastern market.—Morris Tribune.

Minnesota Virtually Has Won 'Hopper Fight, Says Campaign Leader

Minnesota virtually has conquered the grasshopper plague, according to a report received by the state executive council from A. G. Ruggles, state entomologist. There is no danger of serious harm from grasshoppers in any counties next year excepting Kittson and St. Louis, the report emphasized.

The warfare against the grasshopper scourge started in 1931 when the executive council provided a war chest of which $465,011 has been used in five years. The administrative expense has been only 2.5 percent, the report stated.

Minnesota farmers have benefited from a saving from crop damages of $23,000,000 during the five years, the report emphasized and only 30,000 of an original 5,000,000 acres in 1932 now need attention. During the past year 391 tons of bait were used.

Looking Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

From the Times of Jan. 21, 1926

C. D. Gustafson was elected president of the Minnesota Implement Dealers association at the annual convention in Minneapolis.—Peter Engelstad was to give a talk at the annual meeting of the Minnesota State Dairymen's association in Brainerd.—H. See Total Attendance of 400 at N. W. School

A new attendance record was established at the Northwest School last week when a large group of new students brought the total for the year to 359 as compared with the previous record of 358 during the year 1929-30. As additional students are expected to report this week, registrar J. W. Minar anticipates a total of over 400 for the year. The marked increase in attendance has overtaxed the available dormitory and classroom accommodations. Winter term activities include the many contests and meetings in which Northwest School students will take part during Winter Shows Week February 3 to 7; School of Agriculture triangular debate contests; basketball tournament, and weekly assemblies and special entertainments. The winter term will close the last week in March.

Chippewa Indian Fund Payment Is Requested

Congress was asked in a bill last week to appropriate $25 from the Chippewa tribal fund to every enrolled Chippewa Indian in Minnesota. Rep. Richard T. Buckler of Crookston, introduced the bill. He estimated the total payment to 12,680 Indians at $317,000.

Seed Wheat Testing Service Is Offered by Northwest School

As a result of the severe epidemic of black stem rust last year, many of the wheat seed stocks now on hand are of light weight and questionable value. To assist farmers of Northwestern Minnesota in deciding whether their seed is worth planting the Northwest Experiment Station offers a free testing service. It is expected that a large number will take advantage of this service and all are urged to send in samples early. Only those samples complying with the following suggestions can be tested:

1. The sample must come from land located in the following Northwestern counties: Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk, Clearwater, Norman, Mahnomen, Clay, Becker, Otter Tail and Wilkin.
2. The samples are limited to wheat.
3. The number of samples is limited to five from any individual or company.
4. The sample must be cleaned and graded as for sowing.
5. The sample should weigh about a pound, should be representative of the seed stock, and should be carefully packed so as to arrive in good condition.
6. The sample should be sent prepaid to Grain Testing Laboratory, Northwest School and Station, Crookston, Minnesota, and be clearly labeled with the sender's name and address.

The sample will then be tested for percentage of germination and vigor of sprouts. No purity tests can be made. Reports will be made as soon as possible. For further details farmers are requested to consult their county agent.

Those who say these "straw votes" don't mean anything are burning their bridges behind them; the next report may show things going their way.—Lynchburg (Va.) News.

The Teredo

A teredo is a shipworm, one of certain peculiar marine mollusks belonging to the same class as the oyster, which burrow in submerged wood and are very destructive to piles of wharves and to wooden ships. Their bodies are long and wormlike because of the great development of the united siphons, which are protected by a calcareous tube, the valves of the shell and the foot being very small. Two small calcareous plates, known as pallets, are borne on the siphons. The best known and most destructive species is Teredo navalis, found in most parts of the world.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Pursuant to due call and notice thereof the City Council of the City of Thief River Falls met in special session in the Auditorium and Municipal Building on January 2, 1936. The meeting was called for the purpose of considering certain matters with relation to the Community Skating Rink and Arena now under construction and was called to order at eight o'clock P. M. with Aldermen Griebstein, Jung, Knight, Christofferson present and Aldermen Myhrum and McFarland absent.

Architect Eckland brought up the matter of making sewer and water connections for the building bringing the same in from Knight Avenue on Second Street and recommended the hiring of a licensed plumber to furnish the material and supervise the laying of said sewer and water pipe. A motion was made by Alderman Christofferson, seconded by Alderman Knight and carried that H. R. Stensgaard be employed in that capacity, the Architect to confer with him relative to prices of material and compensation for supervision.

The City Clerk was on motion duly made and carried authorized and directed to advertise for proposals for the furnishing of the following material for the Skating Rink and Arena: Steel Bar Joists for floor in warming room, front part of building and steel bar joist for roof, separate figures on the two items; All mill work including doors and windows, interior and exterior wood trimmings and finish as per plans and specifications, all material required for construction of sanitary and plumbing system including all required soil pipe, water supply pipe etc., all plumbing fixtures, floor drains etc., bids to be opened on January 24th, 1936.

There being no further business to come before the Board the meeting was declared adjourned.

WALTER JUNG,
Vice President of the Council.

Attest: P. G. Pederson,

A motion was made by Alderman Christofferson, seconded by Myhrum and carried that the Council proceed with the election of City Attorney. The result of the ballot indicated a vote of six for Theo. Quale, whereupon Theo. Quale was declared duly elected as City Attorney for the ensuing term.

A motion was made by Alderman Kinghorn seconded by Christofferson and carried that the Council proceed to appoint a superintendent of Water and Light. The result of the ballot indicated a vote of six for Ole Legvold, whereupon Ole Legvold was declared duly elected as superintendent of Water and Light for the ensuing term.

Mayor Elect W. W. Prichard, Jr. was present and in his speech to the Council recommended the making of relief projects to relieve unemployment, such as cutting and hauling of wood and street graveling during the winter months, recommending the putting in effect of lower rates for electrical energy and calling the attention of the Council to the necessity for no increase in taxes so as to encourage home building within the city.

A communication signed by William J. [illegible], Chairman of the Workers Protective Association was presented and read, the same urging the Council to proceed with certain relief projects as a means of relieving want and unemployment and requesting that transportation be provided for the men working on the Park Project. The same was, on motion duly made and carried ordered placed on file.

The matter of liability insurance was brought up and the President appointed Aldermen Christofferson, Myhrum and Kinghorn as a committee of three to investigate and report back to the Council.

The matter of compensation to be paid for the cutting of wood from the land leased by the City for that purpose was discussed. A motion was made by Alderman Kinghorn that the amount of $1.50 per cord be paid for said cutting of cord or pole wood, which motion was seconded by Alderman Christofferson and adopted by unanimous vote.

Architect H. C. Eckland in charge of the construction of Skating Rink was present and presented a proposal of Northern Woodwork for the furnishing and installation of window trims and windows for the basement of the building for the amount of $[illegible] and for frames only the sum of $[illegible]. A motion was made by Alderman Baker, seconded by Kinghorn and carried that the matter be laid over for further consideration.

Alderman Kinghorn moved that the matter of transportation of the men to and from work on the Golf Course project be referred to the local relief supervisor. The motion was seconded by Alderman Myhrum and carried.

On motion duly made and carried the meeting was declared adjourned to Tuesday, January 14, 1936.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

So. St. Paul, Jan. 13: Receipts of cattle here Monday were moderate, the run including six cars of Canadians. Trade opened about steady on short-fed steers and heifers, but the undertone was weak. Plainer warmed-up and short-fed steers and yearlings cashed at $6.50-8.50, some held around $8.75 and up. Butcher heifers brought $5.00-7.00, some around $7.25 or more. Good beef cows sold at $5.00-6.50, others downward to $5.00, cutter grades mostly $4.00-4.75. Sausage bulls bulked at $5.50-6.25. Vealers were largely steady, better grades $9.00-10.50, common and medium $6.00-8.00, culls down to $5.00. Medium to good stocker and feeder steers consisting mostly of warmed-up native offerings were found at $6.00-7.50.

Hogs weighing under 240 lb and packing sows were 10-15c lower than Friday, heavier weighs steady. Bulk 160-240 lb earned $9.65-9.75, better 140-160 lb $9.50-9.75, 240-290 lb. $9.55-9.65, 290-350 lb. $9.10-9.25, big weights down to $8.75. Packing sows bulked at $8.25-8.50, a few feeder pigs selling at $9.25-9.75.

Fat native lambs opened 25c higher with bulk at $10.50. Several loads of fed lambs were held around $10.75, still unsold late. Common and medium natives cashed at $8.00-9.25. Better fat native ewes sold steady at $4.50-4.75, with ten loads of good to choice 110-124 lb. fed ewes at $5.00. A few native feeding lambs sold at [illegible].

Capt. James Cook of the British navy who discovered the Hawaiian Islands in 1778 appears in history as one of the world's greatest marine explorers. He was killed on the Island of Hawaii a year after the discovery and 119 years prior to the date Hawaii joined the United States Union as a territory. The "Sandwich Islands," as he called the Hawaiian group, were so named after the earl of Sandwich, British admiralty head. With him in his flagship "Discovery," was William Bligh, who later, as captain of H. M. S. Bounty, was cast away by his mutinous crew off Tahiti.

BEAURGARD HIGH MAN IN BOWLING LOOP PAST WEEK

Bratrud Clinics Still Have Firm Grasp on Top Position

Harvey Beaurgard with a score of 219 Thursday evening of last week, made the best mark for the period in the local bowling league. He was bowling for Borchert-Johnson team which won three straight from Hamms. Oren Brandon being high for the latter with 161.

Glueks won two out of three over Bridgeman's Wednesday, the Times winning the same number from the Bratrud Clinics on Monday. Tuesday evening Land O' Lakes lost three straight to the Grain Belts.

Those bowling over 200 were Harvey Beaurgard 219, Emil Dostal 213, and Wallace DuChamp 206.

Present standings of the teams:

Team	W	L	PCT
Bratrud Clinic	24	6	800
Borchert-Johnson	18	9	666
Grain Belt	19	11	633
Times	14	16	444
Glueks	9	18	333
Land O'Lakes	10	20	333
Hamms	8	19	299

COPPER PENNIES CALL THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

Anoka.—The good citizens of Anoka are getting thrifty — or perhaps it was because it all happened in the Lincoln apartments. Anyway, pennies, used in place of good fuse plugs, were the cause of a fire in that town recently. Firemen ripped out wiring in the apartment on an emergency call, only to find that the Lincoln headed pennies had caused the wires to become overheated with a small blaze resulting. The fire chief warned tenants that the use of copper pennies to replace the fuse plugs was a dangerous practice, since an overload or a short on the line would cause the wiring to become red hot and start what might prove a serious or even fatal fire.

Funeral Services Held for Mrs. Andrew Husby

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Lutheran church at St. Hilaire for Mrs. Andrew Husby who died at her home in Rocksbury township Jan. 11, Rev. M. L. Dahle officiating. Interment was made in West Greenwood cemetery near St. Hilaire.

Mrs. Husby was born at Hancock, Michigan in 1870. With her parents she settled on a farm west of St. Hilaire in 1880. In April 1892, she was married to Andrew Husby and they lived on a farm south of the city since.

Surviving are her husband, three sons and four daughters, Mrs. Helmer Finstad of Hazel; Mrs. Joe King of St. Hilaire; Mrs. Arnold Johnson of Watten; Edwin of Fosston; and Elmer, Ethel and Alfred at home.

INTERMEDIATE HOCKEY LEAGUE LED BY REXALLS

No. 2 Team Defeats Bridgemans Wednesday by 3-2 Score

In the first weeks play in the intermediate hockey league the Rexall team jumped into the lead winning its first two starts defeating No. 2 team 3-2 and followed up by out scoring the Bridgeman team 6-2. The third league game played Wednesday night was a close battle between No. 2 and Bridgemans, No. 2 winning 3-2.

Outstanding performances have been turned in by the three goalies Wessling, Olson and Houfek while Williams of the Rexall team has been the most effective forward. The Bridgeman team has been strengthened by the return of Lennie Hellquist who has been out since the beginning of the school with an injured knee.

The league standings will be determined on the point basis this season, two points for each game won and one point for each team in case of ties.

COL. FRANK KNOX HITS NEW DEAL IN GRAND FORKS TALK

Potential Candidate for Presidency Addresses Newspaper Men

"Foreign philosophies of government that now permeate the administration in Washington" were assailed by Colonel Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, in an address Friday evening at the annual banquet of the North Dakota Press association.

The banquet in Grand Forks was held in the auditorium of the United Lutheran church, where nearly 400 diners heard the potential candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Colonel Knox in a prepared address credited the supreme court and the business men of the nation for the progress toward economic recovery.

"The real credit for 'restoring values' belongs in two places," he asserted. "To the supreme court making the decision which voided the NRA, and to business men who, learning the limits under which national policies can be formulated, became heartened and began to really function.

"Business improved with the NRA out of the way. Agriculture will improve with the AAA out of the way."

HOUSE APPROVES BONUS ACT; COMES TO UPPER HOUSE

Leaders Foresee Enactment of Bill to Pay in "Baby Bonds"

Clear sailing toward a quick and favorable senate vote on the new coalition bill to pay the soldiers' bonus in cashable "baby bonds" was predicted Tuesday by administration leaders.

Chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee expressed a belief the bill would receive committee approval after Secretary Morgenthau had been questioned in executive session as to the soundness of its financing provisions.

The eventual cost to the government is estimated at $2,491,000,000, but backers of the bill say the immediate expense would be only $1,000,000,000.

It may come up in the senate today. Both administration and veterans' leaders predicted the house would concur with the plan in view of that branch's passage last Friday of a bill which is similar except for the method of payment. The house bill had no specific payment provisions.

Major veterans' organizations have swung into line behind the bill. The attitude of President Roosevelt was not expressed, but senate leaders, who took part in negotiations that led to agreement on the bill, were known to have been animated by the hope they might win Mr. Roosevelt's approval.

MRS. TOM D. SCHALL TO SEEK SENATE POST

Mrs. Thomas D. Schall, widow of the late Republican senator from Minnesota, will seek her husband's seat, it developed Tuesday when a filing blank was forwarded to her through J. L. Drill of St. Paul, former United States district attorney and an intimate friend of her husband.

CIVIC AND COMMERCE ASSOCIATION HOLDS BIG MEET THURSDAY

School enrollment, he said, reached a high point of 1,660 in 1923, after which there was a slump for a few years followed by a gradual rise after 1927, with the high school enrollment stabilized during the past few years around the 600 mark.

Turning to the financial aspect Mr. Bye stated that with three new school buildings constructed in a ten-year period the indebtedness of the school district reached a high point of $295,000 in 1921, since when there has been a steady reduction to a balance of $118,000 as of February 1 this year.

He traced the course of the school tax rate from 26.4 mills in 1915 to a peak of 69.9 mills and then to the present figure of 39.5 mills. The reduction in the tax rate, he pointed out, was effected in spite of a corresponding reduction in assessed valuations in the school district from a high mark of $1,947,000 in 1920 to $1,650,000 in 1932 and $1,392,000 in 1935.

In concluding his remarks Mr. Bye said that while the junior and senior high schools are filled nearly to capacity, there is ample room for expansion in the grade school buildings. When additional facilities are required, he added, the affairs of the district will be in such condition as to permit new construction without imposing any serious financial burden on local taxpayers.

Judge Brattland said that since coming to Thief River Falls last October, his impression, based on many years of observation, that this is a very active community has been confirmed.

Secretary Paul Lundgren read the association's financial report for 1935, and submitted the report of the nominating committee listing 14 candidates for the seven directorial posts to be filled in the annual election next Thursday.

MARSHALL MAN IS ELECTED AS HEAD OF FARM BUREAU

Biggest State Convention Concluded in St. Paul Last Thursday

Frank W. White, of Marshall, was elected president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation at the 17th annual convention, which was concluded in St. Paul on Jan. 9. Mr. White succeeds A. J. Olson, of Renville, who has been president since 1928. Mr. White was born at Marshall in 1886, graduated from the School of Agriculture in 1906 and the College of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, in 1911. He helped to organize the Lyon County Farm Bureau and served as its secretary until his election to the state legislature in 1929. In his four terms in that body he has won a position of leadership in farm legislation. He is a member of the major agricultural committees of the house.

Interested in all farm cooperative activities, Mr. White is a director of Land O'Lakes Creameries, serving District 12. He is a member of the Lyon county Corn-Hog committee, and has taken an active part in local administration of the AAA program.

Mr. Olson, the retiring president, has been an officer of the Minnesota Farm Bureau since its inception, serving as vice president until 1928, when he became president. He was elected successively for the next annual terms. He is a member of several national agricultural committees and a regent of the University of Minnesota. Ole A. Flaat, Fisher and H. M. Sword, Deer River, were re-elected first and second vice presidents, respectively. J. W. Stevenson, Winnebago, and George Schwartau, Red Wing, were re-elected to the executive board.

The convention was the largest ever held by the Farm Bureau, 62 counties being officially represented. Attendance at the four-day session was estimated at 1,500. Hundreds of township units sent in delegates.

Vice President Garner has been forced to abandon his practice of walking to keep physically fit. People always are stopping him to ask if he is not the vice president. This reminds him that he is and spoils the whole day.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

GROUP OF COUNTY RESIDENTS GO TO FARM WEEK AT 'U'

3,200 Register at Farm and Home Week Conducted in St. Paul

Shattering all previous Farm and Home Week attendance records, 3,200 visitors registered at University Farm, St. Paul, last week for the thirty-sixth annual short course. Pennington county was represented by L. A. Nelson, Mrs. Lee Beebe and Willard Yonke of St. Hilaire; Mrs. Herman Jepson of Hazel; and County Agent R. M. Douglass.

The program for the week was one of the most extensive ever offered, with nearly 250 topics handled in separate lectures and demonstrations, in addition to the entertainment and inspirational sessions.

Finals in the third annual state one-act play contest were run off on three afternoons with the auditorium packed to capacity. Blue Earth county won the championship plaque with its play "Just Like a Woman" while Ramsey county placed second and Meeker county third. Other district winners competing were Wabasha, Nicollet, Lake, Itasca and Goodhue counties.

3,000 MILES ROADS WERE IMPROVED IN MINNESOTA IN '35

Commissioner Elsberg Releases Summary of Year's Work

The Minnesota highway department improved the condition of more than 3,000 miles of trunk highways in 1935, according to a summary of the year's work announced by Commissioner N. W. Elsberg.

The improvements included: Grading, 228 miles; regrading, 42 miles; new graveling, 162 miles; re-graveling, 450 miles; new bituminous treatments, 318 miles; bituminous re-treatments, 1,119 miles; bituminous shoulder treatments, 85 miles; plant mix bituminous surfacing, 78 miles; concrete paving completed or under contract, 103 miles; subgrade treatment, 87 miles; gravel lifts, 10 miles; dust laying treatment, 130 miles.

The department also constructed more than 50 bridges and eliminated 39 railway grade crossings.

More than 60 roadside development projects increasing the beauty and safety of the highways were carried out. These were largely done as relief labor projects or with other special federal funds. Civilian Conservation corps camps cooperated with the department in a considerable amount of this work.

The projects included obliteration of construction scars, widening of shoulders, flattening and seeding of slopes, construction of roadside parking areas and cooperation with local communities in developing park sites along highways.

PLANS GO AHEAD FOR WINTER SHOWS FEBRUARY 3 TO 7

Annual Premium List Given Out by Manager John Saugstad

An attractive Winter Shows premium list dressed in the Winter Shows colors, green and yellow, has just been forwarded to prospective exhibitors by John Saugstad, business manager. In addition to general information, rules and regulations, the 56 page publication contains photographs of the Red River Valley Livestock association buildings in which the Winter Shows exhibits will be housed, group photographs of the Board of Managers and sponsoring organizations, together with department officials.

Mr. Saugstad states that all industrial space has been engaged, while department superintendents anticipate increased entries in all departments. O. M. Kiser reports more entries in the livestock department on January 10 than ever before so far in advance of the show. It has been necessary to limit entries in the livestock sale which will be held during the week as a total of 60 head had been consigned by the first of the year. Greater interest is likewise evident in the crops and poultry departments according to supervisors R. S. Dunham, T. M. McCall, and Harold Thomforde.

Copies of the premium list may be obtained by writing John Saugstad, Crookston, or the Northwest School. Officials are working on the final printed program which will be available well in advance of Winter Shows Week, February 3 to 7.

Over forty speakers and judges have been engaged to address the various meetings and make the awards. Outstanding among the speakers will be M. L. Wilson, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.; Upton Close, New York City, who will discuss the Japanese situation; Dean W. C. Coffey, Dr. E. C. Stakman, Dr. H. K. Hayes, and Professor Henry Schmitz, chief of the forestry department, and W. H. Peters, all from University Farm; Miss Gratia Countryman, Minneapolis city librarian, and others.

Auto Registrations Set New Mark for Minnesota

Registration of motor vehicles in Minnesota in 1935 went over the three-quarter million mark, about 26,000 over the 1934 figure and 6,000 over the previous record of 744,271 in 1930, according to a compilation by the Portland Cement Association. Total travel in the state in 1935 is estimated at 5,500,000,000 vehicle miles and total expenditures for new cars, trucks, gasoline, lubricants, tires, repairs, service and accessories, at $250,000,000.

MUSKRAT SEASON TO BE OPENED IN MARCH

Members of the Conservation Commission last week approved an open season for muskrats for a twelve day period between March 1 and April 20. The exact dates will be announced later by A. C. Hanson, director of the division of game and fish.

The season will be limited to counties in the eastern half of the state, a recent survey having indicated that muskrats are relatively scarce in the drouth-stricken western counties but plentiful in eastern sections of the state.

RIFLE SHOT TO HAIL NEW YEAR K.O.'s TELEPHONES

Little Falls.—At the stroke of 12, as old 1935 took flight and 1936 came in, an unidentified person stood in an alley in Little Falls, all set to usher in the new year. Pressed against his shoulder was a 30-30 rifle, poised high in the air. He pulled the trigger and the bullet mushroomed thru a telephone cable carrying 404 fine copper wires. Instantly some 140 telephones in the north end of the city went out of commission. Within a few minutes there was a call for emergency repair crew. The bad piece was cut out and the two good ends stripped back while workmen set themselves to the tedious task of splicing each pair of wires. A two-way signal system was required for every splice so that the proper connections were made. The work was completed 22 hours after the break, altho many phones were in service before then. This is how a crew of telephone workmen spent New Years day!

GOODRIDGE

Club Meets Friday

Remember the Community Club meeting on Friday evening, Jan. 17, at 8 o'clock at the school house. Everyone welcome.

Plummer Wins

The Goodridge high school basket ball team went to Plummer on Friday night and met defeat again at the hands of the Plummer team. The score was 15 to 25. It is tough luck for our boys, but they are very much handicapped not having a gymnasium to practice in at home, they naturally can't put in the time practicing when they have to drive twenty four miles or more each time they are going to practice. The members of the faculty, part of the Pep Squad, and some other students as well as Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Urdahl, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Helland, and Rev. O. O. Bjorgan accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Noer entertained on Saturday evening at their home. A social time was enjoyed and at midnight lunch was served, the guests including, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Obed Sabo, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McDonald, Mrs. Olga Peterson, Ethel Moquin, J. N. Swanson and sons Gene and Ernest and Harry McDonald.

Cough Spoiled Show for Theater Audience

"We were in the fifth row in a New York theater. At a tense dramatic moment my old cough returned and completely spoiled the scene for the entire audience. But I'll never be humiliated that way again, for I keep Thoxine in the medicine cabinet and use at the first sign of throat irritation." Thoxine is the time-tested remedy for common sore throat and for coughs due to colds. It's better because it contains a new expectorant which helps to loosen phlegm quickly. Perfectly safe for children or adults—no harmful drugs. At all druggists—35c. J. & B. Drug Store.

Children's Colds Should Have This Safe Treatment

Young Mothers Benefit from Two Generations' Proof of This External Treatment For Fighting Colds.

There's nothing like a child's cold to upset a young mother. And mothers of two generations, anxious to help end colds, have depended on Vicks VapoRub. It is effective—external—and safe. It avoids the risks of constant "dosing," so often upsetting to children's delicate digestions.

Just rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime, VapoRub acts two ways at once:

1. By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster—
2. By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapors, released by body heat and breathed in direct to inflamed air-passages.

Continuing through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion.

A Practical Guide for Mothers. Each year, more and more families are being helped to fewer colds and shorter colds by Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Vicks Plan has been clinically tested by practicing physicians, and further proved in everyday home use by millions. Full details of the Plan in each package of Vicks VapoRub.

Over 26 Million Vick Aids Used Yearly for Better Control of Colds

GIFT DOG WALKS BACK HOME 8 MILES IN BLIZZARD

Breckenridge.—E. G. Gesterling gave his dog to a farmer, residing 8 miles from Breckenridge. The farmer was going to give the dog to his son as a Christmas present. The dog became lonesome and just as the dusk of Christmas evening fell, started for his old home in Breckenridge. The dog traveled the distance through the bad storm, only to find the home of the Gesterling's empty, as the family had moved. The faithful beast lay down on the front porch, and when found was almost covered with snow.

Red River Valley History

Early Day Hunting Parties

About the time when this section of the country was being opened this region was a hunter's paradise renowned over the entire nation. In fact, it was even known in Europe as a result of the enthusiastic reports of Britishers who had come down from Manitoba to hunt here. We have referred to this "paradise" before but offer new facts here.

Most readers know that Charles Hallock, New York sportsman and editor of sportsmen's magazines, founded the city of Hallock as a gathering place for eastern hunters. But it probably is not as well known that the hunting parties that came out suggested the safaris of Indian princes in Asia. In the vicinity as soon as the railroad was built through wealthy sportsmen who came in private cars hunted to their hearts' content. While the area was removed a short distance from the heavily wooded areas the haunts of deer, elk, moose and caribou could be reached readily from here and prairie chickens, grouse, wild geese and ducks, sand hill cranes and other wild fowl were numerous.

Minnesota History says:

"Some of the wealthier sportsmen kept complete wagon outfits constantly in readiness, which, according to Hallock, they shipped 'in a box car hither and yon at will.' One enthusiastic St. Paul hunter, E. R. Warner, the superintendent of the American Express company, according to the same writer, ingeniously transformed an express wagon into a hunting cart, with sections for ice, provisions and equipment, racks for guns, lockers for ammunition and a canvas-covered kennel large enough for half a dozen dogs."

"A canvas awning provided shade and there were side curtains that could be buttoned on for protection against rain. The seats were fitted with easy springs and the sides were low enough to permit easy mounting and dismounting—a great advantage on a hunt for upland game. All the railroad lines had special coaches, called 'business cars', fitted with bunks and cooking apparatus which might be chartered by hunting parties and run over the lines to any point desired."

Next we encounter a report on a hunting party that undoubtedly visited this section.

"It remained for a party from the east to show Minnesota sportsmen how to hunt in the grand manner. In the fall of 1875 a group of hunters from Worchester, Mass., including Jerome Marble and C. C. Houghton, arrived in Brainerd to hunt upland game birds. The Northern Pacific railroad furnished them with a car fitted with berths, tables and cooking apparatus and in it they traveled over the line of the road to the Red river valley. Their car was placed on sidings and they hunted leisurely along the way."

It is likely that the Great Northern also acted as host to these hunters and that they came up to the "paradise." We know that Marbel and Houghton returned in 1876 and 1877 with their wives and daughters and two English army officers. They had hunting dogs and every facility and convenience for hunting.

But even this grandeur was not enough for Marble. In 1878 he came out in a private car which attracted much attention. The interior was finished in "lake color" and ornamented with gold leaf and silver mouldings. The steps were mahogany with brass treads. The equipment included a large refrigerator, coal box and water tank. There were lockers for ice and vegetables. The interior was finished in black walnut, rosewood, mahogany, gold leaf and silver plate. The furniture was upholstered in crimson plush, the curtains were of silk damask and the carpet velvet brussels. There was a reading room and a "grand drawing room and dining room." Other equipment included a Needham musical cabinet and silver-plated oil lamps.

We present these facts here to show what was happening at the time the settlers were living more or less miserable in shanties and cabins and subsisting on the plainest and coarsest fare. In those days the wealthy were far more ostentatious and the gulf between their status and that of the commoner was greater.

Today Louis Hill of the Great Northern comes up in his private car and President Jaffray of the Soo Line is another distinguished hunter who comes here. Then Ed Bremer, the St. Paul brewer and kidnap victim is a regular visitor to Northern Minnesota and there are many others. All bring equipment to make their hunting trip pleasant, but most of them travel in motor cars. The main difference between the present and the pioneer period lies in the fact that the commoner can enjoy most of the comforts of the rich. A large modern motor car is more convenient in some ways than a railway coach. As for music, a radio in the car is not expensive. Good guns are within the reach of all and the game plays no favorites. In this sport at least the gap between the rich and the commoner has narrowed considerably.

Keep Your Wife Out of the Coal Bin

No wonder wives are unpleasant when hubby comes home—after they spend the day shovelling dirty coal. You don't have to use the shovel frequently when you burn NORSEMAN coal—it burns slowly, steadily and gives plenty of heat. NORSEMAN actually costs less because it goes farther.

Plummer School Notes

New officers for the Happy Helpful Club were chosen. Harold Norby was elected president, Chas. Richards vice president and Laurel Groom secretary-treasurer.

Irene Lee is back with us after a long absence due to the fact that her brother was ill with scarlet fever.

Thursday the first meeting of the Agricultural Evening School was held. The dates for the next two meetings are Jan. 16th and Jan. 23. All interested in this type of work are cordially invited to attend. —A very interesting and colorful play has been chosen to be presented at the next meeting of the Plummer Parent Teacher Association. It is to be given Jan. 30th. Keep that evening open for it. —Next Friday, Jan. 17th the Plummer Basketball team goes to Crookston for a return game. The boys are practicing faithfully and working hard, so anyone who can go up is sure to see a good game.

The Senior Class of the Plummer High School is starting work on their class play "Campus Quarantine" by Robert Ray.

A small but very interested group attended the first session of the Agricultural Evening School last Thursday night. The next meeting, Jan. 16, is to be devoted to the topic of selection and culling of chickens and turkeys. Actual demonstrations will be given.

At the January 23 meeting diseases will be studied. Anyone having any diseased birds is requested to bring them dead or alive. Post mortem examinations will be made of both diseased and healthy chickens, so that comparisons and diagnosis of diseases can be made.

The Goodridge-Plummer showed that the Cardinals have greatly improved in form in the last month and that they are able to play a deliberate type of game. Their teamwork was excellent and the defense airtight. The passing was accurate and the shooting pleasant to watch. There was little dribbling. Dean Schoenauer was out with a sore foot but Thorsvelt who substituted at center for him shared honors with Ed Langlie on the offensive.

Gordon Langlie and Jack Ripple played their usual dependable defensive game. Russell Pahlen got in for a few minutes and garnered a basket for himself. Lester Hanson is expected to be able to play the second semester and Stanley Karlstad becomes eligible also. This will not only increase the squad but strengthen it too.

Watch for home games.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

WARREN DEFEATED BY THE LOCAL "A" AND "B" SQUADS

Mickelson Is High Scorer for Locals; Nelson Is 2nd

Last Friday the Prowler A and B squads journeyed to Warren to play their first game of the season against their ancient rivals, the Warren High School basketball team. The "B" team took a comparatively easy victory to the tune of 44 to 11. Although the main game ended with a trifle closer score, it, also, was a very decisive victory for the Prowlers, ending at 33 to 19.

The first two points of the game were made for Thief River Falls by Mickelson. After this the two teams just kept alternating baskets and it started out to be a very close game. The tally at the end of the first quarter was a tie, 6 to 6. In the second quarter the locals broke away from their opponents so that at the end of the first half they had gained eight points and the scoreboard showed the figures 20 to 12 in favor of the Prowlers.

The third quarter saw the locals adding four more points to their already eight point lead making the score 16 to 28. The fourth period led to the final score of 33 to 19.

Although Mickelson went out of the game on personal fouls, he was high point man for the Prowlers, accounting for six field goals and one free throw. Bud Nelson was next in line for scoring honors, making three field goals and two free throws. Engelstad was high point man for Warren scoring four field goals and two free throws.

The box score of the game follows:

Warren	FG	FT	PF
Engelstad	4	2	3
Bosman	1	0	1
Carlson	0	1	2
Mjelle	1	1	4
Wilson	1	1	1

LINCOLN HIGH TIMES

Newly matched couples in good old L. H. S.: Ray Parbet and Hettie Gustafson, Vernon Williams and Alice Protz.

And were the sopranos in the chorus surprised to get the gong last Monday! We think some others needed it.

At last our Lochinvar of high school has been conquered. And a thousand girls of L. H. S. are weeping bitter tears. Or are they? At least the lucky girl in the question is Brunell E.

Bet James N. had one swell time at the Warren game. Did you see Genevive S., James?

And why was Jerome S. so anxious to go to Warren? It couldn't be because Elizabeth S. lives there!

We bet the basketball boys were plenty mad when they had to come right home from Warren Friday night.

And, speaking of before Christmas vacation (and who is?) since when does it take two people to light a few candles? (Are your faces cerise, Miss Springen and Mr. Lanning?)

And who took Brunell to the game Sunday? Jack B.? No. Wayne? No. None other than our woman-hater, Bud N. What's happening?

We hear —— wasn't home so early or was it too early Saturday P. M. Also that Lorraine B. was the cause. Thought you were reforming.

And did Eric have a crimson countance (refined for red mug) when he and Margaret D. fell at the Dance Saturday. What happened, Eric?

And another new couple in high school. Joyce Bennes and Erling Melby.

And Harriet O'H. missed well-earned beauty sleep Sunday night because Floyd C. was over from Warren. Oh, well it was worth it, eh, Harriet?

John L. Lewis must have felt that he had a Green signal to go.—Indianapolis News.

SAFETY CONTEST STARTS MONDAY

M. P. S. Committee Sponsors Contest Open to Students

The Minnesota Public Safety Committee announces a "Safety Poster" Contest for all high school art students in Minnesota. The contest opened Monday, January 13, and closes February 29.

The contest rules are as follows:

1. Every contestant must submit at least two posters, Monday if desired.
2. Posters must be finished on bristol board or on reproduction board. India ink must be used.
3. Every poster must be 15 inches wide and 13 inches long.
4. Put your name, address, age, and school on back of each poster.
5. Posters must be postmarked not later than midnight, Saturday, February 29.
6. Forward posters by parcel post to Minnesota Public Safety Committee State Capital, St. Paul.
7. Have each poster depict a clear concise safety message. Have the lettering bold and clear. Try to get as much action as possible in your posters.

Prizes are as follows:

1. First two are 175 dollar course at the Federal Schools, Incorporated Minneapolis.
2. A one term (three months) course at St. Paul School of Art. The instructors will receive a genuine leather letter case.
3. The next five will receive a drawing outfit containing a drawing board, T square, triangle, beginner's drawing paper, two lead pencils, crayon, two water color brushes, pen holder and four drawing pens, thumb tacks, two erasers, tubes of chinese white water color, tube of lamp black, and bottle of water proof drawing ink.

BALLY-WHO

You may talk of your school spirit and pep but that half dozen or so young vagabonds from Lincoln High with their cowbells and superb yelling and outbursts of basketball enthusiasm certainly did it up royally at the Warren game. They made practically as much noise as the entire Warren school.

Wanted by solid geometry class—21 swivel chairs for turning around during a review—or else a revolving blackboard.

Ah! At last the boys have found something that seems to get the majority of the girl's "Nannies". Hunting caps are the boy's order of the day.

The Warren coach's opinion of our basketeers —"Smaller, but built like truck horses; for instance, Roy Lee."

Wonder why about a dozen of the solid geometry students were herded upstairs to the assembly by Mrs. Korstad.

Why does Bob. R. drive around the block three or four times before he enters the show with his so-and-so?

To top all that has been said or thought about the foot-ball—basketball —game last Sunday, we have the astonishing young "Miss" who had to ask who that handsome boy was playing ball—meaning the Coach.

ALUMNI NEWS

The following former students of Lincoln High School spent the holidays in their respective homes in this city: Attending the University of Minnesota: Arthur Douville, David Belcher, Robert Chommie, Walter Mann, John Biederman, John Chommie, and George Biederman; from Concordia College: Theodore Quale, Arnhild, Ralph and Ruth Fjelstad, and Stella and Arthur Myrom; attending other colleges: Kendall Gustafson, Ernest Helquist, Evelyn Kinsela, Walter Kinghorn, William Korstad, Violet Kelly, Helen Hermanson, Robert Oden and Inga Loken.

MAKING THE ROUNDS

Miss Diebel's history classes have just completed the Jacksonian Era. They have begun to study The Expansion to the Pacific Coast.

The eighth grade home economic classes are just finishing their cotton garments.

Miss Dahlen's general science classes have completed the unit on electricity and are ready to study the unit on communication—travel by car, airplane, boat and by telephone, telegraph and radio.

The bookkeeping classes have started their Practice Sets. These will require six weeks to be completed.

Miss Lunder's home economic classes are preparing for the semester exams.

Miss Helquist's biology class has started the unit on soil.

GREENBUSH TO BE T. R. F. FOE NEXT TUESDAY

Game Will be Played in Auditorium Tuesday

On Tuesday evening, January 21, the Prowlers meet the Greenbush five at the Auditorium.

In their meeting early in the season the Prowlers won by a score of 34-18. Greenbush is led by Trangsrud, a fast, shifty forward, and Swanstrom, sharp shooting center, with the rest of the starting lineup as Bialki, forward, and Paulson and Longren, guards.

In reviewing the Prowler's schedule so far we find that they have won four games and lost one and have scored 136 points to the opponent's 113. This means that the average score has been Prowlers, 27-opponents, 22. After the Warren game the Prowlers were as yet undefeated in Minnesota with their one loss suffered at the hands of Grand Forks Central.

At four o'clock tomorrow afternoon, we will have completed one-half of the regular school year. Last September, the seniors, in a class meeting, decided that they wanted a full size 96-page Prowler for the class of '36. The decision was unanimous!

To finance the Annual a dollar a semester was to be subscribed to by each and every student. That was thought necessary to satisfactorily carry the Prowler through the presses. Since there had been little or no attempt to collect class dues before this time, it seemed reasonable enough. Decision: nearly 100%.

But when the collectors were assigned and the drive begun, the active response was the emphatic "No"! Decision: about 40% of the senior class of Lincoln High school paid their class dues!

A class meeting was called early in December to discover what chance the now fast-slipping "Prowler" had. The students insisted, and rightly enough, that they were in favor of it, but again when class dues were solicited, a meager sum was added to the wilted treasury of the senior class.

Next Monday the second semester begins and with it comes the "threatening" figure of the second semester class dues. What to do? What to do? It is just to ask the 40% to pay again and still not get a Prowler or just let it go? Decision: ???

1935 Passes in Review

The second half of this school semester begins next Monday. Below is a chronological table of the important events which have occurred in Lincoln High School since school began on September tenth.

CASS LAKE LOSES TO LOCAL QUINT IN FAST GAME

Mickelson and Nesse Play Best Game for Locals

On Friday, December 20, the Cass Lake High school team, who have been the victors over both Bemidji and East Grand Forks, met the Prowlers on the local floor at the auditorium, only to go down in defeat under very brilliant offensive and defensive play rendered by the local team. The final score stood at 23 to 18.

Cass Lake started the scoring by getting a score of 6-2 over the Prowlers in the first period and ending the quarter on the long end of the score of 6-3. However, in the second quarter the locals overcame the lead and went even a little farther making the tally 10-8 at the end of the first half. The end of the third quarter saw the Lincoln team still in the lead by a slightly higher margin, 16-12.

Mickelson starred for the locals in both offensive and defensive play making six field goals and two free throws. Milt Nesse was next in scoring, accounting for two field goals and one free throw. The entire team, however, deserve much credit for outstanding play against a team whom most people favored to win.

Patzke and Gray were high scorers for Cass Lake.

Flagstad and Helgeson of Roseau did an admirable job in refereeing one of the most exciting and hardest fought game played on the local floor in recent years.

In the preliminary game the Prowlers second team was defeated by Middle River, the final score being 29 to 25.

Below is the box score of the Cass Lake game:

DEBATE NEWS

Last week debate practice was again started. Mr. Montague, debate coach, has chosen two three-men teams. The team to support the affirmative is composed of Fae Belcher, Oscar Bickley, and Morris Engelstad. Those defending the negative are Margaret McKechnie, Philip Prichard, and Malcolm Magnuson. The question for debate is "Resolved: that the several states enact legislation providing for a system of complete medical service available to all citizens at public expense" The first practice debate will take place Tuesday, January 14.

ETIQUETTE

We have gathered points here and there and molded them into our ideas of the model boy and girl.

There have been several requests for points on a model student. Such requests were welcomed. In addition, the points concerning these requests were also welcomed.

First: Courtesy is outstanding. It is noticed everywhere, although nothing may be said. The minute one slips up on a little thing he certainly is made aware of his mistake.

Second: Neatness is always recognized and admired. Such small items as keeping one's hair combed, fingernails clean, locker or desk in order, and neat written work all come under neatness.

Third: Promptness in arriving and handling in written work is always good for one's credit. In case some unforseen obstacle should suddenly appear to detain the promptness of homework, the teacher would be glad to make an exception, providing the homework was handed in soon and providing that such occasions didn't happen too often.

Fourth: The class room is no place for eating candy and chewing gum. Eating candy diverts the mind from its occupation and gum chewing is very often and very sadly conspicuous. Some teachers say chewing gum isn't unmannerly if it isn't seen and heard every where.

Fifth: A person, once caught doing under-handed things such as talking when the teacher turns around or passing a note inside a book, is there-after suspected and watched. It is better to do these things out-right than to do them under-handedly because the latter shows cowardice which is good for nobody's reputation.

Sixth: Laughing at other people's mistakes shows very bad taste and no respect for the feelings of other people. Just remember, you make mistakes and it isn't a very comfortable feeling to be laughed at on such an occasion.

Seventh: Making small noises such as tapping a pencil or tapping the top of one's shoe against the floor is annoying and very distracting to the person reciting or those around trying to study.

Eighth: When the need for a handkerchief comes, use one. A student's necessity in school should include a handkerchief. What ever you do, don't sit and make yourself and those around uncomfortable by annoying noises.

This article is for the sole benefit of those students who wish to better themselves in these ways.

Apparently the new deal has passed its Peek—Dallas Morning News.

PROWLERS WILL MEET BEMIDJI FRIDAY EVENING

Visitors to Present Veteran Team in Contest at Auditorium

Tomorrow evening the Prowlers make their sixth start of the season against the veteran Bemidji quint.

Bemidji's Coach Robbins promises to put a veteran quint on the floor with at least one letterman for each position and two for some. The Lumberjacks are led by the elongated, all-state center, Norman Galloway. The other positions are expected to be filled by the following men: Johnson, McCormick, Slosson and Bush. In McCormick, Robbins has a star guard and long shot artist who combines with Galloway to form a high scoring combination. Although Bemidji lost to both Cass Lake and East Grand Forks, these losses were both by only one point. Bemidji has older players who may start slower than other inexperienced teams but usually end up strong.

The Prowlers have still been having only light practices to give them rest and try to clear up an epidemic of infections, which have been suffered by most of the team's members. They enter this game as a slight underdog, but an upset is very probable. The usual starting lineup is expected with Lorentson and Bud Nelson at forwards, Mickelson at center, and Art Nelson, Jung or Nesse at guards.

Among our future opponent's scores last week were the following: Ada, 20—Crookston, 14 and East Grand Forks, 65—Climax, 6.

2. Solveig F. Shooting baskets.
3. The gals all going "ga ga" over that new hip-reducing exercise.
4. Not so-o-o much playing of "that infernal duet" (Thanks a Million, you who used to play it.)
5. Basketball season's started! (for the girls!)
6. Peg G. and Yvonne A. sang us a cute solo one day. (The Music Goes Round and Round)

Yowsah! It has started! For our clever advisor, Miss Helquist, is starting out the G. A. A. season with a "color" tournament. There are eight teams. Below are listed the names of the captains and the colors of the team: Marion Green, Captain of Purple; Bernice Syverson, Captain of Green; Lorraine Lechelt, Captain of Pink; Peg Gustafson, Captain of Red; Mary Chommie, Captain of Black; Ranna Folkedal, Captain of Blue; Margaret McKechnie, Captain of Yellow; and Ruth Goethe, Captain of Orange.

The color tournament was arranged so as to provide a less montonous way of practicing for basketball. A good idea, isn't it? We'll see you next week and tell you more about it.

LEGISLATURE WILL ADJOURN FRIDAY NOON

House Passes Old-Age Pension Bill Unanimously Wednesday

REPEAL EXEMPTION OF HOUSEHOLD GOODS

House Passes $8,700,000 Relief Bill; Acted on by Senate Today

Partisanship was forgotten for a time in the Minnesota house Wednesday and the lower branch made rapid progress toward cleaning up its docket of work by passing both relief and pension bills preparatory to adjourning sine die Friday noon. Both houses passed a resolution setting Friday noon for adjournment.

With little or no argument, the house voted 97 to 27 to pass an amended relief bill calling for $8,730,000 for the period ending June 30, 1937, then moved quickly to approve the controversial old age pension measure by the unanimous vote of 126 to 0 after a brief flurry of argument followed by an announcement of 39 minority members that they voted for the proposition because "it apparently is the only alternative."

Both houses probably will work Thursday night since the relief bills calls for $3,750,000 more than conservative senators have indicated they would be willing to approve. This measure will not be received by the upper branch until today and a conference committee will be appointed immediately.

Simultaneously with house action in passing the two remaining major bills the senate gave final legislative approval to the measure repealing a 1935 law, under which household goods were exempted from taxation as personal property. Another feature of that repeal act increased the $25 exemption on personal property to $100, or the same as was in effect prior to 1935.

As passed by the house, the pension bill provides for monthly benefits of $30 or less without any requirement for pensioners to give counties or the state a lien on their homestead or other property. However, in exchange for receding from this stand, the senate was granted the right to incorporate in the bill a provision that children of the pensioners could be sued by the county for all or part of the aid granted if such contributions could be made by the children "without undue hardship."

SEVEN DIRECTORS NAMED BY C. C. AT LUNCHEON TODAY

Fourteen Nominated for Six Two-Year Terms and One for One Year

Announcement of the election of seven directors of the Civic and Commerce association, six for two-year terms and the seventh for one year, was to be made today at the noon luncheon of the association. Voting has been in progress the past week, with the polls closing at 12:15 today.

Fourteen names submitted for the offices by the nominating committee include those of Andrew Anderson, John Barzen, Dr. Edward Bratrud, Morris Bye, W. E. Dahlquist, Leon J. Kaliher, Ole Lee, Robert J. Lund, Paul A. Lundgren, A. W. Mickelson, H. E. Nelson, B. O. Norby, H. M. Olson and A. C. Peterson.

At last Thursday's meeting John Taylor, who recently established in this city for the resettlement project at Mud lake, gave an interesting discussion of the duties of his office.

Plan Reorganization of the Municipal Band

Tentative plans for the revival of the municipal band, with a full-time leader under the supervision of the park board, were discussed at a meeting last Thursday evening. It was proposed that financial support be solicited from local organizations, and that the band director assist in the work of the Legion auxiliary drum corps. Whether or not the plan materializes depends on the amount of support given the proposal, it was indicated.

Sentenced for Selling in City Without License

C. W. Ross, giving his home address as Muncie, Indiana, was picked up by Police Chief A. B. Stenberg Friday at the Great Northern depot. In municipal court Tuesday he pleaded guilty to a charge of peddling without a license, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or serve ten days in jail. He is now serving out his sentence. Chief Stenberg stated that other charges may be preferred against Ross before he is released.

Butterfat Price Paid by Creamery Reaches Long-Time High Level

Reflecting the satisfactory level of butterfat prices prevailing this winter, the Thief River Falls cooperative creamery last week set a price of 38 cents for December deliveries of sweet cream butterfat and 36 cents for sour cream. Manager G. S. Bergland said today that records at the creamery indicate these prices are the highest paid locally in at least four years. A total of 31,000 pounds of butter was manufactured in December compared to 20,000 in the same month of 1934. For the week ending January 21 butter churned amounted to 116 tubs, exactly twice the total of 58 for the corresponding period a year ago.

RAILROADS HERE INAUGURATE NEW FREIGHT SERVICE

Put in Effect This Week Free Pickup and Delivery Service

Railroad companies serving Thief River Falls and other communities in the central and western parts of the country this week are putting into effect a free pickup and delivery service on freight shipments, local agents announced this week. Detailed information can be obtained from them.

The free service applies to less-than-carload shipments, and within the business district of the city. It does not include delivery of articles weighing more than 800 pounds unless suitable facilities and additional help are furnished by the shipper or consignee.

The plan calls for the use of local draymen as before. Where consignee or consignor wishes to make his own pickup or delivery, an allowance of five cents per hundredweight will be made. In the case of intrastate shipments only one allowance and one free delivery can be made under a ruling by the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission, it was explained.

Red River District to Meet Sunday, Monday at Augustana Church Here

Augustana Lutheran church in this city will be the scene of a series of meetings of the Red River district Sunday and Monday, Rev. H. A. Larson, acting pastor, announced this week. Morning, afternoon and evening sessions will be held, the speakers including Rev. A. A. Larson, Warren; Rev. S. L. Swenson, Clearbrook; Dr. S. W. Swenson; Rev. Aner Bloom, Grand Forks; Rev. W. Erickson, Hallock; Rev. Arvid Larson, Roseau; Rev. John Erickson, Warroad; P. O. Anderson Badger; Rev. John Sutherland, Kennedy; Rev. R. Erickson, Strandquist; Royal Peterson, Williams; and Rev. K. Nelson, Lancaster.

ODD FELLOWS TO HOLD BIG MEETING HERE FEBRUARY 1

Twin City Degree Team Will Confer First Degree on District Class

One of the best degree teams of the Twin Cities Odd Fellow Lodges will come to Thief River Falls Saturday February 1, to confer the first degree on a class of candidates from the 35th district comprising the I. O. O. F. lodges of Thief River Falls, Red Lake Falls and Fisher.

A number of Grand Officers of the order will also be present as well as representatives from the neighboring Odd Fellows Lodges. Between two and three hundred visitors are expected.

The degree will be conferred in the Sons of Norway Hall which has been engaged for that occasion, the local Odd Fellow hall being too small to handle the crowd.

John Arnold Passes Minnesota Board Exams

John Arnold, in the employ of the J. & R. drug store and formerly employed for two years by Roy Lambert, early this week was notified that he had passed successfully the examinations of the Minnesota state board of pharmacy and is now authorized to practice as a full fledged pharmacist. He took the examinations in Minneapolis Monday and Tuesday of last week. Mr. Arnold was graduated from the North Dakota state school of pharmacy in the spring of 1934, and subsequently passed the state board examinations in North Dakota.

Cites Changes in Old Laws Affecting Assessment of Property

In response to numerous inquiries from taxpayers in the rural sections of the county regarding increases in their personal property tax assessments, County Auditor A. M. Senstad today submitted the following statement relative to changes in the laws governing the assessments:

Several factors enter into the case to a greater or lesser degree, such as: The increase in value of livestock; the increase in the state tax rate; the increase in the county tax rate, but by far the greatest factor is the change in the tax and assessment law governing personal property.

It will be remembered that a constitutional amendment was submitted to the voters of this state at the general election in 1934, amending Section 1 of Article IX, which provided among other things that household goods and farm machinery might be exempted from taxation as the legislature might determine. This amendment was adopted by the required vote.

By Chapter 388 Laws 1935, Section 1975 Mason's Minnesota Statutes of 1927 was amended to read in part as follows:

All property described in this section to the extent herein limited shall be exempt from taxation, to-wit:

(8) all household goods of every household.

(9) All farm machinery of each farm used for agricultural or farming purposes except tractors, silo cutters, silo fillers, threshing machines, combines, corn shellers and pea vinars.

(10) Other personal property of every household to the value of $25.

Under the old law all household goods were assessed at 25% of its true and full value, and farm machinery at 10% of its true and full value. A householder was allowed an exemption of $100.

In most cases the assessed value of the household goods and farm machinery did not amount to $100 consequently the balance of the exemption was taken out of the remaining property. Under the present law all household goods and farm machinery are exempt, plus an additional $25 to householders.

In all cases where the assessed value of the household goods and farm machinery was not $75, (the difference between the old $100 householders exemption and the new $25 exemption) the personal property taxable valuation and the tax based thereon must of necessity be larger.

In the cases where the farmer has a large amount of farm machinery, and household goods, possibly the tax might be less than a year ago, but in the cases where the value of the household goods and machinery are small the taxes are necessarily larger.

A person owing household goods, machinery and other personal property that is not a householder is benefited by this law as his machinery and household goods are now exempted from taxation whereas he formerly paid taxes upon all his property.

A person residing in a village, or city, for instance, owning nothing but household goods is exempt from taxation upon his personal property entirely under the present law.

A. Magnuson Tuesday Elected Director of Northern State Bank

At the first annual meeting of stockholders of the Northern State bank of Thief River Falls Tuesday, A. M. Magnuson, proprietor of the Independent grocery, was named a director succeeding the late O. D. Ostby. Other directors elected were George A. Belto of Gonvick, E. M. Bennes, C. M. Berg of McIntosh and Rasmus Oen. Officers of the institution were retained, including Mr. Belto, president; Mr. Bennes, vice president; George W. Werstlein, cashier; and A. Skarstad, assistant cashier.

E. P. Burstad Elected President of Sons of Norway Building Corp.

E. P. Burstad was elected president of the Sons of Norway Building corporation at its annual meeting Monday evening. Other officers named are Ed Ness, vice president; T. J. Reierson, secretary; and John Gullingsrud, treasurer and manager. Directors include Olaf Neset, William Parbet, Mrs. S. J. Anderson, Peter Pederson and Sever Holm. Treasurer Gullingsrud read the financial report for 1935, revealing that the association's indebtedness had been reduced $750 during the year.

Mrs. Traver Secretary of U. C. T. Auxiliary

From the list of officers of the newly organized local auxiliary of the United Commercial Travelers who were installed Tuesday evening of last week was inadvertently omitted the name of Mrs. E. D. Traver, who was inducted into the office of secretary-treasurer.

60 AT MEETING OF PRODUCTION CREDIT GROUP

Members Defy 30-Below-Zero Weather Tuesday to be Present

SECRETARY R. J. LUND REPORTS ON GROWTH

Association Shows Big Increase in Volume in Past Year

Braving 30-below-zero weather Tuesday morning, a group of 60 members of the Thief River Falls Production Credit association and others interested in its activities assembled at the court house for the annual meeting of the organization, which, with the backing of the federal government, is engaged in making chattel loans to farmers in six Northwestern Minnesota counties.

Robert J. Lund, secretary-treasurer, presented his annual report showing that during the past year 277 loans were made for a total of $101,441, compared to 166 loans in 1934 amounting to $63,832. Loans in force at the end of the year aggregated $91,679.85. While all loans are sound at the present time, Mr. Lund stated, a reserve fund of $1,500 has been set up to provide against possible future losses.

The statement revealed that the association had an operating income of $5,583 in 1935 and total operating expenses of $2,973. Total assets at the end of the year were $183,354.

Of the total number of stockholders, it was announced that 139 reside in Pennington county, 76 in Eastern Marshall, 51 in Red Lake, 23 in Roseau, 20 in Northern Beltrami and four in Lake of the Woods.

In the election of directors conducted Tuesday afternoon following the serving of dinner to the members at the Palm Garden cafe, F. S. Erdmann of Red Lake Falls was named to succeed himself for a three-year term, while Bert Grahn of Roseau was elected to succeed L. A. Nelson, thus giving Roseau county representation on the board.

C. A. Fiske of the Production Credit corporation of St. Paul, addressed the meeting, outlining the structure and functions of the various parts of the federal farm credit administration, including the federal land banks, intermediate credit banks, banks for cooperatives and production credit corporations.

Mr. Fiske said the credit corporations came into activity during the depression at a time when private lending agencies had ceased to function, and that it was necessary for the government to step in to prevent a complete breakdown of agriculture.

Mr. Erdmann also spoke briefly on the duties of a director of the association.

At the organization meeting of the board of directors Mr. Erdmann was elected president, succeeding S. E. Hunt; and P. D. Voth was named vice president to succeed L. A. Nelson, Mr. Lund was reelected secretary-treasurer, and John Eastby, assistant secretary-treasurer. Mr. Erdmann and Mr. Voth were placed on the executive and loan committee.

EARL LONG NAMED WORKMENS GROUP BUSINESS AGENT

To Serve Temporarily; Central Committee Headed by Douville

At a meeting Monday evening of the central committee of the Workman's Protective league, Earl Long was named to serve temporarily in the capacity of business agent and William J. Douville was unanimously elected chairman of the committee.

By-laws for the reorganized group were drawn up, and it was announced that applications for membership will be received at the next meeting Monday evening, by which time the necessary blanks will have been printed.

Standing committees appointed at the previous meeting include: Membership: Palmer Pederson, Ed Ahlstrom and H. Ostrom. Grievance: William Douville, W. H. Quist and James Burrell. Project: Earl Long, Art Erickson and Ed Kelly. Legislative: H. Van Pelt, D. K. McFerrin and H. M. Aalbu. Resolutions: Ole Jorgenson, H. Hicks and M. Gillette.

Gullingsrud Receives $12,750 Gas Tax Funds

County Treasurer John Gullingsrud Tuesday received from State Treasurer Julius A. Schmahl a check for $12,750 representing the second half of the 1935 gasoline tax allotment due Pennington county. The money is designated for use on county aid roads in this county.

Fire Wednesday Noon Results in Damage to Park Hotel Property

A blaze originating from a blow torch used to thaw out a frozen pipe in a bathroom at the Park hotel Wednesday noon burned a hole thru the floor and spread to the inside of an adjoining wall before being extinguished, damage from water also resulting.

A few hours later the fire department was summoned to the home of Herman Kjos on West Fourth st. where flames burned a hole thru the floor near the chimney. The interior also was damaged by smoke.

Firemen were called Monday evening to the V. F. Robarge home at 719 Horace av. N. when a chimney fire developed, the blaze being extinguished without causing any damage.

TRINITY CHURCH MEMBERS GIVEN REPORTS FOR '35

G. Legvold, Morris Bye and E. A. Yonke Reelected Trustees

Trinity Lutheran church had a successful year in 1935, both in respect to the work of the church and from a financial standpoint, it was revealed in reports submitted by officers at the annual meeting of the congregation Tuesday evening.

Rev. H. M. Fjelstad, pastor, in his report listed a wide variety of ministerial activities engaged in during the year, and showed that nearly fifty new members were added during the year. Morris Bye reported for the board of trustees, and B. O. Norby in behalf of the Sunday school, while J. H. Hermanson, financial secretary, submitted a report of financial operations. A steady reduction in the outstanding debt has been made in recent years, it was shown.

In the annual election of officers Gunder Legvold, Mr. Bye and E. A. Yonke were reelected trustees for a three-year period, while Theodore Quale was named vice president and Mr. Norby was reappointed Sunday school superintendent. Dr. O. F. Melby was reappointed deacon for three years. Miss Edna Larson and S. P. Orwoll were named on the music committee and Sever Hanson and Mr. Hermanson were named head ushers.

The board of trustees will hold its organization meeting before the end of this month and will then elect a president, secretary and treasurer.

PROWLERS LOSE HARD BATTLE TO BEMIDJI FRIDAY

Local Team Holds up Well in First Half; Final Score is 35 to 29

The Prowlers lost a hard fought game to a rangy Bemidji basketball team last Friday by a score of 35 to 29. The Bemidji veterans were a heavier, taller, older and more seasoned team than the Prowlers but they did not out-class or out-play the local five. The fans expected to see All-State Galloway turn in an exceptionally fine game but saw instead Johnson of Bemidji come out as the high point man of the game with 13 points. Mickelson, Prowler center, starred for the local quint, while the rest of the team played heads-up-basketball.

At the end of the first quarter the score was 9 to 10 in favor of Bemidji. The second quarter started fast but ended at the half with Buck Robbin's five leading at 18 to 14. The Prowlers came back hard in the third quarter and tied the game at 20 all. In the beginning of the fourth period Galloway, Slosson and Molander scored swiftly and Bemidji seemed content to hold the lead but after several spectular shots by Olson and Jung for the Prowlers, Bemidji and the Prowlers alternated scoring until the gun ended the game.

The referee was H. Gronnigan of Fertile.

Tuesday evening the Thief River Falls Prowlers won a game from Greenbush 22 to 24 and the second string took Newfolden in 29-28. In both games the local teams ran up a score and were content to let it stand. Friday the team meets East Grand Forks there. The East Grand squad will undoubtedly furnish good opposition in trying to avenge themselves for the defeat they met at the hands of the Prowlers earlier in the season.

St. Lukes Hospital Assn. Annual Meeting Feb. 3d

Notices were mailed late last week to members of the St. Lukes Hospital association by Robert J. Lund, secretary, calling attention to the fact that the sixth annual meeting will be held in the library at the hospital Monday afternoon, February 3, at 2 o'clock. The report on operations for the past year will be submitted, and two trustees will be elected for a term of three years.

Mercury Hits -43 in This City Wednesday

Low Point for Week Follows Four Days of -30 Weather

With the mercury locally dropping to the -30 mark or lower every day since last Friday, residents of this section, besides doing their necessary chores, have been engaged in hudding around the stove and cussing and discussing the weather.

After three days when the mercury hit the -30 reading, it dropped Tuesday morning to -32, Wednesday to -43 and this morning to -36. The cold was felt the most acutely Tuesday night when a stiff wind intensified the discomfort, and Wednesday the mercury scarcely rose above -30 during the afternoon.

Readings for the past three days are semi-official, having been recorded on a thermometer of the same type as is used in government weather stations. Another instrument records the highest temperature attained during the day, and the two, the property of the local postoffice, are temporarily in the custody of Fred. Prots, city mail carrier. The readings are taken at 7 o'clock in the morning.

It is believed that no new recent records were set by Wednesday's low mark, the files of the Times revealing that a year ago today a minimum of -44 was recorded, while a low mark of -46 was registered Christmas night 1933. International Falls on the Canadian border had the distinction of being the coldest spot in the country yesterday, the mercury dropping to -55 at that point.

A bulletin released by the federal department of agriculture reveals that the all-time low record of temperatures for the United States is 66 degrees below zero—reported from Riverside Ranger Station in Yellowstone Park, Feb. 9, 1933. The world record is 90 degrees below zero in northern Siberia, while 78 below has been experienced in Alaska. Only two States, Montana and Wyoming, have been colder than 60 below zero since the Weather Bureau started keeping track of the weather.

COUNTY FARMERS TOLD LIVESTOCK OUTLOOK IS GOOD

"U" Extension Worker Forecasts Profitable Year at Meetings Here

Livestock should dominate the 1936 farm program, said J. B. McNulty, extension farm management specialist, at agricultural outlook meetings held in the county Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. With the shortage of meat supplies at the present time, he said, prospects for satisfactory meat prices are good, at least until next October. For this reason, he added, farmers should try to get their hogs ready for market by that time.

A favorable year for dairy and poultry men is indicated, due to the increase in consumer buying power and shortage of meat supplies. Care should be exercised, however, not to increase the size of dairy herds at the expense of high individual production.

With good prices for mutton and wool, sheep men are in a favorable position, Mr. McNulty said. He emphasized the fact, however, that the market for sheep products is domestic, and that any increase in sheep numbers over that of the period from 1931 to 1934 will result in low prices.

C. Bjorkman Transferred to Austin Penney Store as Assistant Manager

Clifford Bjorkman, popular assistant manager of the local J. C. Penney company store for the past four years, last week was notified of his promotion in the way of a transfer to the Penney store at Austin where he also will serve in the capacity of assistant manager. Austin is a city of nearly 15,000 population in southeastern Minnesota near the Iowa line. Mr. Bjorkman left Tuesday to assume his new duties, and his family will follow as soon as he has completed arrangements for living quarters.

E. M. Bennes Recovering From Effects of Stroke

E. M. Bennes, who was afflicted with a slight stroke January 14 is showing a steady improvement in his condition, it was announced yesterday. It is anticipated that he will be confined to his bed in a local hospital for some time to come.

Journal Carriers Are Entertained at Banquet

The Minneapolis Journal, represented by H. C. Suckerman, local agent, entertained the Thief River Falls carriers at a banquet Sunday in the Evelyn hotel. Sidney Harris of the Journal office staff addressed the carriers, outlining a contest for a summer trip by two boys to a lake resort at Bemidji.

Spaniel Retriever Adds to Reputation by Restoring Purse

Teddie, well-known brown spaniel dog-about-town belonging to L. C. St. Martin, Saturday night did a good deed that further established his reputation as a retriever of the first grade. It all happened when L. H. Larson, leaving the Rex Cafe, accidentally dropped his key purse on the sidewalk and continued on his way home. A few minutes later along came Teddie with his master, and, always on the alert for something to carry, the dog picked up the purse and retained it until reaching the St. Martin home where he carefully dropped it in the middle of the kitchen floor. Examining it, Mr. St. Martin found Mr. Larson's name inside and Monday morning returned the missing bunch of keys to its anxious owner. Mr. Larson indicated that Teddie has a helping of the best grade of hamburger in store for him.

$3,100 PAYROLL FOR 119 COUNTY WPA EMPLOYES

4,347 Engaged on WPA Work in Seventh District This Week

With a total of 4,347 WPA workers employed on 149 projects, the seventh district payroll for the past bi-monthly period has reached a new high of over $105,000, according to the checks issued the past week by the finance department of the Detroit Lakes office, of which C. L. Berggren is director. Of the total now working, 4,173 are relief clients and 174 are non-relief workers, the latter being employed as foremen and timekeepers. Pennington county workers, totalling 119 relief clients, received approximately $3,100 from the last payroll.

An additional 120 workers are being assigned this week, which brings the seventh district up to its full quota of 4,467. This is also the high peak in the number of workers in the district.

The monthly payroll, covering a four weeks' period, has now reached the total of $200,000 which soon finds its way into the channels of business through the purchase of food, clothing and other expenditures. While there is no check on how the clients spend this money, as it is theirs to spend as they please, the general opinion has been expressed that a very large percentage goes for food, clothing and necessities of life.

Checks are issued bi-monthly, and the timekeepers' records must be turned in after the 10th and 25th of each month to the finance department at Detroit Lakes. There, they are checked and recorded and requisitions made out to the state department at St. Paul, where the payroll checks are made out. They are again returned to the district office for rechecking and then sent out for distribution by the timekeepers for foremen.

NEW ADDITION TO WARD STORE NOW BEING OCCUPIED

Structure 40 by 50 Feet in Size Adds to Facilities of Establishment

The local Montgomery Ward & company store since the first of the year has occupied the one-story and basement addition at the rear recently completed under the supervision of Stenegaard Brothers, contractors, A. W. Mickelson, store manager, announced today.

The new addition, 40 by 50 feet in dimensions, which will be utilized primarily for warehouse purposes, and will add materially to the facilities of the main store by releasing for display purposes sections formerly used for storage.

The furniture department on the second floor now extends the full length of the building, and provides augmented space for the display of furniture, stoves and linoleum. In addition, the rear basement stairway on the main floor has been taken out, increasing the space available for the shoe department.

Rotarians Hear Talk on Life of English King

At the Rotary club luncheon Tuesday noon in the Evelyn hotel G. H. Mayer-Oakes of the high school faculty presented a discussion of the life of the late King George V of England, who died Monday night following a brief illness. Secretary A. J. Rau submitted for approval the club budget for the current year.

BONUS BILL TO BRING COUNTY $195,000 TOTAL

Congress Passes Bill This Week by Overwhelming Majorities

ENOUGH VOTES TO OVERRIDE A VETO

No Method of Financing Huge Outlay Is Provided in Measure

Following passage in both houses of congress by overwhelming majorities of the bonus bill calling for payment of adjusted compensation certificates in bonds of $50 denominations, the bill is now in the hands of President Roosevelt with assurance that his probable veto can easily be overridden.

The senate Monday voted 75 to 16 to pass the $2,237,000,000 measure under combined pressure of veterans' organizations and despite treasury department warnings that the national debt would increase to more than 35 billion dollars in 18 months.

By a majority of 346 to 59 the house Wednesday agreed to the senate's proposal for payment in $50 bonds cashable on demand after June 15. For 3,500,000 World War veterans enactment will mean cash for their adjusted service certificates nine years ahead of the present maturity date.

C. A. Zwiener, state adjutant of the American Legion, estimated that the payment of the bonus will bring $195,457.20 to Pennington county veterans of the World War, and that the total for Minnesota would amount to [illegible]. Amounts due in other northwestern counties include Marshall, $316,918; Roseau, $238,242; Red Lake, $128,866; and Polk, [illegible].

President Roosevelt yesterday offered no hint as to whether he would sign the bill, veto it or let the measure become law by doing neither within the limit of ten legislative days set by the constitution.

Veterans preferring to hold the certificates, instead of cashing them in immediately, would draw three per cent interest from June 15, 1937, to June 15, 1945. The bill voting the payment of the certificate provides no method for raising the necessary cash to finance the operation.

BRAY INSURANCE COMPANY HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Present Officers Re-elected at Session in St. Hilaire

The Bray Mutual Fire Insurance company, operting in Pennington and Red Lake counties, had at the end of 1935 a total of 1,705 policies in force aggregating $4,544,350, it was reported at the annual meeting held in St. Hilaire Wednesday of last week.

The annual statement, submitted by Secretary John O. Swanson, revealed that twelve fire losses were sustained during the year, amounting to $2,483.15, with one lightning loss totaling $35. The company showed a substantial increase in volume of policies in force during the year.

Present officers were re-elected at the meeting, including Ed A. Aubol, St. Hilaire, president; Anton Peterson, Hazel, vice president; John O. Swanson, Wylie, secretary; J. R. Larson, Hazel, treasurer; and Herman Ortloff, St. Hilaire, director.

County Democrats at Jackson Day Banquet in Crookston Tuesday

A group of fifteen or more Pennington county Democrats Tuesday braved subzero weather to go to Crookston to attend a Jackson Day dinner at the Methodist church. Nearly 200 were present at the banquet, over which Dr. O. E. Locken presided as toastmaster. The principal address was given by Frank Timm, Baudette attorney, other speakers including Martin O'Brien of Crookston and Charles Lethert of the internal revenue bureau at St. Paul.

Shirley Temple Coming to Avalon Next Sunday

Shirley Temple, outstanding favorite of movie fans in this section, will make her appearance at the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday in her latest film, "The Littlest Rebel". Two matinees will be given Sunday afternoon, Manager A. H. Holte announced, the first at 1:30 and the second at 3:30. In the picture, in which the distinctive star reveals genuine dramatic ability, the supporting cast includes John Boles, Jack Holt, Karen Morley and Bill Robinson.

SOCIAL ITEMS

General Meeting Heads Activities of Groups

The second general meeting of the Woman's Club since the guest banquet held in October was held Monday evening in the womans club room at the auditorium. Following a brief business meeting the Young Matrons which was the group in charge presented the following program: selection by the Womans club chorus, the "Glow Worm" by Paul Lincke; a paper on the State Public School by Mrs. Lloyd Bennes who was a former instructor in that institution; sleight-of-hand tricks by Robert Horen; the program closed with two selections by the Land O' Lakes quartet.

Auxiliary Notes

For God and country

We associate ourselves together.

Our unit meets the first and third Thursday evenings of each month. Mark your calendar and be at the next meeting—February 6—because—

Beginning Feb. 6, and continuing through the first meeting in June, attendance awards—cash prizes—will be awarded to the three members attaining the highest percentage in attendance during that period. Get in line for these cash prizes and let's have some real competition. All you have to do is attend the meetings—we extend a warm invitation and a hearty welcome.

Dues are due! Some of the members have already paid their membership dollar—but many have not. Mrs. Leonard Hanson and Mrs. Ward Long are trying to reach everyone eligible—welcome them when they call on you, won't you? Working on membership is a big job and we know you will cooperate. Also if you know of someone new in town who is eligible, tell the committee about it. Again—Dues are due. Perhaps you will help the committee by bringing your dollar down to the next meeting.

The welfare report given by Mrs. T. P. Anderson at the last meeting was very fine. She and her committee deserve our heartfelt gratitude for the work they are doing. Several letters of appreciation were read from the Veterans' Hospitals and the Sanatorium for the remembrances sent to the men from our community at Christmas time. Poppies were ordered at this meeting, thus insuring work for the disabled men who are making these "little red flowers of remembrance" in the Poppy Work Room in Minneapolis. May our duty to these men who are suffering the ravages of the war be ever alive in our hearts!

Mrs. John W. Carter, hospital chairman and vice-chairman of the State Department of Rehabilitation, was advisory on the program for 1936 at a meeting in St. Cloud, which Mrs. Claude Evenson of the Thief River Falls Unit Ninth District Rehabilitation chairman attended. She reports that the patients of the hospital, some 800 of them, had a very pleasant Thanksgiving, beginning their activities on the 25th of November and lasting through Thanksgiving Day. Various forms of amusements were participated in, such as movies, Keno parties, band music, religious services, both Catholic and Protestant, and a dinner of roast turkey with all the trimmings.

The Christmas activities began December 16th, with added attractions such as Christmas trees—20 of them, beautifully decorated. Ten of the St. Cloud Unit women worked for two days decorating the trees. The Department of Minnesota presented gifts to each patient, everyone receiving a large bag of the very best Christmas candy and nuts, and their choice of personal gift, such as tie, tobacco pouch, cigarettes, cigars, handkerchiefs, socks, etc. A program of Christmas entertainment, with the singing of carols by Camp Fire Girls and church societies, was sponsored by the Legion, Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Disabled Veteran. The patients thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment provided as well as the Christmas and New Year feast of turkey, duckling, plum pudding, with trimmings. Mrs. Carter stated that they could use hundreds of sofa pillows, 18 in. by 18 in., with two buttons in the back, and magazines not more than a year old are always welcomed at the hospital. Playground equipment is now being installed under the supervision and direction of the Rehabilitation Committee and will be ready for use in the spring. An outline for social service work is being looked into by the committee with a plan for the re-education of the hospitalized men.

Mothers' Night, Ancient English Christmas Name

THE oldest English name for Christmas is Moddra Night, or Mothers' Night. In the early days, when our Saxon forefathers had just settled down in the country that was to be England, the day of December 25th was given up to games and feasting, but the night was dedicated to the special honor of mothers. They occupied the seats of honor, and everyone brought them gifts. Sons and daughters who had gone out into the world strove to be at home on that one night in the year.

A little later the name Yule was given to Christmas and the rejoicings of the day were prolonged into night, when men sang and told stories sitting round the cheerful blaze of the Yule log.

The old customs of Mothers' Night gradually died out, though they still survive in a few parts of the country. Its place has been taken to some extent by Mothering Sunday in the North of England. On that day everyone who can do so still makes a pilgrimage homewards, and the mother receives the homage of her family.—London Tit-Bits Magazine.

The girls nowadays have become adept at moving their eyebrows around at will, but you don't see any of them offering to help the kid brother grow his first mustache.—Worcester Gazette.

SMILEY

The members of the Smiley Community club and their friends enjoyed a card party at the Hall last Friday evening. Johnny Stenseth won the high prize while Marcelene won consolation. About forty guests were present. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.—Owen Weckwerth, Wesley McCrum and Dale Johnson made a trip to Northome last week end on business. They were over night guests at the home of Mr. Weckwerth's brother-in-law, the Kaiser's. Mr. Weckwerth and Mr. McCrum returned Monday evening while Mr. Johnson remained in Northome to be employed indefinitely.

Lawrence Lane returned to his parental home last week after spending several days in Crookston at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Larson. —Little Arlene Ranum returned to her parents after spending a week in Warren with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ranum. —Friends and neighbors of Mrs. Tobias Stene will be so pleased to learn she has returned to her home from a six weeks stay at a hospital in Thief River Falls. She is recuperating nicely at this writing but won't be up and about for some time.

Mark and Orton Olson accompanied by an automobile salesman of Thief River Falls motored to Fargo last Saturday where they drove back three new Plymouth cars. The Olson's retaining one new car since their old car was wrecked completely in the accident some time ago. —Mrs. J. D. Turnwall returned to her family last Friday after being a house guest at the home of Andrew Rendahl and family in Thief River Falls since Monday. —Janice Ranum spent last week with her aunt Mrs. Ada Jorde in Steiner. —Clarence Weckwerth who is employed in Bagley was a week end guest at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Weckwerth. He returned to Bagley Sunday evening.

A fairly large number of women attended the Bethania Ladies aid Thursday at the Christ Larson home with Mrs. Larson as hostess.

L. A. Nelson was one of the representatives from this county to the Farm and Home Week in St. Paul last week. He reports a very enjoyable and worth while week there. —Selmer Berg returned to his family Saturday after spending two weeks in a hospital in Thief River Falls. He is recovering quite nicely.—The siege of mumps has attacked a large number of pupils and the teacher, Miss O' Hoyle in school Dist. 4. There will be no school this week due to that fact. —Friends of Mrs. Marit Hegrenes of Silverton, well known in this community and mother of Mrs. Norton Nelson will be sorry to learn she has been quite ill with blood poisoning in her hand and has been in a hospital in Thief River Falls for more than a week. We hope for her rapid recovery.

The Hiawatha school, Dist. 26 held their Riverside Club mid-term election of officers last Friday. The new officers are president, Ray Ranum, vice president, Arnold Stene; secretary, Garfield Hyverson; Treasurer, Glen Thune and the program committee consists of Lyle Norquist and Arnold Stene. Dorothy Skibicki of Cloverleaf, sister of Mrs. John Burtness, is a new pupil at the Hiawatha school. The Norquist children have been absent this week from school.

Museum Shows Extinct Moas

The great extinct wingless birds of New Zealand known as moas, some of which attained a height of 12 feet, are represented in exhibits of the Field Museum of Natural History by large mural paintings by Charles R. Knight, by a mounted skeleton and by a life-size restoration. The moas were ostrich-like in general appearance, but the larger forms were bulkier and had more massive legs. Their extinction was due to the refrigeration of climate which occurred during the glacial period, and to the onslaught of early natives before the discovery of New Zealand by white men.

Rest Cure for Animals

Europe's largest and best equipped "rest resort" for animals is in Allmannsdorf, near Vienna. While similar establishments abroad are mainly provided for dogs and cats, the Allmannsdorf asylum takes care of hippopotamuses. Rundown animals are taken care of, fed and if possible entrusted to animal-loving persons. Stray animals are temporarily accommodated, ailing ones treated and incurable ones painlessly destroyed.

Flowers Respond to Music

Cows have been made to produce more milk and hens to lay more eggs by reason of radios placed in barns and coops, it has been reported, but it remained for a Danish scientist to advance the theory that flowers also will respond to music. It depends on the variety, he says. Pinks and cyclamens avert their heads from a loud speaker, but roses "show signs of pleasure," he insists.

HAS SAME CAR LICENSE NUMBER FOR 26 YEARS

Park Rapids—Having no tendency toward hit-and-run driving, and perhaps prefering low numbers on his car license plates, W. M. Taber of Park Rapids has a unique distinction. He received his 1936 plates last week. The license number is 37. Nothing unusual about that except that it is a very low number. But—for twenty-six years—ever since 1910, one of Mr. Taber's automobiles has borne the same license number. And he has every one of the twenty-six sets nailed up in his garage to prove it!

"Neither Fish, Flesh, Herring"

The expression, neither fish, flesh, nor good red herring means suitable for no class of people; fit for no particular use. Not fish, food for the monk; not flesh, food for people generally; not red herring, food for the poor.

A person never realizes how warm and really pleasant twenty below is until the thermometer has dropped down into the forties for a day or two.

Heart warming incident of a forty-below day—a hard-handed, scowling, old sourpuss putting out bread crumbs to feed the birds.

Rural members of the lower house of the state legislature are putting up a determined fight to secure the repeal of the law which exempts so much personal property from taxation. It is to be hoped they will succeed. This ill advised law, adopted in conformity with the constitutional amendment approved by the voters, was an attempt to relieve the tax burden. As it has worked out, however, it has merely shifted a greater portion of the tax load to real estate. The relief went largely to a group of tax payers who did not need and were not asking for tax relief.

It has been suggested that politicians who do not keep their campaign promises should have some sort of a penalty inflicted upon them. When we consider a few of the many crazy schemes that are advocated in a political campaign we are not sure all those who do not keep their word should be punished. In fact some of them, we think, should be rewarded. The penalty, if one is to be inflicted, should be applied in many cases at the time the promises are made.

That certainly is a shabby trick the government is playing on the Matanuska Valley settlers up in Alaska. "Work or get out", is the hard boiled order that has been issued, and now the settlers actually have to keep their own premises clean. But the sturdy pioneers should not be discouraged. This is an election year and as soon as Jim Farley finds out how dreadfully they are being abused the offending officials will undoubtedly be ordered to "apologize or get out."

THE $125,000 IS SPENT

Senator Nye was a "great guy" in Washington as long as he confined his investigation of wartime activities of American munitions makers and financiers to those few individuals who are generally blamed for everything that goes wrong with the country, but when he intimated that President Wilson might have had something to do with starting the war he ran into a storm of protest that may put an end to his investigation. At any rate there is quite certain to be strong opposition to requests for further appropriations. During the short time the committee has functioned it has spent $125,000, and that's a lot of money to pay for an investigation that so far has revealed nothing but what was already generally known.

WHAT OF HIS OWN RECORD?

Governor Olson has announced that he will seek the office of United States Senator on a platform of amendments of the constitution. Which is all well and good. There is nothing wrong with such a proposal and if the Governor feels the constitution should be amended it is his right to propose the changes he would have made. But it should be possible to cover this field with one or two speeches. It is to be hoped, therefore, that he will also find time to review his record as Governor and point out, just why, on the strength of that record, Minnesota should honor him with a seat in the United States Senate. We would like to hear him explain what steps he has taken as Governor to promote efficiency and economy in government. Outside of a lot of excellent speeches denouncing this and that, what solid contribution has he made to the welfare of the common people? What steps has he taken to eliminate graft in public expenditures and restore the confidence of the people in the integrity of government? As the responsible head of the state's liquor control program, what refining influence has he brought to bear on this vicious traffic? These are questions in which the voters of the state have a right to be interested and we hope the Governor will not become so wrapped up in his enthusiasm for constitutional amendments that he will ignore this also important field.

MOTOR GYPSIES INCREASE

(Woman's Home Companion)

A new gypsy class is coming into being in the United States and a survey just completed shows that already no less than ½ million persons have stopped paying rents anywhere to live on wheels all the year round. By summer time it is believed ½ million will have quit their homes to see America from housecars and trailers.

Today, twenty-two companies, chiefly in Ohio and Michigan, are busy manufacturing all sorts of models of motor vans. There can be no doubt that the growing appeal of outdoor life, the construction of great camps, the steadily expanding network of fine roads, are temporarily or permanently converting all sorts of people into motor gypsies.

To take care of these modern American nomads "trailer-cities" have been and are being erected on real estate developments. Other units are municipally owned, and there is a federal chain of camps for both trailer and other motor tourists set out chiefly in the great parks.

The largest trailer camp in the United States is at Sarasota, Fla. Covering thirty-one acres of ground, this one elaborate plant at one time last winter sheltered more than 2,000 such tourists.

ASKING ABOUT DOHERTY

(The Montevideo News)

We have often wondered whether the Henry L. Doherty who acts as chairman of the national committee sponsoring the annual President's Ball throughout the country was the same gent who is head of the Cities Service company. Reports are that he is the fellow in question. It also occurs to us that he was one of the men who refused to have the books of his company brought to Washington when the big investigation of public utilities was going on. The tie-up is a blur to most people. —The Eveleth Clarion.

This Doherty matter is "a blur" to so many people because of all the fireworks shot at people who are in the big money in New York. As the Eveleth editor intimates, it is not clear to all people why one "money changer" is wicked and another is virtuous in the eyes of President Roosevelt. In the minds of a number of local people, and other investors elsewhere, the name of Doherty is connected with a kind of "money changing" that is remembered as one of the horrible examples of those wild stock market days. Perhaps these investors are mistaken in what they remember, unfair in their opinions.

In any event Henry L. Doherty gets the benefit of national publicity picturing him in a favorable setting as sponsor of The President's Ball. Other financiers, including some who operated on a smaller scale in the stock market than did Doherty, are not so lucky. They get invited to the President's Bawling Out.

SOCIAL SECURITY

(Wheaton Gazette)

There was once a class in America which enjoyed social security. They knew where the next meal was coming from. They knew that if sick they would be cared for. They knew that when they died they would be buried. In fact, they really enjoyed social security. They were the black slaves of the South. The slaves were freed. Since then everyone in America has had to fight for his place in the economic sun. Under that system our nation has thrived.

A DANGEROUS TREND

(Washington Herald)

The American people should not be lulled to a false sense of security by the thought that the reciprocal tariff agreements effected by Secretary Hull are inconsequential.

Secretary Hull, at heart an ardent free trader, has in these various agreements injected an entering wedge toward the destruction of the whole American protective tariff system.

The ruinous feature of the Hull trade policies in his undiscriminating application of the "most-favored-nation" clause whereby our foreign competitors obtain, without making any return whatsoever, the benefits conferred upon one country under the terms of a reciprocal agreement negotiated with that country alone.

With the approval of President Roosevelt, Mr. Hull has thus set out to undermine the American home market for American products, on which superior American living standards and domestic prosperity depend.

Unless these tendencies are vigorously and unmistakably denounced in congress and by the people, the ultimate consequences of the covert new tariff policy will be far reaching.

It will lay open the American domestic market, the richest in the world, to the infiltration of products made by coolie labor.

It will dilute American living standards without corresponding benefit to the rest of the world.

Another four years of American foreign policy, motivated and formulated by the meddling, visionary and impractical Mr. Hull, would set back our economic life for generations.

The hand of Congress has already been tied by seemingly innocuous agreements binding items of imports to the free list for a period of years.

Already competitive products are admitted at a time when American agriculture and industry are sorely harassed, but the political defense is that the imports will be only a "trickle."

Thus far, the significance of these agreements has been hidden from public understanding under a barrage of details, but it is becoming increasingly apparent that in principle Mr. Hull has been playing fast and loose with economic policies which have been at the foundation of American progress.

LAWYERS AND TRIAL REFORMS

(Minneapolis Journal)

Latest developments in the Hauptmann case have renewed criticism of America's handling of criminal trials. Upon completion of this famous trial, the American Bar Association appointed a committee to study the matter of reform in trial procedure.

The lawyers have now made their proposals, and they seek to enlist public support for them. According to the Bar Association leaders, courtroom attendance must be limited. News reel cameras are to be banned. Newspapers are to be handicapped by keeping telegraph wires out of court houses. Radio discussion and newspaper speculation on evidence or verdict must be forbidden. Jurors and witnesses should not be permitted public appearances that capitalize on the trial.

With most of those proposals, a great many will agree. Yet there is interest in scanning the Bar Association's list of suggestions to discover just what the lawyers themselves are to contribute in the way of trial reforms. The list contains just one such reference: "No public statements by the attorneys while the trial is in progress."

The lawyers have pointed out that those who work through the courts are not alone responsible when it comes to the guaranty of fair trials. The public, and all the agencies serving it, must be on guard lest that guaranty be hampered through their actions. Still, publicity itself isn't the most objectionable thing about the faulty trials so often criticised. What is still more objectionable is the condition which that publicity brings to light.

Newspapers, movie cameramen, or radio commentators, aren't responsible for the interminable delays, the ridiculous resorts to flimsy technicality, the appeals to prejudice, and the bull-dozing tactics which marks the course of so many trials.

Lawyers say they are tired of the criticisms heaped upon their profession when anything goes wrong in our involved machinery of apprehension and conviction. They place much of the blame on external factors—and some of it admittedly belongs there. But lawyers have given life to the framework through which our system of justice operates. Lawyers, before the bar of justice and seated on the judicial bench, conduct our trials. They can certainly do more than they have done in reforming the conduct of those trials.

We have heard it said that the "automobile drivers will pay for the old-age pensions." That is a sad perversion of the truth, and arises out of a mistaken understanding of an arrangement which the Legislature has made to get the ready money to pay old-age pensions until the regular session meets and provides the new taxes to pay the pensions. The state highway fund owes the state general fund a matter of a couple of million dollars which it was adjudged that the highway fund should have paid for administrative expenses of the license department for a number of years. Instead of the highway department being required to pay this money back all at once it was given several years in which to do so in order not to cripple the department. Now the Legislature is giving the highway department authority to issue bonds to make the repayment at once, and that will give the revenue fund the money with which to meet the state share of the pensions.—Morris Tribune.

Weeds, Insects Cause of Heavy Loss to Farmers

The battle between man and the jungle rages in the United States as well as in the most distant and less densely inhabited places. The battle is even more extensive in this country than in the less cultivated places, because there are much wider areas here for wild nature to win back. The fighting legions of the jungle are plant diseases, weeds and insects. The extent to which they are winning victories is measured by the damage they do to farm crops. Of the vast myriads of different kinds of insects which ravage crops more than 6,000 kinds do extensive enough damage to be of economic importance, and they inflict losses to the extent of $2,000,000,000 a year. Thirty-four of these insects alone cause known damage of $924,440,000, L. L. Hessler, entomologist of E. I. du Pont de Nemours and company, reports to the American Chemical society. The total jungle loss to agriculture and its products he estimates at $6,500,000,000 a year, of which $4,000,000,000 is due to weeds.

The Best Insurance

A married man lives longer and is less likely to end up in the workhouse than a bachelor. So says Edwin S. Burdell, professor of economics and social science at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The professor is further of the opinion, based on his stories of the subject, that married men commit few crimes and less often go insane. The unmarried man has less at stake in the community because he has a lower status. Marriage is the best insurance in the world — insurance against crime, insanity, poverty and premature death.

Solved Baffling Mystery

Not long ago France was baffled by an unusual murder mystery. Within a week three friends, two men and a woman, were stabbed to death on the border of a small town. All were armed and no struggle had taken place. The soggy earth around them showed only the hoofprints of a horse. Later the murderer, a woman, was discovered. She had disarmed the victims' suspicion by a friendly chat, hence the surprise attack. And she had concealed her sandals, fitted with horseshoes, by a long cloak.—Collier's Weekly.

FARM AND MARKET

Test Seed Before too Late

The season of 1935 was not very favorable for the production of reliable agricultural seeds. For this reason the farmers of the north central states—Minnesota and neighboring territory—should be very careful when buying their supply for this spring's sowing. Germination, purity and weed seeds are the three factors most to be watched.

Germination of corn, wheat and barley suffered the most. Seed corn, on the average, is very poor in germination. Iowa and Illinois, northern Missouri and territories bordering these states are in a very bad way. Minnesota is better off, but tests at the State Seed Testing Laboratory indicate that the best average test will be 80%, or possibly lower.

Every farmer should make his own germination tests. If in doubt as to how this may be done, send a postal card to the Extension Division, University Farm, St. Paul, Minnesota, and ask for directions for individual ear tests. If individual ear tests ever were important, they are right now. Certainly, the State Seed Testing Laboratory will make tests but indications now point strongly toward congestion of the facilities for germination and for purity analysis work. Therefore, home testing of corn—which can easily and cheaply be made—is advisable. Test your corn now and again in April, for some corn will lose vitality between now and planting time.

For the most part, wheat and barley tested now will be a safe indication of germination next March and April, but if there is a noticeable number of weak, spindly sprouts and slow germination, a retest next March is recommended. Don't think that because your wheat is 50, 55 or 58 pounds per bushel grain, it is O. K. for germination. The State Laboratory tests to date show no correlation whatever between weight per bushel and germination percentage.

Wheat, barley and oats can readily be tested at home. Count out 200 or more seeds, put them in a "rag doll" or "plate" tester, keep them moist and in 5 or 7 or 10 days, your seed sprouting value is determined. Get in touch with your County Agent for details in making seed selections, germination and counting.

Lastly, we caution everybody who buys and who sows seeds to be more than particular about getting and sowing any kind of seed without first finding out the weed seed content. Creeping Jennie, especially, must be avoided. About ten other primary noxious weeds must be guarded against. Read the label attached to each container of seeds of one pound or more. If the label is not satisfactory as the law requires, don't buy.
